PREFACE

When the publication of the Latter-day Saint Biographical Encyclopedia was commenced in 1901, it was the intention to confine the scope of its contents to the Nineteenth Century, but, as the Church grew and its organizations and members multiplied, it was concluded to cover the first hundred years of the existence of the Church, beginning with 1830 and ending with 1930. With this object in view, two other volumes of the Encyclopedia were published, Vol. 2 in 1914 and Vol. 3 in 1920.

In the mean time the collection of life stories of leading men and women in the Church had been continued until there were upwards of 15,000 of these sketches on hand. This included at least one-half of the Bishops and other presiding officers who had figured prominently in the affairs of the Church both in the organized Stakes of Zion and in the missionary fields. Hence, with the approval of the First Presidency of the Church, it was decided to publish one more volume, in order to make the circle of information more nearly complete, and with this aim in mind the present book, Volume IV of the L. D. S. Biographical Encyclopedia, is now being issued.

Many of the brief outlines contained in Volume IV are based on more detailed manuscript biographies which, if published in full, would at least fill a dozen books. As it is, the four volumes now published might consistently be named a "Who's Who" in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, thus paraphrasing the "Who's Who in America" in a general way.

When a copy of Volume IV shall have been placed in every stake, ward, mission and district throughout the Church, considering the fact that only 2,000 copies are printed, there will only be books enough left to accommodate those who possess Volumes I, II, and III. A carefully prepared index, attached to Volume IV, will enable the student to find anything contained in all the four books of the Encyclopedia.

To all who have given us encouragement, or rendered assistance in our onerous labors of love, covering nearly a lifetime, we render sincere thanks, and it is now our pleasure to dedicate the Latter-day Saint Biographical Encyclopedia in its entirety to all students of Church History and Genealogy.

ANDREW JENSON.

ANDERSON, Daniel, first Bishop of the Moroni East Ward, Moroni Stake, Sanpete Co., Utah, was born March 28, 1866, in Alken, Veile Amt, Denmark, the son of Niels J. Andersen and Karen Marie Nielsen. He emigrated with his parents to Utah in 1872 and located at Moroni, where he has resided ever since. There he was baptized Sept. 13, 1874, by John Blackham, and ordained successively to the offices of Teacher, Priest and Elder. In September, 1886, he married Violet Cloward in the Logan Temple. The children of this union are Mary C., Addie (deceased), Raphael,

Daniel J., Dora and Vivian. Brother Anderson filled a mission to Norway in 1904, laboring in the Christiania Conference, part of the time as president of the Fredrikshald Branch. He was ordained a Seventy by Jacob H. Jensen, July 9, 1905, and acted for several years as a president of the 37th quorum of Seventy. In 1907-1908 he filled another mission, this time to the Northern States, during which he acted part of the time as president of the St. Paul (Minnesota) Branch. On this second mission he was accompanied by his wife. After returning from this mission, he acted as a stake Sunday school officer, and on Dec. 12, 1914, he was ordained a High Priest by Apostle George F. Richards and set apart as second counselor to Bishop Orlando Bradley of Moroni. He acted in that capacity until Dec. 19, 1920, when Moroni was divided into two wards, and Elder Anderson was ordained a Bishop by Orson F. Whitney and set apart to preside over the Moroni East Ward, which position he held until April, 1928. He is a member of the High Council at present. Brother Anderson is a farmer by avocation, and a leading citizen of the community in which he resides.

ANDERSON, James Henry, a prominent Elder in the Ensign Stake of Zion, was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, Feb. 11, 1857, the son of James Anderson and Catharine Mary Cowley. His early school training was by his mother, and in the district schools. In 1869 and 1870 he was a student at the Deseret University. Leaving that institution in 1871 he entered the employ of the "Deseret News." He served an apprenticeship in the composing departments and became an expert book and job printer. In 1877 he was associated with John E. Callister and Emmett D. Mousley in starting the Star Printing Office, withdrawing in October of that year to become the foreman of the "Deseret News" book and job printing departments. He acted in that position over seven years, during which period many important publications in English and other languages were printed under his supervision. In February, 1885, he was made city editor of the "Deseret News," which position he filled with marked success until August, 1890, when he was called on a mission to Europe. His services in the local department of the "Deseret News" editorial work covered most of the period of anti-"Mormon" prosecution under the Edmunds and Edmunds-

Tucker laws, and gave to him valuable experience.

On his return from Europe in 1892 he was associated for a time with Bishop Orson F. Whitney, on Volume II of the History of Utah, and in the spring of 1893 he again became connected with the "Deseret News" editorial department. While there he compiled the first history written of the Salt Lake Temple, from the laying of the cornerstone to the dedication of the completed structure.

This history appears in the "Contributor" of April, 1893 (Vol. 14).

The committee on admission of Church members to the dedication of the Salt Lake Temple from April 6 to April 24, 1893, were John Nicholson, Joseph E. Taylor, and James H. Anderson. The Church recommend of each individual had to be presented, and the apportionment of admissions regulated for each session. Elder Nicholson was clerk of the conference and Elder Taylor otherwise engaged within the Temple. This left the task of arranging and regulating the companies to Elder Anderson. Under his personal direction 128,000 people passed into and out of the Temple during the dedicatory exercises, without confusion or mishap.

From 1893 until the beginning of 1901 he continued with the "Deseret News," being variously engaged in every department of editorial work. Jan. 4, 1901, he retired from the "Deseret News," and on Jan. 7, 1901, assumed the duties of county commissioner in Salt Lake County, to which position he had been elected in November, 1900. He was chosen chairman of the board of county commissioners. His work in public office has been characterized by the same faithful care and attention that were given his previous labors. Elder Anderson is of a thoughtful, reserved disposition, not given to ostentation. He was well trained by his parents in temperate, religious habits, and followed closely the parental instruction and example. In February, 1864, he united with the Sunday School in the Sixth Ward, Salt Lake City, and retained his membership to 1905, being a diligent worker in the Sunday school cause, for years past, as a theological class teacher and in the school superintendency. In 1873 he became associated with mutual improvement work in his ward, and has shown active interest therein ever since. At the age of eight years, he was baptized by his father. In 1871 he was ordained a Deacon, two years later a Priest, and on Feb. 6, 1876, a Seventy. In 1881 he married Mary A. Abbott, a native of Abergavenny, England. In 1893 he was chosen one of the seven presidents of the 2nd Quorum of Seventy, and when the 110th Quorum of Seventy was organized in 1897 he was chosen its senior president. From 1875 to 1890 he acted as clerk of the 6th Ward.

Elder Anderson always has been energetic in his efforts to promote the dissemination of useful knowledge. In promulgating the principles of the Gospel he has been especially active among the youth residing in his vicinity. In the autumn of 1884 he was called to labor as a home missionary in the Salt Lake Stake of Zion, and until his release in 1890 to go on a foreign mission, he kept every appointment made for him. In September, 1890, he went to Indian Territory, visiting at Manard, the headquarters of that mission, with his brother, Franklin M., who was a missionary in that field. He then journeyed to Great Britain, where he was appointed as a traveling Elder in the London conference. His labors there were in the Kent, Whitechapel and North London districts. In December, 1890, he was called to Liverpool, and from that time until his return home, in October, 1892, Elder Anderson conducted the editorial work of the "Millennial Star;" he also wrote several tracts, and spent much of his time in traveling and preaching. Among the notable addresses given by him is one before the South Place Ethical Institute, London, on "The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, its History, Mission and Destiny." He visited every conference in the British Mission, and in July, 1892, made a trip to France.

On his return to Utah he again became a home missionary in the Salt Lake Stake of Zion, and was actively engaged till a long and severe illness in 1898 necessitated his release. Since 1900, when his health improved, he has done considerable public speaking, chiefly on historical and biblical subjects. In August, 1898, he accompanied Apostle Francis M. Lyman on the latter's tour of the Stakes of Zion in central and southern Utah.

As a public speaker, Elder Anderson is clear, earnest and logical. The same characteristics mark his writings, most of which consist of magazine and newspaper articles. His historical and descriptive sketch of the Temple in Salt Lake City, first published in "The Contributor" in 1893, is recognized as an authoritative statement of facts connected with the building of that sacred edifice.

In 1902 James H. Anderson was re-elected commissioner of Salt Lake County and retained his place as chairman of the commission. He was instrumental in the institution of hard surface roads in the county and among the first to install street lighting conveniences outside of cities. He planned and drew up the law forming county school districts, which law was passed by the Utah Legislature of 1905, and went into effect throughout the State. He was State chairman of the Republican party in Utah when Reed Smoot was elected United States senator. In February, 1903, he accompanied Senator Smoot to Washington, and as a contest was instituted against Senator Smoot, Chairman Anderson interviewed President Roosevelt and the leading Republican senators, explaining to them the situation. He was present when Senator Smoot was sworn in on March 4, 1903. An interesting item of national history at that time and which was a topic of discussion with reference to Senator Smoot, was that the senator furnished the one senator of the two-thirds needed to pass the Panama treaty which enabled the United States to build the Panama Canal.

In March, 1903, Chairman Anderson returned to his duties on the Salt Lake County Commission. In December, 1904, he returned to Washington with Senator Smoot, and took an active part in the Senator's behalf until the case was finally and favorably disposed of in February, 1906. His interest in Utah politics, especially in connection with the election and presence of Senator Smoot in the U. S. Senate, continued during the entire period of the senator's service. His political addresses avoid entirely any personal criticism of political antagonists.

In 1907, Elder Anderson was made a member of the General Board of the Young Men's Mutual Improvement Associations in the Church, and continued in that position for upwards of 22 years. He also continued as a Sunday school teacher, as teacher in the quorum of Seventy, and in active public service, particularly in teaching the Scriptures, both ancient and modern. Nov. 23, 1929, he was ordained to the office of High Priest. As a ward teacher in the wards where he resided, he has had, up to 1931, upwards of thirty years actual service. In his public appointments as speaker and lecturer on religious subjects—sometimes to exceed 100 in a year—up to the present (1932) he has never failed to fill his appointments. His addresses have been made in many of the States of the Union from New York to California and in Europe. Some of his gospel tracts have been translated from English into other languages, including German, the Scandinavian languages and Maori. His later works have included manuals for the Mutual Improvement Associations, the most elaborate of these being "Ten Women of the Olden Days," of which a limited special edition was issued in book form, and copies placed in the Congressional Library at Washington, D. C., the Los Angeles Public Library, and other public libraries. His historical lectures on Biblical history and prophecy are notable for having included up-to-date fulfilment of prophecies. In preparing missionaries for work in their fields of labor, he is one of those engaged in that service at the Church Missionary Home in Salt Lake City. He also is one of the founders of the Utah Genealogical Society, and a member of the Institute of American Genealogy and of other genealogical societies in the United States, as well as of still other societies in America and Europe engaged in gathering genealogical and historical information, of which he is a close student.

In 1906, he was made chief deputy U. S. Internal Revenue Collector of the District of Montana, embracing the States of Montana, Utah, and Idaho, under Collector Edward H. Callister, and continued in that position until 1909, when President Wm. H. Taft appointed him United States Marshal for the district of Utah. His wife, Mary A., died in 1903, and in December, 1904, he married Elise S. Schneider, daughter of Christian Schneider and Susannah Klosner. At the close of his term as United States Marshal, in 1914, his wife Elise died. His wife Mary A. had five children, two sons and three daughters. The two sons, Edgar J. and Albert H., died, and are buried at Salt Lake City. The three daughters, Florence M. Horsley, Mabel E. Moore and Dessie M. Anderson still live; also two grandchildren; one grandchild is June Anderson Moore, daughter of Mabel. His wife Elise left two daughters, twins, Alta E. Baldwin and Ellen E. Anderson of Salt Lake City, Utah. One grandchild is Alta's son, Theodore N. Baldwin. Ellen's daughter, Barbara May, died, and is buried at Salt Lake City.

In July, 1921, President Harding appointed James H. Anderson as United States Collector of Internal Revenue for the district of Utah, and he has continued to hold that position under Presidents Coolidge and Hoover. He is active in all his duties, State, Church, and educational.

ANDERSON, John Forbes, Patriarch in the Alberta Stake, Alberta, Canada, was born April 4, 1863, in Woodside, Aberdeenshire, Scotland, the son of John Anderson and Catherine Smith. Being of a religious turn of mind, he attended Sunday school in the Presbyterian Church, to which his parents belonged; and becoming a convert to "Mormonism" he was baptized by Hugh Findlay, Jan. 3, 1879. Soon afterwards he was ordained a Teacher and commenced his labors in that capacity among the Saints in the Aberdeen Branch. In 1880 he was ordained a Priest, after which he did considerable local missionary labor which he enjoyed. In the meantime, his mother and the rest of the family, except the father, joined the Church and emigrated to Zion. Brother Anderson himself emigrated to Utah in 1882, crossing the Atlantic in the steamship "Nevada," and on Oct. 9, 1882, he married Mary Ann Ross, a girl who had been driven away from her home in Scotland because of her acceptance of the gospel. For a number of years Elder Anderson was engaged in quarrying stone for the Salt Lake Temple in Little Cottonwood Canyon. While residing in Spanish Fork, Utah Co., Utah, he took an active part in Sunday school and Y. M. M. I. A. work. He was ordained a Seventy by Andrew Ferguson and became a member of the 50th quorum of Seventy. In 1889 he moved to Scofield, Carbon Co., Utah, where he acted as president of Y. M. M. I. A. and as a Sunday school and ward teacher. There also he had a narrow escape from being killed in a mining explosion. Recording his experiences in life, he refers to a number of other instances where his life was saved almost in a miraculous manner. His next move was to Grass Valley, Sevier Co., Utah, where he spent eight years endeavoring to build up pioneer settlements. At Burrville he was ordained a High Priest and acted as a counselor to Bishop Henry Teeple of the Burrville Ward. Later he succeeded Bishop Teeple as Bishop of said ward, being ordained a Bishop by Anthon H. Lund, Dec. 29, 1900. He held that position until he left for Canada in 1902. At Raymond, Alberta, Canada, he was employed by the Knight Sugar Company to lay the foundation for the Raymond Flouring Mill, and later of the Knight Sugar Factory. When the Taylor Stake was organized Sept. 2, 1903, he was chosen to preside as Bishop of the Raymond Ward, which labor he enjoyed immensely. When the Raymond Ward was divided into two wards in 1912, Brother Anderson was chosen as Bishop of the Raymond 1st Ward. This position he held until March, 1915, when he moved to Cardston, where he took an active part in the erection of the Temple, as a mechanic. In 1915 he was privileged as the master mason to lay the cornerstone of the Alberta Temple. In 1919-1920 he filled a mission to the Northern States, laboring principally in the City of Council Bluffs, Iowa. After returning home he was set apart by Apostle George F. Richards to act as one of the presidency of the High Priests quorum, May 9, 1921; and on May 3, 1923, Apostle Richards ordained him a Patriarch. In 1923 he was called and set apart, together with his wife, as ordinance workers in the Alberta Temple. Brother Anderson finishes his narrative by saying, "This is the greatest calling which has come to us, and which we still enjoy, hoping that we may die in the harness and receive

ANDRUS, Joseph Boyes, fifth Bishop of Marion Ward, Summit Co., Utah, was born March 6, 1885, at Big Cottonwood, Salt Lake Co., Utah, the son of Milo Andrus, jun., and Elizabeth Boyes. He was raised in Big Cottonwood and there received a common school education; later he became a student at the L. D. S. University in Salt Lake City and later at the University of Utah. He was baptized March 30, 1893, by William Bowthorpe and confirmed by Santa Ana Casto. From his earliest youth he was taught the principles of the gospel and became an active Church worker. Thus, he was ordained a Deacon, March 15, 1897, by Milo Andrus, jun.; a Teacher, Nov. 10, 1902 by Milo Andrus, jun.; a Priest, July 13, 1903, by Santa Ana Casto, and an Elder, Feb. 3, 1908, by Ensign Woodruff. While advancing in the order of the Priesthood, he acted as counselor in the presidency of a Deacons quorum and was also president of a Teachers quorum and a counselor in an Elders quorum in Big Cottonwood. He also took an active part in M. I. A. work. In 1915 he moved to Marion, Summit Co., Utah, where he continued his Church activities as a ward teacher, Sunday school teacher, etc. In 1908 (Dec. 23rd) he married Harriet E. Stevenson in the Salt Lake Temple. This marriage has been blessed with six children, namely, Joseph Wesley, Theron Roscoe, Millard Arwin, Ida, Iona and Ruth. Bro. Andrus was ordained a High Priest June 25, 1916, by Moses W. Taylor and ordained a Bishop Aug. 6, 1916, by James E. Talmage and set apart to preside over the Marion Ward. This position he still holds. He is a farmer and stockraiser by avocation and among the numerous positions he has filled in a civil capacity may be mentioned his service since 1918 as a member of the South Summit School Board. Bishop Andrus is known universally for his faithfulness as a Church member, his compliance with the counsels of the authorities of the Church and his characteristics as an honest, upright citizen.

ANDRUS, Millard Burgess, sixth Bishop of the Draper Ward, Jordan Stake, Salt Lake Co., Utah, was born Aug. 22, 1879, at Draper, Salt Lake Co., Utah, the son of Millard Andrus and Minerva Deseret Terry. He was raised in Draper, where he received a common school education, and was later a student for two years in the University of Utah. After being baptized by Joseph M. Smith, when eight years old, he was ordained successively to the offices of Deacon, Teacher and Priest. He acted as president of a Deacons quorum and later as president of a Teachers quorum. After being ordained an Elder by John Heber Garfield at Draper, March 14, 1901, he acted as first counselor to John H. Garfield in the presidency of the 5th quorum of Elders in the Jordan Stake. He was ordained a Seventy March 31, 1903, by Rulon S. Wells and filled a mission to Switzerland, Austria and Germany in 1903-1905. On this mission he had many interesting experiences and was subject to considerable persecution. He was one of the first L. D. S. missionaries in the province of Anholt in Prussia and presided afterwards over a branch of the Church at Gera in the province of Reuss. After his return home, he acted as a home missionary in the Jordan Stake and as second assistant stake superintendent of Y. M. M. I. A. in the Jordan Stake. Later he acted as first counselor in the same stake organization. After that he presided over the Draper Sunday school four years, and for a number of years served as a president of the 73rd Quorum of Seventy. Being ordained a High Priest Sept. 13, 1914, by Orson F. Whitney, he acted as first counselor to Bishop Peter C. Rasmussen. After filling that position four years, he was ordained a Bishop by Orson F. Whitney, Oct. 11, 1918, and set apart to preside over the Draper Ward, which position he occupied until May 28, 1927. In 1908 (Sept. 3rd), he married Mary Mickelsen in the Salt Lake Temple. This union has been blessed with four children, namely, Neil Millard (deceased), Bertha Minerva, Mary Edith (deceased), and Belva. Bishop Andrus is a farmer by occupation, and he has filled a number of civil and political offices. Thus he served as a member of the Utah State Legislature in 1923-1924, chairman of the Republican Club at Draper and a member of the Salt Lake County Civic Club. Bishop Andrus is a man of affairs and takes a leading part in all matters pertaining to the progress and benefit of the community in which he resides. While on his mission in Germany he acquired the German language to a remarkable degree of perfection.

ASHTON, Edward Morris, president of the High Priests Quorum of Liberty Stake, was born Jan. 12, 1879, in Salt Lake City, Utah, the son of Edward T. Ashton and Effie Morris. He was baptized when 8 years of age by Wm. Binder and later was ordained to the offices of Deacon, Teacher and Priest. He was ordained a Seventy in 1898, when only 19 years of age by George Albert Smith and set apart for a mission to Germany, where he served with great fidelity for over three years. In 1902 (Oct. 15th), Bro. Ashton married Louise Badger (daughter of Rodney C. Badger and Louise Ashby), to whom were born seven children, namely, Morris B., Virginia L., Beatrice, Richard E., David B., John H., and Mary Ruth.

On Oct. 1, 1911, Elder Ashton was ordained a High Priest and Bishop by Apostle Anthon H. Lund and set apart to preside over the 31st Ward of the Liberty Stake. When this ward was divided and the east part organized as the Le Grand Ward, Bishop Ashton became Bishop of that ward, to which position he was set apart Sept. 7, 1913. In 1924 the east part of the Le Grand Ward was organized as the Yale Ward and Bishop Ashton was called to preside over that ward, to which position he was set apart Feb. 17, 1924. He served in this capacity until he had supervised the erection of a fine, modern chapel, when he was chosen as a member of the High Council of the Liberty Stake, and in 1930 became president of the

In a civil capacity Bishop Ashton has acted as president of the Salt Lake Chamber of Commerce, member of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, president of the Salt Lake Real Estate Board, of the Utah State Real Estate Board and of the Utah Mortgage Banks Association; also as vice-president of the National Real Estate Board and member of the Salt Lake City Planning Commission. He is primarily interested in the development of the city's better residential districts and is vice-president of Ashton-Jenkins Company, manager of a large mortgage business in connection therewith and in the same connection, correspondent of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States and vice-president of four local building and loan societies. He was at one time a director of the Utah Savings and Trust Company Bank. Thus it will be seen that Bishop Ashton is an asset to the community in commercial and civil capacities, while giving liberally of his time and talents to his ecclesiastical duties. Bishop Ashton has a pleasing personality and commands the respect of his associates everywhere.

was born July 27, 1870, in Salt Lake City, the son of Edward Ashton and Jane Treharne. He was baptized July 27, 1878, by his father in the Jordan River, and received his education in the public schools and in the L. D. S. College in Salt Lake City. He was ordained a Deacon by Bishop Joseph Pollard, and an Elder in September, 1893, by James W. Ure. He was ordained a Seventy Oct. 9, 1893, by Apostle Francis M. Lyman and set apart for a mission to the Indian Territory, where he labored for 22 months in the Oklahoma Conference and six months as president of the Cherokee Conference. After returning home, he labored as an officer in the Y. M. M. I. A. of the 15th Ward. When the 24th Ward was created out of the western part of the 15th Ward he became choir leader, in which position he served six years and he also labored in the Y. M. M. I. A. Before going on his mission he married Leah Fidkin (a daughter of William Fidkin and Alice Crowton) in the Salt Lake Temple Sept. 21, 1893. She was born Feb. 27, 1872, in England and came to Utah with her parents in 1874. This marriage has been blessed with eight children, namely, Leah F., George W., Lucile Fidkin, Aliene F., Emma F., William F., Melvin Alma and Reed Earl. Brother Ashton was ordained a High Priest June 19, 1904, by Pres. Joseph F. Smith and set apart as 2nd counselor to Bishop John W. Boud of the 15th Ward. This position he held for sixteen years, when he was called to act as a High Councilor in the Salt Lake Stake. In 1920 he moved to the 19th Ward, and when the Capitol Hill Ward was organized from a part of the 19th Ward, Bro. Ashton became a member of that ward; and, being called to preside over the same, he was ordained a Bishop April 19, 1925, by Apostle Richard R. Lyman. Under his administration, one of the finest meeting houses in the Church has been erected in the Capitol Hill Ward.

Bishop Ashton, whose chief avocation is that of a contractor and builder, was honorably released as Bishop of the Capitol Hill Ward Dec. 28, 1930, since which time he has acted as a member of the Salt Lake Stake High Council.

AYLETT, John Argent, first counselor in the presidency of the East Jordan Stake, Salt Lake Co., Utah, was born Sept. 28, 1868, at West Jordan, Salt Lake Co., Utah, the son of William Aylett and Hannah Argent. He was raised and educated in the West Jordan Ward and ever since his baptism on June 6, 1878, by James Glover, in West Jordan, he has taken an active part in Church affairs and was ordained successively to the offices of Deacon, Teacher and Priest. He was ordained an Elder by John A. Egbert, June 6, 1896; a Seventy, June 15, 1898, by Seymour B. Young, and a High Priest and Bishop Nov. 30, 1915, by Francis M. Lyman. He presided as Bishop of the Midvale Ward until May 8, 1927, when the East Jordan Stake of Zion was organized. On that occasion he was released as Bishop of the Midvale Ward and chosen as first counselor to Heber J. Burgon in the presidency of the East Jordan Stake of Zion, a position which he still occupies. Bro. Aylett filled a mission to the Northern States in 1898-1900, laboring principally in Missouri, where he acted as counselor to a conference president. In West Jordan Ward he acted for a number of years as superintendent of the Ward Sunday school and Y. M. M. I. A. After moving to Midvale, he acted as an assistant Sunday school superintendent in the Jordan Stake and later as stake president of the Y. M. M. I. A., which position he held until he was made Bishop. In 1889 (April 27th) he married Martha Ann Egbert of West Jordan in the Salt Lake Temple, which marriage has been blessed with four children, namely, Vera Aleta, John Hollis, Kelvin William and Mattie Lorene. Bro. Aylett, after becoming a resident of Midvale in 1910, acted for several years as mayor of the city of Midvale. Being held in high esteem by his fellow citizens, he has filled many other positions of responsibility in the communities in which he has resided.

After returning from his mission in 1900, he engaged in the flour milling business with the Archibald Gardner Mill, now the West Jordan Milling Company, located in West Jordan Ward on the Bingham Highway, west of the Jordan River. Bro. Aylett has been there continuously since 1900 and has acted as manager of said company for the past 15 years. He has also served as a member of the Jordan School District Board two years and as director of the Midvale State Bank, which position he still holds. For a number of years he labored as a home missionary in the Jordan Stake.

BAGNALL, Joseph Frobisher, 5th Bishop of the Chester Ward, Moroni Stake, Sanpete Co., Utah, was born Nov. 22, 1870, in Moroni, Sanpete Co., Utah, the son of Joseph Bagnall and Sarah Ann Frobisher. He was raised and educated in Chester and was baptized Sept. 7, 1879, by his father. Being raised in the fear and admonition of the Lord by goodly parents, he took an active part in Church affairs from the beginning, and while yet quite young was ordained to the lesser Priesthood. A number of his boyhood years were spent with sheep on the range. He was ordained an Elder and filled a mission to Great Britain in 1909-1911, laboring in the Manchester Conference, part of the time as president of the Rochdale Branch and later as president of the Hyde Branch. After his return home from that mission, he resumed his local Church activities, and on April 28, 1912, he was ordained a High Priest by Peter Mattson and set apart as second counselor to Bishop Wilford L. Allred of the Chester Ward. He held that position until Dec. 13, 1915. On Dec. 14, 1924, he was ordained a Bishop by Apostle Rudger Clawson and set apart to preside over the Chester Ward, which position he still occupies. Brother Bagnall married Hannah Christensen of Chester, Dec. 1, 1897, which union was blessed with one child, Joseph Rodley. Besides him the Bishop adopted and raised another child (Jean Morrison). Aside from being active in Church affairs, Bishop Bagnall has occupied positions of honor and responsibility of a secular nature; thus he served as a member of the Utah State Legislature (House) in 1923-1925. Brother Bagnall's avocation is that of a farmer and a stock-raiser.

BANGERTER, William Henry, 3rd Bishop of the Granger Ward, Oquirrh Stake, Salt Lake Co., Utah, was born June 29, 1890, at South Jordan, Salt Lake Co., Utah, the son of Frederick Lorenzo Bangerter and Alice Mary Blauer. When two years old he moved with his parents to Granger, where he was raised and educated, and on Aug. 7, 1898, he was baptized by Fred L. Bangerter. He was ordained a Deacon when 12 years old and acted as a counselor in the presidency of a Deacons Quorum. At the age of fifteen he was ordained a Teacher and acted as president of a Teachers quorum for three years. At the age of eighteen he was ordained a Priest and acted as librarian of the Granger Sunday school. After being ordained an Elder Jan. 8, 1912, by Fred Nielsen, he filled a mission to Germany in 1913-1914. Being released because of the World War, he finished his mission in the United States and returned home in May, 1915. While in Germany he presided over the branch of the Church at Bremen, and later acted as president of the Hamburg Branch. In America he labored in Brooklyn. After returning home he acted as a counselor in an Elders quorum, Sunday school teacher, Ward teacher, teacher in the Ward Y. M. M. I. A. and as a home missionary in the Cottonwood Stake; also as president of the 3rd Quorum of Elders in said stake. He was ordained a High Priest and Bishop Dec. 12, 1920, by Joseph F. Smith, jun., and set apart to preside over the Granger Ward, which position he still occupies. In 1916 (April 26th), he married Isabelle Bawden, daughter of John H. Bawden and Alice J. Freestone. This union has been blessed with nine children, namely, Sarah Alice, William Grant, Samuel B., Pauline, Blauer Lorenzo, Elsbeth, Mary Glenneth, Marian and Naomi. Bishop Bangerter is a farmer and mechanic by avocation.

BARKER, Joseph Fredrick, 3rd Bishop of the Ogden 8th Ward, Ogden Stake, Weber Co., Utah, was born Jan. 19, 1885, in Ogden, Utah, the son of George S. Barker and Alice Whitney. He was raised and educated in Ogden, attended college in Ogden and later night school in the Weber Academy, at Ogden. Being born of Latter-day Saint parents, he was baptized April 5, 1893, by his father, and, taking an active part in Church affairs from his early youth, he was ordained successively to the offices of Deacon, Teacher, Priest, Elder, High Priest and Bishop. He filled a mission to Great Britain in 1906-1908, laboring principally in London and Bristol, part of the time as clerk of the Bristol Conference. After returning home from his mission, he acted as president of the Y. M. M. I. A. in the Mound Fort Ward, and later held the position of superintendent of the 10th Ward Sunday school in the North Weber Stake. In 1910 (Dec. 21), he married Rosabel Dee in the Salt Lake Temple; two children, viz., Alice Dee and Mary Dee, have blessed this union. After his marriage Brother Barker moved into the Ogden 8th Ward, where he labored as ward clerk from 1911 to 1912. After being ordained a High Priest by James Taylor, Jan. 2, 1917, he served as second counselor to Bishop Wilford W. Rawson until 1925, when he was ordained a Bishop by David O. McKay and set apart to preside over the Ogden 8th Ward, which position he still occupies. Bishop Barker has been active in both ecclesiastical and secular affairs since his early youth and has become distinguished as a leader among men. He acted as secretary and treasurer of the Utah Canning Company, and for a long time has been president of the Utah Canneries Association. His administration as a Bishop has been fraught with much success and prosperity to his ward, and he possesses the confidence and good will of his co-religionists and fellow-citizens throughout.

BAYLES, Hanson Durham, Bishop of the Blanding Ward, San Juan Stake, San Juan Co., Utah, was born Oct. 20, 1883, at Bluff, San Juan Co., Utah, the son of Hanson Bayles and Mary Ann Durham. He was raised and schooled at Bluff and later spent two years as a student at the B. Y. University at Provo. He was baptized Feb. 28, 1892, by Benjamin Perkins, and taking an active part in Church matters from his early youth he was ordained successively to the office of Deacon, Teacher and Elder. After filling a mission to the Southern States in 1904-1907, during which he labored principally in South Carolina, he moved to Blanding, Utah, where he acted as superintendent of the ward Sunday school, was ordained a Seventy Oct. 25, 1909, by Wayne H. Redd and acted as president of the 105th Quorum of Seventy. He held this position until Dec. 23, 1923, when he was ordained a High Priest by Wayne H. Redd and acted as a High Councilor in the San Juan Stake until Dec. 2, 1928, when he was ordained a Bishop by Apostle Richard R. Lyman and set apart to preside over the Blanding Ward, which position he still occupies. In 1915-1916 he filled a short mission to the Southern States, laboring in North Carolina. In 1911 (Dec. 20), he married Caroline Lyman in the Salt Lake Temple. The issue of this marriage are Reed E., Carol, Francis Lyman, Margaret, Mildred (deceased), Marian, Platte D., and Hanson. Besides his ecclesiastical positions Bishop Bayles has occupied a number of offices of a secular nature. Thus he has served as president of the Blanding Town Board since Jan. 1, 1930, and is also president of the Blanding Irrigation Company. Bishop Bayles is a man of affairs and exercises a universal good influence both in ecclesiastical and secular matters in the prosperous town of Blanding.

BENNION, Harden, first counselor in the presidency of the Salt Lake Stake of Zion, from 1923 to 1929, was born Oct. 7, 1862, in Taylorsville, Salt Lake County, Utah, the son of John Bennion and Esther A. Birch. In the fall of 1868, when 6 years old, he accompanied his parents and their three other sons on an overland journey by teams to West Point, a village founded by Latter-day Saints on the Muddy in southeastern Nevada, to which place the family had been called by the authorities of the Church. The following 5 years were spent in that locality doing pioneer labors, including the handling of sheep and cattle intrusted to the care of the Bennions by their neighbors. The herd-ground included what is now Long Valley, Meadow Valley, Eagle Valley (now in Nevada) and Desert Spring, near Modena, Utah. In the fall of 1873, the family with three additional members (Owen, Willard Richards and Ida) returned to the old home at Taylorsville, but the following year Harden went back with his father to Panaca, Nevada, and drove 400 sheep from there to Rush Valley, Tooele Co., Utah, a distance of 300 miles. In the spring of 1876 the family moved to Vernon, Tooele Co., Utah, which became their home for 30 years or more. Harden attended district schools for several years during the winter and worked on the farm in the spring and summer. He also herded sheep near Vernon and handled ranch cattle as occasion required. In October, 1878, he was appointed to the normal scholarship at the Deseret University, now the University of Utah, and at the close of the school year, he received a certificate of graduation and as a teacher. But instead of teaching school he went back to his Vernon home and for seven years worked on the farm or herded sheep in the mountains. Later, he accepted a clerical position in the office of George M. Cannon, then recorder of Salt Lake County, where he worked until May 31, 1893, on which date he married Miss Vilate Kimball Nebeker, daughter of George Nebeker and Elizabeth Dilworth, in the Salt Lake Temple. After his marriage he was employed by the Security Abstract Company in Salt Lake City, and later became manager of the Ashley Cooperative Mercantile Institution in Vernal, Uintah Co., Utah, where his brother, Samuel R. Bennion, acted as president of the Uintah Stake for 19 years. During this time, Harden assisted in the organization of the Bank of Vernal, of which he was made director and later a vice-president; he also became a stockholder and director in the Ashley Cooperative Mercantile Institution. At Vernal he acted as a member of the Board of Trustees of the newly incorporated town of Vernal, and also served as town clerk. Later, when the town became incorporated as a city, he acted as a member of the City Council. He also served as postmaster at Vernal, and in November, 1898, was elected a state senator to the Utah Legislature from the counties of Uintah, Carbon, Emery, Grand and San Juan. At the close of 4 years he was reelected in 1902 for another 4-year term in the same position. While acting in this capacity he was appointed by Governor Heber M. Wells to serve as a member of the Utah Arid Land Reclamation Company Fund Commission, which position he held for four years. After terminating his services with the Ashley Coop. Mercantile Institution in the spring of 1908, he devoted his time and attention to ranching and live-stock business, his ranch being located at Leota on Green River, about 25 miles south of Vernal. While thus engaged he was, much to his surprise, appointed by Governor William Spry in the spring of 1909 to serve as a member of the Utah State Board of Equalization. He acted in that capacity for the ensuing 8 years, with the exception of about 10 months of the years 1912-1913, during which time, at the request of the governor, he acted as a member of the Utah Commission on Taxation and Revenue. In the fall of 1916 he was elected secretary of State, in which capacity he served until the close of the year 1920. During the succeeding four years he acted as office manager of the Salt Lake City office of the Provo Reservoir Company and the Utah Lake Irrigation Company, and while so engaged joined with Joseph R. Murdock (president of said company) in the organization of the Wasatch Livestock Loan Company, of which he also acted as secretary-treasurer, and as a member of the board of directors, which latter position he held until 1930.

In the fall of 1924 he was chosen as state chairman of the Democratic State Committee and acted as such through the campaign of that year, with the result that George H. Dern, head of the Democratic ticket, was elected governor. In March, 1925, Harden Bennion was appointed Commissioner of Agriculture and served in that office during the following four years, and at the legislative session of the year 1929, he was elected to the same office and served for an additional term of four years.

Born and reared a member of the "Mormon" Church he has always taken an active part in Church affairs. He was baptized by his father, John Bennion, when he was about eight years of age. On July 31, 1887, he was ordained a Seventy by Lysander Gee. Soon after his removal to Vernal in 1893 he was made president of the ward Y. M. M. I. A., and in August, 1898, he was chosen as second counselor to Bishop John N. Davis of the Vernal Ward. Later he acted as first counselor to Bishop Davis. When the Uintah Stake of Zion was re-organized in 1906, he was chosen as a member of the stake High Council, and later became first counselor to President William H. Smart. Following his appointment by Gov. Spry to serve on the State Board of Equalization he was released from his position in the Uintah Stake presidency, and, removing to Salt Lake City, he served as a member of the High Council of the Salt Lake Stake. Due to his financial interests in the Uintah country, he spent part of his time there, and while looking after his interests in the Uintah Basin he was chosen as stake clerk of the Duchesne Stake in 1914, and acted in this capacity for a period of two years. Due to his election as secretary of state in the fall of 1916, and the imperative demands for his whole time in that position, he was released from his missionary call in the Uintah country and was shortly afterwards chosen as a member of the High Council in the Salt Lake Stake, which position he held until March 11, 1923, when he was appointed to serve as first counselor in the Salt Lake Stake Presidency. He held that position until June 16, 1929, when the stake presidency was re-organized, after which Bro. Bennion again became a member of the High Council of the Salt Lake Stake, which position he still holds. His marriage with Vilate Kimball Nebeker has been blessed with 5 children, viz., Aurelia, Ida, Florence, Esther and Bernice. With the exception of Ida, who died in infancy, all these children have been educated in the district and high schools of the state, and all have received graduation degrees from the University of Utah.

BILLS, David, 3rd Bishop of the Riverton Ward, West Jordan Stake, Salt Lake Co., Utah, was born April 13, 1873, at South Jordan, Salt Lake Co., Utah, the son of Wm. A. Bills and Emmeline Beckstead. When about eight years old he was baptized and later ordained to offices in the Priesthood. As a Seventy he acted as one of the presidents of the 73rd Quorum of Seventy and was superintendent of a Sunday school for a long time, having previously acted as a counselor in the Riverton Ward Y. M. M. I. A. On April 4, 1891, he married Lorena Emmeline Smith (daughter of Lauritz Smith and Hannah Jensen of Draper) who has borne him sixteen children, namely, David Lauritz, Luetta, Lorena May, Lancelot, Sylvia, Clarence Delurel, Venice, Ebba Elenor, Henry Locell, Amelia, Leo De Mont, Kenneth, Melvarea, Jessiemina, Vaughn Gordon, and Derrill Smith. David L. died; the other fifteen are still living. One son and one daughter have filled missions and one son (Clarence D.) holds the championship of the Western States as a typist, an honor which he received when but 13 years of age. In August, 1921, Bro. Bills was ordained a Bishop and set apart to preside over the Riverton Ward, succeeding his older brother, Gordon S. Bills. This position he held until September, 1927, when the Riverton Ward was divided into two wards, and new bishoprics chosen. Bishop Bills has been a leading man in his community, acting as a director of the Jordan Valley Bank, president of the Riverton Pipe Line Company, president of the Riverton Canning Factory, etc. He was one of the chief movers in the building of a pipe line from the mountains east, across the Salt Lake Valley, to Riverton, which now has a good water system. Water for the settlement had previously been obtained from a spring above Draper. He also engages in farming and merchandising.

BOWNS, Jared Harrison, Presiding Elder of the Almy Branch, Woodruff Stake, Uinta Co., Wyoming, was born Sept. 24, 1889, at Almy, Uinta Co., Wyoming, the son of James Bowns and Christine W. Spowart. He was baptized by his father May 26, 1897, was ordained a Priest, March 5, 1911, and an Elder, May 21, 1916, by James Bowns. He received his first schooling in Uinta County, Wyoming, and Carbon County, Utah. He also took a special course of study in coal mining, which occupation he still follows. In 1912 (Aug. 18th), he married Helen V. Nixon, from which union there are four children, namely, Wilburn, Marguerite, Ruth and Jean. Brother Bowns has always been a faithful Church worker and has acted as president of the Y. M. M. I. A. and superintendent of the Sunday school in the Almy Branch. He has also acted as second counselor to James Bowns and as first counselor to Alonzo Hutchinson of the Almy Branch. On Nov. 9, 1924, he was set apart as president of the Almy Branch, which position he still held in 1930.

BRADSHAW, Ira Hinton, 1st Bishop of the Hurricane South Ward, Zion Park Stake, Washington Co., Utah, was born Aug. 7, 1884, at Virgin City, Washington Co., Utah, the son of Ira E. Bradshaw and Marion Hinton. He was baptized Aug. 7, 1892, by James Jepson in Virgin City, where he was raised and received a common school education. Later he attended the branch of the B. Y. U. at Beaver, Utah. Taking an active part in Church affairs, he was ordained a Deacon and afterwards a Teacher at Beaver. After being ordained a Seventy in 1906 by Joseph W. McMurrin, he filled a mission to the Central States in 1906-1909, laboring principally in the State of Oklahoma. After returning to Utah, he located at Hurricane, where he acted as an officer in the Y. M. M. I. A., and filled other local ecclesiastical positions. Thus he acted as first assistant superintendent of the Hurricane Sunday school for 7 years; He was ordained a Bishop June 24, 1923, by Anthony W. Ivins and set apart to preside over the Hurricane Ward, which position he held until Aug. 26, 1928, when the Hurricane Ward was divided, on which occasion he was chosen as Bishop of the Hurricane South Ward, which position he still occupied in 1930. In 1910 (June 1), he married Emma Webb in the St. George Temple. This union has been blessed with 7 children, viz., William Ray, Hal Hinton, Enid and Elaine (twins), Marion (deceased), Gwynne and Ira Webb. Bishop Bradshaw is by avocation a farmer and a freighter, and is throughout a man of affairs.

BRAMWELL, E. Ernest, field supervisor of L. D. S. seminaries, was born August 28, 1869, at Sheffield, England, the son of George W. Bramwell and Mary Ann Stevenson. He emigrated with his parents to Utah in 1870, and was baptized when eight years of age by Peter C. Green. After obtaining a good school education he attended the B. Y. College in Logan and later the University of Utah, from which institution he graduated with a B. A. degree. He also did graduate work at the University of Chicago and also in California. After teaching school in Salt Creek, Weber

County, Utah, two years, he became principal of the Rexburg City schools in 1893, continuing in that capacity two years. In 1907, after completing his work at the University of Utah, he was called by Church authorities to take charge as principal of the Fielding Academy at Paris, Idaho, acting in that capacity three years. In 1910 he was called by Church authorities to Canada to begin Church school work under the British flag, in the Knight Academy at Raymond, Alberta. After serving thus four years, he was called to Snowflake, Arizona, and the next year to Ephraim, Sanpete Co., Utah, where he taught in the Snow College three years. In 1918 he went to Manti, and there opened what is now the Manti Senior Seminary. After moving to Salt Lake City in 1920 he continued his seminary work in different schools. Summing up his activities in the Church schools, Bro. Bramwell acknowledges the hand of the Lord in the success that has followed him in all his moves, and by being obedient to the call of the Priesthood he is actually one of the fathers of the Church school system. In 1929 the L. D. S. College in Salt Lake City organized a religious educational department, where he taught one year. In 1930 he became field supervisor of the seminary work throughout the Church, and in this capacity he is now doing a splendid work.

While residing in the Fremont Stake of Zion he acted as superintendent of Sunday schools, and later as stake superintendent of Sunday schools in the Taylor and South Sanpete stakes. He also served as the first Bishop of the Hillcrest Ward in Salt Lake County from October 13, 1924, to November 8, 1925. After that he served as head of the Grant Stake religion class and junior seminary work, and in 1930 he was chosen as a High Councilor in the stake, which position he held until September, 1932, when he moved to the Ensign Stake, where he now resides.

In 1895 he became deputy clerk of the District Court of Fremont County and later clerk of said court. In 1900-1902 he filled a mission to Great Britain, where he acted as president of the Manchester Conference. While on this mission he received an appointment from the governor of Idaho to represent the state at an international exposition held at the Crystal Palace, London. While attending that gathering, he labored as a missionary in the London Conference.

Bro. Bramwell is the author of several books. Among these, he wrote "The Teachers Manual" and "Noted Religious Teachers," used in the teacher-training department of the Church. Also, after 15 years research, he published a book entitled "Why Do I Believe?"—a special work of reference and an aid to speakers. He also prepared the Old Testament outlines used in the Church schools for five years.

In 1896 (March 4th) he married Zilpha Ann Holman of Rexburg, Idaho, daughter of John G. Holman and Sarah Loader, born July 4, 1876. This union has been blessed with nine children, namely, Zilpha Viola, Ernest, jun., Clyde, Ruth, Ralph, Genevieve, Alberton, Vivian, and Helen; seven of these children are still living.

Bro. Bramwell says: "There is no such thing in our Church as duty; it should read privilege and blessing. In all Church work the law of compensation is evident. No matter what we are called to do in the Church, we get returns far greater than the investment. I have proved this to be safe and sound. The Lord told Joseph Smith the Prophet to get out of debt, and from Joseph Smith down to the present general authorities of the Church we have been given this counsel: 'Get out of debt, keep out of debt, and lay aside a little surplus for a rainy day.' This counsel I have followed to the very letter. It pays to do so; not only in the field of dollars and cents, but from the standpoint of joy and comfort and satisfaction in life. Such a course spells freedom, in the broadest sense of the word."

BROUGH, Harold Eugene, Bishop of Evanston Ward, Woodruff Stake, Wyoming, was born March 14, 1895, at Randolph, Rich Co., Utah, the son of Benjamin R. Brough and Pearl Muir. He was baptized Sept. 5, 1903, by his father and was raised and partially educated at Randolph, Utah, and later attended the B. Y. C. at Logan. He was ordained a Deacon and became president of the Deacons quorum at Randolph, Oct. 1, 1917. Later he was ordained a Teacher by John C. Gray and an Elder by Hyrum J. Morris, jun. In 1917 (Oct. 4), he married Isabella Moslander in the Salt Lake Temple. In June, 1918, he enlisted in the U. S. army, but was called home from Lewisville, Ky., Oct. 4, 1918, owing to the death of his wife, and was finally discharged from service Dec. 17, 1918. In 1920-1922 he filled a mission to Great Britain, presiding part of the time over the Nottingham Conference. In 1923 (Feb. 21), he married Louie Welch in the Salt Lake Temple, and about the same time was appointed president of the Second Quorum of Elders in the Woodruff Stake. In 1922 he was called to act as first counselor to Ernest G. Burdette in the stake superintendency of Sunday schools.

Being called to preside over the Evanston Ward Sept. 13, 1925, he was ordained a High Priest and Bishop, Oct. 10, 1925, by Melvin J. Ballard. This position he still occupies. Bishop Brough is employed as clerk of the Union Pacific Railroad at Evanston.

BROWN, James, first counselor in the presidency of the Woodruff Stake, Uinta Co., Wyoming, was born May 24, 1861, at Calderbank, Lanarkshire, Scotland, the son of James Brown and Isabella Dick. His parents being members of the Church, young James was baptized by his father in October, 1869, near Hamilton, Lanarkshire. He emigrated by himself to Utah in 1879, and after residing in Salt Lake City two years, he became a permanent resident of Evanston, in 1880, and to that place he emigrated his father and mother, with six brothers and two sisters. Having learned the trade of a blacksmith in Scotland, he obtained employment with the Union Pacific Railroad Co., in Evanston, where from the beginning he took an active part in Church activities. Thus he became a Sunday school teacher in 1880; later treasurer and still later president of the ward Y. M. M. I. A. and a ward teacher. He was ordained an Elder in Evanston by Bishop Wm. G. Burton in September, 1880, and on May 14, 1882, he was ordained a High Priest by Alma Eldredge and set apart to act as second counselor to Bishop 43 years was a most successful one, during which time he gained the good will and confidence of both "Mormons" and non-Mormon alike. With his natural magnetism and exemplary life he gained the confidence of all his associates, and the non-Mormon population referred to the L. D. S. organization in Evanston as Bishop Brown's Church and the ward increased in membership, which, with Bishop Brown as an example, manifested a spirit of brotherly love throughout. A fine L. D. S. meeting house was erected in Evanston and all the Church auxiliary organizations prospered. Besides being a successful Church officer, Bishop Brown has filled a number of secular positions of honor and responsibility in the community. Thus he served from 1893 to 1894 as deputy county clerk, and after that (from 1893-1902) as county clerk. He also served as president of the school board for 25 years and at present is serving as clerk of the district court, a position which he has held continually for many years.

After serving 33 years as Bishop of Evanston, Brother Brown was set apart July 25, 1915, as second counselor to Stake President John M. Baxter. In 1918 he was promoted to first counselor in the Stake presidency, which position he held until July 1, 1928, when the presidency of the Woodruff Stake was reorganized. James Brown was ordained a Patriarch Oct. 26, 1919, by Apostle George F. Richards.

BROWN, James Christensen, 1st counselor in the South Sevier Stake presidency, Sevier Co., Utah, was born Nov. 1, 1881, in Monroe, Sevier Co., Utah, the son of Christian Christensen Brown and Johanne Nielsen. He was baptized by Joseph H. Jenson when 9 years old, was raised and received a common school education in Monroe, and afterwards attended the Snow College in Ephraim one year. He was ordained successively to the Alfred Blackburn of the Evanston Ward. He held this position until Nov. 11, 1883, when he was ordained a Bishop by Apostle Albert Carrington and set apart to preside over the Evanston Ward, succeeding Bishop Blackburn. On July 27, 1882, he married Christina Hunter, which union was blessed with seven children (four boys and three girls) namely: James, Elizabeth P., Isabella, Tiena, Adam H., Wm. G. and Frank H. Being called on a mission to Scotland he labored faithfully in the British Mission from 1904-1906.

Bishop Brown's administration as a presiding ecclesiastical officer for offices of Deacon, Teacher, Priest, Elder, Seventy and High Priest. In 1907-1909 he filled a mission to Scandinavia, laboring in the Aarhus Conference, Denmark. Prior to leaving on this mission, he acted as secretary and later as president of the Monroe dependency of said stake, which position he still occupies. In 1926-1927 he filled a short mission to the Northwestern States, laboring principally in Seattle. Brother Brown is a farmer by avocation.

Y. M. M. I. A., and also as assistant superintendent of the Sunday school. After being ordained a Seventy he became a president of the 41st Quorum of Seventy. He was ordained a High Priest by John Henry Smith and set apart as second counselor to Bishop Joseph H. Jenson of the Monroe North Ward, and when the South Sevier Stake was organized, Jan. 30, 1921, he was chosen as clerk of said stake. In 1910 he married Annie Magleby, daughter of Hans O. Magleby of Monroe. This union was blessed with seven children, viz., Naomi, Beth, Faye, Janice, Ruth, Ruby and Annie. Brother Brown's wife died Dec. 28, 1922, and on Nov. 14, 1923, he married Jennie Schön of Christiania, Norway, in the Salt Lake Temple. In November, 1925, he was chosen as second counselor to Pres. John E. Magleby of the South Sevier Stake, which position he held until May 13, 1928, when he was chosen as first counselor to Pres. James R. Ware in the presi-

BURGESS, Edward W., Bishop of the Alpine Ward, Utah Co., Utah, was born Oct. 16, 1891, in Pine Valley, Washington Co., Utah, the son of George Edward Burgess and Emily Jeffery. When eight years old he moved with his parents to Lund, White Pine Co., Nevada, where he was baptized Feb. 3, 1900, by William H. Ivins and attended public schools there and later in Alpine, where he moved when sixteen years old, and where he has resided permanently ever since. He was ordained a Deacon by Orrin H. Snow Nov. 1, 1903, a Teacher by George G. Burgess Nov. 30, 1908, a Priest by Joseph T. Bateman Feb. 13, 1911, and an Elder by Joseph A. Bateman March 11, 1912. He filled a mission to the Northwestern States in 1912-1914, laboring principally in Seattle and Tacoma, State of Washington. In 1815 (Feb. 3rd) he married Inez Thurza Clark in the Salt Lake Temple. Two children (Ross Clark and Ula) have blessed this marriage. Bro. Burgess has always been active in Church affairs and acted as a Sunday school officer and presided over the Alpine Ward Y. M. M. I. A. He was ordained a High Priest March 9, 1924, by Pres. Heber J. Grant and set apart as first counselor to Bishop James W. Vance, which position he held until July 22, 1928, when he was ordained a Bishop by Apostle Orson F. Whitney and set apart to preside over the Alpine Ward. Bro. Burgess has held several positions of honor and responsibility in the community and has been a faithful worker in the auxiliary organizations and also in secular labors. At present he is engaged in farming and dairying and makes an excellent presiding officer. Under his administration a new meetinghouse was erected in Alpine at a cost of $50,000, the former meeting-house having been destroyed by fire Oct. 20, 1928.

BURGON, Heber James, first president of the East Jordan Stake of Zion, Salt Lake Co., Utah, was born May 20, 1882, in Union, Salt Lake Co., Utah, the son of the late Bishop Willard C. Burgon and Emma Crouch. He was baptized Aug. 6, 1891, by Andrew Johnson and was raised and schooled in Union, and later attended the L. D. S. University in Salt Lake City. Having been an active church member since his early youth, he was ordained a Deacon by Thomas H. Smart, June 4, 1893, a Teacher by Willard C. Burgon, May 23, 1897, and a Priest Dec. 31, 1899, by Willard C. Burgon. Later, he was ordained an Elder and filled a mission to Great Britain in 1902-1905, laboring principally in Ireland, where he presided over the Irish Conference. After his return home, he labored as a home missionary and was ordained a Seventy by J. Golden Kimball, Jan. 9, 1910. He served as a member of the Board of Education of the Jordan School District for two years and was a member of the board of directors of the Sandy City Bank for several years. In 1918 he was chosen to act as Bishop of the Union Ward, being ordained to that position May 12, 1918, by Apostle Stephen L. Richards. He held that office until May 8, 1927, when he was chosen as president of the East Jordan Stake of Zion, which position he has since magnified and proven himself an efficient and popular presiding officer. In 1905 (Nov. 15th), he married Lulu M. Hansen in the Salt Lake Temple. His wife, after bearing him two children, namely, Afton Lulu and Marvin Heber, died March 29, 1912. In 1916 (Oct. 18th), he married Rosa Jeannette Hurler, which marriage has been blessed with five children, namely, Stanley Willard, Beulah, Grant Clarence, Beth Ludene, and Jennie LaRae. At present he serves as a member of the Jordan school board and as director of the Sandy City Bank. Otherwise he is a contractor and builder by avocation.

BURTON, Robert Ibbotson, first president of the Mount Ogden Stake, Weber Co., Utah, was born Feb. 9, 1879, at Ogden, Utah, the son of William Walton Burton and Rachel Fielding. He was baptized when about eight years old by Moroni Poulter, ordained a Deacon Dec. 3, 1894, by Bishop Thomas J. Stevens, ordained a Teacher Oct. 14, 1895, and acted as secretary and later as second counselor in the presidency and still later as president of the Teachers quorum; ordained an Elder June 18, 1899, by Bishop Thomas J. Stevens, and after being ordained a Seventy July 14, 1899, by Apostle George Teasdale, he filled a mission to Germany in 1899-1902. In 1903 (Dec. 2nd), he married Letitia Jane Richards (daughter of Charles C. Richards and Letitia Louisa Peery), which union has been blessed with four children, namely, Robert Richards, Charles Richards, Walton Richards and Virginia Letitia. Bro. Burton served as a member of the Stake Sunday School Board from 1909 to 1914, part of the time as first counselor in the stake superintendency. He also acted as a president of the 77th Quorum of Seventy. After being ordained a High Priest Feb. 15, 1916, by Lewis W. Shurtliff, he acted as a High Councilor in the Weber Stake until May 21, 1922, when the Mount Ogden Stake was organized, and he was chosen and set apart as president of the new stake, being set apart to that position by Apostle David O. McKay, which position he still holds. Bro. Burton has also been very active in secular affairs. From 1902 to 1908 he served as a bookkeeper with the Ogden Implement Company, in the First National Bank and in the Boyle Furniture Company (with the latter company from June, 1904, to May, 1908). Later he acted as secretary of the Wm. W. Burton and Sons Company who carried on a mercantile business in Ogden. During the summer of 1908 he assisted in organizing the Burton Mercantile Company and the Burton Creamery Company in Star Valley, Wyoming, acting as secretary of both companies. In 1915 he sold his interest in the mercantile company and became the manager of the Burton Creamery Company, and from 1923 to 1926 he acted as president of said company. When the Burtons sold out the creamery to the Kraft Cheese Company of Chicago, the business was in a prosperous condition and the company had imported into Star Valley between 600 and 700 Holstein cattle. In 1909 Bro. Burton helped to organize the Crescent Products Company in Salt Lake City and acted as vice-president in that company until he sold out in 1929. In the meantime he served as secretary and treasurer in the Utah Implement Company of Salt Lake City for several years. He became president of the Paine and Hurst Inc. (a dry goods firm) in April, 1916. He served as a member of the board of trustees of the School for the Deaf and Blind at Ogden from 1919 to 1925; was appointed secretary and treasurer of the Ogden Land Company in 1924 and a member of the Weber College Board in 1922. He is still serving in the two last named positions.

BUTTERFIELD, Almon Thomas, second president of the West Jordan Stake of Zion, Salt Lake Co., Utah, was born July 5, 1868, at Herriman, Salt Lake Co., Utah, the son of Almon Butterfield and Elizabeth A. Farmer. He was baptized June 9, 1878, by Thos. Mumford, ordained a Deacon in 1880 and subsequently presided over the Deacons quorum at Herriman, ordained a Teacher in 1886, ordained an Elder Nov. 18, 1894, by Chr. Petersen, ordained a Seventy, Dec. 3, 1896, by Seymour B. Young, and filled a mission to New Zealand in 1896-1900, laboring principally in the Wairarapa district. Prior to going on this mission, or on Oct. 14, 1896, he married Sarah J. Crump (daughter of Wm. C. Crump and Sarah Cornick), who was born Sept. 2, 1873. By her he is the father of eight children, namely, Tira A., Amy L., Marva, Almon F., Chas O., James E., Thos. E. and Sarah Myrle. In 1904, he was set apart as a president of the 94th Quorum of Seventy, which position he held till 1911. In 1908-1911, he filled a mission to the Central States, presiding a part of the time over the St. John conference; later he acted as secretary of the mission and still later as acting president of the Missouri conference. While on this mission he visited Adam-ondi-Ahman, Carthage, Nauvoo and other places closely associated with the history of the Church. After his return from that mission, he was chosen a member of the Jordan Stake Sunday School Board and in 1911 (Nov. 26th) he was ordained a High Priest and set apart as an alternate High Councilor by Francis M. Lyman, and two years later was ordained a High Counselor and later acted as senior member until the stake was divided May 8, 1927.

When the West Jordan Stake of Zion was organized May 8, 1927, he was chosen as first counselor in the stake presidency, which position he held until the death of President Holt, which occurred Nov. 11, 1930, and on Feb. 1, 1931, he was chosen as president of the West Jordan Stake of Zion with David T. Dahl as first and Hyrum Stocking as second counselor. Pres. Butterfield is by occupation a farmer and stock raiser, possesses ability as a leader and has been successful also in financial matters.

CALL, Ivan, second Bishop of the Ely Ward, Nevada Stake, White Pine Co., Nevada, was born March 10, 1904, in Colonia Dublan, Chihuahua, Mexico, the son of Willard Call and Leah Pratt. He was raised and schooled in Mexico until he was 11 years old, and was baptized March 10, 1912, by his brother Harold Call. During the general exodus of the Saints from Mexico in 1912, he moved with his parents to El Paso, Texas, where he shared in the hospitality and kindness extended to the exiled Saints by the good citizens of El Paso. Later, the family located in Bountiful, Utah, where Ivan was ordained to different grades of the Priesthood and took an active part in Church work. Later, he located in Salt Lake City, where he acted as an officer in the Y. M. M. I. A. in the 8th Ward and also in the superintendency of the ward Sunday school. He was ordained an Elder Dec. 10, 1923, by Israel Call, after which he did considerable Temple work for the dead. Locating in Mount Pleasant, Sanpete Co., Utah, he again engaged in Sunday school work. He married Marietta Taylor in the Salt Lake Temple March 25, 1929, and soon afterwards located at Ely, Nevada, where he acted as a counselor in an Elders quorum until July 5, 1930, when he was ordained a High Priest and Bishop by Apostle Melvin

J. Ballard, and set apart to preside over the Ely Ward, which position he still occupies. His first child, Leah May, was born July 9, 1930. Bishop Call is a groceryman by avocation and takes an active part in secular matters, as well as in ecclesiastical duties, being ever on hand to labor in the interest of his fellow-religionists and fellow-citizens generally.

CANNON, George Jenkins, first counselor in the presidency of the Ensign Stake of Zion, was born July 27, 1879, in Salt Lake City, Utah, the son of Abraham H. Cannon and Sarah Ann Jenkins. He was baptized

July 27, 1887, by his father, ordained a Deacon November 1, 1891, by Bishop John Tingey of the 17th Ward; later he was ordained a Teacher. He was ordained a Priest Nov. 19, 1897, by Bishop Lewis M. Cannon of the Cannon Ward, an Elder Dec. 12, 1898, by Pres. George Q. Cannon, a Seventy Dec. 30, 1898, by J. G. Kimball of the First Council of Seventies, and a High Priest May 17, 1903, by Angus M. Cannon, president of the Salt Lake Stake. From his earliest youth Geo. J. Cannon has taken an active part in Church activities. First he acted as a president of a Deacons quorum and later as secretary of the 110th Quorum of Seventy in the 5th Ward, Salt Lake City. As a Seventy he filled a mission to Germany in 1899-1902, during which he acted as president of the Freiburg and Breslau branches of the Church and later as secretary of the German Mission at the mission headquarters in Berlin. After his return from that mission, he acted as second counselor to Bishop Nelson A. Empey of the 13th Ward, and later as first counselor to the same Bishop. In April, 1904, he moved into the 27th Ward, and in October, 1912, to the 18th Ward. From June, 1918, to December, 1923, he acted as a High Counselor in the Ensign Stake of Zion. In December, 1923, he was chosen and set apart as second counselor to Pres. Winslow F. Smith in the presidency of the Ensign Stake of Zion, and in December, 1928, as first counselor to Pres. Smith, which position he now (October, 1932) holds. In his youth he acted as president of the 27th Ward Y. M. M. I. A. two years, and during a number of years prior to his call to the Ensign Stake presidency served as a member of the general board of the Y. M. M. I. A.

In 1902 (June 26), he married Lucy Grant, daughter of Pres. Heber J. Grant and Lucy Stringham. This union has been blessed with seven children, namely, Rachel, Irene, Florence, Jean, George Ivins, Lucy and Heber Stanley.

In secular capacity Elder Cannon has served as secretary to the manager of the "Deseret News," as private secretary to Senator Frank J. Cannon, has done stenographical work at an attorney's office, was secretary to the manager of the Utah Power and Light Company, and during the past 28 years he has been connected with Heber J. Grant and Company in the insurance business, and is now general manager of said Company and of the Utah Home Fire Insurance Company. Elder Cannon is also secretary of the Home Benefit Building Society, which position he has occupied since its organization in 1915. He is treasurer and second vice-president of the Beneficial Life Insurance Company, member of the executive committee and director of the Utah Savings and Trust Company, and interested in other business enterprises.

Elder Cannon is universally known as a competent officer in all the positions he has filled both of an ecclesiastical and secular nature, and has gained the confidence and good will of his co-religionists and of a large number of his fellow citizens.

CAPENER, Russell Cleveland, 6th Bishop of the Riverside Ward, Bear River Stake, Box Elder Co., Utah, was born Sept. 15, 1901, in Riverside, the son of Alfred A. Capener and Myrtle Cleveland. He was educated in the public schools of Riverside, after which he attended the high school at Brigham City, graduating from that institution. He afterwards became a student in the University of Utah for two years. Being born of Latter-day Saint parents, he was baptized March 27, 1910, by Leonidas H. Kennard, and ordained successively to the offices of Deacon, Priest and Elder. In 1923-1925 he filled a mission to Great Britain, during which he acted as clerk of the Manchester Conference, and later presided over the Ulster Conference in Ireland. Soon after his return from this mission, he married Mildred Strong in the Salt Lake Temple, Aug. 27, 1925, which union has been blessed with two children, viz., Winona and Lowell Strong. At home Bishop Capener has been an efficient Sunday school worker, and has taken an active part in Church affairs generally. On May 22, 1926, he was ordained a High Priest and Bishop and set apart by Apostle Jos. F. Smith, jun., to preside over the Riverside Ward, which position he still occupies. Bishop Capener is a farmer by occupation, and is an influential citizen, having the confidence and

CARTER, Daniel, Bishop of Porterville Ward, Morgan Stake, Morgan Co., Utah, was born Sept. 24, 1875, at Porterville, the son of Samuel Carter and Ellen Mosser, and one of a family of 24 children; his father was one of the first settlers of Porterville. He was baptized July 27, 1884, by Thomas Phillips and raised in Porterville, where he also received a common school education. From his earliest youth he took an active part in Church affairs and was ordained successively to different offices in the Priesthood. He was ordained a Seventy March 19, 1905, and a High Priest May 31, 1914, by Apostle David O. McKay. Before that he acted as a counselor in an Elders quorum, served as superintendent of the Porterville Sunday school about six years and as a counselor in the stake Y. M. M. I. A. about two years. He was ordained a Bishop Oct. 2, 1927, by Apostle Melvin J. Ballard and set apart to preside over the Porterville Ward, after having acted as counselor to Bishop Hyrum K. Porter of that ward for four years, and as counselor to Bishop Samuel S. Florence for two years. In 1898 (Nov. 17), he married Margaret Bell Florence, who bore him seven children, namely, Golden H., Bessie E., Henry S., Wallace D., Jessie P., Flossie S. and Roscoe. Bro. Carter has been road supervisor in Morgan County for four years and has filled other important secular positions.

CHAMBERS, Edward Holroyd, 2nd Bishop of the Ogden 13th Ward, Ogden Stake, Weber Co., Utah, was born Oct. 8, 1885, in Ogden, Utah, the son of Alma Duffin Chambers and Anne Pugh Holroyd. He was baptized May 27, 1894, by Charles Henry Greenwell; ordained a Deacon Sept. 30, 1901, by Wm. C. Wright, ordained a Teacher Oct. 14, 1901, by Hyrum Belnap, and acted as second counselor in a Teachers quorum; ordained an Elder Jan. 29, 1906, by Isabrand Sander, and filled a mission to Great Britain in 1906-1908, laboring in the Manchester Conference as conference clerk and as a traveling missionary in Manchester, Bolton, and Leigh, in Lancashire, England. In 1909 (June 10), he married Ellen Merantha Greenwell in the Salt Lake Temple, which union has been blessed with two children, Helen Greenwell and Edward Greenwell. His wife died May 9, 1920, at Ogden, and in 1924 (June 11), he married Laura Stanford Goddard. This union has also been blessed with two children, viz., Ardell Goddard and Darold Holroyd. Brother Chambers was ordained a Seventy March 7, 1910, by Fred W. Chambers, and was for a number of years a president in the 77th Quorum of Seventy. He also acted as superintendent of the Ogden 6th Ward Sunday School. After being ordained a High Priest Dec. 19, 1915, by E. S. Hinckley, he acted as second counselor to Bishop Owen M. Sanderson of the Ogden 6th Ward. When he, in 1916, became a member of the 13th Ward, he served as superintendent of the 13th Ward Sunday school; later he was chosen as a member of the Ogden Stake High Council, and acted as stake superintendent of Sunday schools in the Ogden Stake in 1924-1925. Bishop John Howard Jenkins was called to preside over the New Zealand Mission and Bro. Chambers was called to succeed him as Bishop of the Ogden 13th Ward, July 5, 1925. He was ordained a Bishop Aug. 16, 1925, by Joseph F. Smith, jun., and still presides in the ward named in that capacity. Bishop Chambers is a graduate from the high school of Ogden and his avocation in life is that of an accountant.

CHILD, Thomas Battersby, jun., 5th Bishop of the Salt Lake City 10th Ward, Liberty Stake, was born May 6, 1888, in Salt Lake City, Utah, the son of Thomas B. Child, sen., and

Elizabeth Livingston. He was raised and educated in the 11th Ward, and later attended the L. D. S. Business College in Salt Lake City. Being baptized May 4, 1896, by William H. Ingham, he was ordained successively to the offices of Deacon, Teacher, Priest, Elder, Seventy, High Priest and Bishop. After being ordained an Elder he filled a mission to the Northern States, 1909-1910, laboring in Iowa and Illinois. After returning from that mission, he married Bertha Rumel, April 12, 1911, in the Salt Lake Temple. The children of this union are the following: Lucille, Francis (deceased), Robert and Joan. Brother Child was an active Sunday school worker in the 10th Ward, acting as second, later as first, and then superintendent of the school. He was ordained a Seventy Feb. 2, 1914, by J. Golden Kimball and acted as a president of the 16th Quorum of Seventy. After being ordained a High Priest March 18, 1923, by Hugh J. Cannon, he acted as second counselor to Bishop Joseph Christenson until Feb. 17, 1923, when he was ordained a Bishop by Apostle George F. Richards, and set apart to preside over the 10th Ward, which position he still holds. Bishop Child is a contractor and builder, specializing in mason work and doing business throughout the entire west: The South High School, Union Building at the University of Utah, Greek Church, and Interurban Depot Building of Salt Lake City, the Union Pacific Freight Terminal at Los Angeles and the L. D. S. Church at Washington, D. C., together with an almost unlimited list of ward chapels, apartment houses, railroad shops, business blocks and residences, are contracts fulfilled by him. Since 1911 he has been a resident of the 10th Ward.

CLEGG, Benjamin, a prominent and faithful Elder in the Church, was born April 29, 1857, in Tooele, Tooele Co., Utah, the son of Benjamin Clegg and Grace McIntyre. He was raised in Tooele, where he attended the public schools, and at the age of eight years he was baptized by Pres. Hugh S. Gowans at Tooele, and later ordained to the Priesthood. When 28 years of age he moved to Gentile Valley, and while residing there in the Mound Valley Ward, he became acquainted with Anna Jane Williams (the daughter of Bishop Williams) whom he later married in the Salt Lake Temple. This union was blessed with six children, namely, Benjamin O., Robert Williams, Joseph, Donald Willard, William Dale and Anna Louetta. Soon after his marriage Bro. Clegg located in the Trout Creek Ward, and after being ordained a High Priest by George C. Parkinson he acted as a counselor in the ward bishopric for 13 years. He filled a mission to Australia in 1897-1900, where he labored nine months in Queensland and later one and a half years in Adelaide, in South Australia, where he, together with Elder Alexander A. Carr, reopened a missionary field after a period of thirty years during which no missionary labors had been performed by Latter-day Saint missionaries in that part of the country. Elder Clegg acted as president of the district thus opened. Together with his missionary companions, he became an instrument in the hands of the Lord in bringing eleven new converts into the Church. After his return from this mission he again acted as a Bishop's counselor in the Trout Creek Ward, and has ever been active in Church affairs, besides filling a number of civil offices in the community. He has been blessed with good and faithful children, who are all active in the Church. Thus his oldest son, Benjamin Orson, has filled a mission to Great Britain. Another son, Robert W., now acts as Bishop of the Bench Ward in the Bannock Stake of Zion. His fourth son, Donald Willard, has filled a mission to the Northwestern States and later a short mission to the Western States. His daughter, Anna Louetta, has filled a mission to the Eastern States and in all instances Bro. Clegg has assisted these missionaries financially. Bro. Clegg is a farmer and stock raiser by avocation.

Louis Conrad and Elizabeth Ochsner. Becoming a convert to "Mormonism" he was baptized Aug. 13, 1892, by Jacob Huber, ordained a Deacon July 4, 1897, emigrated from Switzerland to Utah in 1901, arriving in Salt Lake City, Utah, May 30, 1901. In August, 1902, he was ordained an Elder by Angus M. Cannon in Salt Lake City, and on Sept. 12, 1902, he married Sophia Leterner in the Salt Lake Temple. This union has been blessed with 8 children, namely, Henry C., Walter A., Nellie E., Nephi D., Ben Eugene, Robert J., William H., and Ethel R. In 1904-1906 he filled a mission to the Southern States, laboring principally in the City of Cincinnati, Ohio. After his return from that mission, he served as a home missionary in the Salt Lake Stake. Before going on his mission and also afterwards, he was employed as a molder in the old Silver Brothers foundry on North Temple Street. In November, 1912, he moved with his family to McGill, Nevada, where he became an active Church worker, serving first as ward clerk for one year, and was then chosen Bishop of the McGill Ward in November, 1914. He was ordained a High Priest and Bishop April 6, 1915, by Apostle David O. McKay. After serving as a Bishop of the McGill Ward until May, 1921, he resided at Metropolis, Nevada, two years, and then returned to McGill, where he became foundry foreman for the Nevada Consolidated Copper Company in 1924; this position he still holds. When the Nevada Stake of Zion was organized Aug. 19, 1926, he was chosen as president of that new stake, being set apart to that position by Apostle Rudger Clawson. Brother Conrad, by his mild and pleasant ways, coupled with unflinching integrity to the Church, has made friends of all his associates, and as a presiding officer he is making a success of his high and holy calling as the head of one of the stakes of Zion.

CORBITT, Marion Leroy, second Bishop of Francis Ward, Summit Co., Utah, was born Jan. 20, 1864, in Salt Lake City, Utah, the son of Samuel Corbitt and Camilla Dorothy Jacobson. Being born of Latter-day Saint parents, he was baptized in 1872 by Andrew Anderson and ordained a Teacher in Smithfield, Cache Co., Utah, where the family resided for a short time. He was ordained a Seventy July 12, 1885, by James Woolstenholme and filled a mission to the Northern States in 1891-1893. Both before and after his mission he filled responsible positions in the Church and was one of the young active members of the same. In 1890 (Jan. 15), he married Martha Ellen Woolstenholme in the Logan Temple, who bore him ten children, namely, Ethel Camilla (who married Ove A. Richardson), Marion Leroy (who married Erma Arrends), Martha E. (who married James L. Atkinson), Otis Ray (who died 16 years old), Freda Belle (wife of Carl C. Bradshaw), Thora, Linford (died May 23, 1927), Robert S., Reva J. and Rada M. Bishop Corbitt is a man of affairs, a successful farmer and stock raiser and a highly respected citizen who has been entrusted with many positions of honor and responsibility. He has raised his family in the fear of the Lord and is universally beloved and respected as a faithful Latter-day Saint. In November, 1927, Bishop Corbett moved to Pleasant Grove, Utah Co., Utah, where he still resides.

CRITTENDEN, Irwin, 3rd Bishop of the Hoytsville ward, Summit Stake, Summit Co., Utah, was born Nov. 13, 1874, at Hoytsville, the son of Chauncey Smith Crittenden and Elizabeth Wareing. Being born of goodly parents, he was baptized Oct. 20, 1883, by Oliver Norton Harmon, and confirmed Oct. 21, 1883, by Andrew Hobson. He was ordained a Priest and later an Elder and Seventy, the latter ordination taking place Feb. 16, 1900, by Joseph W. McMurrin. In his boyhood days he acted as secretary of the ward Y. M. M. I. A., was a Sunday school teacher and otherwise an active Church worker. In 1900-1902 he filled a mission to the Eastern States, laboring principally in West Virginia. In 1904 (Nov. 2), he married Florence Brown in the Salt Lake Temple. She bore him four children, namely, Ruth, Glenna (who died in infancy), Leone and Allis.

After returning from his mission Bro. Chittenden acted as assistant superintendent of stake religion classes, was a Sunday school officer, a member of the 27th Quorum of Seventy, etc., and on Jan. 29, 1910, he was ordained a High Priest and Bishop by Apostle Orson F. Whitney and set apart to preside over the Hoytsville Ward, which position he still holds, and fills the same with marked ability and diligence. Bishop Crittenden is a successful farmer and stock-raiser, and a highly respected citizen, having been entrusted by his fellow-citizens with many positions of responsibility. Thus he has acted as a member of the North Summit School Board and as a water commissioner of the Weber River system. He has always been active and prominent both in Church and civil affairs.

DAHL, David Theodore, first counselor in the presidency of the West Jordan Stake, Salt Lake Co., Utah, was born March 4, 1872, in that part of West Jordan included in Midvale, Salt Lake Co., Utah, the son of Alexander Dahl and Ellen Jorgenson. He was baptized when about eight years old by James T. Turner, ordained an Elder Nov. 14, 1904, by Alberto Bateman, ordained a Seventy Dec. 12, 1910, by J. Golden Kimball, filled a home mission for six months in the Jordan Stake during the winter of 1913-1914, was ordained a High Priest Feb. 6, 1920, by Apostle Rudger Clawson and set apart to act as first counselor to Bishop Wm. J. Leak in the West Jordan Ward. Later, he acted as a member of the Jordan Stake High Council, and when the West Jordan Stake was organized May 8, 1927, he was chosen as second counselor to Pres. Joseph M. Holt of that stake, which position he held until the death of Pres. Holt. On Feb. 1, 1931, he was chosen as first counselor to Pres. Almon T. Butterfield of the West Jordan Stake. Bro. Dahl has followed the occupation of ranching, and at the age of nineteen years he was part owner of a ranch, raising sheep and cattle, and also dealing in meat and groceries. In 1906 he sold his meat and grocery business and purchased a farm in West Jordan, where he still resides. Later, he engaged in extensive dry farming, is the owner of 1,600 acres of land, and paid special attention to raising wheat. Among the many civil offices held by Elder Dahl, we may mention that he was the first president of the West Jordan Commercial Club, director of Salt Lake County Farmers' Equity, president of Salt Lake County Wheat Growers Association, member of Jordan School District Board of Education (from 1923 to 1931), and during the last four years acted as vice-president of said board. In February and March, 1930, he attended the National Educational Convention and the National School Board Convention at Atlantic City, New Jersey. On that occasion he visited leading schools and cities throughout the East and Middle West; he also visited the national capital, the Hill Cumorah, and the Joseph Smith Farm, etc. In 1899 (Nov. 29th), he married Johanna Maria Rodberg, who died Sept. 21, 1901. He married Amanda Teressa Pehrson Nov. 17, 1904. This latter union has been blessed with five sons and two daughters, namely, Lawrence Theodore and Clarence Peter (both of whom have filled missions for the Church), Arthur David, Harvey Alexander, Marvin James, Mary Ellen and Elizabeth Evelyn. Bro. Dahl is a man of affairs, a natural leader and the possessor of a pronounced personality.

DIMOND, Edwin Robert, fourth Bishop of the Magna Ward, Oquirrh Stake, Salt Lake Co., Utah, was born Aug. 16, 1888, at West Jordan, Salt Lake Co., Utah, the son of Robert E. Dimond and Mary E. Bateman. He was raised and schooled in West Jordan, attending school principally in the Taylorsville District. He was baptized Aug. 16, 1896, by Robert E. Bateman and acted as president of a Teachers quorum; ordained a Priest Oct. 1, 1905, by John A. Egbert, and an Elder April 1, 1907, by John S. Hansen. He filled a mission to Great Britain in 1908-1911, laboring in the London Conference, part of the time as presiding Elder of the Gravesend Branch. Prior to going on this mission he was a student at the B. Y. University at Provo, Utah. After returning from his mission he served on the Sunday school board of the Jordan Stake and as a home missionary. On April 24, 1913, he married Hilma L. Malmstrom in the Salt Lake Temple. This marriage has been blessed with five children, namely,

Darrel Edwin, Doris, Lila, Lynn Joseph and Harvey Dahle. Elder Dimond moved to Magna in 1913, where he took an active part in the affairs of the Magna Branch, acting as ward teacher, instructor in the ward Y. M. M. I. A. and also in an Elders quorum, acted as second counselor in the presidency of the 14th Quorum of Elders in the Pioneer Stake and later as president of the 4th Quorum of Elders in the Oquirrh Stake. On Oct. 23, 1927, he was ordained a High Priest by Apostle Rudger Clawson and set apart as second counselor in the bishopric of the Magna Ward, which position he held until Aug. 19, 1928, when he was chosen as a member of the High Council of the Oquirrh Stake. On May 2, 1931, he was ordained a Bishop by Apostle David O. McKay. Besides laboring faithfully in ecclesiastical affairs, Bishop Dimond has held a number of civil positions, and through his diligence and faithfulness he has succeeded in getting the Magna Ward into a prosperous condition. Bishop Dimond is known as a man of strict integrity and reliability. He is employed by the Utah Copper Company in the Fine Crushing Department of said company.

FAIRBOURN, Edward, 4th Bishop of the Crescent Ward, East Jordan Stake, Salt Lake Co., Utah, was born Jan. 25, 1889, at Crescent (near Draper), Salt Lake Co., Utah, the son of William Fairbourn and Hannah Maria Reynerson. He received a common school education and was baptized June 20, 1897, by Nels A. Nelson. Taking an active part in Church matters from his early youth, he was ordained successively a Deacon, Teacher, Priest, Elder, High Priest and Bishop. While yet quite young he acted as president of a Deacons quorum, teacher in the local Sunday school and an officer in the local Y. M. M. I. A. In 1911 (May 31), he married Myrtle Kemp, of Crescent. The children by this marriage are Alva W., Verna, Leah, LeRoy, Clyde, Ivane, Lynn and Marvin E. On April 1, 1919, Bro. Fairbourn was ordained a High Priest and set apart as first counselor to Bishop Arthur G. Morris of the Crescent Ward by Soren Rasmussen. This position he held until Feb. 7, 1925, when he was ordained a Bishop by Apostle Rudger Clawson and set apart to preside over the Crescent Ward, which position he still holds. As a Church worker Bishop Fairbourn has held many positions in the Church and in a secular way he has held positions of responsibility and honor in the community. He is a farmer and stock raiser by avocation.

FAWCETT, George William, 4th Bishop of the Lund Ward, Nevada Stake, White Pine County, Nevada, was born Dec. 15, 1874, in St. George, Utah, the son of George W. Fawcett and Louisa Eardley. He was baptized Dec. 15, 1882, by A. P. Winsor, and grew to manhood as a resident of Price Ward (6 miles south of St. George). He received a common school education, took an active part in Church matters from his earliest youth, was ordained a Deacon when about 12 years of age and served as president of the Price Ward Y. M. M.

I. A. In March, 1899, he moved to White Pine County, Nevada, and located at Lund, where he was ordained an Elder in January, 1900, by Bishop Thomas Judd. On Feb. 27, 1900, he married Miss Martha Ella Allen Terry in the St. George Temple. He was taking a most active part in the Lund Ward as one of the superintendency of the Sunday school and in the presidency of the Y. M. M. I. A., when he in 1909 was called on a mission to the Northwestern States. While on this mission he served as president of the East Washington Conference with headquarters at Spokane from Nov. 15, 1909, to April 1, 1910. On May 22, 1922, he was ordained a High Priest and Bishop by Apostle James E. Talmage and set apart to preside over the Lund Ward, which position he occupied until Sept. 19, 1926. Since then he has acted as a member of the High Council. The marriage of Bishop Fawcett to Martha Ella Allen Terry has been blessed with five children, viz., Luella, George Thorley, Erma, Lavon C., and Vilate. Brother Fawcett is a farmer and stockraiser by avocation, and is known in the community as a faithful and industrious Latter-day Saint.

FREDRICKSON, Joseph James, Bishop of Vernon Ward, Tooele Stake, Tooele Co., Utah, was born Sept. 12, 1883, in Vernon, Utah, the son of Niels Frederickson and Mary S. Nielsen. His youth was spent mostly on his father's farm. In 1898, together with his brother, and with the aid of his father, he entered the mercantile business, which he followed until 1917. In 1923 he entered once more into this business. He was baptized when about 8 years old, and was ordained to offices in the Priesthood in the following order: Ordained a Deacon Dec. 26, 1897, by Erick J. Pehrson, a Priest Nov. 26, 1899, by Erick J. Pehrson, an Elder April 12, 1903, by Charles L. Anderson; a Seventy June 29, 1913, by Geo. F. Richards, and a High Priest Jan. 12, 1924, by John Wells. From his early youth he took an active part in mutual improvement work, acting as secretary, and later as president of the Vernon Y. M. M. I. A. In May, 1916, he was sustained as superintendent of the Vernon Sunday school, which position he held until December, 1917, when he left for a short term mission, on which he labored in and around Phoenix, Arizona, under the direction of the stake presidency of the Maricopa Stake. After his return home, he again acted in the superintendency of the Sunday school, and in April, 1924, he was ordained a Bishop by Apostle Joseph F. Smith, jun., and set apart to preside over the Vernon Ward, which position he still holds. In 1906 (Sept. 12), he married Agnes M. Larson in the Salt Lake Temple, which union has been blessed with eight children, viz., Deverial J., Merrill J. (deceased), Agnes Arline, Florence E., Marvin E., Emma Carol, Kenneth J., and Ralph Vernald. Bishop Fredrickson is a man of affairs, and by his diligence and devotion to duty he has won the confidence and good will of all his associates in life.

GODFREY, Horace Truman, 6th Bishop of the Union Ward, East Jordan Stake, Salt Lake Co., Utah, was born Nov. 1, 1883, in South Cottonwood, Salt Lake Co., Utah, the son of James Godfrey and Fanny Jones. He was baptized Nov. 5, 1891, by Louis A. Kelch, and was raised and educated in South Cottonwood and took an active part in Church matters from his early youth, being ordained to different offices in the Holy Priesthood. He filled a mission to Great Britain in 1903-1906, laboring in the Newcastle and later in the Bristol Conference. At home he acted as president of an Elders quorum while residing in South Cottonwood, where he also functioned as superintendent of the ward Sunday school and president of the Ward Y. M. M. I. A. He also served on the Sunday School Board and in the Y. M. M. I. A. of the Granite Stake. For some years he was a president of the 72nd Quorum of Seventy and later a president of the 33rd Quorum of Seventy. He was also a member of the Jordan Stake High Council and superintendent of the Union Ward Sunday school. He was ordained a High Priest May 12, 1892, by Patriarch Hyrum G. Smith. In February, 1907, he married Lucy Bringham in the Salt Lake Temple, which union has been blessed with seven children, namely, Arthur James, Ella, La True, Willard Horace, Alice, Lucy, and Seymour John. Bishop Godfrey is by avocation a farmer and dairyman.

HARLINE, Oscar Joseph, 2nd Bishop of the Hillcrest Ward (Grant Stake), Salt Lake Co., Utah, was born Aug. 27, 1891, in Salt Lake City, Utah, the son of Carl Harline and Mathilda Johanna Peterson. He was raised and educated in the Salt Lake City public schools, in the L. D. S. high school and later at the L. D. S. business college in Salt Lake City. Soon after his baptism, Aug. 27, 1899, he became an active Church worker and was or-derained successively to the offices of Deacon, Teacher, Priest, Elder, High Priest and Bishop. He acted as a president of the Deacons quorum and later as president of a Teachers quorum in the Wilford Ward; also as secretary of the Priests quorum. After being ordained an Elder by Levi North, he filled a mission to California in 1913-1915, and acted as secretary of the California Mission for 21 months. After returning from his mission, he labored as a home missionary in the Granite Stake, and as a special missionary to visit non-members of the Church in the Wilford Ward, where he resided from his early youth, and where he acted as supervisor of the lesser Priesthood, and as ward clerk for five years. In 1917 (Aug. 27) he married Lorena Le Chement in the Salt Lake Temple (the daughter of Oscar Le Chement and Hannah Davis, born July 25, 1890). Following are the names of the children by this marriage: Osmond, Alden, Glenden, Wesley, Richard and Dawn Etta. For a number of years Brother Harline was a teacher in an Elders quorum, a Sunday school officer, etc. He was ordained a High Priest by Apostle John A. Widtsoe and set apart as a High Councilor in the Grant Stake, which position he held until Nov. 10, 1925, when he was ordained a Bishop by Apostle Richard R. Lyman and set apart to preside over the Hillcrest Ward, which position he still holds. The main avocations of Bishop Harline are those of a bookkeeper and accountant.

HOGGE, Charles Alexander, 8th Bishop of Eden, Ogden Stake, Weber Co., Utah, was born Oct. 16, 1886, in West Weber, Weber Co., Utah, the son of William George Hogge and Margaret Ann Ririe. He was raised and schooled in West Weber, and also attended the Weber Academy one year. In 1910-1911, while still a resident of West Weber, he filled a mission to the Western States, supporting himself from the first $1,200 he ever saved. On this mission he labored in North and South Dakota, Nebraska and Colorado. After returning from his mission he located in Eden, where he acted as superintendent of the Eden Sunday School about four years. In 1915 (June 23), he married Lyda Fuller of Eden in the Salt Lake Temple, which union has been blessed with six children, viz., Leah Marelda, Melvin Alex, Donna Margaret, Ethel Mary, Floyd Dean and Elmer Morris. Prior to being chosen as Bishop of the Eden Ward Dec. 18, 1927, he acted as ward clerk from 1919 to 1927. He received his ordinations to the Priesthood in the following order: Ordained a Deacon April 15, 1900, an Elder April 14, 1907, by Nathan Hawkes, sen., a Seventy Jan. 30, 1910, by J. Golden Kimball, and a High Priest and Bishop Dec. 18, 1927, by David O. McKay. Bishop Hogge has also been active in secular affairs. For four years he presided over the Eden Irrigation Company, and at present is a director of the Eden Water System and Irrigation Company. Besides this, he has filled many minor positions of honor and responsibility in the midst of the community in whose interests he has constantly been laboring. As a Bishop and otherwise as a leader of men, he wields an influence for good and points to success in all his walks of life.

HOOPER, John Douglas, 5th Bishop of the Hooper Ward, Weber Stake, Weber Co., Utah, was born Nov. 10, 1873, in Hooper, Weber Co., Utah, the son of John W. Hooper and Elizabeth Ann Douglas. He was baptized June 1, 1882, by Thomas S. Johnston, and ordained successively to the offices of Deacon and Elder. In his early youth he took an active part in the Hooper Sunday school and Y. M. M. I. A. After being ordained a Seventy April 8, 1895, by Apostle Franklin D. Richards, he filled a mission to Hawaii in 1895-1898. After his return to America he labored as an assistant to Wm. Waddoups among the Hawaiians at Iosepa, Skull Valley, and in 1915-1918, he filled a mission to England. In 1899 (Dec. 21), he married Ellen Child, daughter of Bishop William W. Child, which marriage has been blessed with five children, namely, John Child, Ruth Child, Irene Child, Afton Child, and Jennie Child. His wife died April 26, 1912, and on Jan. 8, 1919, he married Joanna M.

Weaver. There are no children from this marriage. Bishop Hooper is a farmer and salesman by avocation, and besides filling a number of ecclesiastical positions he has acted as deputy sheriff, school trustee, member of the Board of Education in Weber County, and also as secretary of the Weber River Water Users Association. As a man of affairs Bishop Hooper has made a fine record, both in ecclesiastical and financial service.

HYDE, Frank, 6th Bishop of Kaysville Ward, North Davis Stake, Davis Co., Utah, was born Jan. 25, 1881, in Kaysville, Utah, the son of Rosel Hyde and Hannah Maria Simmons. He was baptized April 1, 1889, by Wm. Blood, was raised a farmer and educated in the common schools of Kaysville. He took an active part in Church matters from his early youth, receiving instructions from his parents both by example and precept. Early in life he was ordained a Deacon and on Jan. 26, 1896, ordained a Teacher; later he was ordained a Priest, and on Jan. 10, 1904, he was ordained an Elder by John C. Jameson. He was ordained a Seventy by J. Golden Kimball March 13, 1910, and became a member and later a president of the 55th Quorum of Seventy, which position he held until Aug. 8, 1915, when he was ordained a High Priest and Bishop by Apostle Francis M. Lyman and set apart to preside over the Kaysville Ward. Prior to this he acted as assistant superintendent of the Kaysville Sunday school No. 3, and later as superintendent for two years of the same school. Bishop Hyde has also held a number of secular offices in the community and served as a member of the Kaysville City Council from 1917 to 1921. In 1904 (May 25), he married Winnifred Barnes in the Salt Lake Temple, which union has been blessed with four children, viz., Lucille, Helen R., Ruth and Noall Frank. Bishop Hyde is a carpenter

by trade, and for 18 years he has been engaged in contracting and building in northern Utah and southern Idaho. On June 29, 1921, he met with an accident while driving a team on the state highway, near Kaysville, being run into by an automobile. From this accident he came out with a broken leg, a broken arm and a broken shoulder and ribs; his life was despaired of, but by the power of God and the administration of the Priesthood he was restored to perfect health. Bishop Hyde ascribes this miraculous case of healing to the fact that he has kept the Word of Wisdom from his early youth.

JAYNES, Arzie Henry, ward clerk of the Crescent Ward, East Jordan Stake, Salt Lake Co., Utah, was born Dec. 14, 1892, at Murray, Salt Lake Co., Utah, the son of Frederick D. Jaynes and Ida A. Atwood. He was baptized Aug. 7, 1904, by James P. Jensen, jun., who also ordained him a Deacon Sept. 6, 1906, and a Teacher, Dec. 9, 1907. He was ordained a Priest Aug. 11, 1911, by Lawrence E. Nelson, an Elder Oct. 7, 1912, by Bishop Wm. Fairbourn, and a High Priest Aug. 16, 1916, by Apostle Francis M. Lyman. He acted as second counselor to William Fairbourn of the Crescent Ward from Aug. 6, 1916, until the death of Bishop Fairbourn Aug. 4, 1918. In 1912-1916 he filled a mission to Tonga, or the Friendly Islands, during which he acquired a good knowledge of the Tongan language, enabling him to speak freely both in public and in private. In 1918 (Oct. 3), he married Mary Ellen Hardcastle, in the Salt Lake Temple, which marriage has been blessed with four children (two sons and two daughters), namely, Arzie Lynn, Theron Hardcastle, Rella and Luana.

At home Elder Jaynes has held many local Church positions and on Dec. 21, 1924, he was chosen and set apart as ward clerk in the Crescent Ward, which position he still holds.

Bro. Jaynes has been a resident of Crescent Ward since 1903 and is a farmer by occupation.

JEFFERY, Edgar Wallace, Bishop of the Delta 1st Ward, Deseret Stake, Millard Co., Utah, was born April 9, 1873, on Santa Clara Creek, Washington Co., Utah, the son of Thomas Alfred Jeffery and Elizabeth Cowper. He was baptized April 11, 1881, soon after which the family moved to Pine Valley, where he received a common school education and was ordained a Deacon Jan. 26, 1885. Nine years later, he moved with his father's family to Loa, now in Wayne County, Utah, where he acted as president of a Deacons quorum, was ordained a Teacher, and later ordained an Elder by Joseph Eckersley Nov. 24, 1895. A week later (Dec. 2, 1895), he was ordained a Seventy by Seymour B. Young and became a member of the 112th Quorum of Seventy. In 1896 he was taken sick with diphtheria, followed by paralysis, and was confined to his bed for five months. At Loa he acted as an officer in the Y. M. M. I. A., and in 1897-1899 he filled a mission to the Southern States, laboring mostly in the States of Mississippi and Kentucky. During his absence on this mission, his father died. The two following winters Bro. Jeffery spent at school studying in the Snow Academy at Ephraim, Sanpete Co. In 1902 (June 18), he married Clara E. Hanson in the Manti Temple. In 1901 he was appointed superintendent of the Loa Sunday school, which position he held 3½ years, after which he acted as stake Sunday school superintendent in the Wayne Stake. In 1904 he was chosen as one of the presidents of the 112th Quorum of Seventy, which position he held until he moved to Millard County in 1906. In 1907, after the death of his mother, he settled in Hinckley, and in 1908 he became a resident of Delta, where he still resides. When the Burturner Branch was organized as the Delta Ward Oct. 19, 1909, Bro. Jeffery was chosen as first counselor to Bishop Hiatt E. Maxfield, being ordained a High Priest by Francis M. Lyman. He held that position about 11 years. In 1921 to 1923 he filled a second mission, this time in Great Britain, laboring first in the London and later in the Birmingham Conference, most of the time as president of the latter conference. When the Delta Ward was divided in March, 1924, he was chosen as Bishop of the Delta 1st Ward, being ordained and set apart to that position March 22, 1924, by Geo. Albert Smith, with Edward Eugene Gardner as first and Edwin Delile Knight as second counselor. His wife died Aug. 28, 1925, while his son was filling a mission to the Southern States. She bore her husband four children, namely, Wallace Truman, Ruth, Elizabeth and Emily. Elizabeth died with pneumonia when three years old. In 1927 (June 9), Bishop Jeffery married Nancy Ethel Hale in the Salt Lake Temple. Bishop Jeffery is a farmer by occupation and is a highly respected citizen of Millard County.

JENKINS, John Howard, 1st Bishop of the Ogden 13th Ward, Ogden Stake, Weber Co., Utah, was born Aug. 1, 1886, in Ogden, Utah, the son of John Jenkins and Harriet Riley. He was raised and received a good education in the schools of Ogden. After being baptized Oct. 4, 1894, by William Moyes, he began his Church activities, and was ordained a Teacher Dec. 2, 1901, by Bishop Robert McQuarrie; ordained a Priest Oct. 13, 1902, by Warren G. Child, and ordained an Elder June 4, 1906, by Thomas Samuel Browning. After laboring as a Sunday school teacher, he was called to fill a mission to New Zealand, where he did missionary labor in 1906-1910, laboring among the Maoris of the Wanganui and Taranaki conferences. He was conference president for nearly three years and opened up the Taranaki district for active missionary work; he assisted to harvest the first crop on the Maori agricultural farm at Hastings, Hawkes Bay. After his return home from this mission, he acted as Sunday school superintendent of the Ogden 2nd Ward for two years. In 1912

(Nov. 20), he married Athleen Woods, granddaughter of Parley P. Pratt, in the Salt Lake Temple. Barbara and Marion were the issue of this marriage. Brother Jenkins acted as president of the 1st Quorum of Elders in the Ogden Stake from 1913 to 1916, and was superintendent of the State Industrial Sunday school from 1913 to 1916. During a temporary residence in Idaho, he assisted in opening up the townsite of Pingree, and took up a quarter section of land there. Returning to Ogden, he became an employee in the Fred J. Kiesel Company, and later worked for J. G. Read and Brothers, with which company he now holds the position of treasurer and director. When the Ogden 13th Ward was organized from parts of the 4th and 6th Wards, he was called to act as Bishop of the 13th Ward, where he took a leading part in the erection of a frame building as a temporary meeting house and later directed the building of the present modern 13th Ward chapel. His wife died Nov. 30, 1918, and on Dec. 10, 1919, he married Cora Stephenson (who had filled a mission to the Northern States in 1917-1919) in the Salt Lake Temple. The children of this marriage are Donna, John Stephenson and Joseph Richard, born in Auckland, New Zealand.

In April, 1925, Bro. Jenkins was called on a second mission to New Zealand, this time to succeed Angus T. Wright as president of the New Zealand Mission. He was accompanied on this mission by his wife, Cora, who was called to preside over the Relief Societies in the Mission. During this mission Pres. Jenkins was busy organizing and re-organizing branches of the Church among the Maoris and Europeans. Under his administration, a recreation hall was finished at Nuhaka, and he superintended the transfer of the meeting-house properties in New Zealand to the Church; and also brought the mission out of debt. Three general conferences of the mission were held during his administration, two of them at the invitation of Princess Paea Te HeRangi at her model mansion on the Waikato River. Since June, 1928, Brother Jenkins has acted as a member of the Ogden Stake High Council.

JENSEN, James Marinus, 2nd Bishop of the Manavu Ward, Utah Stake, Utah Co., Utah, was born July 11, 1868, at Provo, Utah, the son of Peter C. Jensen and Anna Katrine Olsen. He was baptized in March, 1877, by John E. Booth at Provo, and ordained a Priest by Sidney A. Pace in the Provo 2nd Ward, June 12, 1884. Later, on April 2, 1891, he was ordained an Elder, and for several years he acted as president of the Elders Quorum of the Provo 2nd Ward. From his earliest youth he took an active part in Church matters, and on Oct. 16, 1883, he was appointed assistant librarian of the Provo 2nd Ward Y. M. M. I. A. He also acted as secretary and later as president of said organization. As a Sunday school officer, he has been active for many years. Thus from 1890 to 1893 he acted as a Sunday school teacher, assistant superintendent of the Provo 2nd Ward Sunday school from 1893 to 1898, and as superintendent from 1898 to 1903. As a promoter of religion class work, he acted as assistant superintendent in the stake religion class organization from 1899 to 1903, as superintendent of religion classes in Provo 2nd Ward from 1902 to 1904 and later as stake superintendent of religion classes. He was ordained a High Priest April 20, 1902, by Lafayette Holbrook of the Utah Stake presidency, and acted as counselor to Bishop Lars L. Nelson in the Provo 2nd Ward from 1902 to 1912. After moving to the Provo 5th Ward, he acted as president of the Ward Y. M. M. I. A. and as a High Councilor in the Utah Stake from 1913 to 1924. While a student at Stanford University in 1924-1925, he acted as Sunday school superintendent at Palo Alto, Calif., and from March 14, 1896, to May 18, 1930, he acted as first counselor to Bishop Nephi Anderson of the Manavu Ward, Provo, or until he was chosen and sustained as Bishop of said ward, which position he still occupies. Bishop Jensen commenced his school career in the public schools of Provo, but spent the greater part of his time at the Brigham Young Academy (later University), from which institution he took the degree of bachelor of pedagogy in 1903 and bachelor of arts in 1913. As a student at the University of Chicago he took a master of arts degree in 1919. Later he attended summer sessions in the University of California (in 1920), attended the Stanford University one year (1924-1925) and the Columbia University in the summer of 1928. He served as a reporter on the staff of the "Provo Enquirer" and was correspondent to various newspapers about three years. In 1894 he commenced teaching in the public schools of Provo and continued thus until 1910, when he became a teacher at the Brigham Young University, where he now holds the position of associate professor in English. He is the author of the History of Provo, which was published in 1925. Of secular public positions held by Bishop Jensen it may be mentioned that he served one term as city recorder, a number of years as clerk of the board of education, has been a member of the Provo City Civil Service Commission, a member of the Provo City Council four years, member and president of the Provo City Library Board about ten years, etc.

In 1892 (Sept. 22), he married Eliza Emmeline Strong of Alpine, Utah, in the Manti Temple. Esther Reese Keeler is his adopted daughter.

JENSEN, Niels Peter, 3rd Bishop of the Preston Ward, Nevada Stake, White Pine Co., Nevada, was born Nov. 4, 1868, in Moroni, Sanpete Co., Utah, the son of Jens Jensen and Kirsten Marie Hansen. He was baptized Sept. 23, 1877, by Lars N. Larsen in Moroni, where he was raised and educated. In 1881 (Oct. 4), he married Ida Lauritzen, daughter of Lauritz Lauritzen and Matilda D. Johnson, in the Manti Temple, which union was blessed with three children, namely, Matilda, Clarence Peter and Devona Marie. After serving for several years in the lesser Priesthood, Bro. Jensen was ordained a High Priest in 1901, by Apostle Anthon H. Lund and filled a mission to Denmark in 1909-1911, laboring in the Copenhagen Conference, part of the time on Bornholm. In 1900 he moved to Nevada, where his wife died May 20, 1905. Seven years later (Feb. 9, 1912) he married Jensine Marie Jensen (daughter of Jorgen Peter Jensen and Ellen Margrette Jensen) in the Manti Temple. This second marriage has been blessed with three children, namely, James George, Ida Margaret and Elsa Kirsten. After his arrival in Nevada, Bro. Jensen took an active part in the founding and upbuilding of the town of Preston, where he has since resided. From 1901-1906, he acted as second counselor to Bishop Arnoldsen and from 1912-1918 as second counselor to Bishop Christian Hermansen. He was ordained a Bishop of the Preston Ward Sept. 22, 1918, by Apostle David O. McKay, and served in that capacity until Sept. 19, 1926, after which he served for three years as a member of the High Council of the Nevada Stake. Bishop Jensen is a farmer by avocation and is also engaged in merchandising. His wives have taken an active part with him in his ecclesiastical and secular affairs, which has contributed much toward making his career as a public officer successful.

JOHNSON, Race Alphas, 2nd Bishop of the Beaver Ward, Bear River Stake, Box Elder Co., Utah, was born Oct. 4, 1865, at Brigham City, Utah, the son of Jarvis Johnson (of Mormon Battalion fame) and Sarah Jane Angell. He was raised and schooled in Brigham City and Washakie, and moved with his parents to Beaver Dam in 1882, where he has resided ever since, and where his father died Jan. 28, 1898. Brother Johnson was baptized when about 8 years old, ordained a Deacon Dec. 23, 1883, by Francillo Durfey, ordained an Elder March 25, 1888, by John C. Dewey, ordained a Seventy June 26, 1906, by Seymour B. Young, and ordained a High Priest and Bishop June 1, 1907, by Heber J. Grant, and set apart to preside over the Beaver Ward, which position he occupied until July 28, 1929. Prior to this (1901 to 1906) he had acted as superintendent of the Beaver Ward Sunday School. In 1888 (March 28), he married Charlotte Marie Whitworth of Calls Fort, Box Elder Co., Utah, in the Logan Temple. The following children are the issue of this marriage: Pearl (deceased), Mary Lavona, Veda (deceased), Alphas Ariel, Florence, Martha Fern (deceased), Catherine, George, Charlotte, Alice Virginia (deceased), Benjamin Francis and Afton. In 1906-1907, Bishop Johnson filled a mission to the Eastern States, laboring in the South West Virginia Conference, and was called home to succeed Francillo Durfey as Bishop of Beaver Ward. Prior to being called to the bishopric, he took an active part in the Ward Y. M. M. I. A. and other Church organizations. He acted as justice of the peace, school trustee, member of the committee which superintended the erection of the Bear River Stake tabernacle at Garland; was foreman of a committee to secure electric lights and water works and a grist mill at Beaver Dam, and also to get a pumping plant to pump water out of the Hammond Canal from Bear River, thus furnishing irrigation water for 500 acres of land in the lower end of Beaver Ward. Bishop Johnson is a farmer and stock-raiser by avocation.

Utah, the son of James Johnston and Ellen E. Pinney. He was baptized July 6, 1902, by Oley Oleson at Hooper, confirmed by A. C. Christensen, and spent his early life on a farm. When about 12 years old he was ordained a Deacon and later became president of a Deacons quorum at Hooper. When he, at the age of 15 years, was ordained a Teacher, he acted as president of a Teachers quorum. Two years later, when 17 years old, he was ordained a Priest. When his father died, David, being the oldest boy in the family, assumed the responsibility of taking care of his father's family, and helped his mother to raise the younger children. After being ordained an Elder by James R. Beus Nov. 9, 1913, he filled a mission to the Northwestern States under Melvin J. Ballard, traveling without purse or scrip about 8 months in the state of Washington and British Columbia, Canada. He returned from this mission Dec. 23, 1915. In 1917 (Nov. 21), he married Ivy Manning, which union has been blessed with six children, five boys and one girl, viz., David Leon, James Manning, John Earl, Melvin Fred, Elwood Stewart, and Ivy Jeannine. Bro. Johnston was ordained a Seventy Dec. 22, 1927, by Apostle Melvin J. Ballard and afterwards acted as one of the presidents of the 170th Quorum of Seventy. He also acted on the stake Sunday school board of the Weber Stake 2½ years, or until June 8, 1930, when he was chosen as Bishop of the Clinton Ward. He was ordained a High Priest and Bishop June 29, 1930, by Orson F. Whitney. Bishop Johnston is a farmer by occupation, but taught school from 1919-1920 and from 1922-1923. He is the owner of a good farm and has lived upon it for many years. At present he acts as an agricultural superintendent of the Hooper Sugar Factory at Hooper and the Smith Canning Company at Clearfield. As a Bishop and financier, Bishop Johnston has been active and successful.

KOTTER, Henry John, 7th Bishop of the Elsinore Ward, South Sevier Stake, Sevier Co., Utah, was born July 1, 1887, in Elsinore, Utah, the son of August Kotter and Margaret May Madsen. He was baptized Aug. 1, 1895, by his father, was raised and schooled in Elsinore, and attended High School in the L. D. S. College in Salt Lake City during the years 1906-1908. Taking an active part in Church affairs from his early youth, he was ordained a Deacon in 1899, a Teacher in 1904, and an Elder April 12, 1908, by Milan A. Hutchings. In 1908-1910 he filled a mission to the Northern States, laboring principally in western Iowa and Wisconsin. He was ordained a High Priest by Apostle Francis M. Lyman Dec. 18, 1910, and set apart as second counselor to Bishop Jens I. Jensen. On May 21, 1911, he was set apart as first counselor to Bishop Joseph L. Staples. In 1913 (Jan. 15) he married Ella Louise Peterson in the Salt Lake Temple. One child (Evelyn Marie) was the issue of this marriage. His wife died Feb. 5, 1916, and on Sept. 12, 1917, he married Clara Ramsay. This union has been blessed with four children (3 boys and 1 girl), viz., James Roger, Marilyn, Ralph Henry and John Burke. Brother Kotter was set apart as first counselor to Bishop Ernest M. Greenwood Feb. 11, 1917, and on June 1, 1919, he was set apart as first counselor to Bishop Joseph L. Staples. On Jan. 30, 1921, he was set apart as a member of the South Sevier Stake High Council, and on Feb. 8, 1925, he was ordained a Bishop by Apostle Joseph F. Smith, jun., and set apart to preside over the Elsinore Ward, which position he still occupies. Bishop Kotter has filled many secular positions in the community; among others he served as president of the town board of Elsinore two terms (1916-1918 and 1924-1926). From 1912 to 1917 he served as ward clerk. Brother Kotter is a farmer by avocation, and takes an active part in all ecclesiastical and secular affairs in his ward.

LARSON, John William, 1st Bishop of East Garland Ward, Bear River Stake, Box Elder Co., Utah, was born Feb. 21, 1873, in Bear River City, Box Elder Co., Utah, the son of John A. Larson and Keziah L. Larsen. He was raised in Bear River City until he was 11 years old, when he moved with his parents in 1884 into a wilderness (Bear River Flat), which now is included in the East Garland Ward. Being baptized in Bear River City April 10, 1881, by Niels Christensen, he was ordained successively to the offices of Deacon, Priest, Elder and Seventy; he filled a mission to Scandinavia in 1898-1901, laboring in the Göteborg Conference. After returning from this mission, he took an active part in the ecclesiastical affairs of the Garland Ward, acted as assistant superintendent of the Sunday school, and held other positions of responsibility. When East Garland was organized as a branch Feb. 14, 1904, he was called to act as presiding Elder of said branch, which position he held until Nov. 20, 1904, when the branch was organized as a ward with him as Bishop. He was ordained a High Priest and Bishop by Apostle Rudger Clawson, Nov. 27, 1904, and set apart to preside over the East Garland Ward, which position he held until Feb. 21, 1915. Bishop Larson is still an active member of the Church and is a man of influence and interested in every movement which tends to build up the community of which he has been a resident for so many years. In 1901 (Dec. 18), Bishop Larson married Anna Holmberg, which union has been blessed with seven children, viz., John W., jun., Nellie, Paul S., D. Conrad, Norman V., Louis W., and Clarissa.

LYON, Warren Harvey, president of the South African Mission, was born May 7, 1870, in Salt Lake City, Utah, the son of Luther Peet Lyon and Elizabeth Harvey Baxter. When 2 years old he moved with his parents to South Cottonwood (now Murray), Salt Lake Co., where he was baptized Aug. 21, 1881, by James Peterson. Taking an active part in Church activities from his earliest youth he was ordained a Teacher Dec. 2, 1887, by Thomas A. Wheeler, ordained a Priest June 28, 1893, by Joseph S. Rawlins, and ordained an Elder Feb. 5, 1894.

by Daniel B. Jones. In 1896 (March 31), he married Mary Etta Hansen of Mill Creek, Salt Lake County; she died Dec. 22, 1902, leaving no children. On June 2, 1903, he was ordained a Seventy by Brigham H. Roberts, and the next day left Salt Lake City on a mission to South Africa, together with Elders William R. Smith of Kamas, Summit Co., and George A. Simpkins and Thomas L. Griffith of Adamsville, Beaver Co., Utah. According to appointment Elder Lyon, together with the other Elders named, opened anew the L. D. S. Mission in South Africa, Brother Lyon acting as president of the mission from June 22, 1903, to April 27, 1906. Having filled a splendid and successful mission, he returned to his home in Murray in June, 1906. After his return he continued his Church activities at home; acted as ward clerk in the Murray First Ward for 11 years; filled the position of assistant superintendent of the ward Sunday school and 1st counselor in the presidency of Y. M. M. I. A. He taught school in Murray, Granite and Jordan districts, and in the Weber Stake Academy. He also served as a member of the city council in Murray. In 1908 (Sept. 30), he married Hannah Welsh McLachlan, daughter of the late Pres. Wm. McLachlan, which union was blessed with five children, namely, Mary, Warren McLachlan, Margaret Alice and Harlan (twins), and Aileen. Bro. Lyon was one of the incorporators of the Lyon Drug Company in Murray in 1909, and later of the Beal-Lyon Company at Overton, Nevada, in 1915, he having moved to Nevada in 1914. One of the chief occupations in the life of Brother Lyon has been that of a school teacher, and otherwise he has taken an active part, both in Church and civil activities in Salt Lake, Utah, and Nevada. On June 5, 1931, he became a member of the Moapa Stake High Council and stake superintendent of Sunday schools, which positions he still holds. He also served twelve years as school board member in Educational District No. 1, which embraces the north half of Clark County, Nevada. His son, Warren M., has filled a mission to Oklahoma.

MARSH, Albert, 4th Bishop of the Alpine Ward, Utah Co., Utah, was born May 5, 1842, at Steeple-Ashton, Wiltshire, England, the son of Isaac Marsh and Mary Ann Nash. He was baptized in England when about ten years old, emigrated to Utah in 1854 with his aunt and crossed the Atlantic in the ship "Marshfield" and the plains in William Empey's ox train. He located in Alpine, Utah Co., in the spring of 1855, and resided there continuously until his death. He endured the trials and hardships of pioneer life, participated in the so-called Black-Hawk war and took an active part, both in ecclesiastical and in civil capacities throughout his entire life. In the Church he held such positions as superintendent of the Alpine Ward Sunday school for fifteen years, presided over the ward Y. M. M. I. A. ten years and acted as Bishop of the Alpine Ward fourteen years, being ordained a Bishop by the late Apostle Francis M. Lyman in 1893. He was the instigator of the Old Folks entertainments in Alpine, the first few annual affairs being held at his home. In municipal affairs he was prominent as a school trustee, city marshal, member of the city council, member of an irrigation company, etc. He was also one of the most successful farmers of the community and engaged in mercantile business. In 1868 (Feb. 15), he married Sarah C. Oakey of American Fork in the old Endowment House in Salt Lake City. She was born in Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 5, 1847. This marriage was blessed with eleven children, namely, Mary Lillian, Albert, Elizabeth, Joseph F., Lenora, Olive, Lois, Blanch, Reno, Henrietta and Jenetta. Seven of the children are dead. Bishop Marsh died in Alpine Feb. 22, 1919, leaving a wife, five children, 42 grandchildren and six great grandchildren. Bro. Marsh was universally known and beloved for his honesty, his integrity, his peace-loving disposition and his willingness to help in every way possible to build up the Church, of which he was a devoted member, and the community at large.

McENTIRE, William Rawson, 6th Bishop of the Huntsville Ward, Ogden Stake, Weber Co., Utah, was born Nov. 26, 1884, in Ogden, Utah, the son of William Napoleon McEntire and Olive Ann Rawson. As an infant he moved with his parents to Harrisville, Weber Co., where, and in Farr West, he was raised and schooled. He was baptized when about 8 years old, and being born of goodly parents he was raised in such a way that he could take part in religious duties from his earliest youth. Thus he was ordained successively to the offices of Deacon, Teacher, Priest, Elder, Seventy, High Priest and Bishop. He received his ordination as a Seventy from J. Golden Kimball April 19, 1909, and was ordained a High Priest and Bishop Feb. 25, 1926, by Apostle Stephen L. Richards. In his early youth, he acted as secretary of Y. M. M. I. A., and after moving to Huntsville, when about 19 years old, he acted as president of the Huntsville Y. M. M. I. A. and also as supt. of the ward Sunday school. As an active Seventy he served several years as a president in the 75th Quorum of Seventy. In 1906 (Sept. 26), he married Rosene M. Woodfield of North Ogden, in the Salt Lake Temple. The children of this marriage are the following: Virginia May, Laura, William Rawson, Helen Mar, Jay Woodfield, and Don Woodfield. In secular capacities, Bishop McEntire has acted as secretary and treasurer of the Huntsville Irrigation Association, and as a member of the Huntsville Town Board. At present he is a member of the Weber County Board of Education. He also has the distinction of having been the first scout master of the Huntsville Ward, and as such gave the boys of Huntsville some of their first lessons in scout work. For twenty years he kept a barber shop in Huntsville and later engaged in merchandising. He has also done considerable farming. Throughout his life so far he has been active in all affairs pertaining to the welfare of the community in which he resides.

MATTHEWS, Percy George, Bishop of the Evanston Ward, Woodruff Stake, in Uinta Co., Wyoming, was born May 14, 1877, at Newton Abbot, Devonshire, England, the son of William Henry Matthews and Emiline Edmunds. His parents were converted to "Mormonism" in England and young Percy at the age of seven years emigrated with his parents to Utah in the year 1885, crossing the Atlantic on the steamship "Nevada." The family located in Taylorsville, Salt Lake Co., Utah, where Percy was baptized and confirmed in March, 1886, by Elder Samuel H. Bringham. From his early youth he was always interested and active in Church matters, and soon after being ordained a Deacon he presided over the Deacons quorum in Taylorsville. Up to the time of taking up his residence in Evanston, Wyoming, in 1897, his principal work was farming and brick-making; he was also employed at times at the smelters in Murray, Utah. On Sept. 28, 1899, he married Lillian L. Burdett, a native of Evanston, Wyo., James Brown, Bishop of Evanston Ward, officiating. Mrs. Matthews is the daughter of James Burdett and Sarah Jane Lethbridge, and was born in Evanston, June 23, 1878, her parents having formerly become converts to "Mormonism" in England. Bishop and Mrs. Matthews are the parents of eleven children, namely, James William, Gladys Alma, Sarah Emiline, Frances Lillian, Percy Lorenzo, Della Lucille, Burdett Edmund and Bernard George (twins), Lamar Clarence, Grace Delores and Melvin J. In the spring of 1902 Bro. Matthews was called on a mission to Great Britain, where he labored in the Bristol-Cheltenham Conference. To fill this mission he took his departure May 14, 1902, and returned home July 28, 1904. As a missionary he was quite successful and gained the reputation of being a convincing and logical speaker, and was the means of baptizing a number of souls into the Church. In the latter part of 1904 he was set apart as president of the 2nd quorum of Elders in the Woodruff Stake. In 1905 he was chosen as a counselor to Bishop James Brown in the Evanston Ward Bishopric, laboring in that capacity eleven years, at the end of which time he was ordained a Bishop by Apostle Orson F. Whitney and set apart to preside over the Evanston Ward, choosing as his counselors Cyril C. Tingey and William J. Starkey. After serving as Bishop for ten years, he was called to act as a High Councilor in the Woodruff Stake and also as chairman of the stake genealogical committee; both of these positions he still holds, filling them with credit and success.

Since locating in Evanston he has not only been active in Church duties, such as Sunday school, Mutual, Priesthood and home missionary work, but in secular affairs he has been in the employ of the Union Pacific Railroad Company and the Dawson and Burdette Mercantile Company. For more than twenty years he has been engaged in real estate and fire insurance business. He was connected with the Evanston post office, ten years as assistant postmaster, and during the past ten years he has filled the position of postmaster. As a member of the Lions Club and a member of the School Board of Education, he has wielded a weighty influence for nine years; he holds the position of director.

Mr. Matthews is regarded as an enterprising, progressive and substantial citizen, and has filled various

NELSON, August M., second Bishop of the Sandy First Ward, East Jordan Stake, Salt Lake Co., Utah, was born Dec. 12, 1876, at Sandy, the son of Matts S. Nilsson and Ellen Larsson. He was baptized when about eight years old, at West Jordan, where he also was ordained a Deacon and presided over a Deacons quorum. His father died in 1880, and he moved with his mother to Taylorsville, later to Star Valley, Wyo., and he finally became a permanent settler in Sandy in 1896. He received a common school education in West Jordan and Taylorsville. After locating in Sandy, he was ordained a Teacher and acted as president of a Teachers quorum. After being ordained an Elder, he acted as a counselor in the presidency of the 3rd Quorum of Elders in the Jordan Stake. He also presided over the Sandy Ward Y. M. M. I. A. In 1906-1908 he filled a mission to Sweden, laboring in the Göteborg Conference, a part of the time as president of the Göteborg Branch. After returning home, he acted as a counselor in the stake presidency of the Y. M. M. I. A. in the Jordan Stake. After being ordained a Seventy by J. Golden Kimball, he acted as a president of the 93rd Quorum of Seventy and in 1914 he was ordained a High Priest by Apostle Joseph F. Smith, jun., and set apart as first counselor to Bishop Alva J. Butler in the Sandy Ward. When Sandy was divided into three wards in November, 1920, he was continued as counselor in the bishopric of the Sandy 1st Ward. In 1921, when Bishop Butler moved to Salt Lake City, Bro. Nelson was chosen as his successor, and was ordained a Bishop Aug. 14, 1921, by Apostle George F. Richards and set apart to preside over the Sandy 1st Ward, which position he still holds. In 1906 (April 25), he married Mabel Electa Jensen in the Salt Lake Temple. This union has been blessed with seven children, namely, Lucille Roxie, Marvin Leo, Virden James, Raymond August, Arval Joseph, Loa Ellen and Norma Anna. Bishop Nelson is a contractor and builder, but has been connected with a number of other business enterprises.

NEVES, Hyrum Lafayette, 3rd Bishop of the Burlington Ward, Big Horn Stake, Wyoming, was born April 27, 1880, at Millville, Cache Co., Utah, the son of William Neves and Abigail E. Shafer. He was baptized June 6, 1889, by John King at Millville, where he was schooled and raised until 14 years of age. In 1894 he moved to the Big Horn Basin and became one of the first settlers at Burlington, Big Horn Co., Wyoming. He was ordained a Deacon when quite young, and on Sept. 23, 1906, he was ordained an Elder by James S. McNiven. In 1900 (Aug. 1), he married Sarah Eveline Bateman, and filled a mission to the Central States in 1908-1910, laboring in the State of Missouri, with headquarters at Independence. Both before and after his mission, he acted as president of the Burlington Ward Y. M. M. I. A., and when yet a boy he presided over a Deacons quorum. Being ordained a High Priest, Jan. 21, 1912, by Wm. C. Partridge he acted as first counselor to Bishop James S. McNiven until Nov. 16, 1919, when he was ordained a Bishop by Apostle Melvin J. Ballard and set apart to preside over the Burlington Ward. In a secular way Bishop Neves has served as justice of the peace, sexton, etc. He is a popular man with both the "Mormon" and non-Mormon population, and is throughout an active and leading citizen. By avocation he is a farmer and carpenter.

PARKER, James Elbert, Bishop of Joseph Ward, South Sevier Stake, Sevier Co., Utah, was born Sept. 20, 1888, in Joseph, Utah, the son of Joseph William Parker and Margaret

Jane Neel. He was raised and schooled in Joseph, and later attended the Richfield High School. He was baptized in 1896 by Thomas Bryant Parker, and ordained to the office of Deacon and later a Priest. He acted as secretary and later as first counselor in a Deacons quorum, and was ordained Sept. 7, 1907, to the office of a Seventy, by Peter M. Lundgren. On Nov. 22, 1911, he married Lucina Snow of Teasdale, Utah, in the Salt Lake

Temple. Following are the names of the children from this marriage: Jerald S. (deceased), Vernon J., Iris, Lynn and Glen (twins), Sylvia, Fay, Margaret Mae, Melba Joan, Joyce and Janus (twins). (Glen was drowned when 30 months old). In 1911-1914 Brother Parker filled a mission to the Northern States, laboring 28 months in the State of Minnesota. At home he served as president of the Joseph Ward Y. M. M. I. A. and in other capacities. While residing temporarily in Cedar View, Duchesne Co., Utah, he presided over the ward Y. M. M. I. A. and at Alumite, a mining camp in Piute County, Utah, he acted as an assistant to the branch president and assistant Sunday school superintendent. At Leeds, Washington Co., Utah, he was an officer in the Ward Y. M.

M. I. A. After returning to Joseph in 1920, he was ordained a High Priest Jan. 30, 1921, by Apostle Richard R. Lyman, after which he served as a member of the High Council in the South Sevier Stake until May 3, 1925, when he was chosen and sustained as Bishop of the Joseph Ward, being ordained to that position by Apostle Melvin J. Ballard. Brother Parker is a farmer and stock-man by avocation.

PAYNE, Harry Lorenzo, 3rd president of the St. Joseph Stake, Arizona, was born Jan. 18, 1879, at Glenwood, Sevier Co., Utah, the son of Harry M. Payne and Helen Amelia Buchanan.

He was baptized June 9, 1884, by Daniel Cloward, ordained a Deacon by William Stevens in December, 1889, and later ordained a Priest by Philip H. Hurst; ordained an Elder by Frederick G. Williams, June 30, 1897, a Seventy by Apostle George Teasdale, July 21, 1897, and a High Priest by Anthony W. Ivins, May 25, 1902. From his early youth he has been an active Church worker. As a boy he served in the presidency of a Deacons quorum and later became active in a Priests quorum. At the age of 18, just prior to leaving home for a mission to the Southern States, in July, 1897, he was ordained an Elder, then, while visiting in Salt Lake City, he was ordained a Seventy and set apart to labor as a missionary. He labored in the Southern States as a missionary for two years (1897-1899), in the states of Tennessee, Georgia and North Carolina. After his return from this mission, he served in the stake superintendency of Sunday schools. From 1916 to 1919 he served as a High Councilor in the St. Joseph Stake of Zion and on Nov. 9, 1919, he was chosen as second counselor to Pres. Andrew Kimball. After the death of Pres. Kimball he was chosen and sustained as president of the St. Joseph Stake, Sept. 7, 1924, by Pres. Heber J. Grant and was set apart for that work by him on the following day. On May 26, 1901, he married Pearl Thurber, which union was blessed with eight children, namely, Lorenzo Cleone, Albert Elmo, Genevieve, Helen, Harry Thurber, Glen Zenatello, Pearl and Ezrel Junius. His wife died Dec. 12, 1917, and on March 31, 1920, he married Ethel Done, who bore him five children, Ethlene, Heber Lavon, Marylin, Davida and Beth.

Besides being active in a Church capacity, Pres. Payne has taken leading parts in secular affairs. From Sevier County, Utah, he moved to Colonia Dublan, Mexico, 1891, where he resided till 1912, when he shared the fate of his co-religionists in being expelled from Mexico. After that he resided in Richfield, Sevier Co., Utah. In June, 1915, he moved to Thatcher, Arizona; later he moved to Safford, Arizona, where he has been a resident ever since.

Among the many ecclesiastical and secular positions which Pres. Payne has filled we may mention that for 12 years he served as county clerk in Graham County, Arizona, a member of the Graham County committee of Boy Scouts, president of the Stake Board of education, president of the Board of Trustees of the Gila College, etc.

PEART, John McPhail, second counselor in the Woodruff Stake presidency, was born March 15, 1886, at Randolph, Rich Co., Utah, the son of George A. Peart and Jane McPhail. He was raised and educated in Randolph, Utah, where he was also ordained a Deacon and acted as secretary of the Deacons quorum. In 1905 (Sept. 15), he married Bertha

Spencer, by whom he had seven children, namely, five sons and two daughters. He was ordained an Elder by Richard S. McKinnon and filled a mission to the Southern States in 1908-1910. After returning home, he served as superintendent of religion classes at Randolph and later as superintendent of the ward Y. M. M. I. A. In 1913 he moved from Randolph to Evanston, where he acted as an assistant to James Brown, jun., in the Evanston Ward Sunday School. Later he was second counselor to Bro. James Brown, jun., in the Woodruff Stake Y. M. M. I. A. On July 27, 1919, he was ordained a High Priest by Pres John M. Baxter and set apart as an alternate High Councilor in the Woodruff Stake. In 1920 (Oct. 30), he became a regular member of the High Council, and at a quarterly conference held at Randolph July 1, 1928, he was chosen and set apart as second counselor to Pres. William R. Smith in the Woodruff Stake presidency. In November, 1910, he was elected county treasurer of Rich County, Utah, and he has filled many other positions of honor and responsibility.

PIERCE, Isaac Washington, a Patriarch in the Juarez Stake of Zion, and a prominent business man of Ciudad Juarez, Chihuahua, Mexico, was born Aug. 22, 1839, in Jacksonville, Morgan Co., Ill., the son of Isaac Washington Pierce and Phebe Baldwin. Isaac W. Pierce was the son of Isaac Pierce, who was the son of Daniel Pierce, who was the son of Clothier Pierce, who was the son of Clothier Pierce, who was the son of John Pierce, who was the son of Michael Pierce. Michael Pierce was one of three brothers (Captains Michael and William, and their brother John) who came to America between the years 1620 and 1645. They made a number of trips across the Atlantic Ocean in various ships, bringing immigrants from the Old World to the New. In 1629 Capt. William Pierce commanded the renowned "Mayflower" with a company of immigrants from Holland. Capt. Michael lost his life in defending the colonies of America from attacks of Indians.

The parents of Isaac Washington Pierce, the subject of our sketch, were reared and married near Ogdensburg, N. Y. They joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in the year 1833, and emigrated from Kirtland, Ohio, to Far West, Missouri, in 1837, from which place they were driven out by a mob of men opposed to them because of their religious faith. They went to Jacksonville, Ill., where their son Isaac was born. Isaac's only sister, Lucy Ruth, died in 1838, during the mob violence of those times. His father was the first of his family to join the Church, and died as a martyr for his religion, Dec. 28, 1841, because of the Missouri persecutions and privations heaped upon him. He left a widow and four sons, namely, Amasa, George Henry, Nathan, and Isaac. While crossing the plains, en route from the Missouri River to Utah, with his mother and brothers, Isaac was baptized into the Church, in the Platte River, by Elder Solomon Warren in August, 1852. He arrived with his mother's family in the Salt Lake Valley Oct. 6, 1852. He was present at the dedication of the ground for the Salt Lake Temple in 1853, and during its construction gave of his time and means, aiding in erecting that beautiful building. In the spring of 1854 the family moved to Ogden, Utah, where young Isaac made a sled and hauled wood from the canyon; he also made ax-handles and sold these for food for the family. He was ordained a Deacon in 1855 by Bishop Brownell. He went to Payson, Utah, where his brother, George, lived, and helped guard the town from Indian raids at the time of the so-called "Walker War." He attended school in the Third and Eighth Wards in Salt Lake City. On April 4, 1857, he was ordained an Elder and received his endowments in the Salt Lake Endowment House. He was ordained a Seventy June 14, 1857, by Elder Hyrum Mace, at Fillmore, Utah, and became a member of the 42nd Quorum of Seventy. He was a Pioneer settler of Deseret, Millard Co., Utah, in the spring of 1858, and helped to put in the first water dam at Deseret the same year. His mother was the first white woman settler at Deseret. He was a ward teacher in Deseret, and in the spring of 1862 he crossed the plains as a teamster, going from Utah to the Missouri River to meet the L. D. S. emigrants. He drove four yoke of oxen from Deseret and returned with every one of them in good condition. John R. Murdock was the captain of his company. On this trip he met the two Carlson sisters, who later were to play an important part in his life. On the trip he traveled 2,500 miles by ox team. On May 4, 1863, he married Miss Hannah Carlson, and on Oct. 10, 1863, she was sealed to him in the Salt Lake Endowment House. She was born Jan. 29, 1839, and died in childbirth Jan. 22, 1864, and was buried with her child at Fillmore, Utah. On March 27, 1864, Bro. Pierce married his wife's widowed sister, Elna Carlson. He adopted and had sealed to him her two-year-old son, John Murdock. Elna was born March 26, 1842. On Jan. 6, 1865, Bro. Pierce's mother died at Deseret and was buried beside his wife, Hannah, at Fillmore, Utah. By his second marriage there are nine children, namely, John Murdock (adopted), Phebe Elna, Isaac Washington, Miel Carlson, Hannah Anna, Ann Eliza, Cora Augusta, Mary Lucy and Eva Ruth. All of the above are now living except Cora Augusta and Eva Ruth. In the spring of 1869, he became one of the first settlers of Levan, Juab Co., Utah, where he acted as presiding ward teacher, home missionary, Sunday school teacher, and a member of the School of Prophets from 1869 to 1871. In the spring of 1871 he moved to Glenwood, Sevier Co., Utah, where he taught day school and Sunday school for two or three years. He was also ward clerk and tithing clerk, and Sunday school superintendent for 15 years. After being ordained a High Priest May 24, 1874, by Apostle John Taylor, he acted as a member of the High Council at the organization of the Sevier Stake of Zion. On July 15, 1874, he was set apart as first counselor to Bishop A. T. Oldroyd, Glenwood Ward, serving until the year 1886. During his residence in Glenwood, Sevier Co., Utah, he served as a school teacher, postmaster, prosecuting attorney, justice of the peace, etc. He was very active in Church work also, and spent much time and money in gathering genealogy and in Temple work for the dead. During the years 1880-1884 he arranged for the baptism by proxy, in the Temples, for 22,000 dead, and for 500 endowments for the dead. On April 17, 1881, he married Miss Caroline Done, as his plural wife, in the Salt Lake Endowment House, Pres. Daniel H. Wells performing the marriage ceremony. She was born July 21, 1865. Thirteen children were born of this union, as follows: Arwell Lee, Eudora Elna and Lenora Caroline (twins), Ruby Evadna, Ada Diantha, James Lamar and Isaac Larue (twins), Vera Juanita, Clyde Done, Ireta and Zereta (twins), George Teasdale and Nathan Taylor (twins). There were four pairs of twins. At the present time seven of these thirteen children are living. All the twins died in infancy, except Zereta and Nathan Taylor. In the spring of 1886 Elder Pierce went on a mission for the Church, returning home July 4, 1888. His missionary work was done entirely without "purse or scrip." Whenever he needed food, shelter, or clothing, it was his testimony that his needs were always granted him through fervent prayer. He was very sociable, genial, full of faith, a good conversationalist, a good speaker, and made many friends in the mission field. He labored in the States of Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, West Virginia, Connecticut, Rhode Island, and also in Canada. He presided a part of the time over the Pennsylvania Conference. He traveled 14,588 miles as follows: By rail, 10,792 miles; by steamboat, 269 miles, and on foot, 3,527 miles. He held 308 meetings, baptized 32 persons, ordained a number to the Priesthood and blessed 66 children. He assisted in organizing branches of the Church in Coal Valley, Allegheny Co., Elkhorn and Little Redstone, Fayette Co., Penn. He also organized branches of the Church at East Liverpool, Ohio, and Mount Pleasant, Penn. His senior family had moved to Rabbit Valley, and were living at Loa, Piute Co., while his junior family were living at Glenwood, Sevier Co., Utah, where he found them well upon his return from his mission. During his residence in the Loa Ward he served as 1st counselor to Bishop Willis E. Robison. On May 16, 1890, he was arrested by U. S. Deputy marshals for violating the law by living with his two wives in plural marriage. Having been arrested twice by two different marshals, whose charges of law violation were in conflict, he decided to take his plural family and find a new haven of rest and a home in Old Mexico. On his way to Mexico he stopped along the way to work, that he might provide the necessities of life for his family. His longest stay was at Mancos, Colorado, where he rented a saw mill, lumber yard and store. He was advised to continue his journey to Mexico, which he did, arriving at Colonia Diaz, Chihuahua, Mexico, Dec. 1, 1890, where a year later his senior family joined him and both families made their homes for a number of years. In the Mexican Mission, later known as the Juarez Stake of Zion, he served on the High Council, on the stake school board, and as a member of the stake Sunday school superintendency. Being very active in the ward he was chosen as a counselor to Bishop W. Derby Johnson, but as his work as a member of the High Council conflicted, he was released from the Bishopric. He was a very active member of the ward dramatic club, taking the leading parts in many plays. Pioneer life in the Mexican Latter-day Saint colonies was difficult, and Elder Pierce with his families suffered many hardships and privations. He did some farming, made and laid up large Mexican adobes, cobbled and repaired shoes, was dance floor manager and caller, worked on the old John W. Young railroad between Deming and Colonia Diaz as cook for the surveyor's camp, etc. In 1897 he, with others, took a railroad grading contract of 12½ miles between Corralitos and Colonia Dublan. Finishing that work he moved to Ciudad Juarez with a part of his family and entered the retail lumber business in the early part of 1898. This new business was established, not only to furnish an income for Elder Pierce, but to provide a market for the lumber which the L. D. S. colonists were manufacturing in the Sierra Madre Mountains of Chihuahua, Mexico. The first Church gatherings to be held in the cities of Juarez, Mexico, and El Paso, Texas, were held at the home of Elder Pierce. Ciudad Juarez, Mexico, and El Paso, Texas, were, and still are the gateway cities into and out of Mexico. Most of the leading brethren and sisters of the Church usually stopped over at the Pierce home, where they were always welcome, and were given the needed help in crossing the international border. Elder Pierce loved the leaders of the Church, and was always loyal and keen to heed their advice. It was his privilege to know personally all the presidents of the Church during his time. As a child he often sat on the knee of the Prophet Joseph Smith, and has entertained in his home all the succeeding presidents of the Church, as well as many of the Apostles and other prominent Church leaders. He was a strict tithe-payer, a faithful observer of the Word of Wisdom, a loyal and able Church worker, very much loved and honored by those who knew him best. On March 11, 1906, his faithful and loyal service to the Church and to his fellows was rewarded by his being called and ordained a Patriarch under the hands of Apostle George Teasdale. He had great joy and satisfaction in this new calling, and gave blessings to many of his immediate family. After an eventful and successful life, filled with pioneer and frontier experiences, service to the Church and his country, he passed away in Ciudad Juarez, Chihuahua, Mexico, from an attack of pneumonia, in the presence of members of his family, Aug. 21, 1906, just one day before his 67th birthday anniversary. He was a loyal, devoted and loving husband and father, a good provider, and a splendid business man. He was dearly beloved by his large family, because of his just dealings with them, and his unselfish devotion to their welfare. His remains were taken to Colonia Dublan, Chihuahua, Mexico, where a large Church funeral was held, and he was laid away to rest in the Dublan Ward cemetery. His wife, Caroline Done, died at El Paso, Texas, Dec. 7, 1916, and was buried in the Concordia Cemetery, El Paso. His wife, Elna Carlson, died Sept. 9, 1919, at Shelley, Idaho, where she is buried. Of his fourteen living children (seven from each wife), six live in El Paso, Texas, two in Arizona, two in New Mexico, two in Idaho, one in Utah, and one in Montana. His wives and children claim that he was very just and successful in living the law of plural marriage. Notwithstanding the difference in the ages of his wives, they claim they had never quarreled with each other. They were loyal and devoted to him and to their children, and as a result the children of both wives are very near and dear to each other, and proud of their relationship and paternal parent.

PIERCE, Arwell Lee, first Bishop of the El Paso Ward, Saint Joseph Stake, a prominent business man and agriculturist of El Paso, Texas, and Ciudad Juarez, Chihuahua, Mexico, was born June 8, 1882, at Glenwood, Sevier Co., Utah, the son of Isaac Washington Pierce and Caroline Done. His infancy and early childhood were spent in Utah. At the age of eight years he left Utah with his parents en route to old Mexico, where they went as colonists in search of a new home. During this trip, which was made by team and wagon, he was baptized by his father in a Southern Utah stream on July 21, 1890, which was his mother's birthday anniversary. His father confirmed him a member of the Church the same day. Accompanying the family on this trip were his first cousin, Brigham H. Pierce and his family. One day while crossing the desert near Gallup, New Mexico, Arwell was riding on the side of his cousin's heavily loaded wagon, drawn by four fine animals, when, as he attempted to jump free from the wagon, his foot caught in the brake and he was thrown underneath the rear wheel which ran over his body almost crushing him to death. No doctors or medicine were available, and although his life was despaired of for more than a week, he was healed by the power of the Priesthood through the administrations of his father and cousin. After about five months on the road between Utah and old Mexico, a part of the time stopping by the way and working for funds, the family arrived at Colonia Diaz, Chihuahua, Mexico, on Dec. 1, 1890. Here Arwell attended day school, and was an active member of the various Church auxiliary organizations. On June 8, 1894, he was ordained a Deacon by his father and served as first counselor in the Deacons quorum presidency. The family made their home in Colonia Diaz for ten years, during which time they suffered many hardships: poor housing conditions, poor food, and but little clothing. Arwell worked on the farm with his father. In 1896, during the construction of the Rio Grande Sierra Madre & Pacific Railroad, he drove a team and scraper, aiding in building the railroad grade near Dublan, when he was but 14 years of age. In the early part of the year 1898, his father established a retail lumber yard in Ciudad Juarez, Chihuahua, Mexico, and Arwell went there to work with him. It was at this time he attended a Mexican day school and studied Spanish, which he learned to speak almost without any foreign accent. He also learned to read and write Spanish very well. Returning again to his mother's home in Colonia Diaz, he did odd jobs; farming, hauling wood, cutting hay, breaking horses to work, and riding the range, to help earn something to support the family. In the month of May, 1900, he moved his mother and the family to Colonia Dublan, where a home was built and maintained. During the years 1901-3, he attended the Juarez Stake Academy under the presidency of Professor Guy C. Wilson, who encouraged him to take up school teaching as a profession. Arwell was forced to give up school, however, to assist his father in the lumber business in making a living for the family. He worked as yardman and bookkeeper and managed the business during his father's illness of a year or more. In 1903 he worked as timekeeper and bookkeeper at a grading camp during the construction of the Nacosari Railroad in Sonora, Mexico. In 1902, he was ordained an Elder by his father. He was called on a mission to Mexico in 1904. He went to Salt Lake City, where he did his temple work and was there set apart for his mission by Pres. Francis M. Lyman, who was a boyhood friend of his father's. Elder Pierce arrived in Mexico City Christmas Day, 1904. He labored under the presidencies of Talma E. Pomeroy and Hyrum S. Harris. He had charge of the Sunday schools of the mission, the choir, and was conference president and second counselor to Pres. Harris. His mission was filled with many striking manifestations of the power of God in his ministrations among the people. He was protected and delivered from the attacks of mobs and wicked, designing men in a miraculous manner many times. He baptized eight persons, blessed several children and ordained a number to the Priesthood. While in the mission field, he underwent a very serious operation, from which he entirely and speedily recovered. He learned to converse fluently and preach convincingly in the Spanish language and was respected and beloved by the missionaries and by the native people among whom he labored. He was honorably released to return home because of the death of his father which occurred on Aug 21, 1906. After his return home, he settled his father's estate in the Mexican courts, and after managing the business for the estate one year, he interested some El Paso business men, organized the Juarez Lumber Company and took over the lumber yard from the estate. He bought an interest in the business and became its active head as manager. He organized the first L. D. S. Sunday school in Ciudad Juarez, which was a part of the Dublan Ward, the sessions being held at the home of his mother with whom he lived. On Oct. 2, 1907, he married Miss Mary Brentnell Done in the Salt Lake Temple, Pres. John R. Winder officiating. In the organization of the Ciudad Juarez Branch of the Dublan Ward, he was assistant to Presiding Elder James Mortensen, and the meetings were held at Elder Pierce's home. On March 15, 1910, he was ordained a Seventy by Apostle George F. Richards. In September, 1911, he and his wife, accompanied by his sister, Vera, and her sister, Ethel, made a month's tour of Mexico, visiting many of the cities and towns where he had served as a traveling missionary in 1905-6. During this trip they visited many places of historical interest, including the National Museum and the ruined city of San Juan Teotihuacan. In July, 1912, when he took his family to Dublan for a visit and vacation, he arrived just as the Mexican revolutionists were looting the stores, taking the colonists' guns, horses, and supplies. He was appointed by the Juarez Stake Presidency as one of a committee of three to accompany the first train of refugees to El Paso, Texas. While the colonists were refugees in El Paso, he, as one of the committeemen, helped look after their needs. He, with his family, had many exciting and dangerous experiences during the Mexican Revolution, including getting caught in the cross-fire of the rebels and federals in the early part of the three days' battle of Juarez, when the Madero rebel forces took the town from the Diaz Federal forces, bringing about the complete overthrow of the old Federal Government in Mexico. He with his wife and sister, Ada, escaped in a one-seated buggy to El Paso through the Federal lines. In 1912 he moved with his family to El Paso, Texas, where he has since made his home. Under instructions from the presiding brethren, he organized the first Latter-day Saint Sunday school in El Paso, Texas, and was its first superintendent. In the organization of the first independent branch of the Church in El Paso, he was first counselor to Presiding Elder Philip H. Hurst from 1912 to 1916. In 1915 he and his wife attended the World's Fair in San Francisco and the Fair in San Diego. The trip was made by way of Salt Lake City, where they attended the convention of the Beneficial Life Insurance Company of which he was the state agent for Texas. This trip was awarded to him as a prize for writing the most insurance during a contest. In the reorganization of the Juarez Stake presidency in 1916, he was ordained a High Priest and set apart as second counselor to Pres. Jos. C. Bentley by Apostle Anthony W. Ivins. In 1918, when Philip H. Hurst moved to Utah, Elder Pierce succeeded him as president of the El Paso Branch of the Church. He served in the stake presidency and as branch president until Oct. 11, 1918, when he was ordained a Bishop and set apart to preside over the newly organized El Paso Ward by Pres. Anthon H. Lund in the office of the First Presidency in Salt Lake City, Utah. During the World War he assisted the Utah-Idaho Sugar Company to bring in over 4000 Mexican laborers to work in the beet fields and sugar factories. He made several trips to Utah and Idaho to take train loads of these laborers and afterwards visiting them to keep them satisfied and contented in their work. In the year 1919 the El Paso Ward was transferred from the Juarez Stake to the St. Joseph Stake and Elder Pierce continued as Bishop of the ward. In the year 1920, while attending general conference in Salt Lake City, he secured permission from the First Presidency of the Church to buy ground on which to erect a ward chapel and recreation hall, and to gather funds for the erection of such a building in El Paso, Texas. In the year 1920 he entered the automobile business in Ciudad Juarez and Chihuahua City, and in 1928 in Arizona and El Paso, Texas, still retaining his financial interests in the lumber business, but devoting most of his time to the automobile business. In the year 1928-9 he disposed of all his automobile holdings in Mexico, Arizona, and El Paso, Texas, and again devoted his time to the lumber business and farms. During the summer of 1925, Bishop Pierce and his family in company with others took a three months' vacation trip up through Utah, Idaho, the Yellowstone National Park, and on up to Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada, coming down the Pacific Coast to San Diego, California, and on home. This trip was very educational and enjoyable. In October, 1927, he with his entire family attended the dedication of the Arizona Temple at Mesa. Between the years 1920 and 1930 he visited and inspected many chapels and recreation halls in Utah, Arizona and California in search of ideas for the El Paso Ward building. In April, 1930, he with his wife attended the Centennial Celebration and Conference of the Church in Salt Lake City and got the authorization of the First Presidency of the Church to commence actual construction of the new ward chapel and recreation hall. As Bishop of the ward and chairman of the building committee, he purchased all the building materials, furniture and fixtures, and had general supervision of the construction and financing of the building from the time it was begun in October, 1930, to the time of its dedication by Pres. Heber J. Grant on May 24, 1931. The dedicatory services were attended by many prominent governmental officials, including the mayor of El Paso and the president of the El Paso Chamber of Commerce, the former making a very splendid address. The building, complete with furnishings and ground beautifications cost a little more than $70,000, and was completely paid for at the time of dedication. At the time of the dedication of the grounds on Oct. 27, 1930, the ward had but $8000 on hand. Those who worked on the building, non-members as well as members, donated approximately one-third of their daily salaries to the ward. The non-member friends of the Latter-day Saints contributed liberally in materials and cash and the city officials were all interested and did much to encourage and help in this work. The financing and building of this ward chapel is an outstanding event in the life of Bishop Pierce, taking as it did ten years for the formulation of plans and gathering funds for its erection and being built at a time of an economic depression. In his remarks at the dedication of the chapel, among other things, Pres. Grant said: "I think it is a little less than remarkable that you have in this city what, in my judgment, is the finest, most costly, and splendid ward meeting house of any ward of the same size in the whole Church. You have done yourselves proud." Following closely in the footsteps of his father in his business and Church life, on the international border, Bishop Pierce has made his home, both while living in Juarez and in El Paso, a haven of rest and headquarters for the leading brethren and sisters of the Church. He has made numerous automobile and train trips with the General authorities of the Church and other leading brethren to attend conferences in Mexico, assisting in getting them across the national boundary. In 1926 he made an automobile trip with Pres. Heber J. Grant and his party of eight to visit the Juarez Stake in Mexico and the St. Joseph Stake in Arizona. Eight children have been born to Bishop Pierce and wife as follows: Arwell Lee, Joseph Brentnell, Merlin Done, Ireta May, Arthur Clyde, Wendell Lothair, Arwella Caroline and Mary Elizabeth. The first two were born in Ciudad

Juarez, where they died in infancy and were buried. The other six were all born in El Paso, Texas, where they are now living with their parents. Bishop Pierce earns his living by managing the Juarez Lumber Yard, S. A., in Juarez, Mexico, and operating approximately 300 acres of farming land in the Juarez Valley in growing alfalfa, wheat, corn and grapes. He was the first to see a future in growing fine table grapes in the Juarez Valley and at present has about 30,000 grape-vine plants and ships his table grapes to Mexico City. He is still Bishop of the El Paso Ward, St. Joseph Stake, which has a membership of 485 souls. The ward is fully organized and splendid work is being done by the people in their new ward chapel and recreation hall, with fine class rooms, Relief Society hall, boy scout quarters, baptismal font, etc., in the basement. The chances for growth in the ward membership in the next few years are good.

PIERCE, Mary Brentnell Done, wife of Arwell Lee Pierce, and Ward Relief Society president, was born Feb. 18, 1885, at Payson, Utah Co., Utah, the daughter of Abraham Done and Elizabeth Annie Robinson. She was baptized, March 3, 1893, by David Fawn and confirmed by her father. She was present at the dedication of the Salt Lake Temple, and was very greatly impressed with the grandeur of the occasion. At the age of three years she had scarlet fever which left her hearing impaired, and gave her much trouble with her ears, so in 1899, at the age of 14, she went to the Salt Lake Temple, where she was blessed for her hearing and was completely healed. With her parents she moved to Colonia Dublan, Chihuahua, Mexico, where they arrived in December, 1899. She attended the Juarez Stake Academy under the presidency of Professor Guy C. Wilson, graduating from the four years of high school in 1904. She taught in the grade schools at Dublin for the next three years, giving all of her money to her parents for the support of the family. On Oct. 2, 1907, she was married to Arwell Lee Pierce in the Salt Lake Temple. She has borne eight children, namely, Arwell Lee, jun., and Joseph Brentnell, both of whom died in infancy; Merlin Done and Ireta May, who both graduated from the Juarez Stake Academy, and have since been attending the B. Y. U. at Provo, Utah, and the College of Mines in El Paso, Texas; Arthur Clyde and Wendell Lothair who are attending High School in El Paso, Texas; Arwella Caroline and Mary Elizabeth, who are attending the grade schools in El Paso, Texas. She is a very devoted, loyal wife, and a splendid mother. Although her life is wrapped up in her home, with her husband and children, still she finds time to devote to her Church and its needy. She was second counselor to Ella Wilson Hurst in the first Relief Society presidency of the El Paso Branch, and when Sister Hurst moved to Utah in 1918 Sister Pierce succeeded her as the president of the El Paso Branch Relief Society. When El Paso Ward was organized Oct. 11, 1918, she continued to serve as president of the Ward Relief Society, which position she still holds. Sister Pierce has been a very close companion of her husband in all of his Church social and business activities, accompanying him on many trips to Salt Lake City to attend the general conferences of the Church, going with him to the World's Fair at San Francisco in 1915, to Mexico City in 1911, and on a three months' tour with the family in 1925. She has been a real support to her husband in his positions in the Church, gladly entertaining the general authorities of the Church and other leading brethren and sisters who visit them from time to time as they cross the border into Mexico and return. She is very much beloved by all who know her best, for her genial and lovable character, her willingness to serve in carrying cheer and comfort to those who are sick and in need. She has ever been unselfish with her husband's mother and children, all of whom have at various times made their home with them. For a number of years before the death of her husband's mother, she and the younger children made their home with Bishop and Sister Pierce. As the care and burden of her husband's widowed mother and children has been his responsibility, she has made them welcome in the home, and gladly shared her husband's income with them. As Bishop Pierce is the oldest of his mother's children, Sister Pierce has stood nobly by her husband in giving his brothers and sisters the advantages of good schooling and sent two of them on missions. Even to this day, when all her husband's brothers and sisters, except one, are married and have families of their own, they happily gather at the home of Bishop and Sister Pierce each Thanksgiving Day, and have for years, to enjoy themselves in a big family dinner together.

POMEROY, Talma Emerson, a Patriarch, and an ordinance worker in the Arizona Temple, at Mesa, and a prominent Elder in the Mesa Ward, Maricopa Stake, Maricopa Co., Ariz., was born May 6, 1863, in Salt Lake City, Utah, the son of Francis Martin Pomeroy and Sarah Matilda Colburn. His father was one of the original pioneers with Brigham Young coming to Utah in 1847, and his mother, with her parents, arrived in the Valley Sept. 24, 1848. When but one year of age his parents moved to Paris, Bear Lake Co., Idaho, where they resided until Sept. 14, 1877, when the family migrated to Arizona, locating at Mesa. He drove his mother's team most of the entire distance, and otherwise did his full share in that memorable journey. Bro. Pomeroy was baptized in 1871 by Thomas Sleight in Paris. In the building of the Mesa Canal, though only 15 years of age, he received credit for a man's full wage, "because he earned it" by doing a man's part. Through all the hardships usually endured in settling a new country, building canals, roads, homes, clearing, fencing and farming the land, and in freighting, working in the harvest fields, etc., he also did a man's full part, aiding materially in supplying the necessaries of life for the family.

Brother Pomeroy was the first secretary of the Y. M. M. I. A. of the Maricopa Stake, being set apart Jan. 20, 1883, which position he held until April, 1884, when he was called and left for a mission to the Northwestern States, being set apart in Salt Lake City, April 7, 1884, and ordained to the office of a Seventy by William W. Taylor. He labored in the states of Iowa and Minnesota, under the presidency of William H. Palmer, being very successful in his mission. He had several extraordinary experiences, one of which occurred in the city of St. Paul, where he and his companion were arrested and incarcerated for one night. The next morning they were turned loose, and informed that there was no charge against them. Later the city commission informed them that it had been made a misdemeanor for "Mormon" missionaries to preach in their city. In the discussion that followed, Elder Pomeroy bore a strong testimony of the truth of the message they were bearing, thus preaching the gospel to the very men who were responsible for the anti-Mormon regulation. He returned home in October, 1885, after having been honorably released.

For several years following his return from this mission, he, in connection with his brother, William, operated a mail and stage line from Phoenix to Fort McDowell, via Tempe and Mesa. In 1886 (Oct 13), he married Sarah Melissa Johnson, the daughter of Benjamin F. Johnson and Sarah Melissa Holman, in the St. George Temple, Utah, to which place he was accompanied by his mother; they made the journey by team overland for that purpose.

In October, 1885, Brother Pomeroy was set apart as president of the Y. M. M. I. A. of the Mesa Ward, which position he held for three years. He was set apart as one of the seven presidents of the 90th Quorum of Seventy when that quorum was organized March 28, 1886, by Seymour B. Young, which position he held until 1913, the last years acting as senior president. March 9, 1913, he was ordained a High Priest by Apostle Hyrum M. Smith. In June, 1903, he was called on a mission to Mexico, in filling which he acted a part of the time as president of the Mexican Mission, after being set apart to that position by Apostle Abraham O. Woodruff, May 23, 1904. Returning to the City of Mexico in company with Pres. Anthony W. Ivins and family, and Apostle Abram Owen Woodruff and wife, from a conference meeting, the latter was taken ill, which developed into a serious case of small-pox. She was taken care of at the mission house by her husband and Elders Pomeroy, Paul F. Henning and Alonzo I. Taylor. Sister Woodruff succumbed to the disease, and shortly afterwards, at El Paso, Texas, her husband died with the same malady.

In 1904 Elder Pomeroy was joined by his wife and family, who had been called to take charge of the mission house in the City of Mexico. Here Sister Pomeroy was a mother, indeed, to the missionaries, nursing them through illness and otherwise administering to their comforts. Great progress was made in missionary work during Pres. Pomeroy's administration. New fields were opened up and new branches organized. Being honorably released, he returned home Aug. 5, 1905. Elder Pomeroy was stake and ward chorister for ten years, and was also prominent in dramatic work in the Maricopa Stake. He also took a deep interest in military affairs, and for 14 years was identified with the national guard of the State of Arizona. He was captain of Company E (the first company to be organized in Mesa), later captain of Company D, and for two years and a half served as major of the Second Battalion, to which position he was elected by ballot, without solicitation, by all of the line officers. In 1916 he was elected chief recruiting officer of Arizona and major commanding the reserve battalion. He held the responsible position of agency director for several years with the New York Life Insurance Company, having charge of as many as seven states at a time in Mexico for them. This position he resigned to take the same with the Beneficial Life, which position he has held for eight years, and is still a loyal worker in their cause. He was the first ward representative and later a member of the stake board of the Genealogical Society of the Maricopa Stake, a home missionary, and in charge of the home mission work in the stake.

Brother Pomeroy is the father of seven children, five of whom are still living; they are active workers in the Church. Their names are Mabel Aeolia, Clarence Melnotte, Gladys Leona, Sarah Melissa and Joseph Franklin. His two sons have both filled honorable missions.

While the Arizona Temple was in course of construction, and visitors were being allowed to go through that building, Elder Pomeroy acted as one of the guides for those visitors, and after the Temple was completed, and before its dedication, he also acted as one of the guides to visitors who were allowed to go through during the year it was kept open for visitors. After its dedication Elder Pomeroy was called and set apart as a regular Temple ordinance worker, together with his wife. They have both acted in that capacity ever since, this being their fourth year. Brother Pomeroy visited Salt Lake City and California in 1931.

POTTER, Robert John, 3rd Bishop of the Beaver Ward, Bear River Stake, Box Elder Co., Utah, was born Aug. 15, 1895, in Raughton, Cumberland Co., England, the son of Thomas Potter and Margaret Carlile. He emigrated to Utah in 1913, crossing the Atlantic Ocean in the ship "Maure-tania' and located in Logan, Utah, for a short time, and thence moved to Collinston, Utah (Beaver Ward). He was baptized and confirmed Nov. 26, 1916, by Hyrum Kidman at Collinston; ordained an Elder Aug. 11, 1918, by Bishop Race A. Johnson, at Beaver; married Lottie Lorenzo Rucker Aug. 14, 1918, in the Salt Lake Temple, which union has been blessed with six children, namely, Robert Carleton, Margaret, William Bethel, Leona, Naomi and Elizabeth. Brother Potter acted as second assistant superintendent of the Collinston Sunday school, and on March 4, 1923, he was ordained a High Priest by Arthur R. Capener and set apart as second counselor to Bishop Johnson of the Beaver Ward, which position he held until Nov. 10, 1929, when he was ordained a Bishop by Apostle Richard R. Lyman and set apart to preside over said ward, which position he now occupies. Bishop Potter filled a short-term mission in the Western States Mission in 1925-1926; he is a farmer by occupation.

REID, Hugh Alexander, 5th Bishop of the Lund Ward, Nevada Stake, White Pine Co., Nevada, was born March 16, 1900, at Manti, Sappete Co., Utah, the son of Alexander Kirkwood Reid and Elizabeth Ann Mackey. While still an infant he and his parents located at Lund, Nevada, where he has since resided.

He was baptized March 29, 1908, by Robert Reid. Being born of goodly parents, and from his early youth being instructed in the principles of true Christianity, he was ordained successively to the offices of Deacon, Teacher, and Priest. He attended the Dixie Normal School during the winter of 1916-1917. On returning home he was set apart as second assistant superintendent in the Lund Sunday school, serving in that capacity from 1917 to 1919.

After being ordained an Elder Nov. 25, 1919, by J. Golden Kimball, he filled a mission to Canada in 1919-1921, laboring mostly in the Nova Scotia Conference; he was one of the first L. D. S. missionaries to labor in Nova Scotia after an elapse of over twenty years.

On Sept. 21, 1922, he was ordained a High Priest by Stake President John V. Bluth and set apart to act as second counselor to Bishop George William Fawcett, of the Lund Ward.

On May 19, 1926, Brother Reid married Ada Hammond in the Manti Temple, which union has been blessed with three children, namely, Alice, Henry Alex and Ann.

When the Nevada Stake of Zion was organized Sept. 19, 1926, Brother Reid was chosen as Bishop of the Lund Ward, succeeding Bishop George William Fawcett, which position he still holds.

Bishop Reid is a farmer by avocation, and, judging from the able manner he has commenced his career as a presiding officer in the Church, a bright future seems to be before him.

RICHARDS, Franklin Snyder, president of the High Priests Quorum in the Ensign Stake of Zion and general attorney for the Church, was born June 20, 1849, in Salt Lake City, Utah, the son of Franklin D. Richards and Jane Snyder. He was early placed in the best schools the city afforded, and as he advanced in years he received such special instructions as were within reach. Immediately after reaching his 17th year, he received a certificate from the Board of Examiners authorizing him to teach school, and soon thereafter he became the teacher of one of the largest and best schools in Salt Lake City, which he taught during the years 1866, 1867 and 1868. While his father presided over the European Mission, young Franklin attended to his father's secular affairs at home, and devoted his income to the maintenance of his father's family. At the same time he continued his own higher studies under private tutors. On Dec. 18, 1868, he married Emily S. Tanner in Salt Lake City. Their children are Franklin Dewey Richards, Joseph Tanner Richards, William S. Richards and two adopted daughters, Wealthy Lucile Jensen and Emily R. Beeson.

In May, 1869, he moved with his father's family to Ogden, in Weber County, where he was soon afterwards appointed clerk of the probate and county courts and later was elected county recorder. At that time there was no lawyer resident in Ogden, and, as the public lands were just coming into market, young Franklin applied himself diligently to master legal forms and qualify himself to perform the duties of the offices which he held. He received valuable suggestions from Attorney Aurelius Miner, who spent part of his time in Ogden. He soon acquired fame for keeping the public records, and when they were examined by Pres. Brigham Young he remarked that they had no equal in the Territory. On the conclusion of his eighth year of service as county recorder and his ninth year of service as county clerk, he voluntarily retired from these offices. Pres. Brigham Young counseled him to become a lawyer, and when Providence brought him in close communion with the law, he felt, what others were quick to observe, that he had come to his destined calling, and after studying law diligently he was admitted to the bar of the Third District Court at Salt Lake City, June 16, 1874. While pursuing his law studies young Richards had developed habits of concentration and continuous study. He became a successful and eloquent reasoner, and thus fitted himself to be an able defender of constitutional rights and the inherent liberty of man. His first defense was that of a man charged with murder, and he fought for his client with a skill and vigor which astonished even his familiar friends; his client was acquitted. In 1877 he filled a mission to Great Britain, during which he also visited many countries in Continental Europe. In the spring of 1878 he rendered efficient service in the litigation commenced over Pres. Brigham Young's estate. Later he formed a partnership with Judge Rufus K. Williams, formerly chief justice of the Supreme Court of the State of Kentucky, the firm name being Richards and Williams. When a great suit, involving over a million dollars, was brought against the Church by some of the heirs of Pres.

Young the firm of Richards & Williams was retained as counsel for the Church, and successfully defended the case. When an attempt was made in 1880 to deprive the women of Utah of their franchise, the firm of Richards & Williams again appeared, with other counsel, in the defense of women's rights, and the case was dismissed with the rights of the women preserved. In the spring of 1881 Brother Richards was admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court of California. He was a member of the constitutional convention of 1882 and was sent to Washington as one of the delegates to present the constitution to Congress, and seek admission into the Union.

In company with Honorable John T. Caine and Delegate David H. Peery he went to Washington and labored faithfully to advocate the claim of Utah to statehood. While in the capitol he became closely associated with the eminent jurist, Jere S. Black, and made a most favorable impression upon many of the prominent statesmen of his country.

A convention of the Peoples Party was held in the autumn of 1882 to nominate a successor to George Q. Cannon as delegate in Congress. Franklin, who had come to the front as a political leader, was mentioned by many prominent and observant persons as the man fit for the position. He, however, declined the honor and suggested John T. Caine, a gentleman of long legislative experience, who was finally elected. After that Brother Richards became a familiar character at the nation's capitol. He was engaged again and again to plead for the rights of his beloved Utah and her people, and, during the anti-polygamy prosecutions, he most ably defended many of his brethren against unmerited punishment. Among other things he was successful in his effort to have the so-called segregation scheme thwarted, which, if it had been upheld, might have meant life imprisonment for unlawful cohabitation, when the extreme penalty prescribed for it by the Edmunds Law was six months imprisonment and $300.00 fine. In a presentation of some of these cases before the Supreme Court of the United States Brother Richards became associated with such distinguished lawyers as Wayne MacVeagh, Senator George G. Vest, James O. Broadhead, Jeremiah M. Wilson, George Ticknor Curtis and others. The exposition of the cause of the "Mormon" people, as involved in the cases against Lorenzo Snow, was fearlessly and patriotically made by Brother Richards and Mr. Curtis, who had eminent ability as an expounder of the Constitution. The arguments of the two advocates, the famous Washington jurist and the eloquent Utah lawyer—together, constitute a masterpiece of legal logic. Brother Richards, in order to defend the righteousness of the cause of the Saints, constantly appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States for fair and just constructions of the law which would enable the people to live without violating it. In all his legal actions the personal qualities of Brother Richards were strongly marked. He exhibited great moral courage and dignity, and yet, was affable and entertaining. He possessed a most retentive memory and a highly cultured mind.

Franklin S. Richards has a grand intellectual inheritance, having descended from a long line of staunch patriots and strong-willed professional men. Possessed of high aspirations and hereditary capacity for growth he has not stopped at knowing the law from books, but he has sought to learn the laws written upon the hearts of humanity as well as those underlying principles of justice which are the only sure foundation for the endurance of a free republic. He has had a brilliant career and the cause of the Latter-day Saints has always been his greatest concern. Because of his ability and integrity

Brother Richards has been retained as the legal adviser and general attorney for the Church ever since his employment as such in 1880, and though now advanced in years he is still bright and vigorous physically and mentally, and is still wide awake in protecting the rights of his friends and the affairs of the Church to which he has been so devoted and patriotic during his entire life.

In addition to the foregoing Brother Richards served several years as city attorney for Ogden City and as prosecuting attorney for Weber County. He held the office of city attorney for Salt Lake City from 1884 to 1890. He was a member of the Legislative Council of Utah in 1884, and was president of the council in 1890. He was chairman of the Peoples Party, and conducted the memorable campaign of 1890. He took part in the Reed Smoot investigation as attorney for Pres. Joseph F. Smith and other witnesses.

He was a member of the Constitutional Convention of 1895 that framed the Constitution for the State of Utah, and took an active part in its proceedings, especially in favor of Woman's Suffrage. Although no man worked harder or did more to secure statehood, he has always declined official positions, when repeatedly urged by influential citizens to accept some of the highest offices within the gift of the people.

Some of Brother Richards' most important and valuable service for the Church has been rendered in establishing the system of corporations sole, for holding titles to church properties throughout the world. The Bishops in the organized wards of the Church are corporations sole, and hold the title to their respective ward properties. The presidents of stakes are also incorporated to hold the titles to stake properties. The Presiding Bishop is a corporation sole to hold the titles to all mission properties where the laws of the state or country in which the land is situated will permit, and the President of the Church is incorporated to hold the titles to the general funds and property of the Church, including temples, educational institutions and other real estate. One of the principal reasons for creating these corporations sole was to give them perpetual succession so that titles would not be affected by the death, resignation or disqualification of any persons holding them.

At the time that Brother Richards recommended this system to the Church (and it was adopted by the presiding authorities) there were but few corporations sole in the United States, and it required considerable work on his part to get the legislature of Utah, Idaho, Arizona, Wyoming and Nevada, where the principal wards and stakes of the Church were situated, to pass laws providing for such corporations. After the laws were passed he personally directed the creation of the corporations and the transfers of property to them, which required much of his time during several years. There are now (in 1931), nearly a thousand ward and stake corporations in the Church. The vesting of titles to mission properties in the Presiding Bishop's Corporation was especially difficult and laborious because the lands are located in nearly all of the States of the Union, as well as in Europe and other foreign countries, and it involved the necessity of him becoming acquainted with the laws of the different states and countries throughout the world in which the Church properties are situated.

In 1929 Elder Richards lost his beloved companion, Sister Emily S. Richards, a talented woman of high intellectual attainments, who took a most prominent part in women's suffrage and other matters affecting the rights and interests of her sex. For many years she was a member of the General Board of the Relief Society of the Church and a director in many charitable and benevolent institutions.

She was president of the Board of Lady Managers at the World's Fair in 1893, and held many important positions in connection with the Red Cross and other organizations during the World War. Her charming personality and cheery disposition made her a favorite and leading figure among her associates, and enabled her to impart encouragement and help to her husband and others, which gave her great joy and satisfaction.

In Church capacity, Brother Richards has served as a member of the High Councils of the Weber and Ensign Stakes of Zion, and for several years he has acted as president of the High Priests Quorum in the Ensign Stake.

RICHINS, Parley Thomas, 5th Bishop of the Henefer Ward, Summit Co., Utah, was born Aug. 19, 1877, at Henefer, Summit Co., Utah, the son of Charles Richins and Esther S. Ovard. He received an ordinary common school education in his native town and afterwards studied at the Agricultural College at Logan. Being born of Latter-day Saint parents, he was baptized July 11, 1886, by John Paskett, was ordained a Deacon Aug. 26, 1894, by Edward Richins, an Elder Feb. 19, 1901, by John Paskett and a Seventy Feb. 20, 1901, by Seymour B. Young. In 1901-1903 he filled a mission to the Southwestern States, laboring principally in the State of Arkansas. He was ordained a High Priest July 9, 1911, by Ezra M. Robertson and acted as second counselor to Bishop Micah F. Harris and later as first counselor to Bishop Wm. O. Stephens whom he succeeded as Bishop in July, 1925, which position he still holds. From his earliest boyhood Bishop Richins has been a diligent Church worker and served in the superintendency of the Henefer Sunday school and Y. M. M. I. A. He also served as a justice of the peace, a member of the Henefer school board and a clerk of the North Summit School Board. In 1904 (June 29th), he married Fanny Judd in the Salt Lake Temple, by whom he is the father of four children, namely, Lyle Parley, Maxine Belle, LaRue Esther and Ovena Jane. Bishop Richins is a farmer and merchant by avocation and at present serves as postmaster at Henefer.

RILEY, James Hyrum, 2nd Bishop of the Ogden 11th Ward, Weber Stake, Weber Co., Utah, was born Oct. 29, 1879, at Hooper, Weber Co., Utah, the son of John Willard Riley and Emily J. Frew. He moved with his parents to Ogden when about two years old and was baptized Aug. 7, 1890, by James M. Thomas. From his earliest youth he took an active part in Church affairs, and as a young boy acted as secretary of the Ogden 2nd Ward Y. M. M. I. A., and also as secretary of the ward Sunday school. Later he acted as president of the Ogden 2nd Ward Y. M. M. I. A., and still later as an officer in the Ogden 1st Ward Y. M. M. I. A. and Sunday school. He received a good common school education, and has understood how to turn his experience in life to good use. His father died Nov. 11, 1894, when James was 15 years old. He was an employee of the Union Pacific Railroad Company from April, 1897 to July, 1904. After that he served as a messenger for the new Pingree National Bank, and later as bookkeeper, teller, assistant cashier, and cashier. At present he acts as vice-president of the Commercial Security Bank. He was associated with the Pingree National Bank from 1904 to 1920, as vice-president, and with the National Bank of Commerce in 1920-1930, which bank was merged with the Commercial Security Bank in June, 1930. In 1916 Bro. Riley was elected a member of the Ogden City Board of Education and later became president of said board. At present he is serving his 4th term in the latter position. In February, 1905, Bishop Riley married Hattie E. Hinchcliff in the Salt Lake Temple, which union has been blessed with four children (3 girls and 1 boy), viz., Kathryn, Emily Winnifred, James Hinchcliff, and Edna. Brother Riley was chosen as Bishop of the Ogden 11th Ward May 28, 1922, being ordained and set apart to that position June 27, 1922, by Apostle Richard R. Lyman. This position he still occupies, and the Ogden 11th Ward has grown and prospered under his able administration.

ROMNEY, Orson Douglas, a prominent Elder and Church worker in the Ensign Stake of Zion, was born Aug. 15, 1860, in Salt Lake City, Utah, the son of George Romney and Vilate Ellen Douglas. Being born of goodly parents he was raised as a Latter-day Saint from his early youth and was baptized when eight years of age. As he became old enough to take part in Church activities he was ordained successively to the offices of Deacon, Priest, Elder, Seventy and High Priest. When only 13 years of age he went to St. George, southern Utah, to live with his grandparents, and only received such education as southern Utah could afford at that time. Returning to Salt Lake City two years later, he attended school in the old 20th Ward school house, and subsequently became a student at the Deseret University (now the University of Utah). Among his fellow students there were Gov. Heber M. Wells and Hon. B. H. Roberts. As a boy he served in the presidency of a Deacons quorum in the 20th Ward, and later as secretary of an Elders quorum. Still later he acted as one of the presidents of the 13th Quorum of Seventy. He also served in the presidency of the 20th Ward Y. M. M. I. A. and as superintendent of the Ward Sunday school until called to the superintendency of the Ensign Stake Sunday schools. For twenty years he acted as a member of the Ensign Stake High Council. In 1888 to 1892 he filled a mission to New Zealand and twenty years later filled a second mission to New Zealand, on which mission he was accompanied by his family and presided over the mission. Returning home from these missions he circumnavigated the globe twice, the last time in company with his two sons, Orson D., jun., and Melbourne, who are now associated with him in the lumber business. In a secular capacity Elder Romney commenced his life's career as a butcher's delivery boy, and later as delivery boy for the Z. C. M. I. Still later he worked in the wholesale china and crockery department of that institution. He also served as salesman in the 20th Ward Co-op store, acted as clerk at S. B. Teasdale's store on Main St., Salt Lake City, and for 25 years worked in the Taylor, Romney and Armstrong Lumber Company. While thus employed he held successively every position from teamster to manager. When his father was 72 years of age he started Orson D. in the lumber business, which since then has grown with rapidity and during the first ten or twelve years of its existence it grew to greater proportions than the old firm of Taylor, Romney & Armstrong. Elder Orson D. Romney is now the principal owner of the Romney Lumber Co. and has acted as president of the same since 1920.

In 1884 (Sept. 4th), Bro. Romney married Emma Frances Phillips, daughter of Wm. G. Phillips and Maria Ann Tuckfield; this union has been blessed with five children, three sons, namely, Orson D., jun., Melbourne, and William G. (deceased), and two daughters, namely, Vilate (wife of Antoine R. Ivins), and Gertrude (wife, now widow, of Shirley Clawson).

SMITH, Elias Asahel, senior member of the High Council of the Liberty Stake of Zion, was born March 21, 1857, in Salt Lake City, Utah, the son of Elias Smith and Lucy Brown. He was baptized May 4, 1865, by Nathan Davis, and, taking an active part in Church affairs from his early youth, he was ordained a Deacon and later promoted to other positions in the lesser Priesthood. In 1882 he was ordained an Elder by Edwin W. Davis and in 1886 a High Priest by Pres.

John Taylor and called to serve as a special member of the High Council of the Salt Lake Stake in order to assist in adjusting differences existing between Utah and Salt Lake counties in reference to the water of Utah Lake for irrigation purposes. The decision rendered by this council was accepted by all parties concerned. Subsequently a judgment was rendered by the district court sitting at Provo confirming the decision of the High Council. In 1888 Bro. Smith was chosen as a regular member of the High Council, and when the Salt Lake Stake of Zion was divided in 1904, he was selected as a regular High Councilor in the new Liberty Stake in which capacity he has served faithfully ever since. In 1882 (Dec. 19th) he married Laura Nebeker, daughter of John Nebeker and Lurena Fitzgerald. This union was blessed with two children, namely, Elias A., jun., and Inez. His wife died Sept. 15, 1886, and on June 1, 1892, he married Emily Catherine Weiler, daughter of Elijah M. Weiler and Emily Crismon.

Besides being an active Church worker, Elder Smith served as probate judge of Salt Lake County from 1884 to 1889, as selectman of Salt Lake County two years, as a member of the Territorial legislature two terms, acting as president of the legislative council. He has also served as a member of the Territorial Board of Equalization and as chairman of said board for two terms, and as regent of the University of Utah from 1886 to 1888. In 1897 he was appointed by Gov. Heber M. Wells as a member of the commission for the Pioneer Jubilee; he also served 11 years as a member of the Board of Corrections of the Utah Penitentiary, and is now acting as chairman of the Utah State Land Board, under appointment of Gov. George H. Dern. By the foregoing it will be seen that Elias A. Smith has led a most active life and rendered efficient service to both Church and State.

He was raised and received a common school education in Logan, and later attended the Utah Agricultural College at Logan in 1902-1906 and 1909-1910. Still later he graduated from the Ohio State University at Columbia, Ohio, receiving a doctor's degree in veterinary medicine in June, 1912. He again attended the Utah Agricultural College in 1922-1923 and received a B. S. degree from that institution. From his earliest youth Pres. Smith took a lively part in Church affairs and was ordained consecutively to the offices of Deacon, Teacher and Priest. He was ordained an Elder Sept. 12, 1906, by James A. Lieshman and filled a mission to Germany in 1906-1909. He served as second counselor in the Woodruff Stake Y. M. M. I. A. in 1923-1924. In 1910 (July 28), he married Zina V. Crouch in the Logan Temple, which marriage has been blessed with two children, namely, Vivian and Helen Jean. He was ordained a High Priest by John M. Peart Oct. 17, 1926, after which he served as a member of the Woodruff Stake High Council until July 1, 1928, when he was set apart by Apostle Melvin J. Ballard as president of the Woodruff Stake of Zion, succeeding John M. Baxter. Pres. Smith has also been active in secular matters. Thus he worked as foreman of the Experimental Farm at Logan in 1904-1906 and followed the veterinarian profession from 1912-1915; he then entered the cattle business in Idaho in connection with grain farming. On March 21, 1923, he accepted the position of county agricultural agent in Uinta County, Wyo., and located at Evanston. This is his occupation at the present time.

STIMPSON, John, 4th Bishop of the Riverdale Ward, Weber Stake, Weber Co., Utah, was born Oct. 2, 1878, in Riverdale, Weber Co., Utah, the son of William Stimpson and Ann Mary Christensen. He was baptized Oct. 2, 1886, by Richard Dye; ordained a Deacon Feb. 1, 1891, by William Stimpson, a Teacher Jan. 7, 1900, by Wm. Stimpson, an Elder Sept. 3, 1905, by A. A. Bingham, a Seventy March 21, 1920, by Job Pingree, and a High Priest July 15, 1923, by Apostle Joseph F. Smith, jun. Brother Stimpson was raised and educated at Riverdale, and in his boyhood days acted as librarian of the Riverdale Sunday school. After residing a short time at Lewiston, Cache Co., Utah, he married Annie E. Gale June 9, 1901, which marriage has been blessed with eight children, viz., John Vernal, Myrtle G., William Francis, Lewis Elwood, Orville D., Mary Esther, Bertha, and Howard. After returning to Riverdale from Cache Valley, he acted as an officer in the Riverdale Ward Y. M. M. I. A., and also as assistant superintendent of the ward Sunday school. From 1923 to 1930 he acted as a counselor to Bishop Murray K. Jacobs, and is now acting as Bishop of the Riverdale Ward, succeeding Bishop Jacobs. Bishop Stimpson, who is a farmer by occupation, has always taken an active part in Church affairs, and, judging from his experience in the past, he will make a successful presiding officer.

STODDARD, George Eckersley, second president of the Union Stake of Zion in Oregon, was born July 12, 1865, at Wellsville, Cache Co., Utah, the son of John Stoddard and Emma Eckersley. His early schooling was sacrificed in order to contribute to the temporal wants of a large family of brothers and sisters. He spent long hours as a boy working in the early primitive saw mills located in isolated tracts of timber in Utah and Wyoming. In this school he learned the difficult lessons of hard work and perseverance. He was baptized when about eight years old, and taking an active part with his parents in Church activities, he was ordained to the Priesthood in his early youth. He married Ellen S. Izatt, July 19, 1888, which union was blessed with ten children, namely, G. Earl, Elmer I, David I, A. Lester, John I, Jeanette, Howard J, Waldo I, and Robert L.

Bro. Stoddard moved to Oregon in 1889, locating in the La Grande Ward, where he was ordained a High Priest and Bishop and set apart to preside over the La Grande Ward in March, 1902. He held this position until December, 1907, and although young in years he soon won the love and confidence of his people.

In 1912, in company with his wife and daughter Jeanette, Bro. Stoddard made a trip to Europe where two of his sons (Earl and Elmer) were laboring as missionaries.

In September, 1914, Bro. Stoddard was chosen as president of the Union Stake, succeeding Franklin S. Bramwell in that position. Making a success of his presidency, both as a Bishop and a stake president, he became very popular with his people and the Union Stake of Zion prospered under his administration. Also in a secular capacity Pres. Stoddard became successful and ranked as one of the leading business men in eastern Oregon. Thus he acted as manager of the sugar factory at La Grande from 1899 until 1907. He also acted as manager of the Stoddard Bros. Lumber Co., which did an immense amount of business in that part of the country. Previous to this he had been associated with David Eccles and Charles W. Nibley and others in building a sugar factory at La Grande and together with Bro. Nibley he purchased the Grande Ronde Lumber Company at Perry, which was the beginning of his long lumber career. While acting as Bishop a beautiful stake tabernacle was built at La Grande under his direction. Pres. Stoddard died while still in his active manhood, Feb. 27, 1917, in California, following an operation. Charles W. Nibley, one of the speakers at his funeral, remarked: "I never had a friend to whom I was more closely attached. We shared each other's confidences and many an hour have we spent discussing not only business matters but religious and social matters, which were very near to our hearts. In all of my association with George I never found a single thought or idea, nor knew of a single action of his life that did not ring true. He was always candid and fair. His judgment I regarded as most sound. He was dependable and loyal to the core, always a hard worker, indeed I often chided him for working too hard and advised him to give more attention to his rest and leisure. I loved him with all my heart and soul, for he was one of the most lovable men I ever knew. It would hardly be fair for me to close without calling attention to the fact that he was very much blessed in securing a wife who helped him in so many ways. He appreciated this himself and we often spoke of it. The family of children that he has left behind testify to the kind of man he was."

In the demise of Pres. Stoddard the Church lost one of its most faithful and devoted presiding officers and the community at large one of its most able and successful business men and enterprising citizens, who possessed the love and unstinted confidence of all his associates in life.

SUMMERHAYS, Joseph William, a prominent member of the Deseret Sunday School Union, was born Jan. 15, 1847, at Pimlico, Middlesex, England, the son of Caleb Summerhays and Margaret Moore. His parents joined the L. D. S. Church when he was one year and 11 months old and became members of the Westminster, Chelsea and Wandsworth branches of the London Conference successively. In 1866, he emigrated to Utah, crossing the Atlantic Ocean in the sailing vessel "Caroline" which sailed from London May 5, 1866, with 389 Saints under the leadership of Samuel H. Hill. The voyage lasted about five weeks, as the ship did not arrive at New York until June 11th. Thence the company continued the journey by railroad and steamboat to Wyoming, a village situated on the Missouri River, seven miles north of Nebraska City. The emigrants made this trip from New York principally in box cars. For crossing the plains Bro. Summerhays hired out as a teamster to Capt. Andrew H. Scott, who then acted as Bishop of the Provo 2nd Ward, and drove a team consisting of three yoke of steers and an iron axle wagon. Capt. Scott's train left the Missouri River August 1, 1866, and arrived in Salt Lake City, Oct. 8, 1866. Several severe snow storms were encountered on the latter part of the journey, in one of which a number of cattle perished; nearly thirty of the emigrants died on the journey across the plains. On his arrival in Provo, Bro. Summerhays delivered his team to the owner and spent his first winter in Utah (1866-1867) in Provo. Later he resided in Pleasant Grove, but finally made his permanent home in Salt Lake City. In 1868-1869 he assisted in the construction of the Union Pacific Railroad through Weber Canyon and afterwards became an employee of William Jennings in Salt Lake City. Bro. Summerhays was ordained an Elder on June 27, 1870, and on the same day he married Mary M. Parker in the Endowment House. Subsequently he married three other wives, namely, Mary C. Bishop, on June 19, 1882, Sarah Berrett, on June 5, 1884, and Hilda Johnson, on Nov.

16, 1888. By these four wives he became the father of 39 children. For several years Bro. Summerhays was associated with the Z. C. M. I. and Hiram B. Clawson in the hide and wool business, and in 1883 went into business for himself. For many years he was dean of the hide and wool business in Utah. He was also associated with the late Bishop Edward Hunter, Robert Morris and Wm. H. Rowe in the tannery business. Later he was one of the promoters of the Granite Paper Mill Company, which for a number of years produced paper in large quantities at the paper mill situated at the mouth of Big Cottonwood Canyon. After the paper mill was burned, he was one of the organizers of the Big Cottonwood Power Company. For many years he was a director of the Deseret News Company and served on the executive committee. At the time of his demise he was president of the J. W. Summerhays and Sons Co., dealers in hides, wool, furs, etc., and also president of the Utah Wool Pulling Company located in Tooele County. Bro. Summerhays was ordained a Seventy March 11, 1876, by John E. Evans and served successively in the council of the 24th and 105th quorums of Seventy, until he was ordained a High Priest. For many years he labored as a home missionary in the Salt Lake Stake and later in the Granite Stake. He was president of the Y. M. M. I. A. in the 16th Ward, Salt Lake City, where he also acted as teacher and secretary in the Sunday school. When the new meeting house was built in the 16th Ward (on Fifth West St.) he served on the building committee. He acted as a special missionary and had charge of the High Priests of the Forest Dale Ward and also served on the Temple and Genealogical committees of the Granite Stake. But perhaps his greatest achievement as a Church worker was in connection with his activities as a member of the Deseret Sunday School

Union Board, and also as a member of the General Board of Religion Classes. Besides the many ecclesiastical offices he held, he served in various secular positions, such as school trustee, tax collector of school funds, chairman of the first town board of Forest Dale, etc. His death occurred June 27, 1929, at the L. D. S. Hospital in Salt Lake City. Besides his 39 children, his descendants up to the time of his demise numbered 46 grandchildren and four great grandchildren, all of whom, so far, have shown loyalty and devotion to the Church, in which their illustrious ancestor trained them in the fear of the Lord. The following is culled from an editorial published in the "Deseret News" at the time of his death: "In the death of Joseph W. Summerhays the "News" loses a long time and highly esteemed associate and friend. For many years prior to 1882 he was associated with this institution in a directorial capacity, besides being interested in the manufacture of printing paper, an industry that the "News" was then promoting and had been fostering through the years. In business affairs he was energetic and capable, independent withal and courageous in pursuing the policy which appeared to deserve the approval of his integrity, promptness and square dealing. Those who came into commercial contact with him were always able to speak of him in high terms. He came to America when a lad of sixteen. In Utah his activity and influence have been felt for good in many directions and the circles in which he has been a leading figure will surely miss him!"

SARGENT, George, a Utah pioneer, was born Feb. 22, 1823, at Dowsdale, Lincolnshire, England, the son of John Sargent and Ann Anger. In 1842 he married Elizabeth Rolett, born July 5, 1823, the daughter of William and Diana Rolett. Having become a convert to the restored gospel, George

Sargent was baptized in September, 1857, and, being ordained an Elder, he labored for some time as a local missionary, during which time his home was always open to the Elders who traveled in the vicinity. In 1862 he emigrated to America, with his wife, crossing the ocean in the ship "Manchester," which sailed from Liverpool May 6, 1862, with a company of 376 emigrating Saints in charge of Elder John D. T. McAllister and arrived in

New York June 12, 1862. Continuing the journey to Florence, Neb., Brother Sargent and wife crossed the plains and mountains in Wm. H. Dame's Church freight train, which arrived in Salt Lake City Oct. 28, 1862, Brother Sargent having acted as a teamster with an ox team en route. At the end of each day's journey, after the evening meal was over, he would frequently take his violin and play some lively jigs and reels, and, although weary with the day's march, many of the travelers, thrilled by the merry strains, would dance and sing and fill the air with their laughter before retiring to rest.

Brother Sargent and his wife resided for a time in East Mill Creek, but by advice of Pres. Brigham Young he moved, in 1863, to Unionville (later called Hoytsville), Summit Co., Utah. Having learned the trade of carpenter and cabinet-maker in England, Brother Sargent soon erected a log cabin and later built a saw mill, the first erected in that part of the country. Brother Sargent established a carpenter shop, where he made furniture and other household necessities for his neighbors. He also surveyed and assisted in constructing the first irrigating canal at Hoytsville, and acted as water master there for a number of years. On June 20, 1868, in the Endowment House, in Salt Lake City, he married Anna Christina Isakson, born Aug. 17, 1833, in Sweden, by whom he had five children, namely, Amanda Elizabeth, born March 13, 1869 (wife of Thomas Snyder) who died Oct. 4, 1897; George William Victor, born May 8, 1870, and died Dec. 11, 1888, unmarried; Christopher Chambers, born March 20, 1872, died June 1, 1906, unmarried; Jemima Vine, born July 2, 1874, (wife of Chauncey Herbert Crittenden), and Anna Edith, born Oct. 23, 1875 (wife of James Elias Trowbridge). His wife Elizabeth Rolett died May 8, 1873; she had no children.

In the spring of 1872, assisted by his wife Anna, Brother Sargent erected the first brick house built in Summit County. There being no wall paper or paint available, Sister Sargent white-washed the interior of her home with a paste made from wood ashes. Assisted by his wife, he also built a log cabin for his brother John Sargent, who, with his family, arrived from England in 1868. Brother Sargent bought considerable land which he farmed, and during the grasshopper plague, by some miracle, his wheat was unharmed. One of his neighbors asserted that this was a blessing given him on account of his generosity, and after the plague he loaned seed to his neighbors, taking in return only bushel for bushel. He was ever generous and kind, and on hand to help any one in need. He was an active, faithful church worker throughout his entire life.

Brother Sargent never lost his love for his violin, and the pleasant evenings spent by his family singing and dancing to his music are still remembered as the happiest times of their lives. He died Sept. 18, 1899, at Hoytsville, respected and beloved by all who knew him.

SARGENT, Anna Christina Isakson, a Utah pioneer, was born Aug. 17, 1833, at Lurup, Christianstad Lan, Sweden, the daughter of Johan Peter Isakson and Andrietta Raasce. She received most of her education at home from her mother, who was a school teacher. She was also taught to spin flax and wool into linen thread and yarn and to weave and knit. Later she became a nurse and practiced this profession in her native land until she came to America.

She was the first of her family to accept the gospel and was baptized May 25, 1862, by Elder Christian Sandberg. On account of opposition on the part of her father, who was very bitter towards the Latter-day Saints, she was compelled to leave home, and on April 28, 1864, emigrated to Zion, crossing the Atlantic in the ship "Monarch of the Sea," in company with 973 emigrating Saints in charge of Patriarch John Smith. Having arrived safely at Wyoming, Nebraska, she crossed the mountains and plains in Captain Isaac A. Canfield's company which arrived in Salt Lake City Oct. 4, 1864. During the journey of nearly a thousand miles she walked the entire distance, wading streams and rivers and enduring all the hardships incident to those times; and being unable to speak English she was very much handicapped. Upon her arrival in Salt Lake City she met Pres. Brigham Young who, placing his hands upon her head, promised her that she should be a mother in Israel, that her children would love, honor and obey her, that she should be prosperous and ride in her own carriage, and that her last days would be her best. All of these predictions were fulfilled. After spending a short time in Salt Lake City she went to Hoytsville, Summit Co., Utah, where she acted in the capacity of a nurse with great success. She also wove carpets, made men's suits and women's dresses from homemade cloth, often that of her own manufacture.

In 1868 (June 20), in the Endowment House in Salt Lake City, she was married to George Sargent by Apostle Wilford Woodruff. She bore her husband five children.

Sister Sargent had a kind and gentle disposition and a personality which led many to seek her advice and counsel. Especially mothers and expectant mothers sought her guidance, and she was never too busy to listen to them and give words of comfort. She was a great lover of flowers and the raising of flowers and vegetables was her hobby and to offer them to her friends was her joy. She died at Hoytsville, Summit County, Utah, Nov. 6, 1904, leaving one son, two daughters and several grandchildren to mourn her loss.

SCHOW, Anchor Carlos, first president of the Lehi Stake of Zion, was born April 13, 1887, at Lehi, Utah Co., Utah, the son of Peter Senius Schow and Harriet Amanda Losee. He was educated in the public schools and the high school of Lehi; was baptized Oct. 14, 1895, by Lawrence Hill at Lehi; ordained a Deacon in 1901, a Teacher Dec. 10, 1902, and an Elder Dec. 4, 1905, by his father. He took an active part in Church affairs from his earliest youth; thus he acted as secretary and counselor in the local Teachers' quorum, secretary in the Lehi 1st Ward Y. M. M. I. A., and counselor and later president of the 5th quorum of Elders in the Alpine Stake. He filled a mission to the Southern States in 1906-1908, laboring in Virginia. After returning home he was ordained a Seventy by Edward Southwick, and served as secretary and afterwards as president in the 68th quorum of Seventy. He also acted as an assistant in the ward Sunday school, president of the ward Y. M. M. I. A., and later superintendent of the Sunday school in the Lehi 1st Ward. On April 18, 1920, he was ordained a High Priest by Apostle James E. Talmage and set apart as second counselor to Society from October 6, 1892, to April 2, 1921, was born June 18, 1849, in Salt Lake City, Utah, the daughter of Alfred Boaz and Melissa Jane Bigler Lambson. Her parents were pioneers of 1847, and on the journey across the plains her father, who was an excellent mechanic, was invaluable to the company in which he traveled. Many nights while crossing the plains

Bishop Whipple. He filled a short term mission to California in 1926-1927, and on July 1, 1928, he was chosen and set apart as president of the Lehi Stake of Zion by Joseph Fielding Smith, jun., the said stake being organized on that day. Brother Schow has also been active in local secular affairs, and acted as secretary of the Lehi Irrigation Company for five years. In 1909, (May 13th) he married Laura Elsie Davis of Lehi in the Salt Lake Temple, which marriage has been blessed with four children, viz.: Eldon Carlos, Iris Margaret, Ila Irene, and Erma Davis.

he was called out to mend broken wagons and make repairs which required all of his attention until early morning, so that the journey could be continued without delay. It was said of him by members of the company that without his assistance the company could not have succeeded in crossing the plains. The mother of Julina is the youngest sister of Bathsheba W. Smith, who for years presided over the Relief Society of the Church. The Lambson home in Salt Lake City, which was finished in 1848, was the first house plastered in Salt Lake City. As lime could not be had, a mixture of clay and sand mingled with hair clipped from the backs of cows and oxen, was used. When the house was torn down after seventy-five years of service, the plaster was still firm on the walls and ceilings. The nails used in the home were all made by Elder Lambson on his own anvil from wagon tires. The lumber he hauled from Red Butte Canyon east of Salt Lake City. He also forged all the mill irons used in the first mills built in Utah, excepting one built by Isaac Chase in which the irons were brought across the plains.

Julina's oldest sister, Melissa Jane, later Mrs. Albert W. Davis, was born in a dugout at Winter Quarters shortly before her parents began crossing the plains. Soon after the birth of the third daughter, Edna, who was born March 3, 1851, Alfred B. Lambson left his little family and filled a mission to the West Indies. When Johnston's Army was approaching Salt Lake City, and the inhabitants of that city moved south, the Lambson family also took up their journey and most of them located temporarily at Nephi. Those were trying days and in her early girlhood, Julina experienced all the vicissitudes of pioneer life, in company with other early residents of Utah. Many were the days when wheat flour could not be obtained, and the Lambson children were forced to eat corn bread dry or home-made molasses or a little grease. From her childhood until the time of her marriage her home was made most of the time with her uncle, President George A. Smith, who was at the time Historian of the Church, and in whose home the records of the Church were kept. It was there that she met Joseph F. Smith, who was at the time employed in the Historian's Office as a clerk. In 1866, May 5th, she was married to Elder Smith, who later was chosen as one of the Apostles and destined to become the President of the Church. This union was blessed with eleven children, namely, Mercy Josephine, Mary Sophronia, Donette, Joseph Fielding, David Asael, George Carlos, Julina Clarissa, Elias Wesley, Emily Jane, Rachel and Edith Elenor. Her husband married other wives and provided for them separate homes as readily as his means would permit. The old Smith home, 333 West 1st North Street, Salt Lake City, was built piecemeal, a room being added at a time. Yet it was one of the very substantial two-story buildings in the city. This was the home of Julina Lambson Smith and her family until Pres. Smith moved her and her unmarried children to the Bee-Hive House about 1903. The wives, although provided with separate homes, always helped each other, and learned to love each other dearly. In times of sickness they assisted each other, and in times of health rejoiced together and worked side by side with their husband. For a number of years Sister Smith acted as a midwife, having graduated and having been commissioned in this practice. She was instrumental, not only in bringing the children of her husband's other wives into the world, but in bringing hundreds of other children, with remarkable success. Her younger sister, Edna, who was also a wife of Pres. Joseph F. Smith, also practiced successfully in this calling. How different were those days! Not only did these sisters attend women in confinement, but acted as nurses a good part of the time for the women on whom they waited, and all for the handsome sum of five, or at most ten dollars.

When the first Retrenchment Society was organized in Salt Lake City, Sister Smith was chosen to act as president of that organization, June 25, 1870, in the 16th Ward, Salt Lake City. Nearly all of the meetings were held in her home. While she was a member of the General Board of Relief Society she started the burial clothes department January 4, 1912, by the request of the board and the First Presidency. She was one of the ordinance workers in the Endowment House, and when the Salt Lake Temple was built she was among those originally called to labor in that building and was duly set apart. This position she held rendering faithful service un-

During the anti-polygamy raids, her husband, then one of the Apostles, was asked to take charge of the records of the Church, for there was great fear that they might fall into the hands of the enemies of the people. While this commission was upon him, he was sent to the Hawaiian Islands, where he had performed his first mission in his early youth, and Sister Julina accompanied him with a baby only one year old, leaving five of her children at home. During their sojourn on the islands, which lasted two long years, Elias Wesley was born. He presided over the Hawaiian Mission, his native land, from 1919 to 1922, having previously filled a mission there. Sister Smith preceded her husband back to Salt Lake City where with her two little children she again took up her labors with her united family. She was a charter member of the Daughters of the Utah Pioneers, and served as a captain of Ten for some time. Besides being the mother of eleven children, she has up to the year 1934, seventy-two grand-children and a large number of great-grandchildren.

The scenes of Sister Julina Smith's life have changed much during the past fifty years. Many homes now shelter those who once lived in the old Smith home. Even now, she says, she can hear the prattle of happy children as they engage in play in her large living room and in the spacious lot upon which the homes were built; the memory of trials, sickness and tribulations, as well as many joys, are also readily recalled. She recalls that when night came on, and the husband and father was home, he went from bed to bed saying good night and tucking in each child for a peaceful night's rest, and how the children gathered in for family prayers. Many and happy are the memories of the old home, still

SNOW, Moroni, Bishop of Provo Fifth Ward, Member of General Board of Y. M. M. I. A., etc., was born May 13, 1858, in Provo, Utah, the son of Apostle Erastus Snow and his wife Artemesia Beman. At the time of his birth his parents had been exiled from their home in Salt Lake City on account of the "move south" due to the approach of the Johnston Army. In 1861 the family moved to St. George,

Utah, where Moroni was reared and educated. He was baptized July 5, 1866, by his father and in 1877 was ordained an Elder; he was ordained a High Priest Dec. 17, 1882, by John D. T. McAllister. At St. George Bro. Snow acted as president of Y. M. M. I. A. and later as a member of the Stake Board of that organization. In 1879 and 1880 he filled a mission to Great Britain, where he assisted in the publication of a new edition of the "Doctrine and Covenants". While on this mission, in company with Pres. Wm. Budge, he visited the Scandinavian Mission, which was opened by his father in 1850; during this visit Elder Andrew Jenson traveled with them and acted as interpreter. After his return from this mission Elder Snow acted as deputy assessor and collector, surveyor of Washington County, superintendent of schools, recorder, justice of the peace and alderman, besides attending to numerous Church duties. In 1886 he and his family moved to Milford, Utah, where he acted as postmaster and had charge of the Railroad Express. Returning to Provo in 1898 he served as Bishop of the 5th Ward from 1902 to 1906 and was for a time a member of the Utah Stake High Council. In 1908 he moved to Salt Lake City, where he became assistant superintendent of the "Improvement Era" and general secretary of the General Board of Y. M. M. I. A. which position he held for about nineteen years. He was one of the organizers of the Consolidated Wagon and Machine Company in Salt Lake City and worked in the office of that company for many years; he also acted as a member of the High Council of the Salt Lake Stake.

In 1882 (Sept. 13th) he married Emma Adelaide Gates in the St. George Temple. She was the daughter of Jacob Gates and Emma Fausberry, born in St. George Aug. 22, 1862. This union was blessed with nine children, namely, Moroni M., Mark A., Washington Irving, Vivian, Erma, Leah, Leslie, Clifford and Jacob G.

Elder Snow died January 18, 1935, in Salt Lake City, survived by his wife, five sons and two daughters.

STIMPSON, Joseph Henry, clerk of the Weber Stake, president of the Japan Mission, etc., was born June 12, 1885, at Riverdale, Weber Co., Utah, the son of William Stimpson and Ann Mary Christensen. He was baptized on his eighth birthday anniversary (June 12, 1893) by his father who also confirmed him a member of the Church on the same day, and ordained him a Deacon June 20, 1897, and an Elder February 7, 1904. After attending the grade schools, he entered the Weber Stake Academy in 1899 and in 1903 graduated from the Normal Course in that institution, but continued another year taking a special course in language, history and mathematics, during which time he was editor-in-chief of the "Acorn," the school publication. During the winters of 1904-1905 and 1905-1906 he taught school in Ogden city. On November 23, 1906, he left his home in response to a call to fill a mission in Japan. He labored in the Kofu Conference and taught English six hours per week at the Kofu Commercial School for three seasons. After returning home in July, 1912, he was employed in the clothing department of W. S. Wright and Sons Company of Ogden. During this time he acted as ward clerk of the Riverdale Ward; previously he had been very active in Sunday School work, serving as superintendent of the Riverdale Ward Sunday school for some time.

On Oct. 21, 1914, he married Mary Emeline Allen, daughter of William Allen and Polly Child (born at Riverdale, Utah, March 11, 1894), who four months later accompanied him to Japan.

On Oct. 27, 1914, Elder Stimpson was ordained a High Priest by Pres.

Lewis W. Shurtliff and set apart as an alternate member of the Weber Stake High Council, but was later released being again called on a mission to Japan. On Feb. 15, 1915, he was set apart by Pres. Joseph F. Smith to succeed Elder R. Grant Ivins as president of the Japan Mission. While on this mission three children were born to Bro. Stimpson and his wife, namely, Joseph Allen (b. Aug. 13, 1915), William Eldon (b. Nov. 6, 1917) and Inex Ei (b. June 11, 1919). While Bro. Stimpson was presiding over this mission Apostle David O. McKay and Elder Hugh J. Cannon visited Japan on their trip around the world. Returning home in 1921, Elder Stimpson acted as a member of the superintendency of the Riverdale Sunday school until June, 1922, when the Weber Stake was divided and Elder Stimpson appointed clerk of the Weber Stake.

Bro. Stimpson's wife, Sister Mary E. Allen Stimpson, is also an active Church worker, having served as assistant secretary and teacher in Sunday school, teacher in Relief Society, ward organist, etc, and is at present a member of the Weber Stake Primary Board. After her return from Japan three more children were born, namely, Mary Ai (b. June 21, 1921), and Edward and Ellen (who both died in infancy). Bro. Stimpson is employed as bookkeeper for the Consultor Cigar Company of Ogden, a position which he has held for twelve years.

TAYLOR, John Harris, one of the first seven presidents of Seventies and a member of the general board of Y. M. M. I. A., was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, June 28, 1875, the son of Thomas E. Taylor and Emma Louise Harris. He was baptized when eight years of age in the old Endowment House in Salt Lake City, and being active in the Church from his boyhood days, John H. was ordained to the offices of Deacon Dec. 9, 1889; Teacher Sept. 29, 1893, and Priest July 6, 1894. On

Jan. 5, 1896, he was ordained to the office of an Elder by Edward Wm. Davis. He was ordained a Seventy Jan. 24, 1896, by Apostle Heber J. Grant, and during the two following years filled a mission to England, during which time he labored as a traveling Elder and later as secretary of the Nottingham Conference. After his return from this mission he attended the Chicago College of Dental Surgery at Chicago, Ill., from which institution he graduated in 1901, after which he practiced his profession in Salt Lake City. In 1907-1909, he filled a mission to Holland and presided over the Belgian Conference of the Netherlands Mission for a year and a half.

While residing in the 14th Ward, Salt Lake City, Bro. Taylor acted as president of a Deacons' quorum and assistant superintendent, and later as superintendent of the Sunday school. In 1900 he located in Forest Dale, where he acted as assistant superintendent of the Sunday school and as president of the 105th Quorum of Seventy. On Sept. 20, 1911, he was sustained a member of the general board of Y. M. M. I. A. and called to take charge of athletic work for that organization throughout the Church. Later, he was sustained as scout commissioner and appointed special scout commissioner for the Church, representing the national organization of the Boy Scouts of America.

In 1923, Dr. Taylor was called to preside over the Northern States Mission, with headquarters at Chicago, Illinois, and upon being released from that position in 1928, he and his wife were called to take charge of the Missionary Home in Salt Lake City, where missionaries receive training from one to two weeks, preparatory to leaving on their missions.

In 1900 (Sept. 20th) Bro. Taylor married Susan Rachel Grant (daughter of Heber J. Grant and Lucy Stringham), born Aug. 30, 1878. This marriage, which took place in the Salt Lake Temple, has been blessed with two children, namely, Lucy and Heber Grant Taylor.

Dr. Taylor has a pleasing personality and is eminently fitted for the position he now holds; he wields a great influence for good over the young people with whom he comes in contact in the mission home, in which work he is ably assisted by his wife.

In the General Conference of the Church held in 1933, he was sustained as one of the seven presidents of Seventy. He was set apart to that position by President Heber J. Grant.

TAYLOR, Moses Whittaker, president of Summit Stake, was born March 9, 1862, in Salt Lake City, Utah, the son of Pres. John Taylor and Sophia Whittaker. He was baptized Aug. 2, 1877, received a good education, was ordained to the different grades of the Holy Priesthood and was an active member of the Church from his earliest youth. He was ordained an Elder by George M. Cannon, Nov. 9, 1885, a Seventy by George G. Bywater, March 8, 1886, a High Priest by Reed Smoot, May 6, 1901. For some time he acted as a president in the 3rd Quorum of Seventy and filled a mission to the Southern States in 1890-93. In 1885 (Nov. 11th) he married Sarah Stewart

Campbell. This union was blessed with eleven children, namely, Moses Campbell, Elliott Campbell, Erminie Campbell, Earl Campbell, Bayard Campbell, Heber Campbell, Spencer Campbell, Miriam Campbell, Aaron Campbell, Afton Campbell and Jean Campbell. His children were all married in the Temple and have family groups of their own.

In 1901 he was called to preside over the Summit Stake of Zion, succeeding the late William W. Cluff in that position. During his administration he worked faithfully to improve conditions in the Summit Stake of Zion and introduced several industries which tended to promote the welfare of the Saints in that section of country. His health failing, he received an honorable release in 1921, and died in Salt Lake City, Jan. 13, 1922. (For further details see Jenson's Biographical Manuscripts.)

TINGEY, Joseph Stafford, Bishop of the Farmer's Ward, Salt Lake Co., Utah, was born July 16, 1857, in Salt Lake City, Utah, the son of Bishop John Tingey and Phebe Stafford. He was baptized Oct. 3, 1867, by Thomas Higgs and took an active part in the Sunday school, Y. M. M. I. A. and other organizations in the 17th Ward. He was ordained an Elder Oct. 21, 1876, by Peter O. Hansen and filled a mission to Great Britain in 1880, laboring first as a traveling Elder in the Newcastle and Durham conferences and subsequently in the Birmingham Conference. While laboring as a missionary in Great Britain his health was greatly impaired, and for a number of years afterwards he suffered more or less from ill health.

While laboring in the Birmingham Conference he assisted in the burial of Elder Wm. H. Butler of Weber County, Utah, who in the winter of 1881-1882 was stricken with disease. Elder Butler was the third missionary from Utah to be buried in the same grave, the other two being James H. Flanigan who died in 1857 and Caleb Parry who died in 1863. During his labors as a missionary Elder Tingey witnessed many remarkable manifestations of the power of God, in conversions, gift of tongues, interpretation of tongues, prophecy and healing of the sick. While in England he also visited many parts of that country in successful genealogical research, and also visited France.

the Y. M. M. I. A. of the Salt Lake Stake and in the 17th Ward Sunday school he acted as librarian, teacher of the theological department, and later when he changed his residence to Farmers Ward he acted as Sunday school superintendent. He was ordained a Seventy Oct. 28, 1885, by George G. Bywater and acted as a president of the 137th Quorum of Seventy from 1891 to 1909. After being ordained a High Priest Feb. 28, 1909, by Edwin Bennion, he acted as first counselor in the bishopric of the Farmers Ward until Feb. 25, 1914, when he was ordained a Bishop by Apostle Francis M. Lyman, after which he presided over the Farmers Ward until his death which occurred July 25, 1923.

Besides his numerous ecclesiastical positions, Bishop Tingey held a number of civil offices, among which may be mentioned his position as trustee of the 40th school district in Salt Lake County. He was a printer by trade and was for many years foreman of the Deseret News Job Printing Department. From his earliest youth he was a diligent and faithful Church worker and often exerted himself almost beyond his physical powers.

In 1884 (Sept. 30th), he married Martha J. Horne, daughter of Joseph and M. Isabella Horne, who for many years was general president of the Young Ladies Mutual Improvement Associations in the Church. This marriage was blessed with seven children, namely, Joseph S., jun., William H., Clara H., and Clarence H. (twins), Weiler H. and Stafford H. (twins who died in infancy), and Rulon H. His son Clarence H. has presided over the Australian Mission since 1927.

TINGEY, Martha Jane Horne, general president of the Young Ladies Mutual Improvement Association of the Church from 1905 to 1929, was born Oct. 15, 1857, in Salt Lake City, Utah, the daughter of Joseph Horne and Mary Isabella Hales. She received her education in private schools and in the Deseret University, now the University of Utah. Sister Martha was baptized by her father when eight years old and has since her earliest youth been a diligent Church worker, a teacher in the Sunday school and an officer in the Primary Association and Y. L. M. I. A. For several years she acted as counselor

the National Council of Women, Pres. Tingey made several trips to Washington, D. C., Seattle (Washington), Chicago (Illinois), New York, California and other states, representing the Y. L. M. I. A. at the National Council of Women on several occasions. On Sept. 30, 1884, she was married to Joseph S. Tingey and became the mother of seven children, five of whom are still living.

Sister Tingey is gifted in music and has natural elocutionary powers, and being possessed of a rare memory, while still quite young, she was in constant demand for public and private entertainments. Although giving much of her time and attention to her Church duties, Sister Tingey has always been a devoted wife and mother. (See also "Young Woman's Journal," Vol. 2, pp. 307-311.)

in the 14th Ward Y. L. M. I. A., and in 1880 was chosen as second counselor to Sister Elmina S. Taylor, general president of the Y. L. M. I. A. in the whole Church. In April, 1905, Sister Tingey succeeded Sister Taylor as general president of the Y. L. M. I. A., which position she held until April, 1929, when, at her own request, she was honorably released on account of ill health. Sister Tingey was a successful presiding officer, and during the many years she stood at the head of all the young ladies of the Church, she made a remarkable record for diligence and faithful discharge of duty. Her counselors were Ruth M. Fox and May Taylor Nystrom. Sister Nystrom was released due to her removal from the city, and Sister Lucy Grant Cannon succeeded her as second counselor. After the Y. L. M. I. A. of the Church became affiliated with TOONE, Claudius Conrad, Bishop of the Croyden Ward, Morgan Stake, Morgan Co., Utah, was born Dec. 25, 1902, at Croyden, the son of John Wilford Toone and Harriet B. Grover. He was baptized June 17, 1911, by Wm. H. Toone, was raised in Croyden and there received a common school education; later he graduated from the High School at Morgan. He was ordained a Deacon, Teacher and Priest successively; ordained an Elder April 22, 1923, by Bishop James Melvin Toone, filled a mission to the Southern States in 1924-1926, laboring in South Carolina. Before going on this mission he had acted in the Sunday school superintendency of the Croyden Ward, and on June 17, 1926, he was chosen as Bishop of the Croyden Ward. He was ordained a High Priest and Bishop Sept. 26, 1926, by Patriarch Hyrum G. Smith. In 1927 (March 9), he married Hazel Carlson Child of Clinton, Utah, in the Salt Lake Temple. Their children are Keith Wilford, born April 17, 1928, and Velma, born July 6, 1930. Bishop Toone is a farmer and rancher by avocation.

TOONE, George Ernest, 2nd Bishop of the Starline Ward, Lethbridge Stake, Alberta, Canada, was born March 28, 1881, in Croydon, Morgan Co., Utah, the son of William H. Toone and Hannah Webb. He was baptized June 8, 1889, by Thomas R. Condie at Croyden; ordained successively to the offices of Deacon, Teacher and Elder, the latter ordination taking place Feb. 2, 1903. He filled a mission to the Northern States from 1903-1905, laboring in southern Illinois. In 1906 (June 27), he married Elizabeth Grace Mulholland in the Salt Lake Temple. The children by this marriage are the following: Jean Elizabeth and Grace Ernestine (twins), Hannah Ellen, William Ernest, James Edward and David Adam (twins), Henri Alvin, Reed Avard, Leo Eugene, and Pauline Alida. After returning from his mission he moved from Croyden and resided temporarily in Salt Lake City, but moved to Canada in 1908, and located in the Starline Ward, where he acted as the first ward superintendent of the Sunday school from 1909 to 1912. He was ordained a High Priest Feb. 14, 1912, and a Bishop Aug. 18, 1912 by Apostle Orson F. Whitney. Under his able administration the Starline Ward prospered, and Brother Toone became known as a successful presiding officer, laboring faithfully and true for his Church and his people until he was honorably released in 1929 and chosen as a member of the Lethbridge Stake High Council, which position he still occupies. Brother Toone was raised and schooled in Croyden and later studied at the L. D. S. University in Salt Lake City. He has filled many responsible positions in the communities in which he has resided, and served as school trustee in the Starline district for many years. He is a farmer by occupation and is the owner of two sections of some of the best wheat land in the province of Alberta.

12, 1882, in Skouby, Aarhus Amt, Denmark, the daughter of Ole Anderson and Minnie Nielsen. She emigrated to Utah in 1884, together with her parents and a brother six months old, and settled in Pleasant Grove, Utah Co. In 1895-1897 her father filled a mission to Denmark, leaving a wife and eight small children. On his return Annie, at the age of 14 years, went to Salt Lake City to do house work, and there she has spent the greater part of her life. She was always anxious to obtain an education and so worked for her schooling through the eight grades, and about three years at the University of Utah. In 1905 she was married to Frank V. Van Cott, a son of John Van Cott, by whom she became the mother of six children. While Sister Van Cott has spent a great deal of her time endeavoring to raise her children in the fear of the Lord, she has also tried to do outside work. Always having a desire to study and progress, she has taken advantage of every opportunity to do so. The Lord has said, "The Glory of God is Intelligence" and "seek learning by study." This has been Sister Van Cott's guide. When she married she had not finished her high school, so after she had had her children, she began to take some university work, first by correspondence and later attended the classes. During the years of 1925 to 1927 she worked out eight hours a day to support her son Frank who was filling a mission in Denmark. She wanted to keep pace with her children in their school work and so continued her studies at the University. In June, 1930, she succeeded in getting her B. A. degree along with her daughter, Helen. She believes that this was the first time in the history of education in Utah that a mother and daughter received their degrees at the same time from a state university. The next year, while Helen was teaching, Sister Van Cott continued at the University and in June, 1931, obtained her master's degree in history. Sister Van Cott has also been a diligent Church worker. From 1903 to 1905 she was a Sunday school and Mutual teacher in the 11th Ward. In 1906 she moved to the 33rd Ward, where she has since resided. She immediately became a teacher in the Primary class, serving four years. Altogether she has spent ten years as a Sunday school teacher, nine years as a teacher and counselor in the Mutuals, four years as principal of religion classes, six years as theological teacher in the Relief Society, two years as secretary of the teacher training class, and three years as a ward missionary. From 1905 to the present time she has been much engaged in Temple and genealogical work and has had Temple work done for over 4,000 names of the Van Cott family. She is now engaged in writing a Van Cott history and genealogy. On Jan. 20, 1925, she was set apart as a member of the ward genealogical committee, having charge of the junior Temple excursions in the ward, and in September, 1928, she was made secretary of the committee, which position she still holds. In the summer of 1927 she went on a trip to Scandinavia with her mother who was going on a mission. Her father and son, Frank, were there on missions. She returned home with her son. "To be happy be busy," is her motto.

WALTON, James, 3rd Bishop of the Tremonton Ward, Bear River Stake, Box Elder Co., Utah, was born Nov. 1, 1888, at Porterville, Morgan Co., Utah, the son of Charles Alonzo Walton and Louisa Ann Buchanan. He was baptized Aug. 29, 1897, by William E. Chappell, ordained a Deacon March 27, 1901, by his father, ordained a Priest March 4, 1906, by Edward H. Rhead, ordained an Elder March 15, 1909, by William Z. Terry, ordained a Seventy Jan. 31, 1915, by George F. Richards, and ordained a High Priest Feb. 12, 1928, by Arthur R. Capener. While residing in Summit County, Utah, he acted as second counselor in the Stake Y. M. M. I. A. presidency. In 1910-1912 he filled a mission to the Northern States, laboring in the North Indiana, Chicago, and the Northern Illinois conferences, acting as president of the latter conference several months. After returning home he acted as assistant stake superintendent of Sunday schools in the Summit Stake. In 1914 (April 2), he married Effie E. Carruth in the Salt Lake Temple; was appointed branch manager of the Consolidated Wagon and Machine Co. May 1, 1914; from May 3, 1917, to May 3, 1919, he served in the U. S. Army in the 362nd Infantry of the 91st division; participated in the battles in St. Mihiel and Muese Argonne offensive. He located in Tremonton in May, 1919, and from Oct. 10, 1919, to October, 1922, he acted as president of the Tremonton Ward Y. M. M. I. A. From 1923 to 1925 he served on the Stake Y. M. M. I. A. Board as first assistant superintendent. After moving to Garland in August, 1922, he acted as assistant Sunday school superintendent in the Garland Ward. On Nov. 20, 1927, he was chosen as a High Councilor in the Bear River Stake, and appointed Bishop of Tremonton Ward Dec. 11, 1927; he was ordained a Bishop by Apostle George F. Richards Nov. 11, 1928. On Oct. 30, 1928, he purchased the Leader Publishing Company at Tremonton, since which time he has been editor of "Bear River Valley Leader." His first wife died May 27, 1927, after bearing him one child, namely, James Carruth. Bishop Walton has filled many important positions of a secular nature; he has acted as mayor of Tremonton since Dec. 11, 1927, acted as president of the Tremonton Commercial Club from 1924 to 1925, and has filled numerous other secular positions of honor and responsibility, being throughout a man of affairs. Aug. 9, 1929, Bishop Walton married Isabella Pack in the Logan Temple.

WARNICK, Wilford Woodbury, first president of the Timpanogos Stake, Utah Co., Utah, was born April 23, 1880, at Pleasant Grove, Utah, the son of Carl Peter Warnick and Christine Marie Larsen. He was raised in Pleasant Grove where he was baptized Sept. 9, 1888, and where he attended the public schools and later studied at the University of Utah and still later at the B. Y. University at Provo. He was ordained successively to the offices of Deacon, Priest (Nov. 28, 1898, by Millen D. Atwood), Elder (September 9, 1901, by Millen D. Atwood) and Seventy (May 14, 1905, by Fred Thorne). Bro. Warnick labored as ward clerk in the Manila Ward for 20 years and also as an officer in the Y. M. M. I. A., Sunday School, and Religion Class, as a counselor in the Elder's quorum in Pleasant Grove and as president of the 44th Quorum of Seventy. He filled two short missions as a home missionary and was a member of the Utah Stake Y. M. M. I. A. Board for twenty years, part of the time as the president. On August 31 1924, he was ordained a High Priest and Bishop by Apostle James E. Talmage and set apart to preside over the Manila Ward, which position he held until July 1, 1928, when he was set apart by Apostle Joseph Fielding Smith to preside over the Timpanogos Stake, then organized. In 1903 (June 17th) he married Jeanette Isabella Wadley in the Salt Lake Temple, which union has been blessed with seven children, namely, Jeanette, Ethel Myrle, Paul Wilford (dead), Effie Mary, Charles William, Helen and Stephen Lee. President Warnick has held many positions of responsibility in a civil capacity and served in the senate of the Utah Legislature in 1923 and 1925. He taught school for five years, but is otherwise a farmer and stock raiser by avocation.

WEED, Charles Leonard, 5th Bishop of the 26th Ward, Salt Lake City, Utah, (Pioneer Stake), was born Sept. 1, 1867, at Vestra Ryd parish, Upsala lan, Sweden, the son of Erick Wilhelm Weed and Johanna Susanna Flink. Having a desire to try his fortune in the new world, he emigrated to America in 1887 in advance of the rest of his father's family, and after stopping a short time in New York City and after the family had also arrived in America, they moved into the country and resided successively in Delaware and Otsego counties, New York While residing at Franklin, Delaware County, "Mormonism" found the family and here young Charles was baptized April 5, 1903, by Thomas Richardson, an Elder from Zion. Soon afterwards he was ordained a Priest, and at a conference held in Albany the same year he was ordained an Elder by John G. McQuarrie, president of the Eastern States Mission. For a short time he assisted the Elders in holding street meetings and otherwise, and then emigrated to Utah, arriving in Salt Lake City in October, 1903. His first home in Utah was in the 16th Ward, from which he filled a mission to the Eastern States in 1908-1910 and presided a part of the time over the New York Conference. After his return from that mission, he was ordained a Seventy by Levi Edgar Young and became a president in the 110th Quorum of Seventy. While residing in the 16th Ward, he acted as assistant superintendent of the Ward Sunday school, and after he had moved into the 26th Ward in 1912, he acted as assistant Sunday school superintendent in that ward and later was superintendent of the ward Sunday school for eight years. He was ordained a High Priest by Elder William McLachlan, president of the Pioneer Stake, April 2, 1916, after which he acted as first counselor to Pres. William Miller of the High Priest's Quorum, and afterwards as president of said quorum in the Pioneer Stake. On March 3, 1926, he was ordained a Bishop by Apostle George Albert Smith and set apart to preside over the 26th Ward (Pioneer Stake), succeeding Kershaw N. White, who had removed to another ward. Before emigrating to Utah, and while living in Otsego County, New York, he married Ella Matilda Erikson, daughter of Erik Erikson and Charlotte Akerlof, a native of Sweden, who bore him four children, namely, Charles Emil, Floyd Leonard, Harold Erikson and Alma Waldo. Before leaving Sweden Bro. Weed learned the trade of a machinist, which vocation he followed most of his life. He was die machinist for the Utah Products Company for five years and later engineer for the Zions Securities Corporation. He died in 1934, in Salt Lake City, Utah.

WILLIAMS, Thomas Allen, fifth Bishop of the 12th Ward, Salt Lake City, Utah, was born Jan. 22, 1861, in Draper, Salt Lake Co. Utah, the son of Thomas V. Williams and Pernecy F. Allen. He was baptized by Edward Snelgrove in March, 1869, and, taking an active part in Church work from his early youth, he was ordained successively to the offices of Deacon, Elder, Seventy and High Priest. He was ordained a Seventy by his father and a High Priest in 1904 by Angus M. Cannon. After serving as 2nd counselor to Bishop Hiram B. Clawson he acted as Bishop of the 12th Ward from 1904 to 1908. Since the amalgamation of the 12th-13th Ward he has acted as a member of the High Council of the Ensign Stake. In 1887-88 he filled a mission to the Southern States, laboring principally in West Virginia, Maryland and Virginia. For many years he presided over all the Deacons in the 12th Ward, under the direction of Bishop Alexander C. Pyper. He was also a diligent and successful Sunday school officer and teacher for nearly forty years. In a secular capacity he served as a member of the Pure Food Bureau and as a member of the Board of the State Industrial School at Ogden, Utah. At present he is a member of the Board of Regents of the University of Utah. Bro. Williams received a good education, and after going through all the grades of the common school, he attended the University of Utah. From 1881 to 1895 he acted as manager of the tinware and glassware department of the Z. C. M. I., and after that was employed as manager of the Utah Stove and Hardware Company until 1895. Still later he was sales agent for several hardware manufacturers. Bro. Williams has traveled considerably through the United States, Canada, Cuba, Hawaii and Alaska. At present he is an active and influential member of the High Council of the Ensign Stake of Zion and is otherwise prominently connected with a number of ecclesiastical and civil activities in the community.

In 1883 (Nov. 22nd) he married Susan, daughter of John R. Winder and Ellen Walter. This union has been

WILSON, George Albert (sen.), 1st Bishop of the Ely Ward, Nevada Stake, White Pine Co., Nevada, was born Feb. 19, 1891, in Logan, Cache Co., Utah, the son of Joseph Ellis Wilson and Lerona A. Martin. He was baptized Sept. 12, 1899, by Samuel G. Spillman, and ordained a Priest March 2, 1908, by his father, who also ordained him an Elder Nov. 22, 1910. Brother Wilson filled a mission to Australia from 1910 to 1912, laboring principally in Adelaide, South Australia. In 1917 (June 12), he married Myrtle Brown in Logan; this union has been blessed with 5 children, namely, George A., jun., Jay, Evelyn, Louise and Mae. Brother Wilson acted as stake superintendent of the Y. M. M. I. A. of the Malad Stake from 1922 to 1925. When the Nevada Stake of Zion was organized Sept. 19, 1926, he was ordained a High Priest and Bishop by Apostle Ruder Clawson and set apart to preside over the Ely Ward, which was organized at that time, the Saints in Ely having previously been organized into a branch of the Church. Brother Wilson acted as Bishop of the Ely Ward until July, 1930, since which he has acted as a member of the Nevada Stake High Council. From his earliest youth Bishop Wilson has been a diligent Church worker and is still taking an active part as a teacher in the Ward Sunday school and in Priesthood classes. While laboring as a missionary in South Australia he paid particular attention to the young members of the Church and acted for some time as president of the Subiaco Mutual Improvement Association. Bishop Wilson is by profession a chiropractor, having practiced that branch of medical science since June, 1918. Dr. Wilson moved with his family to Salt Lake City in September, 1931.

ALLRED, Rodney Chase, second counselor in the presidency of the Lehi Stake of Zion, was born Aug. 2, 1883, at Lehi, Utah County, Utah, the son of James Allred and Kate Jones. He was raised in Lehi and educated in the public schools of that town, and later studied four years in the B. Y. University of Provo, and later graduated from the U. A. C. at Logan. Taking a leading part in Church affairs from his early youth, he was ordained a Deacon, March 10, 1900, by Andrew A. Peterson; ordained a Priest, Jan.

Ralph was born in Syracuse, Utah. Soon after returning from his mission to New Zealand he went to Colorado as agricultural agent for the Federal Government, serving in that capacity in 1917-1920, with headquarters at Glenwood Springs. After returning to Utah he acted as a home missionary in the Alpine Stake, was president of the Lehi Second Ward Y. M. M. I. A., was ordained a Seventy, July 31, 1921, and later became a president of the 127th quorum of Seventy. He was ordained a High Priest, July 1, 1928, by Apostle Stephen L. Richards and set apart as second counselor in the Lehi Stake presidency. Prior to this he taught school in the Nephi High School 1910-1913, and later taught in the Jordan High School, and in 1922-1925 in the North Davis High School. In 1933-1934 he filled a short term mission in the North Western States, laboring principally in the city of Portland.

ANDERSON, Andrew Bjerring, president of High Priests' Quorum of the Lehi Stake, was born in Ephraim,

13, 1902, by Fred. Merrill; ordained an Elder, April 18, 1910, by Fred. Scholes; filled a mission to New Zealand from 1913 to 1915, laboring principally in the Maori Agricultural College in Korongota near Hastings, as teacher and manager of the college farm. On this mission he was accompanied by his wife, Hilda A. Carlson, whom he married Sept. 7, 1910, in the Logan Temple. Two of their children (Venice Moreho and Huitau La Priel) were born in Hastings, New Zealand. Another of their children (Phylis Arlene) was born at Glenwood Springs, Colorado, and Rodney Chase, Jr., and Anna were born in Lehi and John his wife Mary Ann Pedersen (who emigrated to Utah from Denmark in 1862). Young Andrew was baptized Oct. 17, 1875, by Thomas Hawkins, was ordained an Elder in his youth by his father, and ordained a Seventy Nov. 10, 1889, by John Morgan. On July 4, 1898 he was ordained a High Priest by Apostle Abram Owen Woodruff and set apart as first counselor to Bishop John N. Davis of Vernal Ward. In 1907 he moved to Lehi, and from that time until 1920, while continuing his studies, he carried on a successful farming and dairying business. In 1923 he was called to act as an alternate member of the High Council of the Alpine Stake and from 1926 to 1928 served as a member of that council. He also acted as president of the High Priests' Quorum of the Alpine Stake. On July 1, 1928, he was set apart as president of the High Priests' Quorum of the newly organized Lehi Stake of Zion, and in 1931 and 1932 filled a six months' mission to California.

After graduating from the public schools in Lehi in 1884, he attended the Brigham Young Academy at Provo from 1884 to 1886, and from 1886 to 1892 was employed by Thomas R. Cutler in the People's Cooperative Institution there. Continuing his scholastic education, Bro. Anderson was awarded the degree of Bachelor of Pedagogy and also a diploma from the Commercial Department of the B. Y. Academy in 1895, after which he served as principal of the Uintah Stake Academy and during this period of service (or on Dec. 29, 1895) the Church Board of Education conferred upon him the degree of Bachelor of Didactics (D. B.). From 1901 to 1907 he acted as principal of the Beaver Branch of the B. Y. Academy, and during the same period served as president of the Academy Branch of the Beaver Ward. In 1911 he received a diploma of High School grade from the State of Utah and in 1932 was elected a member of the Board of Education of the Alpine School District.

Elder Anderson married Hannah Evans (daughter of Bishop David Evans and Margaret Holm), in the Manti Temple Sept. 12, 1888. This union has been blessed with five children, namely, Vernon Andrew, Leland David, Maesa LaRee, Evans Levere, and Mary Margaret.

In 1908, Bro. Anderson was appointed a member of the Pioneer Monument Committee which erected a handsome monument in honor of the pioneers of Lehi and published a comprehensive history of Lehi. This is only one of the many positions in which he has served his community and the State of Utah in a generous and efficient manner.

ANDERSON, Evans Levere, superintendent of Sunday Schools in the Lehi Stake, was born Sept. 17, 1897, in Vernal, Utah, the son of Andrew B.

Anderson and his wife Hannah Evans. After being blessed by his father, Nov. 7, 1897, he was taught the principles of the gospel and was baptized by his father at Beaver, Utah, Oct. 28, 1905.

The family moved to Lehi, Utah County, where the boy attended school and in due time graduated from the High School there. Commencing to labor in a Church capacity he was ordained a Deacon by his father Oct. 18, 1909, a Teacher by George Schow, Dec. 11, 1911, and an Elder by his father, Oct. 19, 1919; these ordinations all taking place at Lehi. On Nov. 4, 1919, he was ordained a Seventy by Seymour B. Young.

After receiving his endowments in the Salt Lake Temple Oct. 24, 1919, Bro. Anderson was set apart Nov. 4, 1919, for a mission to the Central States, laboring most of the time in the two Kansas Cities and Sedalia, Missouri; he returned from this mission April 1, 1922. On Nov. 19, 1922, he became president of the Y. M. M. I. A. in the Lehi Fifth Ward. Moving to Lehi First Ward he served as 2nd assistant superintendent in the Sunday School from 1926 to 1928. On Aug. 23, 1928, he was ordained a High Priest by Apostle Joseph Fielding Smith and set apart as First Counselor to Bishop Hyrum A. Anderson of the Lehi 1st Ward. From this position he was honorably released March 10, 1935, being called to act as superintendent of Sunday schools in the Lehi Stake.

On June 11, 1925, Bro. Anderson married Liliane Pernoux in the Salt Lake Temple. This marriage has been blessed with three children, namely: Ralph Evans; Blaine P.; and Melvin P.

Elder Anderson is a farmer by avocation and also active in the dairy and poultry business. He served as president of the Lehi Division of the Utah Farm Bureau for several years and also as president of the Utah County Farm Bureau.

ASMUSSEN, Carl Christian, a prominent Elder in the Church was born May 20, 1825, at Kjøge, Sjaelland, Denmark, the son of Carl Paulus Christian Asmussen and Petra Elizabeth Henrietta Johansen. He received his education in Denmark where he served his apprenticeship as a watchmaker. Later he established himself as a watchmaker in Germany and also in Holland. Still later he sought his fortunes in Australia, where he established himself as a successful watchmaker and jeweler, and acquired considerable wealth. Later, while sojourning in England, he became a convert to "Mormonism" and was baptized Sept. 1, 1864, by Elisha H. Groves. In 1866-1868, after being ordained an Elder, he filled a mission to New Zealand. Later he was ordained a Seventy by Joseph Young, and on May 1, 1897, he was ordained a High Priest by Thomas Duce. In 1865 he located in Salt Lake City where he carried on a successful watchmaking and jewelry business on Main Street. He filled a mission to Scandinavia in 1879-1880, during which he presided over the Copenhagen Conference. In 1886, while residing in Salt Lake City, he changed his name from Asmussen to Amussen. Investing in real estate in Logan, Utah, in 1890, he located there with his family where he resided until the time of his death which occurred at Logan Oct. 29, 1902.

Elder Asmussen married three wives

by whom he raised a large family of children. His first wife was Anna Katrina Nielsen, a native of Saeby, Denmark; his second wife was Martha M. Smith, who was married to him Nov. 6, 1884, and his third wife was Barbara M. Smith, whom he married Oct. 4, 1885.

Elder Asmussen was a successful business man, and at the time of his demise was the owner of several business blocks in Logan and considerable property, also, in Salt Lake City. He was a man of few words, but every move he made of a practical nature was carefully considered and planned; hence the success of his life. Ever since he became a convert to the restored gospel, he gave his first allegiance to the Lord, his Church and his people and became known by his liberality and self sacrifice on many occasions. Among those with whom he became well acquainted he gained a reputation as an honest and reliable man who could be trusted under all circumstances to do that which was right. Both at home and abroad he gained many friends and had the confidence and good will of his associates. Most of his children are faithful members of the Church to which he gave his allegiance and among people of his own nationality he was widely known and respected.

BORGESON, Anders (Andrew), an active Elder in the Church, was born June 20, 1832, in Dahlsland, Bralanda socken (parish), Elfsborg lan, Sweden, the son of Borge Pehrson and his wife Maria Jansson. He was one of a family of five children, his brothers and sisters being Joseph, Anna Katrine, Martha Kaisa and Britta Maria. His father died when he was about three years old and his mother passed away about five years later. This caused the family to be scattered among relatives and friends, and his uncle (his mother's brother) took charge of the estate and little Anders lived in his family. During his boyhood days he suffered many hardships, being compelled to herd sheep in the fields until late fall and again in early spring, barefooted. While in the fields in this capacity he often earned a few pennies by opening and closing gates as members of the nobility crossed the estate in carriages. Later, he was employed as a sailor on a cargo ship on Lake Vennern.

In 1857, Anders Borgeson married Maria Olsson. They were both members of the Lutheran Church but becoming converts to the restored gospel they were baptized Aug. 13, 1860, by Sven Rosengren. From the date of his baptism, Bro. Borgeson was a faithful and energetic worker in the Church, first as a local missionary and later as president of the Rastock Branch of the Goteborg Conference in Sweden. Being an ardent missionary he baptized a number of converts, which alarmed the local sectarian ministers, who, in 1862, succeeded in getting him imprisoned for preaching. He served a term of 28 days in the Vennersborg prison on a bread and water diet. Here he was denied the usual privilege of being given regular prison fare every fifth day and the Saints feared for his health—but he was none the worse for his experience. Shortly afterwards he and his wife left Sweden with a company of L. D. S. emigrants bound for Utah. Crossing the North Sea in a steamer they proceeded by rail to Liverpool, England, where they boarded the good ship "B. S. Kimball" for New York, where they arrived June 15, 1863; they crossed the plains and mountains in Capt. John F. Sanders' ox train, which arrived in Salt Lake City, Sept. 5, 1863. Locating for a time in Provo, Utah County, Utah, Bro. Borgeson learned to make molasses. In January, 1864, he and wife moved to Santaquin, also in Utah County, where he secured some farming land, built a house and constructed a ditch over half a mile in length to bring water to his property. He also constructed a road to one of the canyons, in order to procure timber and wood; this canyon is still known as Borgeson Canyon. Bro. Borgeson built and operated the first molasses mill in Santaquin and constructed one of the first handlooms in that locality; he also made adobies and farmed quite successfully.

Being active in the Church, Bro. Borgeson was ordained a Seventy Feb. 27, 1887, by Roger Openshaw and a High Priest, Dec. 11, 1889, by David John. For several years he acted as second counselor in the Scandinavian organization at Santaquin and served in the Black Hawk Indian war. He also acted for a long time as head water-master for the Summit Creek Irrigation Company.

Sister Maria Borgeson died in 1872 and on April 14, 1873, Bro. Borgeson married Nicoline Olsen, a recently arrived convert from Norway, the ceremony being performed in the Endowment House in Salt Lake City. Eleven children were born to them in a home where the principles of the gospel were taught and practiced. Bro. Borgeson died at Santaquin March 21, 1902, loved and respected by all who knew him.

BRINTON, David, 3rd Bishop of Big Cottonwood, Salt Lake County, Utah, was born Dec. 29, 1814, at Dillworth, Delaware Co., Pa., the son of John Brinton and Priscilla Branson. Becoming a convert to "Mormonism" he was baptized by Lorenzo D. Barnes, June 12, 1840, and emigrated to Nauvoo, Ill., where he arrived July 1, 1841. In 1842-43 he was ordained an Elder by Brigham Young and when he afterwards was ordained a Seventy he became identified with the 9th Quorum of Seventy. He married Elizabeth G. Hoops, Feb. 22, 1844, who bore him a son (Robert H.) who was born Nov. 11, 1845, and died Oct. 10, 1846, at Winter Quarters. Here also his wife died Sept. 27, 1846.

In the spring of 1844, Bro. Brinton left Nauvoo on a mission, returning about a year later. In the spring of 1846 he left Nauvoo, together with the rest of his co-religionists as an exile, and the following winter he spent at Winter Quarters on the Missouri river, suffering considerably with the fever and ague. In June, 1847, he removed with his family to Savannah, Mo., he having married Harriet W. Dilworth at Winter Quarters, Jan. 14, 1848. In 1850 he left Savannah for G. S. L. Valley where he arrived Sept. 17, 1850. In December following he accompanied George A. Smith to Southern Utah and became one of the first settlers of Parowan, Iron County. Returning to the north in June, 1851, he bought a farm on Big Cottonwood, but was sent to the Green River country in 1854, where he assisted in the founding of Fort Supply. In 1856 (Nov. 15th) he was ordained a Bishop and set apart to preside over the Big Cottonwood Ward, succeeding Ezekiel Lee. In 1857 he married Mary Hillhouse as a plural wife. (She afterwards apostatized and went to the States). At the general conference of the Church held in April, 1857, he was called on a mission to the United States. Leaving G. S. L. City April 23, 1857, he crossed the plains with handcarts in company with other Elders destined for Europe, Canada and the United States. When he returned to the Valley in 1858 he found that nearly all the Saints had moved south, owing to the approach of the U. S. army under General Johnston. He found his family temporarily located in Lehi, Utah County, in good health, June 22, 1858, but otherwise in a destitute condition. When the Saints returned north from their temporary exodus in the south, Bishop Brinton moved back to his Cottonwood home, where he resumed his duties as Bishop and held that position until 1877, when he was honorably released. He filled a mission to Europe in 1870-1872. By his wife Harriet W. Dilworth, Bishop Brinton had nine children, namely, Caleb Dilworth Brinton, born Nov. 21, 1848, in Savannah, Mo.; David Branson Brinton, born Feb. 23, 1850, in Savannah, Mo.; Joseph Hammond Brinton, born April 8, 1852, in Salt Lake City, Utah; Samuel Brinton, born Dec. 26, 1853, in Big Cottonwood, Utah; William Henry Brinton, born Oct. 19, 1855, in Big Cottonwood, and died Sept. 14, 1857, about two years old; Franklin D. and Harriet D. Brinton, (twins) born Nov. 21, 1857, in Big Cottonwood; Sarah Elizabeth Brinton, born March 8, 1861, in Big Cottonwood; and Eliza Brinton, born March 30, 1863, in Big Cottonwood.

Bishop Brinton married Olive Lewis Oct. 14, 1865, and Hilda Matilda Bredesen, Oct. 19, 1867; the latter bore him 4 children, namely, Hiram B., born April 23, 1870; Margerie, born July 6, 1873; Wm. Rowe, born April 7, 1875; and Robert Neslen, born May 26, 1877, all in Big Cottonwood. He had no children by Olive Lewis or Mary Hillhouse.

CANNON, Martha Hughes, one of the first Utah women to receive the degree of M. D., was born July 1, 1857, at Great Ormes Head, near Llandudno, Wales, the daughter of Peter Hughes and Elizabeth Evans. Her parents becoming converts to the restored gospel through the preaching of L. D. S. missionaries, the family emigrated to

Dr. M. H. Cannon and daughter Gwendolyn.

America in 1858. For two years they remained in New York City, on account of the father's poor health, but were then advised by Apostle Erastus Snow to go on to Florence, Nebraska, whence, in 1860, they crossed the plains and mountains in a covered wagon, the mother walking most of the way, in order that her invalid husband and five little daughters might ride. Annie, the youngest, fifteen months old, died while on the journey and was buried on the roadside, and three days after the family arrived in Great Salt Lake City, the father, Peter Hughes, breathed his last.

children, who, being a carpenter, constructed a home for them, which is still standing near the corner of 9th East and 5th South streets, Salt Lake City, a rare example of sun-dried adobe architecture.

Martha (or Mattie as she was familiarly known) early showed unusual intelligence and strong individuality. At the age of 14 she taught school, at 15 she was a typesetter, and then, for five years, worked as a printer on the "Deseret News" and "Woman's Exponent." Having aspired to become a physician, she carefully saved her money to go East and study medicine. In 1878 she went to Ann Arbor and entered the Medical Department of the University of Michigan, working her way through college by washing dishes and making beds at a student's boarding house. Later, she tutored and did secretarial work to help pay her college expenses. She graduated in 1880 with the degree of M. D., after having taken, in addition to the prescribed courses, optional courses in electrotherapeutics and bacteriology. After her graduation she practiced medicine at Algonac, Mich., her patients coming from both the Canadian and the American side of the St. Clair River. Her first case was the insane wife of a river captain. The young doctor discovered and cured the underlying cause of the malady and the woman recovered her health and reason.

In the fall of 1881 Dr. Cannon went to Philadelphia, where she entered the auxiliary medical department of the University of Pennsylvania, taking special post-graduate training, and she also studied public speaking at the National School of Elocution and Oratory. This was in order that she might follow out her conviction that community health could be improved by popular lectures; she also studied pharmacy at night. In 1882 she graduated from the University of Pennsylvania with the degree of Bachelor of Science and also received a bachelor's degree from the National School of Oratory. She then returned to Utah and as a result of overwork had brain fever. After her recovery she became resident physician of the Deseret Hospital in Salt Lake City, a position which she held for three years.

On Oct. 6, 1884, in Salt Lake City, she became the wife of Angus M. Cannon, president of the Salt Lake Stake of Zion, but was still able to prosecute her medical studies in order to render more efficient service to her people, she being at all times a devoted Latter-day Saint.

In 1885, Dr. Cannon visited the Cotton Exposition at New Orleans and also inspected the training schools for nurses in New York City and Boston with a view of opening similar schools in the far west. In 1886 she visited leading hospitals in France, Switzerland and England, and upon her return to Salt Lake City established the first training school for nurses in Utah. In addition, she gave lectures on obstetrics, a subject of vital interest to pioneer communities, where medical aid was not at all times immediately available.

In 1890, Dr. Cannon took her children and went into voluntary exile in San Francisco, in order that her husband might remain free to prosecute his various enterprises. Returning later to Salt Lake City she established an office on the corner of South Temple and State streets and practiced as a physician for some time with marked success.

Being an ardent advocate of women's rights, Dr. Cannon belonged to the younger group who worked in connection with the noted suffragist leaders, Susan B. Anthony and Anna Shaw, and in behalf of votes for women Dr. Cannon addressed gatherings in Washington, D. C., and at the World's Columbian Exposition in Chicago in the nineties. While in the national capital, by request, she appeared before a Congressional Committee to give a synopsis of the political work done by women in Utah.

In 1896 she was elected to the State senate of Utah, being the first woman in the United States to hold the office of state senator. While holding this position she introduced a number of important bills, which later were incorporated in the government of the state, among them being a bill for the establishment of a State Board of Health, a Pure Food Law, a bill compelling merchants to provide seats for their sales ladies and another bill for the establishment of a hospital ward for the State School for the Deaf, Dumb and Blind. She later became a member of the State Board of Health, the Board of Directors of the Deaf and Dumb Institute and vice-president of the American Congress of Tuberculosis.

During the last 12 years of her life Dr. Cannon resided in Los Angeles, California, where she worked in the Graves' Clinic, in the orthopedic dept. of the general hospital. She was an authority on narcotic addiction, of which subject she had made a special study. She died in Los Angeles, July 10, 1932, aged 75 years; interment took place in Salt Lake City, Utah. She was survived by one son, James H. Cannon, president of the Cannon Electric Development Company of California, and a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Cannon Porter, a writer, widow of the late Roy S. Porter. A younger daughter, Mrs. Gwendolyn Cannon Quick, artist and musician, died in 1928, aged 29 years.

CHILD, George Newport, member of the Deseret Sunday School Union Board, was born Feb. 11, 1867, at Clover, Tooele County, Utah, the son of John Child and Elizabeth de St. Jeor. By the marriage of his parents was brought about the union of two families whose history shows the embodiment of the finest ideals both of the French and the English peoples.

Bro. Child was therefore one of those fortunate persons whose education began as far back as the birth of his grandparents. The Child family moved from Tooele to Utah County when George was six years old. Here he was baptized June 1, 1877, by Jacob Bushman and lived in Lehi until he had reached the age of 40. Here also he received his early training in the Priesthood. Bro. Child passed through all the experiences of pioneer life in

Lehi, and his early education also was of the pioneer order, but he made the most of his opportunity and became a great student. After attending the Brigham Young Academy at Provo, he chose teaching as his life's work, in which he was eminently successful. After years of teaching and supervising schools, during which he rose to the highest teaching and supervising positions in his home county, being county superintendent of schools a number of years, but obtained but meagre monetary remuneration, he entered into banking in which he measured up to every requirement made of him. But the lure of teaching drew him back to the field in which he was happiest and in which he was destined to reach the greatest heights obtainable in his state. In 1910-1911 he was chosen to fill the position of supervisor of grammar grades in the schools of Salt Lake City. In this position he won his way through difficulties. But he not only became skilful in diagnosing the ills and weaknesses of a school, but just as expert in applying the needed remedies, and became a master supervisor of instruction. In 1919 he was appointed by Gov. Bamberger, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, which position he held for one year. In 1920 he was chosen as City Superintendent of schools and filled the same with signal success until the day of his death. The record of George N. Child as superintendent of Salt Lake City schools is the crowning accomplishment of his life.

In a Church capacity Bro. Child was ordained successively to the offices of Priest, Elder and High Priest. To the latter office he was ordained by Heber J. Grant and set apart as Stake President of the Y. M. M. I. A. of Alpine Stake. He moved to Salt Lake City in 1911, and was chosen as a member of the General Sunday School Board of the Church. In 1891 (Sept. 23) he married Florence Willis, who was born July 23, 1871, and died Nov. 29, 1905. Six children blessed this marriage, namely, George P., Junius S., Florence A., Mildred E., Margaret A., and Edith. In 1908 (June 3rd) Bro. Child married Julia Alleman, daughter of Benjamin Alleman and Sariah J. Starr. This union resulted in three children, namely, Julia, John A. and Richard H.

Elder Child received a college education at the B. Y. University at Provo, graduating from the normal department and after that attended the University of Utah and graduated with the degree of A. B.

He died July 9, 1932.

CHRISTENSEN, Olive Derbidge, a former member of the General Board of Relief Society, was born Oct. 10, 1870, in Salt Lake City, Utah, the daughter of Joseph Derbidge and Jane Cook. She was baptized by her father Oct. 10, 1878. In her earliest youth she began taking an active part in the organizations of the Church. She held the position of secretary of the Primary Association of the Nineteenth Ward, and later became president of the same. She was afterwards chosen president of the Y. L. M. I. A. of the same ward, and served on the Stake Sunday School Board. From 1896 to 1911 she served on the General Board of the Primary Association, as assistant secretary and secretary, and while holding these positions she assisted in the editorial department of the "Children's Friend." On May 25, 1911, she was chosen as a member of the General Board of the Relief Society, acting as secretary, holding that position until July 3, 1913, when she was released on account of ill health. She was afterwards a member of the Salt Lake Stake Relief Society Board for a few years. On Dec. 3, 1903, she became the wife of Andrew Hyrum Christensen, the son of Herman J. Christensen and Annie Catharine Poulsen. Her husband was born May 18, 1863, at Gunnison, Utah. He was connected with the Utah Construction Company, being one of the founders of the same. He was vice-president of the company at the time of his demise, Sept. 22, 1931. Two children were born to Brother and Sister Christensen, namely, Andrew Lee, born Oct. 9, 1904, and Allen Derbidge, born May 30, 1907.

COON, Isaac William, second counselor in the presidency of the Oquirrh Stake of Zion, was born Aug. 11, 1869, at Grantsville, Tooele Co., Utah, the son of John Coon and Mary Tabitha York. As an infant, he moved with his parents to Salt Lake City, where the family resided until Isaac was nine years old. The family then removed to Santaquin, Utah County, where they lived two years and then settled permanently in Pleasant Green, Salt Lake Co. With the exception of two years spent in Huntsville, Weber County, Isaac has resided in Pleasant Green ever since. He was baptized by John Cottam when eight years old, and, taking an active part in Church affairs from his early youth, he acted successively as a Deacon, Teacher, and Priest. After being ordained an Elder in January, 1896, by Walter Brown, he acted as second counselor to Thomas Turner, president of an Elders' Quorum in the Salt Lake Stake; later he presided over the 10th Quorum of Elders in the Pioneer Stake until he was ordained a Seventy May 14, 1916, by Seymour B. Young. He acted as president of the 92nd Quorum of Seventy about two years. On Nov. 25, 1919, he was ordained a High Priest and Bishop by Charles W. Penrose and set apart to preside over the Pleasant Green Ward, succeeding Bishop George A. Little. He held that position until June 3, 1923, when he was chosen as a member of the High Council of the Oquirrh Stake, which position he held until Feb. 3, 1929, when he was chosen as second counselor to Harry Edward Sutton, president of the Oquirrh Stake, which position he still occupies. Prior to being chosen as Bishop he acted as assistant superintendent of the Oquirrh Sunday school about three years and later as superintendent of that school for eight years. After that he was chosen as first assistant superintendent of the Pleasant Green Sunday school and later as superintendent of said school, which position he held until he was chosen Bishop of the Pleasant Green Ward. For twenty-four years he was a member of the Social Committee of the Pleasant Green Ward, acting as chairman of said committee ten years.

In 1896 (Jan. 15th) he married Mary Elva Bertoch, daughter of James Bertoch and Ann Cutliff. This marriage was blessed with five children, namely, Elva Marie, Isaac Warren, Vivian Bertoch, Stanley James, and Lillian. His wife died Sept. 5, 1905, and on June 9, 1915, he married Eliza A. Perkins, a widow, who has borne him four children, namely, George William, John Glen, Owen Frederick and Lyle Isabelle. Elder Coon is a man of affairs, who, besides filling so many ecclesiastical positions, has taken an active part in civil affairs and everything pertaining to the welfare of the community in which he has resided.

DUNFORD, Grover Cleveland, 4th Bishop of the Huntington Park Ward, Los Angeles Stake, Calif., was born Oct. 10, 1888, at Bloomington, Bear Lake Co., Idaho, the son of Albert Bailey Dunford, and Mary Nelson. He was baptized Oct. 10, 1896, by George H. Thornick, ordained a Deacon in 1901, ordained an Elder Oct. 20, 1913, by Serge Ballif, served in Huntington Park Ward (California) Sunday School Superintendency for two years, was chosen and ordained a Bishop Jan. 4, 1931, and set apart to preside over the Huntington Park Ward, which position he still occupies. Bishop Dunford, after receiving a common school education, became a student in the Utah Agricultural College, from which he graduated in 1916. In a secular capacity, Bishop Dunford has served as vice-president of the Huntington Park Chamber of Commerce, and as president of the Opportunity School Board from 1930 to 1931. He was also chosen as a member of a committee of three to organize the Huntington Park Welfare Council, served as a director of the Kiwanis Club from 1928 to 1931, director of the Southeast District Y. M. C. A., director of the Southeast Building & Loan Association and also bank director. Prior to coming to California in 1925 he was assistant secretary and purchasing agent of the University of Utah in 1916-1920, and is now the manager and owner of the Inland Fertilizer Company in California. On June 30, 1915, he married Mary Alice Parkinson, who died Feb. 6, 1920. To this union was born one son (Grover Parkinson) Aug. 26, 1925. Bishop Dunford married Hazel Irene Weaver, who had one son, Jack, by a former husband. By his second wife Bishop Dunford has two children, namely, Theodore Weaver and Mary Lou. Bishop Dunford is a man of affairs, and is distinguished for his excellent leadership, both ecclesiastically and secularly.

ELGGREN, Albert John, 10th Bishop of the Second Ward, Liberty Stake, Salt Lake City, Utah, was born June 29, 1876, in Malad, Oneida County,

Idaho, the son of Adolph Frederik Elggren and Johanna C. Samuelson. When two years old he moved with his parents to Salt Lake City and resided first in the 16th Ward. Later he resided in Hooper, Weber County, Utah, where he was raised on a farm, but when his father was called on a mission to Sweden in 1897, the family moved to Salt Lake City, in order to get facilities for the children to get High School and University training. Albert attended the L. D. S. University in Salt Lake City one year, and after that two years in the University of Utah. He was baptized July 1, 1884, by John Cottam and ordained successively to the offices of Teacher and Priest. Being ordained an Elder Sept. 25, 1899, by Edwin F. Parry, he presided over the 4th quorum of Elders in the Salt Lake Stake and later as president of the 2nd quorum of Elders in the Liberty Stake; he also served as an officer in the Y. M. M. I. A., and secretary of the Hooper Ward Sunday School. In July, 1901, he became a resident of the Second Ward in Salt Lake City, having married Vilate Elizabeth Lewis of Richmond, Utah, in the Salt Lake Temple, June 5, 1901. The issue of this marriage are the following children: Albert Lewis, Carl Adolph, Martha, Mary Elnora, John Elmer, Charles Allen, William Harold, Ralph Waldo, Richard Norman, Raymond Wallace and Joseph Earl. Brother Elggren was ordained a High Priest by Bryant S. Hinckley, Jan. 28, 1912, and acted as second counselor to Bishop Heber C. Iverson and later as 2nd counselor to Bishop Henry B. Elder. Still later he acted as 1st counselor to Bishop Elder. On Sept. 25, 1921, he was ordained a Bishop by Apostle Rudger Clawson and set apart to preside over the Second Ward, Salt Lake City, which position he held until 1935, when he was honorably released and chosen as a member of the Liberty Stake High Council, being set apart to that office Oct. 28, 1935.

He was for several years an employee in the office of Dr. John R.

Park, Superintendent of Public Instruction, and later he was employed in E. F. Hanna's Mercantile and Brokerage business. In 1896 he started a mercantile brokerage under the name of Elggren Bros. and Co., of which he was the manager and his brothers Andrew Fred and Lorenzo E. as partners. The firm is still carrying on a successful business in Salt Lake City, with branch offices in Denver, Colorado, and Butte, Montana.

Bishop Elggren is known throughout the country as a successful business man and has been an active member of the Salt Lake Chamber of Commerce for several years. In ecclesiastical positions he has labored with fidelity and marked efficiency.

FELT, Charles Brigham, member of the Deseret Sunday School Union Board, was born Jan. 13, 1860, in Salt

Lake City, Utah, the son of Nathaniel H. and Eliza Ann Preston. Baptized by Albert M. Davis, and ordained consecutively, Deacon, Teacher, Priest, Elder, Seventy and High Priest. Filled a mission to Great Britain 1880 to 1882, serving as clerk of the mission and Emigration Clerk at mission headquarters in Liverpool. Active in

Y. M. M. I. A. as president of the Association for several years in the 17th Ward. Served as a president of the Third Quorum of Seventy. Conducted the 17th Ward Choir.

It was the Sunday School which claimed his life's devotion. In 1892 he was appointed superintendent of the 17th Ward Sunday School and instituted the monthly officers and teachers meeting, class lesson outlines and other innovations in Sunday School work. He was called to the superintendency of the Salt Lake Stake Sunday School Board in 1901, later succeeding Josiah Burrows as superintendent. In 1906 he was made a member of the Deseret Sunday School Union Board, actively serving in this capacity until the time of his death.

In addition to his other Church duties, he served in the Bishopric of Farmers Ward and as a member of the High Council of Granite Stake. At the instance of the Presiding Bishop's office he wrote a manual on "Ward Teaching", published by the Church.

His business career started at the age of 13 as a telegraph messenger boy. Shortly thereafter he joined the Gilmer & Salisbury Company, operating Stage Coach lines in Montana, Idaho and Wyoming, and was connected with the thrilling experiences incident to the opening up of the West. He was cashier of the Bank of Mercur when that mining camp was at its height. In 1903 he was elected city auditor of Salt Lake City, serving during 1904-5. After the dissolution of the Gilmer & Salisbury Company, he became secretary and later manager of the Salisbury Company, operating real estate and mining properties and dealing in mortgage loans, etc. The Felt Building was erected by the Salisbury Company, and named in his honor.

In 1884 (June 4) he married Georgena Spencer, daughter of Daniel

Spencer and Elizabeth Funnell. Nine children were born to them; Elizabeth S., Naomi S., Charles Brent (deceased) Spencer P., Georgina S., Edwin S., Margaret S., Milton S., and Helen S.

Elder Felt was gentle and kind and beloved by all who knew him. He died March 1, 1929.

FETZER, Casper John, 1st Bishop of the Jefferson Ward, Grant Stake, Salt Lake City, Utah, was born Sept. 24, 1879, in Langenfeld, Bavaria, Germany, the son of Peter Fetzer and Anna Seifert. He was baptized Nov. 3, 1899, by J. Percy Goddard, in Munich, Bavaria, and ordained a Deacon before he emigrated to Utah in April, 1905. After locating in the Cannon Ward, Salt Lake City, he was ordained a Teacher, later a Priest, and still later an Elder by Gustaf Koplín. In 1906 (May 21) he married Bertha Butler in the Salt Lake Temple. The children by this marriage are: Percy, Leona, William, Joseph and John. Brother Fetzer acted for several years as president of an Elders Quorum, and also as president of the German meetings in the Pioneer Stake about fourteen years. He was ordained a Seventy and later a High Priest and served as a High Councilor in the Pioneer Stake, also taking an active part in scout work, and in the Y. M. M. I. A. work of the Stake. In 1923 he moved to Farmers Ward, where he built a cabinet fixture factory with an office on Richards Street, Salt Lake City. When the Grant Stake of Zion was organized in July, 1924, he was chosen as a member of the High Council, which position he held until the Jefferson Ward was organized, July 20, 1924, when he was ordained a Bishop by Apostle Rudger Clawson and set apart to preside over that Ward. Brother Fetzer has been active in secular matters and now acts as president of the Salt Lake Cabinet and Fixture Company, which company he founded in 1909. He had learned the trade of cabinet-maker and draftsman in the military High School in Bavaria, and after his arrival in Utah took a business course in the L. D. S. University in Salt Lake City. He worked for five years as draughtsman in the Oregon Short Line engineering department. After the death of his wife March 20, 1929, Bishop Fetzer made a trip to Europe, where he spent five months visiting Bavaria and other parts of Europe. On June 9, 1930, he married Martha Seeberger in the Salt Lake Temple.

FLINT, William, one of the Utah pioneers of 1848, was born Jan. 28, 1814, in Onandagua County, N. Y., became a convert to "Mormonism" in the State of New York through the labors of Orson Hyde and located in Nauvoo, Ill., whence he came west during the exodus and spent two winters at Winter Quarters. In crossing the plains in 1848 he drove a team for Mrs. Mary Fielding Smith, mother of the late Pres. Joseph F. Smith, from Winter Quarters to the Three Crossings of the Sweetwater. From there Bro. Flint was sent back on the road to assist the later companies of that year's Latter-day Saint emigration to the Valley. After his arrival in Salt Lake Valley he married Mary Jane Goodridge in 1850, she having crossed the plains that year in Wilford Woodruff's company. Eight children were the issue of this marriage, namely, Sarah Jane, Valeria Ann, William L., Fedalia (who later married Henry Jacobs) and Harriet, Abel, George and Sophia. William Flint died Sept. 21, 1890, in Parley's Canyon (at the home of his daughter Valeria), near Salt Lake City, Utah. He was a farmer by avocation and died as a faithful Latter-day Saint, being the only one of his father's family who joined the Church.

FOWLER, William, author of the popular Latter-day Saint hymn "We Thank Thee, O God, for a Prophet", was born May 9, 1830, in Australia, the son of John Fowler and Bridget Niel. His father, who served as a soldier in the British Army, was transferred from Australia to India when William was 3½ years old. After five years service in East India, the father, being honorably discharged from military service, took his family to England and located in Sheffield. There his father died, and when William was 15 years old his mother also died. His mother had been a Roman Catholic and his father a Protestant, but they both joined the Wesleyan Church, and when 18 years of age William became seriously interested in religion, and after investigating the doctrines of the Methodists and other sects with unsatisfactory results, he became a convert to "Mormonism," being baptized July 29, 1849, by Elder J. V. Long. Obtaining a strong testimony of the truth of the restored gospel, he was ordained a Priest March 3, 1851, by Elder Long. Being called to labor as a local missionary, he served in that capacity about four years, and was ordained an Elder Jan. 21, 1858, by Isaac Abel. He married Ellen Bradshaw in Sheffield, and three children (Harriet, Henry Ammon and Florence) were the issue of this marriage. Emigrating to America, Bro. Fowler, with his family, crossed the Atlantic in 1863 on the sailing ship "Amazon," and landed in New York, July 25, 1863. Continuing the journey by rail and rivers, they reached Florence, Nebraska; thence they commenced the journey across the plains in Daniel D. McArthur's Company, which arrived in Salt Lake City, Oct. 3, 1863. The family located in Manti, where Bro. Fowler taught school in his own home. He died in Manti in August, 1865, and later the Church erected a monument in the Manti cemetery in his honor as author of the hymn, "We Thank Thee, O God, for a Prophet."

FRANCIS, Maria Banks, a faithful Latter-day Saint and worker in the Relief Society, was born Feb. 25, 1838, in London, England, the oldest daughter of William Banks and Maria Lamprell. Her mother, a very accomplished woman, conducted a school for girls and here Sister Francis received an excellent education. Mr. Banks, a buyer for a dry goods firm in London, was a personal friend of Mr. Williams, founder of the Young Men's Christian Association, and some of the first meetings of that organization were held in Mrs. Banks' school rooms and Sister Francis remembered as a child singing for Mr. Williams and his young men.

When 18 years of age, Sister Francis took a voyage with her uncle, Captain Johnson Lamprell, and his wife, on the ship "Castle Howard," intending to visit India and China and return with them. But when the ship arrived in Calcutta, Maria begged to stay with friends there until her uncle should return. The ship, however, was lost in the China Sea and on June 9, 1866, she married Dr. Robert Francis of Allahabad, a native of Newtown, Wales. But her happiness was short-lived, for Dr. Francis died of sunstroke July 14, 1868, leaving her with an infant daughter; another daughter was born six months afterwards. Sister Francis then returned to her parents in London, taking with her the babies and a native "ayer". A year later she and her native maid went back to India, leaving the children with their grandparents. In Allahabad, in connection with another lady, Sister Francis opened a store for ladies' furnishings, in which venture she was very successful. In 1877 she returned to England and engaged in business, with success. She devoted herself to the education of her two daughters, giving them every advantage in her power and sending them to France for two years after they had completed their training in a ladies' college.

In 1892 Sister Francis attended a meeting of the Ethical Society in South Place, London, when Elder James H. Anderson delivered a splendid lecture on "Mormonism". Being much impressed, she sought further light upon the subject and was baptized Feb. 19, 1893, by Bishop T. A. Clawson of Salt Lake City, then president of the London Conference; her daughter Mary was baptized soon afterwards. Sister Francis' parents died, both in one week, in 1893, and her daughter Alice, having embraced the Catholic faith and entered a convent, Sister Francis and her daughter Mary emigrated to Salt Lake City, Utah, in 1894, and later in the same year the daughter was married to Elder Willard John Kelly, who, however, died early the next year. Sister Francis then became manager of the Women's Co-op Store from which she retired in 1902. During this time she was an active member of the Utah Women's Press Club, of which she later became president. She also gave illustrated lectures on life in India. After her retirement from business she devoted herself to Church work and made two converts while acting as a Relief Society teacher. Being a brilliant pianist she played for the radio when she was 86 years of age. She died in Salt Lake City, May 15, 1925, being survived by her two daughters and a grandson, John Kelly Pye. Her widowed daughter had, in 1907 become the wife of Elder Caleb E. Pye, of Salt Lake City, the younger remained in the convent in France.

GOATES, Herman Calvin, Clerk of the Lehi Stake of Zion, was born

March 18, 1894, at Lehi, Utah, the son of Joseph W. Goates and Emma Jane Losee.

Being instructed by his parents in the principles of the gospel, the boy was baptized June 17, 1902, by Lot A. Russon. After being ordained a Deacon March 12, 1904, a Teacher Dec. 13, 1907, and a Priest Dec. 11, 1911, he was ordained an Elder Feb. 22, 1914, by Joseph W. Goates. On Nov. 11, 1919, he was ordained a Seventy by J. Golden Kimball and set apart the same day as a missionary to the Northern States. On this mission he served during the first sixteen months as clerk of the Minnesota Conference and later as president of the South Indiana Conference. He returned from his mission in February, 1922, and continued his activities in the Church. Thus he acted in the superintendency of the Sunday school of the Lehi First Ward from 1922 to 1923, when he was called to be a member of the Sunday School board of the Alpine Stake. He had previously taught in Sunday schools for several years. In his youth he served as counselor in a Deacon's quorum from 1907 to 1909, as secretary of an Elders' Quorum from 1915 to 1917, and as second counselor in the presidency of an Elders' quorum from 1917 to 1919. After returning from his mission Elder Goates acted as a teacher in the ward Elders' quorum, although at the time he was an ordained Seventy. He was also active in M. I. A. work and was the first M Men leader in the Lehi First Ward.

In July, 1924, he was appointed clerk of the Lehi First Ward, in which position he acted until the Lehi Stake was organized July 1, 1928, when he was appointed to act as clerk of the newly organized Stake. On Nov. 11, 1928, he was ordained a High Priest and appointed group leader of the High Priests of the Lehi First Ward.

Elder Goates received his education in the public schools of Lehi, graduating from the Lehi High School in 1913, after which he obtained employment with the Lehi branch of the Utah-Idaho Sugar Company, remaining with this institution until called to serve with the U. S. forces in the World War. From June, 1918, to January, 1919, he was employed in the Aviation Section of the Signal Corps, most of the time in the recruiting service at Vancouver Barracks, Washington.

Bro. Goates entered the poultry industry in 1922, as one of the pioneers of this industry in Lehi, and assisted in establishing the Poultry Cooperative Association in that locality, serving as one of the directors and secretary of the Lehi local branch for several years. In 1934 he was appointed secretary and treasurer of the Lehi Irrigation Company, which office he still holds.

On June 14, 1923, he married Maesa L. Anderson (daughter of Andrew B. Anderson and Hannah Evans) in the Salt Lake Temple. Four children have blessed this union, namely, Calvin A., LeRee, Wayne A., and Morris A.

HARDY, Rufus Kay, one of the first Seven Presidents of Seventy, was born May 28, 1878, in Salt Lake City, the son of Rufus H. Hardy and Annie

Kay. From his childhood he was trained to take an active part in Church affairs and was baptized, June 1, 1886, by John Cottam. Continuing his labors in the Church, he was ordained successively to the offices of Deacon, Teacher and Priest, and was ordained an Elder May 3, 1897, by Elder Joseph Barnes. He was ordained a Seventy July 2, 1897, by Apostle John Henry Smith and set apart for a mission to New Zealand.

Arriving in Auckland, N. Z., August 9, 1897, he was assigned to labor in the Tauranga District and was later transferred to the Waikato District. He returned from this mission Jan. 1, 1901. On May 3, 1906, he was set apart as one of the presidents of the 8th Quorum of Seventy by J. Golden Kimball. On April 2, 1903, he married Addie Eldredge, daughter of Joshua Eldredge and Lizzie Winder, and early in 1907 was called to preside over the New Zealand Mission. To this position he was set apart Feb. 18, 1907, by Pres. Joseph F. Smith; his wife, who accompanied him, was set apart on the same occasion by Pres. John R. Winder. Bro. and Sister Hardy returned from this mission in July, 1909, after which Elder Hardy continued to reside in Salt Lake City, actively engaged in Church work and in a civil capacity holding the position of supervisor of the Inter-mountain District for the Western States Life Insurance Company, being associated with this company for a period of twenty-two years. In 1933, Elder Hardy was a second time called to preside over the New Zealand Mission, being set apart for this position June 20, 1933, by Pres. A. W. Ivins. His wife did not accompany him this time. At a conference held in Salt Lake City, Oct. 6, 1934, Elder Hardy was sustained as one of the First Seven Presidents of Seventy and on that account was released from his labors in the New Zealand Mission and, arriving home Dec. 5, 1934, was set apart to his position in the First Council of Seventy, Feb. 7, 1935, by President Heber J. Grant.

His wife, Sister Addie Eldredge Hardy, formerly a member of the Salt Lake Stake Board of Y. L. M. I. A., is now a member of the General Board of Primary Associations. One daughter was born to Bro. and Sister Hardy, namely Kay, now the wife of Alan B. Blood.

President Hardy has a good physique and a pleasing personality. His stand on what he believes to be right is unswerving, but in personal matters he is always willing to sacrifice his own desires for the benefit of others.

HOOPER, John Douglas, 5th Bishop of the Hooper Ward, Weber Stake, Weber County, Utah, was born Nov. 10, 1873, in Hooper, Weber County, Utah, the son of John W. Hooper and Elizabeth Ann Douglas. He was baptized June 1, 1882, by Thomas S. Johnson, and ordained successively to the offices of Deacon and Elder. In his early youth he took an active part in the Hooper Sunday School and Y. M. M. I. A. After being ordained a Seventy April 8, 1895, by Apostle Franklin D. Richards, he filled a mission to Hawaii in 1895-1898. Later he labored as an assistant to Thomas A. Wad-doups among the Hawaiians at Iosepa, Skull Valley, Utah, and in 1915-1918 he filled a mission to England. In 1919 (Dec. 21) he married Ellen Child, daughter of Bishop William W. Child, which marriage has been blessed with five children, namely, John Child, Ruth Child, Irene Child, Afton Child, and Jennie Child. His wife died April 26, 1912, and on Jan. 8, 1919, he married Joanna M. Weaver. There are no children from this marriage. Bishop Hooper is a farmer and salesman by avocation, and besides filling a number of ecclesiastical positions he has acted as deputy sheriff, school trustee, member of the Board of Education, etc., in Weber County, and also as secretary of the Weber River Water Users Association. As a man of affairs Bishop Hooper has made a fine record, both in ecclesiastical and secular circles.

HORSLEY, Thomas Herbert, Bishop of the Soda Springs Ward, Idaho Stake, Idaho, from 1901 to 1917, was born Feb. 22, 1865, in Nephi, Juab County, Utah, the son of Herbert Horsley and Sarah Edgell; moved with his parents to Provo and later to Providence, Cache County; thence to Paris, Idaho, and in 1870 located at Soda Springs, where he was raised, received a common school education and was baptized by Alma Hayes when about 12 years old. He was ordained a Teacher and later an Elder and took an active part in Church affairs generally as he grew to manhood.

On October 20, 1888, he married Louise Dorothy Lau in the Logan Temple. This marriage has been blessed with nine children, namely, Elsie Irene, Zina Edna, Dorothy Louise, Gladys Winefred, Milton Lau, Everett Lee, Grant Elmer, Louise Daphney and Lee Herbert. In Sunday school matters Bro. Horsley has been very active, serving as secretary of the Soda Springs Sunday school for 20 years. He has also acted as president of the local Y. M. M. I. A. He took a Sunday school course in the Provo Academy during the summer of 1894-95. Later he was ordained a High Priest and set apart to act as a member of the High Council in the Bannock Stake, and on April 29, 1901, he was ordained a Bishop by Apostle John W. Taylor and set apart to preside over the Soda Springs Ward, which position he held for 16 years, or until Feb. 25, 1917, when he was honorably released and chosen as a member of the High Council in the Idaho Stake, which position he still (1934) holds.

Bishop Horsley has served in several important and responsible positions of a civil nature. Thus he was a member of the Soda Springs city council for ten years, during which he took an active part in the construction of city water works and in the erection of an electric light plant.

JONES, Willard Larson, president of the Moapa Stake of Zion, was born May 19, 1879, in Washington, Utah, the son of Thomas J. Jones and Johanna C. Larson. He was baptized by his father on his eighth birthday anniversary and in due course he was ordained a Deacon and presided over a quorum; later he acted as a ward teacher and president of the ward Y. M. M. I. A. He grew up on the farm and, being the oldest of his father's six sons, worked with them, farming, riding the range and looking after cattle. When 18 years old, young Willard commenced to work for the White Hills Mining Company as a freighter, driving a six mule team. He continued at this work until he was 20 years old when he was called on a mission. After being ordained an Elder by his father Oct. 21, 1899, he received his blessings in the St. George Temple, Oct. 25, 1899, was ordained a Seventy by Pres. Jos. W. McMurrin and set apart for a mission to the Southwestern States. He labored in the Lone Star Conference, and was first counselor to the president of that conference for a year and a half. Returning from this mission in March, 1902, he took a government contract to carry mail from Moapa to Good-springs, Nevada. This position he held until the completion of the Salt Lake and Los Angeles Railroad in 1905.

Having become a resident of Over-ton, Nevada, Bro. Jones was sustained as 2nd Counselor to Bishop Bunker of that ward Sept. 6, 1906, whom he succeeded as Bishop of the Overton Ward, Sept. 18, 1908, being ordained and set apart to that position by Apostle George Albert Smith.

In 1912, Bro. Jones represented Clark County, Nevada, in the Nevada Legislature, being the first representative of that newly organized county.

At the organization of Moapa Stake, June 9, 1912, Bishop Jones was selected to preside over the new stake, which position he still holds.

On May 24, 1914, he married Lois E. Earl of Bunkerville, in the St. George Temple; this marriage has been blessed with seven children, one son and six daughters. Pres. Jones has been active in a number of important enterprises which have added to the development of southern Nevada.

JUDD, Robert Lund, a member of the Deseret Sunday School Union Board, was born July 6, 1885, at Logan, Utah, the son of Thomas Judd and Mary Lund, both of St. George, Utah. He was baptized at eight years of age by William T. Atkin in the St. George Temple, and ordained a deacon at the age of twelve. On July 8, 1898, his mother died, and he then went to live with his father's first family, where he was very happy. That same year Thomas Judd was called by Pres. Wilford Woodruff to colonize several large ranches the Church had acquired in White River and Steptoe Valleys, White Pine County, Nevada. Robert, with the family, moved to Nevada in the spring of 1899. Three towns known as Lund, Preston and Georgetown, were established on the ranches that had been acquired. During the following years up to the fall of 1903 young Robert received a real training in farming, freighting, cattle-raising and other pioneer activities. In the latter part of the last named year the family moved to LaVerkin, Washington Co., Utah. Having received a rudimentary education, Robert, in the fall of 1904, entered the Agricultural College at Logan, from which institution he graduated in 1909 with the degree of B. S. He studied law at the University of Chicago, graduating with the degree of LLB in 1910. Later that same year he was admitted to the Bar of the State of Utah and began practicing his profession in Salt Lake City. During the time he was attending law school in Chicago he was, in June, 1908, ordained an Elder by Pres. German E. Ellsworth of the Northern States Mission, and during the holiday seasons and one summer did work as a regular missionary in the field. Upon coming to Salt Lake he located in the 12-13th Ward, Ensign Stake, where he was active in the Church organizations, at one time being both superintendent of the Sunday School and president of the Young Men's Mutual. On March 4, 1919, he was set apart as a member of the General Board of the Deseret Sunday School Union. For twenty years he has been associated with Mr. E. M. Bagley in the practice of the law, and for ten years a member of the firm of Bagley, Judd and Ray. In 1920 he was appointed one of the attorneys for the Church. Shortly after the passing of Franklin S. Richards, general counsel for the Church, in August, 1934, Elder Judd was appointed to that office as his successor. At the present time he is a member of the State Bar examining committee and chairman of the committee on arranging for the holding of a term of the Circuit Court of Appeals of the Tenth Circuit in Salt Lake City—annually if possible. He is a member of the Salt Lake City and County Bar, the Utah State Bar and the American Bar Association. On September 22, 1914, Brother Judd married Mary Grant, daughter of Pres. Heber J. Grant and Augusta Winters. This marriage has been blessed with seven children, namely, Thomas G., Augusta G., Marian G., Katherine G., Robert L. Jun., Ruth (who died in infancy) and Pauline G. Brother Judd served as a member of the Utah State Legislature in 1913, and a member of the Board of Trustees of the Utah State Agricultural College from 1920 to 1924. He is a member of the board of directors of the "Deseret News" and of the Deseret Book Company and has held many other positions of trust in the Church and in the community.

Just recently he has been appointed director and vice-chairman of the Metropolitan Water Board of Salt Lake City.

KOOYMAN, Frank Iemke, a counselor in the presidency of the High Priests' quorum in the Salt Lake Stake of Zion, was born Nov. 12, 1880, at Midsland, isle of Terschelling, Netherlands, the son of Daniel Kooyman and Neeke Kooyman—his parents having the same surname. He was the sixth child in a family of nine, three of whom became members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints; attended common and advanced schools in the Netherlands, and L. D. S. Business College in Salt Lake City; was employed in the district court office in Amsterdam from his 17th to his 22nd year; accepted the restored gospel in his nineteenth year, and was baptized April 29, 1899, by Elder Alonzo A. Hinckley. He was called on a mission in his native land in 1902, and filled a full-time mission from July 12, 1902 (when he was ordained an Elder and set apart as a missionary under the hands of Mission President Sylvester Q. Cannon) until Sept. 12, 1905, laboring in Rotterdam, Arnhem, and again in Rotterdam. From April 27, 1903, until the day of his release he was assistant editor of the "Ster", the mission paper. He translated into the Dutch or Netherlands language, a brief history of the Church, by Edward H. Anderson, revised a translation of the Voice of Warning, by Parley P. Pratt, and also translated several L. D. S. hymns.

Elder Kooyman emigrated to Utah in the fall of 1905, locating in Salt Lake City; was employed as book-keeper, first with the Lambert Paper Company, and later with the Anderson-Taylor Company, wholesale grocers. After his emigration, he was a steady contributor to the Netherlands mission paper, as well as to the "Utah-Nederlander," and also defended and explained "Mormonism" in several non-Mormon periodicals and newspapers in Holland, including the "Nieuwe Courant", "Studien," "Eenheid," the "Tempel," and the "Haagsche Post." He wrote numerous "Rympreekjes," or rhyming sermonettes, which ran through several years of the "Ster." On Oct. 16, 1907, Elder Kooyman married Elisabeth Jacoba van der Toom, daughter of Gerrit Peter van der Toom and Johanna Stolp, who bore him seven children: Raymond Vandertoorn, Florence Julia, Lucile May, Hilda Louisa, Ruby Evangeline, Earl Midsland and Harold Stolp.

July 31, 1908, and served as a president in five quorums of Seventy in Salt Lake City successively. He was naturalized in the Third District Court of Salt Lake County, Dec. 18, 1911, the certificate of naturalization being issued Dec. 28, 1911. For four years, from Aug. 6, 1909, to Nov. 7, 1913, he presided over the L. D. S. Hollanders' meetings in Salt Lake City. He was ordained a High Priest under the hands of Elder Joseph Fielding Smith of the Council of the Twelve, and set apart as first counselor to Bishop John Longden of the 19th Ward, Salt Lake Stake of Zion, Oct. 30, 1927. In 1929 he was called to preside over the Netherlands Mission and was set apart for that labor by Pres. Heber J. Grant on Aug. 2 of that year, succeeding Pres. John P. Lillywhite, and landed in Rotterdam, with wife and three children (Ruby, Earl and Harold) Aug. 21, 1929. His sojourn in Holland lasted over four years (Sister Kooyman and the children remaining with him for three years) and left Rotterdam Nov. 22, 1933, having turned the affairs of the mission over to his successor, Thomas Edgar Lyon, and arrived in Salt Lake City Dec. 4, 1933.

He had the responsibility, not only of guiding the Elders' activities, but also of putting into effect the new Church policy of placing the branches and auxiliaries of the mission under the direction of local members. In addition to these labors, he edited, once more, the "Ster", changing its name to "De Ster van Nederland" (The Star of the Netherlands), started the "Peptomist," a monthly missionary paper, made translations of hymns and current Church literature, including "Rational Theology," by Dr. John A. Widtsoe, and contributed to influential non-Mormon papers, such as the "Nieuwe Rotterdamsche Courant," the "Heraut," the "Algemeen Handelsblad" and the "Utrechtsche Nieuwsblad."

Since the summer of 1934, Elder

Kooyman has been employed in the Church Historian's office, and he has also continued his writing for both Mormon and non-Mormon publications. In the "Utah-Nederlander" he contributed a column entitled "Tempelstads Krabbels" (Temple City Scribbles) until its publication was discontinued in Oct., 1935. He was a teacher in the 19th Ward Sunday School until Dec. 9, 1934, when he was appointed to his present stake office. In the summer of 1935 he translated twenty-five Primary songs for the "Jeugdwerk" department of the Netherlands Mission, and is at present—Nov., 1935—translating hymns and Sunday School songs for a new edition of the Dutch hymn book—a spare time hobby.

KOOYMAN, Elisabeth Jacoba van der Toom, president of the Relief Societies and the Young Ladies' M. I. A.

and Primary Associations in the Netherlands Mission in the years 1929-1932, was born May 19, 1877, at Amsterdam, Netherlands, the daughter of Gerrit Peter van der Toom and Johanna Stolp. When 18 years of age, she joined the Church in the city of her birth, and was baptized by Elder Hendrik DeBry. Alluding to an expression of the Apostle Paul, who referred to himself as one "born out of due time," Elder DeBry called his candidate for baptism "born in due time," ready with all her heart, as eager for the message of the restored gospel as the hungry baby is for the mother's milk.

At that time Sister Kooyman—then Miss Van der Toom—was following a course to become a trained nurse, going through the extensive studies and exacting training required by old world hospitals. Having successfully passed every test, she consequently devoted several years to her labors of mercy, both in institutions for the sick and in private homes. In the spring of 1907, urged by fervent longing to gather with the Saints in the Rocky Mountains, she emigrated to Utah. Here she met her future husband, Elder Frank I. Kooyman, to whom she was married in the fall of that same year, seven children resulting from this union. In 1929, when her husband was called to preside over the Netherlands Mission, she accompanied him to their native land and for three years devotedly and efficiently took charge of the mission groups of women and girls mentioned above, starting the Gleaner Girls' and Primary groups in Holland. With her husband she attended the European Mission presidents' conferences held in Basel, Switzerland, in 1930; in Copenhagen, Denmark, in 1931, and in Prague, Czechoslovakia, in 1932, being one of the speakers at the dedication of the magnificent L. D. S. meeting house erected in Denmark's capital at the time of the conference there. Traveling to and from the countries named, she also visited Belgium, England, France, Switzerland, Germany and Sweden. With the youngest three of the children, who had accompanied their parents, she returned to Salt Lake City in the fall of 1932, her husband remaining in the Netherlands 15 months longer.

At home Sister Kooyman has been connected with the Relief Societies of several Salt Lake wards, and is at present—Nov., 1935—serving as the secretary of the 19th Ward group. She is intensely interested, also, in Temple work, having procured many names of her kindred dead. Her first convincing and soul-satisfying impressions of the Lord's great latter-day work have been deepened and sanctified by years of unselfish service.

McFARLANE, Horace James, third Bishop of the Elmhurst Ward, San Francisco Stake, California, was born Oct. 9, 1894, in Ogden, Utah, the son of James McFarlane and Tirzah Shaw. He was baptized Aug. 6, 1904, by Peter G. Paulson, and, after officiating in the Aaronic Priesthood was ordained an Elder Aug. 18, 1918, by Bishop Wm. A. Budge; a Seventy, Dec. 12, 1920, by Brigham H. Roberts, and a High Priest June 28, 1931, by Hyrum H. Goddard. After receiving his education in the public schools of Ogden he followed the occupation of a salesman from 1914 to 1918, when he entered the employ of the Southern Pacific

Company in the office of the superintendent and later was transferred to the Division Auditor's Office in Ogden. During this time he resided in the Ogden Seventh Ward, where he acted as ward clerk from 1919 to 1920; also as a Sunday school teacher and for a time as assistant superintendent of Sunday schools. While in Ogden he acted as secretary and later as a president of the 98th quorum of Seventy, holding the latter position until June 28, 1931. In October 1931 he was transferred by the railroad company to the General Office, in San Francisco. On January 24, 1932, he was ordained a Bishop by Apostle George F. Richards and set apart to preside over the Elmhurst Ward.

In 1916 (March 28th) he married Inez Saunders (daughter of Joseph Saunders and Hannah Harbertson). About two years later this union was sealed by a marriage in the Salt Lake Temple. Three children have been born to them, namely, Helen Inez (b. Nov. 21, 1916), Adele (b. June 27, 1920) and James jun. (b. Feb. 7, 1927). Bishop McFarlane is a man of strict integrity and reliability and a staunch Latter-day Saint.

MARGETTS, Phillip, the dean of Western drama, was born Feb. 10, 1829, at Kineton, Warwickshire, England, the son of Thomas Margetts and Alice Bishop. His father was the oldest son of Thomas Margetts, a coach builder and wheelwright, as was his father and his father's father before him. They lived in a snug little corner of Oxfordshire, England, known as Woodstock. They owned property adjoining the estate of the Duke of Malborough. In 1827 his father moved to and commenced business in the little town called Kineton, about eight miles from Stratford-on-Avon, the birthplace of the immortal Shakespeare. After remaining some time in Kineton, his father moved with his family to London, where he commenced business as a contractor and builder. About this time the building of the first railroads in the world took place and about the year 1840 his father took a contract on the Manchester and Birmingham Railway. It was during this period that the Margetts family first heard the gospel of Jesus Christ as introduced and taught by the Prophet Joseph Smith. All the family except his father joined the Church. He was a true believer in the doctrines of the Church, but his business at that time caused a delay. He was compelled to return to London where he was taken sick, and in a few weeks died. Bro. Lorenzo Snow, a dear friend of the family, visited him during his sickness, and afterwards preached his funeral sermon. This was in 1842. The family remained in London for some time, but later moved to different parts of England.

Phillip Margetts was one of the first locomotive engineers in the world. The railways on which he served were the London and Birmingham, Chester and Birkenhead, Chester and Shrewsbury, and at the time he left England for America he held a position on the London and North Western Railway. He often said that if it hadn't been for his faith in "Mormonism" he would not, at that time, have taken a thousand pounds sterling to give up his work, as he considered it as good as a position under the English government.

In January, 1850, in company with his mother, sister Ann, and two brothers, Richard and Henry, he left Liverpool, England, on the ship "Argo" for New Orleans, where they arrived on March 8, 1850, after being on the ocean nearly eight weeks. At New Orleans the company boarded the river steamer "Uncle Sam" and went up the Mississippi River to St. Louis. It took them two weeks to reach their destination. From there he crossed the plains with ox teams as far as the upper crossing of the Platte River, where he left the train by permission and started to walk to Great Salt Lake City with his brother. It took them nineteen days to make the trip.

Mr. Margetts was one of the minute men organized in Utah to protect the early settlers from the Indians, and during the years of 1850-52 often saw real fighting. Being also a blacksmith he made some of the first mill irons, assisted in making cane mills and many other necessary and useful articles during pioneer days.

In April, 1857, he started with 72 others on a mission to England, crossing the plains with handcarts, and to them remains the distinction of being the only party of handcart missionaries that ever left Utah. Dr. Seymour B. Young and David Wilkins were his handcart companions. In 1858 he returned home, the Americans being recalled from their fields of labor because of the Utah war. During his absence the so-called "Move" had taken place, and he found on his return that his wife and three children had been moved 300 miles south. When the trouble with Johnston's Army was over, Pres. Brigham Young furnished him with a wagon and horses to bring his family back to Salt Lake City.

Mr. Margetts was one of the cast of players that introduced the drama in Utah in the "Old Bowery," situated on the southeast corner of the Temple Block, in the spring of 1851. "Robert Macaire" was the bill. Ten years later he was one of the notable players who opened the "Social Hall" with "The Lady of Lyons." Ten years later, when the Salt Lake Theatre was opened, March, 1862, Mr. Margetts again had a foremost place, and from that time forward until he retired from the drama he was the most active figure in theatrical life that Salt Lake City has known.

Mr. Margetts married Elizabeth Bateman, daughter of Thomas and Mary Bateman, pioneers, Nov. 5, 1850. His wife died in June, 1896. Fourteen children blessed this union, seven sons and seven daughters.

At the 50th anniversary of the opening of the Salt Lake Theatre Mr. Margetts recited Othello's address before the senate. His rendition brought deafening applause from the large audience.

"In the histrionic chapter of Utah's early history the name of 'Phil' Margetts stands preeminent." "There is scarcely a phase of Utah history but would be shown in a complete biography of Mr. Margetts were such an account in existence."

The Salt Lake City daily newspapers of Sept. 1 and 2, 1914, announced "the passing of Utah's famed actor and Dean of Western drama just 64 years to the day from the time he first entered the Salt Lake Valley, Sept. 1, 1850. He was then a young man of twenty-one years of age. This youth, to fortune and fame unknown, was to play an important part in the drama of the west which had just begun, for he was to be remembered as few others have been among the list of those who made smiles take the place of tears in the trying days, who did so much to lighten the burdens of the pioneers, and who exercised an uplifting influence in the life of the people." NIELSEN, Thor Christian, Bishop of Long Beach Ward, Los Angeles Stake, California, was born March 25, 1872, in Brigham City, Box Elder Co., Utah, the son of Jens C. Nielsen, and Margarethe Frederiksen. The senior Nielsen joined the Church on the Island of Bornholm, and emigrated to Utah in 1871. At the age of eight years Thor became a member of the Brigham City Brass Band, and when twelve years old, he became a member of the Brigham City 3rd Ward Choir, and at fifteen its leader. Under the able instruction of his father he became proficient at an early age in the making of furniture and was placed in charge of the furniture department of the Brigham City Co-op. In 1890, he was ordained a Seventy, and filled a mission to Denmark in 1890-1892, laboring principally on the island of Bornholm, and in Aalborg. In the latter place he organized a choir which was largely instrumental in bringing many to the knowledge of the gospel. In June, 1893, he married Olivia Hansen in the Logan Temple, which union was blessed with three children, namely, Lydia Olivia, Thor Sherman, and Eugene Christian. In 1895 the family moved to Montpelier, Idaho, where Bro. Nielsen started the Nielsen Furniture Company, which has been conducted successfully until the present time, or nearly 38 years. On July 6, 1904, accompanied by his wife and two children, he went on a visit to Scandinavia. After touring Sweden and Norway, they were called to labor as missionaries in Copenhagen, where Elder Nielsen led the branch choir. A year later the family went to Christiania to direct the splendid choir there, Lydia, the daughter, being organist. In 1909, Bro. Nielsen was ordained a High Priest and called to act as second counselor to the Bishop of the Montpelier 2nd Ward. Two years later he was promoted to the position of first counselor. In 1910, he represented Bear Lake County in the Idaho State Legislature. In 1927, moving temporarily to Long Beach, California, he was chosen as Bishop of the Long Beach Ward, being ordained to that position Aug. 29, 1927. He held that position until his return to Montpelier, Idaho, in 1931. At present he is chorister of the Montpelier Stake Choir and superintendent of the Montpelier 4th Ward Sunday School. Lydia Nielsen Jones, the daughter, now functions as organist of the Los Angeles Stake Choir, the oldest son, Thor Sherman Nielsen, has acted as Bishop of the Wilmington Ward, Los Angeles Stake, California, and the youngest son, Eugene Christian Nielsen, has filled a mission in Denmark.

NIELSEN, Thor Sherman, Bishop of the Wilmington Ward, Los Angeles Stake, California, was born July 8, 1901, in Montpelier, Idaho, the son of Thor C. Nielsen, and Olivia Hansen. When 3½ years old, he accompanied his parents on a visit to Scandinavia, which gave him a wonderful experience as a child. On that trip he had his first experience in the musical line by singing soprano with the girls in his father's choir. In Montpelier, Idaho, he received a common school education, he was baptized July 8, 1909, and later ordained a Deacon by Bishop J. H. Hoff. At an early age, he became a partner in his father's furniture business. At the age of fifteen he took charge of a music store, while his father was away on a winter vacation. After graduating from the Montpelier Junior High School, in May, 1917, he became interested in his father's furniture business, but was sent to Long Beach, California, to study at the Polytechnic High School, in which he graduated in the spring of 1920. He acted as secretary of the Long Beach Branch Y. M. M. I. A. in 1918, and as first assistant of the High School Book Exchange in 1918-1919. He served as manager of the so-called student body store in 1919-1920, and had a staff of three assistant managers and twenty clerks. This institution has grown into a store doing a business of nearly $50,000 in one year. During vacations Bro. Nielsen worked in the furniture store and acquired a one-third interest in that institution. He was ordained an Elder by Edward C. Rich, Sept. 25, 1920, and filled a mission to the Eastern States in 1920-1923, laboring in the states of New York, Connecticut, Maryland and New Jersey, and for a short time as president of the Albany Conference. After returning from his mission he spent three years in the University of Southern California's College of Commerce, and built up a real estate business in Wilmington. In a Church capacity he served as 1st assistant of the Long Beach Latter-day Saint Sunday School. In 1928, (Feb. 8) he married Ruth Smith, in the Mesa Temple. He was ordained a Seventy by Daniel H. McAllister, Nov. 23, 1927, and acted as superintendent of the Long Beach Ward Sunday School. He also took charge of a branch Sunday School organized at Wilmington. On Dec. 28, 1930, he was chosen as Bishop of the Wilmington Ward, and was ordained a High Priest and Bishop by Apostle Melvin J. Ballard, Feb. 21, 1931. At that time 96 families of Latter-day Saints had located in Wilmington. So far, Bishop Nielsen has exhibited considerable ability as a leader, both in religious and secular affairs.

PALMER, Asael Exile, second president of the Lethbridge Stake of Zion, was born Nov. 26, 1888, in Salt Lake City, Utah, the son of William M. Palmer and Christina Helen Larson. When about 3 years old he moved with his parents to Aurora, Sevier County, Utah, where he attended the district school, and in March, 1903, when 14 years old, moved with his parents to Raymond, Alberta, Canada, where he became a student at the Knight Academy from 1910 to 1913, and taking a High School course, he graduated from that institution. Before leaving Aurora, Utah, he was baptized Aug. 1, 1897, by George Payne, and when quite young was ordained a Deacon at Aurora, and later a Teacher, and still later a Seventy at Raymond. He presided over the Deacon's quorum at Raymond and also acted as president of the student body at the Knight Academy. He was the first president of the Raymond Second Ward Y. M. M. I. A., and later acted as second counselor in the Taylor Stake Y. M. M. I. A. organization. From 1913 to 1917 he attended the Utah Agricultural College in Logan, obtaining from that institution the B. S. degree. In 1916 (Oct. 5) he married Maydell Cazier of Nephi, Utah, in the Salt Lake Temple. This union has been blessed with four children, viz., Asael Adelbert, Maydell Camille, Eileen, and Byron Cazier. In 1928 he received a Master of Science degree from the University of Alberta at Edmonton. In 1917, he was employed as soil chemist by the Canadian Pacific Railroad. In 1919-1921 he served as principal of the Knight Academy at Raymond, and also held the position as stake superintendent of the Y. M. M. I. A. of the Taylor Stake. On Nov. 10, 1921, he was ordained a High Priest and set apart as second counselor to Pres. Hugh B. Brown of the Lethbridge Stake of Zion by Apostle Rudger Clawson, which position he held until 1926, when he succeeded Brother Brown as president of said Stake. This position he still holds. Prior to this he had been ordained a Seventy by Apostle Hyrum M. Smith and was a president of the 145th Quorum of Seventy. Bro. Palmer was appointed assistant superintendent of the Dominion Experimental Station at Lethbridge, Nov. 10, 1921, which position he still holds. Since his earliest youth, President Palmer has been active and successful in the discharge of his ecclesiastical as well as secular duties in the many public offices he has held.

PALMER, William Moroni, president of the Northwestern States Mission in 1880-1889 was born Dec. 10, 1846, in Lee County, Iowa, the son of Abraham Palmer and Patience Delilah Pierce. He emigrated from Iowa to Utah with his parents in 1852, and located in Ogden, Weber County, where his father became the owner of the land on which the present Union Station in Ogden now stands. Later he moved with his parents to Chicken Creek, Juab County, Utah, and on Dec. 13, 1868, he married Mary Ann Mellor who had crossed the Plains in Edward Martin's Hand-cart Company in 1856. She bore her husband nine children, namely, William Moroni, Patience Delilah, James Lindsay, Charles Abraham, Don Carlos, Parley Parker, Wilford Woodruff, Delbert and Francis Marion. In 1876-1877 Bro. Palmer filled a mission to Michigan. Shortly after his return he was again called to labor in Michigan, where other Elders were sent to work under his direction. These Elders were sent to various parts of that and surrounding states, resulting in the organization of the Northwestern States Mission (now the Northern States Mission). President Palmer presided over the Northern States Mission from 1880 to 1889. Though Elder Palmer's opportunities of education as a child and youth had been exceedingly limited, he was successful on this mission, and later in life he obtained a good practical education and became a great scriptorian and an ardent missionary. In fact from the time he was called on his first mission until the end of his life he devoted the greater part of his time to preaching the gospel both at home and abroad.

In 1881 (Dec. 15) he married Christina Helen Larson, of Bergsjo, near Sundsvall, Sweden, in the Endowment House in Salt Lake City. The result of this union was 11 children, viz., Helen Christina, John Melvin, Willard Taylor, Asael Exile (now President of the Lethbridge Stake of Zion), Ada Ann, Artie May, Fern, Leslie Larson (now second counselor in the Raymond Second Ward Bishopric), Glenn Cecil, Arlo Verlin (now President of the Wrentham Branch), and Margaret Lucille. Bro. Palmer traveled for a number of years throughout the Church as a representative of the Y. M. M. I. A. and located permanently in Raymond, Alberta. This was his home until the time of his death, which occurred Jan. 25, 1929. Brother Palmer was always true and faithful to his Church and to his people, and as a missionary he became an instrument in the hands of the Lord to convert hundreds of people.

PETERSON, Virgil Hyrum, first counselor to President A. Carlos Schow in the Lehi Stake presidency, was born Dec. 13, 1894, at Lehi, Utah County, Utah, the son of Andrew Peterson and Sarah Emma Webb. In the public schools of Lehi, and also in the High School of his native town, he was educated; was baptized Mar. 21, 1903, by Hyrum Peterson, took an active part in Church affairs from his earliest youth; ordained a Deacon Feb. 10, 1906, acted as a counselor in a Deacon's quorum, was ordained a Teacher, later a Priest, and on May 6, 1917, ordained an Elder by George S.

Schow. He filled a mission to the Northern States in 1917-1919, laboring in the Minnesota Conference, and acted as conference president from Sept. 2, 1918, until his return in April, 1919. After his return to Utah he presided over the 6th quorum of Elders in the Alpine Stake, and later was president of the 13th quorum, Alpine Stake. He also labored as a home missionary in the Alpine Stake. In 1919 (Sept. 3) he married Rebecca Leota Taylor in of the Lehi City Council since Jan. 1, 1934.

RICHARDS, Emily Sophia Tanner, wife of Franklin S. Richards, was the daughter of Nathan and Rachel Tanner, who were friends of the Prophet Joseph Smith. She was born on the 13th day of May, 1850, at South Cottonwood, Utah. When she was six years old, her parents moved to Salt Lake City, where she attended the best schools until she was eighteen, and then she became the wife of Franklin S. Richards. Their first home was in Ogden, where three sons were born to them (Franklin Dewey, Joseph Tanner and William Snyder), two of whom preceded her to the Great Beyond. Her family was augmented later by two daughters, whom she adopted and upon whom she bestowed much care. The daughters were named Wealthy Lucille and Emily Helen.

Soon after her marriage, she became interested in Church work, which continued during her entire life. She

the Salt Lake Temple, which marriage has been blessed with four children, viz: Vere T., Ruth Emma, Paul Kay and Don Arvin. He was ordained a High Priest and Bishop Jan. 14, 1928, by Patriarch Hyrum G. Smith and set apart to preside over the Lehi Fifth Ward, having been sustained in that position Aug. 7, 1927. On July 1, 1928, he was chosen and sustained as first counselor in the Lehi Stake presidency, being set apart by Stephen L. Richards. A week later (July 8, 1928), he was released from his bishopric in the Lehi Fifth Ward. Brother Peterson is a farmer by avocation, is a director and president of the Lehi Irrigation Company and takes a leading part in both ecclesiastical and secular affairs. He has served as a member was an officer in the Mutual Improvement Association and in the Relief Society. Her husband's mother, Jane Snyder Richards, was conspicuous in the organization of the Relief Society; for several years she was a counselor to President Zina D. Young, and she and Emily were both members of the General Board of the Relief Society for nearly thirty years.

After moving to Salt Lake in 1884, Mrs. Richards was a director of the Orphans' Home about thirty years, and a charter member of the board of directors of the Sarah Daft Home for many years. She was a trustee of the Utah Agricultural College ten years and a member of the Board of Trustees of the Salt Lake Public Library. For several years she served as a member of the State Peace Society and was president of the Mother's Congress of Utah. She was president of the Utah Board of Lady Managers to the Columbian Exposition at Chicago in 1893 and was hostess in the Utah building.

The chief executives of our state, from Governor Caleb W. West to Governor George H. Dern, were so familiar with her record that she was kept in mind and given appointments to many important positions. During the war, she was a member of the Utah State Council of Defense, a member of the Women's Liberty Loan Committee, and a member of the Executive Committee of the Red Cross. She was also one of the one hundred women who, led by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, went to the White House and offered to President Wilson the services of two million organized women, pending an outbreak of war.

Mrs. Richards was an ardent democrat and suffragist. She led the fight for the adoption of suffrage by the Constitutional Convention of Utah. When triumphant, party leaders asked her to accept the honor of being the first woman to be elected to a state senate, but she declined. When the National Suffrage Amendment was passed in 1920, the League of Women Voters was organized in Salt Lake City under the direction of Mrs. Catt, and Mrs. Richards was urged to become the president of the organization. She declined the honor, but was an active member of the league during the rest of her life. In the League's beautiful home at Washington, D. C., is a "Roll of Honor," consisting of bronze tablets bearing the names of women who were prominent in promoting the cause of equal suffrage. Emily Sophia Tanner Richards is the first name on the Utah tablet, having been placed there by the leading women of the nation, with the sanction of the leading women of Utah.

Her husband's professional duties required him to spend much time in Washington during several years, and while there, Mrs. Richards became acquainted with the leaders of women's movements, as well as with the wives of cabinet officers, senators, and other prominent people. Among her acquaintances were the leading suffragists, Susan B. Anthony, Anna Howard Shaw, Rachel Foster Avery and Carrie Chapman Catt; also, Clara Barton, founder of the Red Cross, Frances Willard, president of the Temperance Union, and Belva A. Lockwood, the first woman lawyer admitted to practise in the Supreme Court of the United States. She attended many receptions given by distinguished women, and did excellent missionary work. As they were eager to know about Utah affairs, she imparted to them much valuable information concerning the people and the religion of the Latter-day Saints.

In 1888, a congress was held in Washington which was known as the World's Congress of Representative Women, who met to organize an International Council. This meeting marked a very critical time in the lives of the Latter-day Saints because of the intense prejudice existing against them. Mrs. Richards, as the representative of the Relief Society, the Young Ladies' Mutual Improvement Association and the Primary Association, delivered an address to the Congress which was

"At this juncture it was announced that a Utah lady would address the World's convention. It was perfectly natural that the immense concourse of people attending the convention should forecast the character of the lady who should address them, as some masculine heroine who could yield a battle-axe or any other weapon in keeping with their own distorted notions of Utah life. And the lady herself, at the hour that she had to appear, could but feel the extreme tension in the public mind; for the morning papers were bristling with denunciations of Utah institutions. There was an ominous pause in the mighty throng when it was announced by the presiding officer that the lady delegate would address them. Soon a lady appeared, moving forward among the throng on the rostrum and taking her place beside the narrow reading desk. What an apparition! It was not a feminine Amazon, but a delicate, refined lady, trembling slightly under the scrutinizing gaze of the multitude, yet reserved, self-possessed, dignified, and as pure and sweet as an angel. Her appearance was a powerful antithesis to their preconceived impressions, and the change of feeling in the audience was almost instantaneous. The lady's voice began its utterances on a scale of greatly tremulous pathos, and without rising into high pitch, its tenderness subdued every whisper until its words reached every ear in the auditory. The tenor of the address was what might have been expected by Utah people, an orderly, scholarly presentation, such as would serve to recite facts and principles and disarm prejudice. It was not the words themselves, but the gentle spirit that, like the morning dawn, went with the words, and carried winning grace to every heart. It was wonderful how sympathies were engendered and asperities removed.

When the lady concluded, after half an hour's reading, there was many a moist eye, and many a listener felt thankful that this lovely apparition had given them a new, more refreshing and more kindly impression of Utah people and institutions. It was the mighty force of the gentle sunlight that unlocks the iceberg from its moorings and sets it afloat upon the broad ocean."

Mrs. Richards had a charming personality of graciousness and dignity. Her cheery optimism and fine sense of humor enabled her to scatter sunshine along the pathway of life. She had a keen appreciation of the divine law of service and always did her part, with the help of her devoted husband, who was proud of her achievements. They were loving companions and helped each other in every way to attain success in their respective lines of work. On the 19th day of August, 1929, her sweet spirit took its departure from her mortal body and went to its heavenly home.

It is remarkable how much one person can accomplish when the head and heart are set in the right direction. Mrs. Richards was a leader born, and to the very last exhibited characteristics of leadership. She inspired in the minds of those who knew her great admiration on the one hand and tender devotion on the other. One of the choicest of women, she has served her family and friends, her State, Nation, and Church, nobly and well. She has made her place one of sacredness and honor, leaving a memory that is lovely and ideal.

WOOD, Edward James, 3rd president of the Alberta Stake of Zion, in Canada, was born Oct. 27, 1866, in Salt Lake City, Utah, the son of William Wood and Elizabeth Gentry. In 1867, as a member of his father's family, he went on the Dixie mission. After his father's release from that mission the family lived for a short time at Meadow Valley and Panaca, Nevada, and in Beaver, Utah. About 1872 the family moved back to Salt Lake City and located in the 11th Ward; later in the 19th Ward. His home as a boy was for some time in a part of the "Old Bath House." About 1877 the family moved one block east, where his father built "Cave Cottage," in 1878. Here Edward's boyhood days were mostly spent and he was educated in the public schools and he also attended Prof. Regars' private school. He was baptized Feb. 20, 1875, in the "Old Bath House," was ordained a Deacon at the age of 11 and a Priest when 15 years old. While living in "Cave Cottage" he worked with his father in the butcher business and had charge of a small shop near the old Utah Central Railroad corner. He took an active part in auxiliary work, was manager of the 19th Ward Dramatic Club, and captain of the "Star B. B. Club." At 18 years of age he worked in Judge Van Zile's law office and also attended the Deseret University. At 19 he worked in the Pacific Express office and at 20 began a service of many years in the Dinwoodey Furniture Company. He was ordained an Elder and later (Sept. 13, 1888) a Seventy. In 1888-1892 he filled a mission to Samoa and, together with Bro. and Sister Dean, became a pioneer in opening up the work of the Lord on that group. During his mission he had many thrilling experiences on sea and land and witnessed many manifestations of the power of God. He learned to love the natives of the islands and baptized many of them into the Church. He also did some translating, and composed a number of hymns. Returning home in 1892 he stopped en route in Hawaii, where he visited places of interest. In 1892 (Sept. 7th), he married Mary Ann Solomon and made his home in the 22nd Ward, where he acted as counselor in the ward Y. M. M. I. A. In 1893 he moved to Eureka, Juab Co., Utah, where he engaged in the butcher business. There he acted as superintendent of the ward Sunday school and as president of the Y. M. M. I. A. In the fall of 1896 he was called on another mission to Samoa, this time to preside over the mission. He traveled a great deal on the islands, wrote several tracts which he compiled into a small volume, and also translated parts of the Book of Mormon for Sunday school purposes. On his return home in 1899 he visited, en route, the Friendly Islands, New Zealand, Australia, Fiji, Hawaii, etc., and landed in America at Vancouver, B. C. After his return home he again became an active worker in the auxiliary organizations, and in ward teaching, and while residing for a short time in the Sugar House Ward, he acted as Sunday school superintendent. In 1900, he was chosen as a counselor to Bishop Apollos G. Driggs of the Sugar House Ward and later acted as a counselor to Bishop Atwood of the Salt Lake City 13th Ward. In November, 1901, he moved to Cardston, Alberta, Canada, where he acted as ward Sunday school superintendent, and in 1902 was appointed an alternate member of the Alberta Stake High Council. When Pres. Charles O. Card was released on account of sickness and Heber S. Allen succeeded him as president of the Alberta Stake, Bro. Wood was chosen as one of the counselors in the stake presidency. In September, 1903, Pres. Joseph F. Smith and several of the Apostles visited Canada and organized the Taylor Stake of Zion, with Bro. Allen as stake president, and Bro. Wood was then chosen and set apart to preside over the Alberta Stake of Zion with Thomas Duce and Stirling Williams as counselors. Bro. Wood still holds this position. When the Cardston Temple was dedicated Aug. 26, 1923, he was chosen as president of the Temple, which position he still occupies. Pres. Wood's marriage has been blessed with eight children, namely, Glen, Fern, Ivy, Myrtle, Forest, Olive, Dale and Vi. In 1909 he went on a business trip to England, and he also visited many places of interest on the continent. In 1916 he was called to make a third trip to Samoa to look into the advisability of organizing the Tongan Mission, which was done in February, 1917, by setting apart Elder Willard L. Smith and his wife Jeanette, who were laboring missionaries on Samoa at the time, to go to Tonga and reopen that mission. Bro. Wood returned home from his third mission to Samoa in May, 1917. He is the first Elder of the Church to fill three missions to Samoa.

WRIGHT, Elias Smith, an active Elder in the Ensign Stake of Zion, Salt Lake City, Utah, was born July 23, 1860, in Brigham City, Utah, the son of Judge Jonathan C. Wright and schools of Brigham City, the University of Utah (then designated the University of Deseret) and was later graduated from the Medical School of the New York University with the degree of M. D. in 1890. After his graduation he returned to Salt Lake City, where he practiced surgery and medicine until his death. He was a leader in his chosen profession, his associates holding him in high esteem as evidenced by his election to serve as president of the Salt Lake County Medical Society and the Utah State Medical Association respectively. He was the surgeon-general of the Utah State National Guard during the incumbency of Gov. Wm. Spry of Utah. He also served as county physician of Salt Lake County for a number of years. He was a charter member of the Utah Society of the Sons of the American Revolution and a short time prior to his demise he was elected an honorary vice-president of the society; during the year 1925 he acted as president of the organization.

Being born of Latter-day Saint parents he was baptized Feb. 28, 1869, by William Neeley, and was ordained successively to the offices of Deacon, Teacher, Priest, Elder and Seventy. While serving as an L. D. S. missionary in the Southern States in 1886-1888, he, together with four other Elders, was dragged from his bed and fearfully beaten by a mob near Bell's Station, Tennessee, for preaching the gospel. In 1889 (April 4th) Dr. Wright married Elizabeth Sophia Richards, daughter of Samuel W. Richards and Helena Robinson, in the Logan Temple. This union was blessed with five children, namely, Elias Spencer, Verda, Virginia, Helen and Afton.

Dr. Wright was a man of even temper, ever true and loyal to his friends and tolerant of the views of those who disagreed with him. His love of country and his citizenship in this great nation were emphasized through his activities during all his life. His

Caroline Olsen. He was a direct descendent of Daniel Shead who faithfully served the colonists during the revolutionary war with the New Hampshire forces under the command of Col. Alexander Schammel. Bro. Wright was educated in the public demise occurred in Salt Lake City, Feb. 14, 1928, but he will live long in the memory of his many friends for his generous service to the needy and his willingness to answer every call made upon him to relieve suffering humanity.

ANDERSON, Hyrum Albert, third Bishop of the Lehi 1st Ward, Lehi Stake, Utah Co., Utah, was born March 9, 1881, at Lehi, Utah County, Utah, the son of Andrew R. Anderson and Nielsine Anderson. He was baptized July 12, 1889, by George Comer, and spent his early life in Lehi attending grade schools and high school. He was ordained successively to the offices of Deacon, Teacher, Priest and Elder. He was ordained a Seventy Jan. 23, 1902, and a High Priest and Bishop Aug. 23, 1928, by Joseph F. Smith, jun. When still quite young he acted as president of a Priests' quorum and later as president of an Elders' quorum. For 8 years he acted as a president of the 68th quorum of Seventy, the last five years as senior president. He also acted as president of the Lehi 3rd Ward Y. M. M. I. A. for two years and as superintendent of the Lehi 1st Ward Sunday School for 12 years. In 1902-1905, he filled a mission to Norway. In 1906 (Jan. 30) he married Mary Magdalene Whipple, which union has been blessed with four children, namely, Hyrum Dale, Phillis, Fay, and May Beth.

AUSTIN, John, a pioneer settler of Lehi, Utah, was born Dec. 3, 1822, at Studham, Bedfordshire, England, the third child of Joseph Austin and Ann Mills. He was early taught to be industrious and frugal, and on March 20, 1847, he married Emma Grace, daughter of Thomas Grace and Mary Jayce, of Whipsnade in Bedfordshire. After residing a short time in Whipsnade, the young couple moved to Kinsmouth, Hartfordshire, and there the young wife became a convert to the restored gospel, being baptized Jan.

5, 1850. On the same date, two years later, John Austin was baptized. The young couple lived quiet, industrious lives, raised a large family and kept out of debt, but always before them was the hope that some day they might gather with the saints in Zion. When the family numbered eleven children, they felt that their hopes could never be realized, so they decided to spend the little money saved towards their emigration in sending their oldest daughter (Harriet), 18 years of age, and their oldest son (George), 17 years old, to Utah, that the family would at least be represented among the saints there. These young people left London, England, May 5, 1866, on the ship "Caroline" in a company of 389 emigrating Saints, and arrived in New York, June 11th. Thence the company proceeded by rail and river steamers to Wyoming, Neb., the outfitting place for the L. D. S. emigration that year. Harriet and George crossed the plains in Wm. Henry Chipman's train and settled in Lehi, Utah, where their father's brother, George, already resided. In 1868, Sister Austin read in the "Millennial Star" that part of the ship "Minnesota" had been chartered for the benefit of saints who expected to emigrate and felt impressed that she and her husband and family would go in that ship, and so commenced to make preparations for the voyage. Just two weeks before the ship sailed, Bro. Bartel Turner, a neighbor, offered to lend Bro. Austin the money to emigrate his entire family. At first Bro. Austin hesitated to accept this generous offer, fearing that he might never be able to repay the loan, but finally became convinced that the prayers of himself and family had previously been answered in a miraculous way, and that they might trust their Heavenly Father to aid them in paying off the debt. So Bro. and Sister Austin with their ten children sailed from Liverpool, England, June 22, 1868, on the ship "Minnesota" which arrived in New York, July 12th. Thence they proceeded by rail to Laramie, Wyoming, where they were met by Capt. Joseph S. Rawlins with a mule train with which they made the journey to Lehi, where they established a permanent home. At this time the Union Pacific Railroad was nearing its completion and men were being hired for grading, etc., so Bro. Austin with his two oldest boys obtained work, and at the end of that season they were enabled to pay their friends the money borrowed for their emigration. The following year Bro. Austin took up farming land at Lehi and later he and his sons were among the first to take up land on the bench north of Lehi, under the North Bench Ditch. The father and sons were eminently successful as tillers of the soil, and when the sugar factory was located at Lehi, the Austin brothers were among the foremost to bring about the successful cultivation of the sugar beet. As a consequence a number of the sons of John Austin became superintendents of agriculture at different factories of the Utah-Idaho Sugar Company, one, George, being the general superintendent of agriculture over all the factories of the company, a position later occu-

Bro. Austin's loving wife and faithful companion during his days of adversity died in 1893, aged 66 years, and afterwards Bro. Austin married Elizabeth Pead, who preceded him just a few days to the Great Beyond. Bro. Austin died Feb. 13, 1907, as president of the High Priests of Lehi. He was dearly beloved and respected by all and left a family which is noted for thrift, industry and business sagacity, members of which are filling positions of trust and honor both in Church and State.

BARNES, Arthur Franklin, jun., third Bishop of Richards Ward, Granite Stake, Salt Lake Co., Utah, was born Sept. 13, 1889, in the 17th Ward, Salt Lake City, Utah, the son of Arthur Franklin Barnes and Elizabeth Harriet Sansom. He was raised and educated in Salt Lake City, obtaining a good high school education at the L. D. S. College in Salt Lake City. He was baptized Oct. 2, 1897, by his father, and was ordained a Deacon when quite young. He was ordained a Priest, Nov. 12, 1906, by Bishop Franklin S. Tingey. Later (Feb. 23, 1909) he was ordained an Elder by Wm. F. Langton, and was ordained a Seventy, Jan. 22, 1912, by Joseph W. McMurrin. He filled a mission to Switzerland and Germany in 1909-1911, laboring principally in the Zurich, Breslau, and Hannover conferences. In 1914 (Sept. 24) he married Millie Tingey, daughter of Bishop Franklin S. Tingey of the 17th Ward, Salt Lake City. Five children have blessed this marriage, namely, Mildred Edna, John Richard, Ruth Elizabeth, Robert Franklin, and Edward Dale. Brother Barnes was ordained a High Priest and Bishop by Apostle George Albert Smith Dec. 28, 1928, and set apart to preside over the Richards Ward, which position he held until July 1, 1935, when he was released on account of his moving to another ward. Prior to his ordination as Bishop he acted as a counselor in the LeGrand Ward Y. M. M. I. A. (1915) and later (1924-1927) assistant superintendent in the Richards Ward Sunday School until Sept. 18, 1927, when he was made superintendent of said school, which at that time was the largest Sunday School in the Church, having a membership of over 1,000. He held this office until he was chosen as Bishop. He is now (1936) assistant superintendent of the Yale Ward Sunday School. Bishop Barnes worked in the Deseret National Bank for ten years, starting as a messenger, and was paying teller when he left in May, 1919, to become associated with Edward L. Burton & Company, investment bankers (Salt Lake City), of which he is secretary-treasurer. Since leaving high school, Bishop Barnes has been active in the banking and financial field. He is a director or officer of several important business institutions.

BARNES, Harold Sansom, fourth Bishop of Wasatch Ward, Granite Stake, was born Feb. 14, 1895, in Salt Lake City, Utah, a son of Arthur F. Barnes and Elizabeth H. Sansom. He was baptized May 28, 1903, by John W. Grice and educated in the public schools of Salt Lake City, the L. D. S. High School and the L. D. S. Business College and was awarded the Heber J. Grant scholarship at the latter institution in 1911. Being ordained to offices in the Aaronic Priesthood, he served in an official capacity in each, was later ordained an Elder and was ordained a Seventy, March 31, 1919, by Robert S. Campbell. In his youth he served in the superintendency of the Sunday School and in the presidency of Y. M. M. I. A. in the 17th Ward. From 1914 to 1917 he filled a mission to the Eastern States, presiding part of the time over the Massachusetts Conference. Originally his call was to the South African Mission but his field of labor was changed on account of the World war.

ried Allie Josephine Rasmussen of Redmond, Utah; this marriage has been blessed with four children, namely, Harold Sansom, Barbara Josephine, Clifford Rasmussen and Aleene Merle. After his marriage Brother Barnes moved to the Wasatch Ward of the Granite Stake, where he acted as president of Y. M. M. I. A., chairman of Genealogical Committee, chairman of Recreational Committee and in other capacities. After being ordained a High Priest by Joseph F. Smith he was set apart May 24, 1924, as a counselor to Bishop Isaac C. Thunell of the Wasatch Ward and held this position until 1927 when the bishopric was reorganized. On May 4, 1931, he was ordained a Bishop by James E. Talmage and set apart to preside over the Wasatch Ward, which position he held until 1935. During his term of office the debt on the ward chapel was paid and the chapel dedicated.

After leaving school Brother Barnes worked in a law office and in the accounting department of the Utah Power & Light Company until called on a mission. After his return he was appointed clerk of the newly created Public Utilities Commission of Utah and later served as secretary of that organization. In 1921 he entered the employ of the Inter-Mountain Life Insurance Co., becoming a director and manager of the Investment Department. Subsequently he had charge of the local properties of the California-Western States Life, and on April 1, 1933, was appointed superintendent of the Dr. W. H. Groves L. D. S. Hospital, which position he still holds. At present he is a member of the High Council of the Highland Stake.

BARRETT, Georgianna Pacific, was born on board the ship "Brooklyn" on the Pacific Ocean, June 14, 1846, one week before the historical vessel touched at the Hawaiian Islands. She was the daughter of John R. Robbins and Phebe Ann Wright. It was the express wish of the captain that she be named Helena Brooklyn Pacific, the first name being that of the captain's wife, but the little lady escaped with the above name. Her parents had joined the Church in New Jersey in 1839 and after enduring many of the trials which fell to the lot of the saints in Nauvoo, the Robbins family were advised by the Prophet Joseph Smith to return to their home in New Jersey on account of their poor health. In 1846, when it was understood that some of the saints in the Atlantic States would migrate overland to the Rocky Mountains, Samuel Brannan, who presided over the saints in the East at that time, chartered the ship "Brooklyn" to take a company of saints around Cape Horn to California to unite with their co-religionists where and when a permanent location should be selected by the leaders of the Church for the saints to gather. During this long ocean voyage Bro. and Sister

Robbins lost two little sons by death and the daughter, Georgianna, was born. After remaining in California four years, the family returned east for a time. The route taken, via the Isthmus of Panama, was one of considerable adventure, little Georgianna being carried across the isthmus on the back of a native, while her mother and baby sister Emma rode a hammock, also carried by natives. After residing for a short time in New Jersey, the family came to Utah in 1853 and settled in the 17th Ward, Salt Lake City, where Georgianna completed her education in the schools and, later, together with her sister Emma, taught school. In 1870 Georgianna married Dr. Clarence Barrett in the Endowment House in Salt Lake City. This union was blessed with four children, namely, Ellen Louisa Barrett, born Jan. 14, 1871, in Salt Lake City, Utah, and married Caleb E. Summerhays in 1893; John R. Barrett, who died young; Isabella Barrett, who was born Dec. 6, 1874, and married Joseph Parley White, and Daisy Barrett, who died young. Mrs. Barrett died in Salt Lake City, April 10, 1929. She was survived by her two daughters, Mrs. Summerhays, and Mrs. White, two grandchildren, namely, Dr. V. P. White and

BARTON, Walter K., second president of the Franklin Stake of Zion, Franklin Co., Idaho, was born Dec. 14, 1877, at Sterling, Sanpete Co., Utah, a son of Walter Kilshaw Barton and Susan Angeline Petty. He was baptized July 1, 1886, by John L. Peacock, and ordained a Deacon at Sterling, but lived at the mines until he was grown. After receiving a common school education, he became a student in the commercial department of the Snow Normal College at Ephraim, Utah, graduating from the commercial department in 1901 and from the normal training department of that institution in 1903.

He became a teacher in the Oneida Academy at Preston, Idaho, acting in that capacity from 1903 to 1913 and from 1915 to 1918. He was ordained an Elder by Joseph S. Geddes and in 1906 (June 27th) he married Jeanette M. Smith, which union has been blessed with ten children, namely, Flora, Glenn S., Louise, Walter Kenneth, Ruth, Cliff Smith, Donna, Vaunna, Jeanette Marie and Helen Kay. Elder Barton was a member of the Oneida Stake Sunday School Board from 1904 to 1906 and was assistant superintendent of Religion Classes in the Stake in 1906 and 1907. From 1907 to 1921 he was secretary-treasurer of the Oneida Academy Board of Education. From 1906 to 1907 he acted as clerk of the Preston First Ward, as assistant stake clerk of the Oneida Stake from May to September, 1907, and as stake clerk from 1907 to 1920. He was ordained a High Priest Dec. 30, 1911, and on June 6, 1920, when the Oneida Stake was divided and the Franklin Stake organized, he was chosen as second counselor in the presidency of the new Stake, which position he held until June 25, 1922, when he was promoted to the position of first counselor, and on Nov. 27, 1927, he succeeded Samuel W. Parkinson as president of the Franklin Stake. Besides his ecclesiastical activities Pres. Barton has held a number of civil offices in which he displayed his competency, diligence and honesty in dealing with public affairs. He served on the Preston City school board for two terms and as City Treasurer of Preston for eighteen years. In June, 1927, he was appointed secretary-treasurer of the Preston Whitney Irrigation Company, which position he now holds. From 1913 to 1916 he was engaged in mercantile business in Preston, which occupation he again resumed in 1919. On April 26, 1936, the Preston Region of the Church Security Program was organized, which includes the Franklin, Oneida, Bannock, Idaho and Montpelier stakes of Zion. Of this important organization Pres. Barton was appointed chairman.

BEESELEY, Wilford Angus, president of the Salt Lake Stake of Zion, was born Aug. 26, 1883, in Salt Lake City, Utah, a son of Ebenezer Beesley and Annie Frewin Buckeridge. He was baptized Sept. 1, 1891, by John T. Thorup and ordained successively to the offices of Deacon, Teacher and

Priest. He was ordained an Elder March 28, 1904, by Alfred Winn and a Seventy, May 1, 1911, by J. Golden Kimball. On May 14, 1920, he was ordained a High Priest by James E. Talmage. From April, 1904, to July, 1906, Elder Beesley filled a mission to England, laboring as a traveling Elder and also as secretary of the London Conference. Upon his return from ation took advantage of the extension courses offered, specializing in accounting, and in August, 1914, he passed the state examination and became a certified public accountant. In May, 1923, he was admitted to membership in the American Institute of Accountants and became president of the Utah Association of Certified Accountants.

On June 27, 1907, Elder Beesley married Emma Sarah Frewin, daughter of Arthur Frewin and Emma Lester, born in Salt Lake City in 1885. She died in Salt Lake City in 1919, and on April 27, 1921, he married Evangeline K. Thomas, daughter of Moroni J. Thomas and Agnes Olsen, born Feb. 11, 1894. Four children have blessed this union, namely, Beverly, Virginia, Wilford Angus, jun., and Garratt Thomas. President Beesley's untiring devotion to the work of the Lord and his sympathetic interest in all who labor under his direction have won for him the loyal support and high esteem of all who are privileged to be associated with him in an ecclesiastical or civil capacity.

that mission he located for a time in Sugar City, Idaho, where he became associated with the Utah-Idaho Sugar Company as book-keeper at the factory. While there he became a member of the Fremont Stake Sunday School Board. After his return to Salt Lake City, he served as a member of the Salt Lake Stake Sunday School Board for a short time, and in 1909 was chosen as superintendent of the 22nd Ward Sunday School. Later he served as a counselor, and still later as president of the Salt Lake Stake Y. M. M. I. A., also as a member of the Salt Lake Stake High Council, and as second counselor to Stake President Nephi L. Morris. On June 17, 1929, he succeeded Elder Morris as president of the Salt Lake Stake of Zion, which position he still holds.

President Beesley received a High School education, and after his gradu-

BROWN, James Cross, pioneer, missionary and pony express rider, was born March 3, 1837, in Manchester, England, a son of William Brown and Jane Hardman Brown. He was baptized in 1845 by Moses Martin. On Feb. 10, 1852, when 14 years old, he sailed from Liverpool, England, on the ship "Ellen Marie", together with his mother, brother John Bradford and sister Elizabeth, Isaac C. Haight being leader of the company. The emigrants landed in New Orleans, April 6, 1852, and the Brown family crossed the plains in Capt. Abraham Smoot's company, arriving in the Valley August 26, 1852.

Brother Brown served on the Pony Express division that went west from Salt Lake City, through old Camp Floyd, Rush Valley, the Deep Creek section, Ruby Valley to Smith Creek, where the next division began. This route was under the command of Major Howard Egan, who had under his command such men as Peter Niece, Washington Perkins and Bill Egan.

Those were the days when Indians were continually on the warpath. They seemed to consider the Pony Express riders their special targets, and by their treacherous attacks many lives and pouches of mail were lost and stations burned.

Bro. Brown was known among his Pony Express riders as "Little Jim," because of his small stature. Once, Little Jim, taking a short cut, rode right into a group of hostile Indians, who surrounded him and demanded that he give them a note, to the station master, for provisions. He stalled for time with various excuses; he had no paper; they handed him a piece of wrapping paper; he had no pencil; they handed him a leaden bullet. Having no further excuses, he began to write, which so interested his captors that they relaxed their watchfulness and let go of their hold on the stirrups and reins. With a yell, Little Jim stuck spurs into his pony and rode away, leaving half of the warriors on the ground, bowled there by the pony's leap.

The Indians pursued in haste, but he out-rote them and reached the next station with no other damage than an arrow in the calf of his leg.

It was the Pony Express that relayed the news of President Lincoln's first election from the Missouri river to the Pacific Coast, Little Jim riding the Deep Creek section which carried the news. He took the mail pouch from the incoming rider, Bill Fisher, and dashed west over forty-five miles of his division. At the end of the ride, instead of a warm station, a husky rider and fresh pony to carry on, he came upon four bodies, bullet-pierced and scalped, and the station burned to ashes.

There was no time to wait—weary horse and weary rider must carry on—forty-five more miles to ride—fired on along the way by ambushed savages. Reaching the next station he fell from his staggering pony, with three arrows in his back and a bullet wound in his leg. Instantly his successor grabbed the mail pouch, mounted a fresh pony and was off. The mail must go through. Three different times he had his pony shot from under him and he was forced to carry the mail to the station. Brother Brown later took part in the Black Hawk war and other Indian troubles in the southern part of Utah. He became personally acquainted with Indian Chief Black Hawk, who often visited the Brown home.

When news was received that Johnston's army was approaching the Valley, he was among those sent out to Echo Canyon to meet the invaders. For a short time he drove the stage coach for Wm. F. Cody (Buffalo Bill). He was in the crowd that witnessed the driving of the Golden Spike at Promontory Point, Utah, when the Union Pacific and Oregon Short Lines joined on May 10, 1869. He also hauled rocks from Little Cottonwood Canyon for the foundation of the Salt Lake Temple.

James C. Brown was ordained a teacher in 1852 by Joseph L. Heywood. In 1867 he met Miss Ellen John, recently of Wales, and in November, 1869, they were wed in the Endowment House.

In 1873 he was ordained a Seventy by James Livingston. In 1895-1898 he filled a mission to the British Isles, laboring in the Welsh and Manchester conferences. On this mission he had the opportunity to gather his wife's genealogy. Thus he again visited the home he had left so many years before. He was honorably released from his mission, returning to Utah in April, 1898.

Elder Brown held the office of a High Priest when he died in Sandy, Salt Lake Co., Utah, Dec. 27, 1904.

BURTON, James Edward, second Bishop of the Ogden Nineteenth Ward, Weber Stake, Weber Co., Utah, was born April 12, 1882, in Wallsend, England, the son of George B. Burton, and Anna Shipley.

As an infant he emigrated from England in 1882, together with his parents, and located at or near Ogden, where he was raised and received a common school education. He was baptized Aug. 9, 1891, by George H. Butler, and from his earliest youth he took an active part in the Church. While still quite young, he was ordained to the office of Deacon and later ordained an Elder, by Mathias Tanner.

After being ordained a Seventy by Joseph Ririe, May 9, 1920, he labored as a home missionary in Weber Stake for two terms of two years each, the first term in 1921-1923 and the second term 1923-1926. While thus engaged he spent most of his time among non-Mormons, among whom he made seven new converts, whom he baptized into the Church.

After laboring as a Ward Teacher for a number of years, he was ordained a High Priest, November 7, 1927, by Christian J. Jensen, after which he acted as a counselor to Bishop Stuart until Oct. 20, 1930, when he was chosen and sustained as Bishop of the Ogden 19th Ward, which position he still occupies.

In 1903 (June 5) he married Jean Galt, which union has been blessed with two children, Jessie and Janell. His daughter Jessie filled a mission to California in 1928-1930.

Bishop Burton is a machinist by avocation and is at present employed as a foreman in the Southern Pacific Railroad Shops at Ogden. He has been quite successful in financial affairs and has taken an active part in erecting a meeting house in the Ogden 19th Ward. His policy is to keep out of debt in all his private affairs as well as in affairs pertaining to his ward.

BURTON, Thomas Hyrum, first counselor in the presidency of the Juab Stake from 1924 to 1930, was born Aug. 28, 1878, at Nephi, Utah, a son of Herbert Burton and Mary El-linor Pass. He was baptized June 1, 1887 by James D. Paxton and after attending school in Nephi and the Brigham Young University, he studied law, being graduated from the Lincoln-Jefferson University of Indiana in 1910 with the degree of Bachelor of Laws. He was admitted to practice in the State of Utah, Oct. 9, 1911, and in the United States Federal Courts, Nov. 13, 1911. He practiced as attorney for the cities of Nephi, Levan and Delta, was judge of the Juvenile Court of the Fifth Judicial District, attorney on the Council of Defence of Juab County during the World war and District Judge of the Fifth Judicial District, comprising the counties of Juab, Millard, Beaver, Iron and Washington during the years 1923-1929. He was a member of the Law Committee which drew the first good roads law ever placed on the Utah Statute Books and for ten years was chairman of the Law Committee of the Municipal League of Utah, which comprises all of the cities and towns in the State of Utah. Under his direction and supervision the Local Option Law and finally the Prohibition Law of the State of Utah was prepared and presented to the Legislature, and he was a member of the House of Representatives of the State of Utah in 1929 and during a special session in 1930. On Aug. 8, 1900, Bro. Burton was ordained a Seventy by B. H. Roberts and set apart for a mission to the Northern States, during which he labored principally in the Southern Illinois Conference; he returned home Sept. 5, 1901, being honorably released on account of the death of his father. On Aug. 17, 1924, he was ordained a High Priest by Apostle Rudger Clawson and set apart as first counselor to President Albert H. Belliston of the Juab Stake. This position he held until his death, which occurred Aug. 13, 1930, following a surgical operation. On Jan. 14, 1903, he had married Hannah May Pexton, daughter of Jos. D. Pexton and Mary Ellen Grow. Six children were born of this marriage, namely Dr. Marcus H. of Washington, D. C., Florence, Blanche, Clarence G., Alma P. and Lee Clark. Previous to being called to the Stake presidency Judge Burton had presided over the Y. M. M. I. A. of the

In September, 1921, when President James Wotherspoon was called on a mission to Great Britain, Brother Bluth was chosen president of the North Weber Stake. He selected as his counselors, Francis W. Stratford and Thomas M. Irvine. This position he held until January, 1931, when he was called to preside over the Canadian Mission, with headquarters at Toronto. He was honorably released from this mission, turning over the affairs of the mission to his successor July 15, 1935.

From 1901 to 1916 he continued as deputy county clerk, after which he became affiliated with the Scoville Brothers in their broom, printing and lithographing business and later in their oil ventures, until his call to the Canadian mission.

Since commencing his activities at the Church Historian's Office in 1936 he has completed his concordance to the Doctrine and Covenants, which he commenced many years ago.

CALL, Israel, a Patriarch in the Davis Stake, was born at Fillmore, Utah, July 2, 1854, a son of Anson Call and Ann Mariah Bowen Call. At the time of Israel's birth, his father had charge of the settlement of Millard County and for this reason his family was there. In the fall of 1854, when Israel was about seven weeks old, the family moved to Call's Fort, Box Elder Co., Utah, to again assist in the founding of a new settlement. Two years later the family was moved to help settle Carson Valley, but returned the following spring, to Bountiful, their former home. Again in 1858 they were moved to Call's Fort where they remained until 1860. At this time, Anson Call having sold his interest in the Fort, returned to Bountiful where the family remained until the children were matured.

After attending the schools at Bountiful, Israel, in 1874, studied in the University of Deseret, which at that time was held in the old Council House with only three teachers. In December 1874, he married Medora White, daughter of John S. and Adelaide White of Farmington.

President Young having called him to go to Arizona with Lot Smith to help settle that country, he and his wife and one child, started on their journey, Feb. 2, 1876. After a hard trip they arrived at Sunset Crossing on the Little Colorado River, March 24, 1876.

Agreeable to the instructions of Pres. Young these Arizona settlers entered into the United Order, but the company broke up in the summer of 1884.

In 1880 (June 11th), Brother Call married Jane Lucinda Judd Knight, the daughter of Hyrum and Lisania Judd and the widow of Joseph Knight.

In the early spring of 1885, when the agitation against polygamy arose, he left both his families at Sunset so that the children could attend school, and went to Old Mexico. There he remained until August, when he returned to Salt Lake City in order to seek medical aid for his wife's eyes. He left his wife, Jane, and her family at Sunset and took his wife, Medora and family to Bountiful.

Apostle Erastus Snow, who had charge of the settlement of Arizona, told him that if he kept his families apart he would escape prosecution under the Edmunds-Tucker law. This he did, having one family in Utah and one in Arizona.

His wife Jane died July 1, 1918, at Mesa, Arizona, and his wife Medora died April 20, 1926, at Bountiful, Utah.

When the Davis Stake was divided, he was called to act as president of the High Priests Quorum of the South Davis Stake, and in 1910 he was chosen stake genealogical representative. In 1911 he was called to officiate in the Salt Lake Temple, and on July 13, 1930, he was ordained a patriarch of the South Davis Stake. (These last two positions he still holds at the time of this writing—May, 1936.)

CALL, Joseph Clarence, Bishop of the Bancroft Ward, Idaho Stake, was born Oct. 18, 1892, at Chesterfield, Idaho, a son of Ira Call and Emma Jane Barlow. He was baptized March 3, 1901, by Judson A. Tolman, and after serving in the various offices of the Aaronic Priesthood, was ordained an Elder, Jan. 12, 1917, by Charles S. Martin, a Seventy, Aug. 29, 1920, by Charles H. Hart, and a High Priest, May 17, 1925, by George F. Richards. He was president of a Deacons Quorum in 1909, when he moved to Denver, Colorado; later he resided in New York, his work as an engineer and inventor taking him into many states of the Union and also into Canada. After his return to Idaho he resided in Bancroft where he presided over the Y. M. M. I. A. and served as clerk of the Bancroft Ward from 1920 to 1922. On March 4, 1922, he was set apart as a president of the 197th quorum of Seventy by George F. Richards. Elder Call was set apart as second counselor to Bishop J. Fred Corbett of the Bancroft Ward, May 17, 1925, became first counselor Nov. 22, 1925, and was ordained a Bishop by Joseph F. Smith, Jr., Nov. 17, 1929, and set apart to preside over the Bancroft Ward. He and his wife make a point of doing some Temple work yearly.

On Oct. 10, 1917, Elder Call married Myrtle Elizabeth Eliason in the Salt Lake Temple. This union has been blessed with eight children, namely, Joseph Eliason, Lowell Eliason, Melvin Eliason, Betty Jane, Myrtle, Clarence Eliason, Erla Mae, and John Eliason.

In secular affairs Bishop Call has acted as a member of the Village Board of Bancroft, trustee of the Bancroft schools, etc. During the World war he served as a corporal and then as a sergeant and was attending the Zachary Taylor Officers Training School in Kentucky when the armistice was signed. He is proprietor of the Bancroft Electric and Machine Company.

CALLISTER, Thomas Clark, president of the Millard Stake of Zion, was born May 1, 1881, at Fillmore, Utah, a son of Thomas Clark Callister and Alice McBride. He attended the elementary and secondary schools of Fillmore, the Millard Stake Academy, the Brigham Young Academy and the Agricultural College at Logan, graduating from the latter school in 1903 with the degree of Bachelor of Science in civil engineering. He was baptized Aug. 1, 1889, by his father; ordained a Deacon, Nov. 12, 1893, by Frank Merrill; ordained a teacher Dec. 7, 1897, by Nelson S. Bishop; ordained an Elder July 25, 1901, by Thomas C. Callister; ordained a High Priest and set apart as first counselor to John A. Beckstrand, president of the Millard Stake, Nov. 13, 1921, by Apostle Richard R. Lyman. Brother Callister held this position until Sept. 16, 1928, when, under the hands of Apostle David O. McKay, he was set apart as president of the Millard Stake, which position he now holds. Pres. Callister has always been active in the Church, working in the Sunday School and the Mutual Improvement Association, and from Oct. 23, 1925, to May 9, 1926, filled a mission in California, being the first short term missionary to volunteer his services.

On May 17, 1906, in the Salt Lake Temple, he married Millie Peterson, daughter of Andreas and Adelaide Mathews Peterson of Scipio, Utah. To this union were born the following children: Edith Helen, Leland Clark, Duane Harold, Blane, Rulon Andreas and Grant Thomas.

While Brother Callister has never sought political office, he has served as city engineer, city councilman and mayor of Fillmore City, county surveyor of Millard County and State representative to the Utah Legislature. Always being active in civic affairs, he was one of the organizers and the first president of the Fillmore Commercial Club; district chairman of the Liberty Loan Committee; chairman of the East Millard Chapter of American Red Cross; chairman of Millard County division of Utah Taxpayers Association; chairman of Millard County District of Boy Scouts of America; chairman of the Sevier Canal Water Users Association and member of the executive committee of the Sevier River Water Users Association.

Brother Callister has been active in his profession as an engineer. He has held positions with the U. S. Reclamation Service, doing work in Utah, Idaho and Nevada, and also with the U. S. Forest Service. He obtained his position with the Forest Service so that he might have a better opportunity to study water supply, erosion and flood control, and it was largely through his untiring efforts as an engineer and officer of Fillmore City that floods have been controlled in the Fillmore mountains. He has been successively resident and construction engineer for the Sevier River Land and Water Company; engineer and manager of the Pahvant Irrigation District; engineer and manager of the East Millard Canal Company; director and vice president and president of the Central Utah Water Company. He was one of the organizers of the Millard County Telegraph and Telephone Company and for more than thirty years has been its manager and engineer. This company has six exchanges in Millard County and more than two hundred miles of toll lines. Brother Callister has also been engaged in farming, stockraising and banking.

During the present year (1936) Brother Callister in company with his son, Duane, who had just completed a three and one-half year mission in Czechoslovakia, toured Norway, Sweden, Denmark (the birthplace of Duane's grandfather Peterson), Germany, Czechoslovakia, Austria, Italy, France, Belgium, Holland, England, Isle of Man (the birthplace of his grandfather, Thomas Callister), Egypt, Palestine, Greece, and Yugoslavia, gathering genealogical data, visiting many of the missions of the Church, and studying the political, economic and religious conditions of the people of these countries. When they returned home, they returned with the firm conviction that America is in very deed a favored land in which to live. "A land which is choice above all other lands."

CHRISTENSEN, Christen N., Bishop of Salt Lake City 26th Ward, Pioneer Stake, Utah, from 1907 to 1910, was born Dec. 9, 1874, in Copenhagen, Denmark, the son of Axel Christensen and Anne Marie Nielsen. With his parents he emigrated to Utah in 1876, crossing the Atlantic Ocean in the ship "Idaho," which arrived in New York, July 10; the company arrived in Ogden, Utah, July 18, 1876. The Christensen family located in Brigham City, where Christen was baptized, June 24, 1883, by C. J. Nelson. After having been ordained to offices in the Aaronic Priesthood, he was ordained an Elder by Rudger Clawson in July, 1894. He was ordained a Seventy, Jan. 12, 1900, by Seymour B. Young, and filled a mission to Denmark in 1900-1902, laboring in the Aalborg Conference. During this mission he brought the Gospel to his mother's brother and family (wife and two daughters) who all joined the Church and came to Zion. He was ordained a High Priest and Bishop, April 22, 1907, by John Henry Smith and set apart to preside over the 26th Ward, which position he held until Oct. 16, 1910, when he moved to Brigham City, where he was superintendent of a Sunday School and a member of the stake boards of Y. M. M. I. A. and Sunday School. He located permanently in Salt Lake City in 1918, where he presided over a ward Y. M. M. I. A. He worked as a local missionary, presiding over the group, which labored specially among non-member residents of the Liberty Stake. In 1924, in the Salt Lake Tabernacle, the Liberty Stake staged a pageant with a cast of over one thousand, in which Elder Christensen played the role of Pres. Brigham Young and wore Pres. Young's coat. On Nov. 5, 1936, he was set apart to preside over the L. D. S. Danish organization in Salt Lake City.

On July 11, 1894, brother Christensen married Anna C. Jorgensen (a daughter of Asmus Jorgensen and Anna B. Andersen) in the Logan Temple. One son (Marcus Joy Christensen) was born to this marriage. His wife died in April, 1903, and on Nov. 16, 1904, he married Edith Rushton in the Salt Lake Temple. She is the daughter of Edwin Rushton and Sarah Robinson. Six children were born of this marriage, namely, Max R., Ruth R., Edwin R. (Rush), Fae R., Beth R., and Marco R. For several years Elder Christensen has been engaged as a missionary on the Temple Block, Salt Lake City.

CLAYSON, Eli James, Stake clerk of the Alpine Stake, was born Aug. 9, 1867, in Salt Lake City, Utah, a son of Eli Clayson and Rhoda Burris.

He was baptized Sept. 2, 1875, by William Whitehead, and after serving in various offices of the Aaronic Priesthood, he was ordained an Elder, Jan. 21, 1894, by Bishop Lorenzo Argyle, and a High Priest, Jan. 20, 1901, by Apostle Reed Smoot. He lived in Payson, Utah Co., until he was ten years old and later resided at Lake Shore and still later at American Fork, during which time he occupied many positions of trust in Church and civil capacities. Thus he was an alternate member of the High Council of the Nebo Stake, stake superintendent of Sunday Schools, treasurer of a building committee and clerk in the Alpine Stake; the latter position he has held for over thirty years. He was the first president of the Alpine District Board of Education, treasurer of the American Fork Irrigation Company for seventeen years, served two terms in the American Fork city council, and as a member of the Utah State Legislature for two terms (1929-1931). On

Feb. 1, 1894, he married Ann Elizabeth Hawkins in the Salt Lake Temple. Ten children have been born of this union, namely, Lillian, James (deceased), Lucy, Merrill Daniel, Zina Elizabeth, Leah Rhoda (deceased), Lourene May, Eli Karl, Ann, and Joseph Harold. Five of the eight surviving children have filled honorable missions. Sister Ann Elizabeth Hawkins Clayson died at American Fork, Dec. 23, 1928, and on May 17, 1933, Elder Clayson married Mrs. Ruby T. Brown in the Salt Lake Temple.

COLTON, Byron Owen, president of the Roosevelt Stake of Zion was born at Provo, Utah, Feb. 15, 1882, a son of Byron Oliver Colton and Sarah Maria Smith. He was baptized June 4, 1891, by George D. Merkley, served in offices of the Aaronic Priesthood and was ordained an Elder Dec. 5, 1904, by Joseph H. Bodily. He was ordained a High Priest, Aug. 23, 1908, by Francis M. Lyman and set apart as an alternate High Councilor in the Uintah Stake. Elder Colton served as Bishop of the Maeser Ward of the Uintah Stake from 1910 to 1918 and as Bishop of the Randlett Ward from 1918 to June 26, 1920, when the Roosevelt Stake was organized and he was chosen as second counselor in the presidency of that stake. This position he held until June 18, 1922, when he was called to succeed Pres. Wm. H. Smart in the presidency of that stake, being set apart to that position by Pres. Rudger Clawson.

Pres. Colton was a graduate of the Brigham Young University and later qualified as a civil engineer. He was County Surveyor in Uintah County from 1905 to 1908 and has held many positions of trust including School Trustee and member of School Board.

On June 29, 1910, he married Helen Merkley. This marriage has been blessed with nine children, namely, Ruth, Lula, Merrill Byron, Margaret, Elmo Sander, Gordon Leroy, Miles Merkley, Sarah and Grace Eleanor.

CRITCHLOW, William, a Utah pioneer of 1851, was born July 8, 1808, in East Deer township, Allegheny Co., Pennsylvania, at the head waters of the Roaring Run, which empties in the Allegheny River. It seems that Wm. Critchlow was destined to endure a life of suffering; yet he was never known to complain, but felt that the hand of the Lord was over him. When he was about nine years old he received a shock from plunging into a river to bathe when his body was overheated. A white swelling in his ankle was the result and for about a year he was confined to his bed and walked with crutches for some time afterwards. After the death of his father on March 11, 1828, he was for four years the sole support of his widowed mother and eight children, as his elder brother was away training to become a Presbyterian preacher. His brother having returned home, young William married Harriet Hawkins of Indiana County, Penn., on Feb. 14, 1832, and moved to Leechburg, Penn., where he built a home. On July 27, 1838, while supervising the building of a draw bridge on the Pennsylvania Canal, at a point near Saltsburg, he fell a distance of eighteen feet, striking his back on a log, and sustained an injury to his spine which resulted in the complete paralysis of his lower limbs. Such a handicap, to most men would have been a stop to future progress, but to a man of Wm. Critchlow's caliber, it meant only another obstacle which must be overcome.

In the month of February, 1839, he first heard the Gospel preached by the Elders and was visited by Elder Freeman Nickerson, who left with him a copy of the Book of Mormon and one of the Doctrine and Covenants. Receiving a strong testimony of the truth of the Gospel by reading these books, Wm. Critchlow was baptized in May of the same year by Samuel James and ordained an Elder in the month of August following by Elder Peter Dustin. In May, 1840, Brother Critchlow was appointed to preside over the Leechburg Branch of the Church. On April 21, 1844, he arrived in Nauvoo on the steamer "Charlotte" and was met at the pier by the Prophet Joseph Smith to whom he was introduced by the Prophet's brother William. After the martyrdom of the Prophet, Brother Critchlow moved to a settlement 27 miles south of Nauvoo, where he purchased and operated a twenty-five acre farm, but in 1845, on account of mob violence, he fled with his family to Nauvoo, where he received his blessings and was ordained a Seventy and later in 1845 was ordained a High Priest. After the exodus of the Saints from Nauvoo in 1846, Brother Critchlow and his family settled in Garden Grove, Iowa, where both he and his wife taught school. Here they remained three years and Brother Critchlow was appointed the first Justice of the Peace at Garden Grove and during the last year of his residence there, presided over the branch.

On Oct. 8, 1851, Brother Critchlow, wife and three children arrived in Utah and located in Ogden where he made his permanent home and taught school for a time. In August, 1852, he was elected Justice of the Peace, re-elected to this position in 1854 and also served as an alderman of the First ward in Ogden. In 1855 he was elected clerk and city recorder, which offices he filled with fidelity for eleven years. He then served as recorder for Weber County for twelve years.

Brother Critchlow never held a grudge against any who might have wronged him. On one occasion he was thrown from his buggy and lay in the road unable to get up without his crutches. A man passed whom Brother Critchlow, in his capacity of judge, had sentenced for some misdemeanor. This man jeered and laughed at Brother Critchlow in his pitiable condition and passed on without rendering him any assistance. But when, some time later, on account of drought many of the people in Weber County were destitute of bread stuff, this man was one of the first to receive a supply of flour from Brother Critchlow. On Oct. 24, 1880, Brother Critchlow was ordained a Patriarch by Pres. George Q. Cannon, and he died in Ogden, Utah, June 7, 1894. He was survived by two children, namely, Benjamin C. Critchlow (bishop of the Ogden First Ward), and William F. Critchlow. His only daughter, Charlotte Canfield, (with whom he made his home after his wife's death in March, 1887), died the year previous to his death, and two children (Lazarus and Charles) died in infancy. Brother Critchlow's life was very happy. During fifty-four years of married life, Brother and Sister Critchlow were scarcely separated for a day and they were greatly devoted to each other.

Wm. Critchlow was of Scotch descent. His grandfather, Wm. Critchlow, was called the Hero of the Battle of Saratoga in the Revolutionary war, because of distinguished service at that time. William's maternal grandfather, Lieut. Benjamin Coe, came to America about 1635 and his many descendants have been known throughout the United States ever since as citizens of outstanding character and accomplishments, numbering among them the subject of this sketch.

Brother Critchlow was paralyzed for fifty-two years from his waist down, but this handicap did not prevent him from accomplishing more than most men do who have the use of all their limbs. He not only took up land and supervised the work on it, but with his arms and hands did many things which were necessary to be done in pioneer times, and he became comfortably well off financially. He was a devout student of the Scriptures and the reading of the Bible was a part of the family worship strictly adhered to night and morning in his home. He made God his friend and one could not be in his presence long without being made aware of this close communion. He acknowledged the hand of God in all of his afflictions and felt that they were for his good.

The Gospel was uppermost in his mind and the desire to spread it paramount in his soul. He devoted much of his time writing to his relatives in the east explaining the Gospel to them. They, in turn, felt that his accident had affected his mind for in no other way could they understand his affiliation with such a despised people as the "Mormons." He sent his two sons and two grandsons upon missions before his death, and, through his correspondence was able to gather a considerable record of his relatives and have work done in the temple for them. His life was a benediction to his family and his memory will ever be cherished by them.

ERICKSON, George Henry, third Bishop of the Lehi Fifth Ward, Lehi Stake, Utah Co., Utah, was born July 8, 1884, at Koosharem, Sevier County, Utah, the son of Erick Gustaf Erickson and Maria Christina Anderson. He was baptized Sept. 1, 1892, by his father; ordained a Deacon when 12 years old, moved to Lehi from Koosharem in July, 1899; was ordained a Priest, Jan. 13, 1902, by Andrew R. Anderson; was ordained an Elder, Feb. 4, 1906, by Wm. Ashen, and filled a mission to the Southern States in 1907-1910, laboring in the East Tennessee Conference. In 1911 (Sept. 14) he married Myrtle Bone in the Salt Lake Temple, which marriage has been blessed with seven children, namely, Marie, Thella, Keith, Floyd, Lela, June and Larry Blaine. He was ordained a Seventy in December, 1911, by Charles H. Hart, and shortly afterwards chosen as one of the presidents of the 68th quorum of Seventy. He also acted as clerk of the Lehi First Ward, until September, 1916, when he moved to Delta, Millard County, Utah. He returned to Lehi in November, 1917. When the Lehi Fifth Ward was organized Feb. 29, 1920, he was chosen as ward clerk, serving in that capacity until August 7, 1927. Having been sustained as first counselor to Bishop Virgil H. Peterson, he was ordained a High Priest by Patriarch Hyrum G. Smith, Jan. 14, 1928, and served as a counselor until July 8, 1928, when he was chosen as Bishop of the Lehi Fifth Ward. He was ordained and set apart to that position Aug. 23, 1928, by Apostle Joseph F. Smith, jun.

ERIKSEN, Bendt Jensen, a missionary to Scandinavia and to the Indians, was born Oct. 18, 1832, in Vasingered, Frederiksborg amt, Sjaelland, Denmark, the son of Christian Eriksen and Dorthea Bendt. The early part of his life was spent with his parents in Copenhagen and vicinity. Receiving such education as the public schools of his country and time afforded, he made the best of his opportunity, as evidenced by his breadth of information and his unusual command of the Danish language.

He married early in life and became the father of three children, but a contagious disease very soon robbed him of his entire family. When he was yet a young man he joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints and immediately became one of its missionaries.

In February, 1864, he sailed for America. The ship "Louis Napoleon," on which he was passenger, caught fire and was burned in mid-ocean. With other passengers, he lingered for three days in small life boats, but they were finally rescued. He, however, lost all his baggage, landing in New York almost penniless.

His westward journey was typical of the immigrant youth of his time. He worked a few days and used his earnings to carry him westward. After some weeks he arrived in the Middle West, where he joined a company of "Mormon" pioneers and secured transportation across the Plains, which was nothing other than an opportunity to walk beside an ox team.

In Utah his was the life of a typical pioneer. Arriving in Salt Lake Valley in the early 60s, he became one of Utah's frontiersmen. He first settled in Weber county, and later in Box Elder and Cache counties, and finally made his home in Preston, Idaho.

His entire life was dedicated to the welfare of his family, community and Church. He filled two missions in his native land, Denmark, and one among the Indians of Arizona in 1870. He was a courageous defender of his religious principles, and until his death active in civic and religious enterprises.

For a number of years Brother Eriksen was president of the Scandinavian organization in the Oneida Stake and traveled extensively among the communities of southern Idaho, giving temporal and spiritual assistance to foreigners, who were attempting to build homes in the new country.

He reared a large family. His wife, Anna Jepperson, whom he married while at Milton, died after giving birth to one child, Anna. He later married Ellen Jonasson, who bore him three children, namely, Marie (deceased), Peter and Moroni (deceased). Still later he married Anna Sophia Danielson who bore him three children, Eldena (deceased), Ephraim Edward, and Alma D.

Brother Eriksen has also numerous grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Moral courage, a fine sense of justice, undying devotion to his family, his community and his church, marked his career. He died in October, 1906, at the age of 73.

FRIDAL, Knud Hansen, second Bishop of the Elwood Ward, Tremonton, Box Elder Co., Utah, was born Jan. 21, 1854, on the island of Fyen, Denmark, a son of Hans Olsen and Karen Marie Jorgensdatter. When about fourteen years old he heard the Gospel and was converted to its truth. He emigrated to Utah in 1873, with 976 Latter-day Saints, crossing the Atlantic in the steamship "Wisconsin" which arrived in New York, July 2, 1873. Continuing the journey by rail he arrived in Ogden, July 24, 1873. Soon afterwards he located in Bear River City and in 1875 was called by Pres. Lorenzo Snow to labor for two years in the United Order, which had been established in Box Elder County at that time. For a few months he worked in the tailor shop in Brigham City and then, at his own request, was given the position of chief herder of the Co-op dairy stock. During this time there were many Indians around and he became acquainted with some of them, who remained his friends long afterwards. It also gave him a chance to study and enjoy nature, which he so dearly loved. Brother Fridal remained with the United Order until it was dissolved. He also labored faithfully as a ward teacher, ward chorister, officer in the Y. M. M. I. A. and Sunday School, and as he was an excellent musician, his ability to play the violin and other instruments was a great help to the community. He was one of the founders of the Bear River Brass Band. From 1895 to 1897 he filled a mission to Denmark, laboring principally in the cities of Esbjerg and Copenhagen. When the Manila Ward was organized Dec. 16, 1900, Brother Fridal was chosen second counselor in the bishopric. On Sept. 6, 1908, he was advanced to the position of first counselor in the same ward, then called Elwood. On Oct. 11, 1908, when the Bear River Stake was organized, Elder Fridal was appointed Bishop of the Elwood Ward and set apart to that office by Apostle George F. Richards. He served as Bishop until Nov. 12, 1914, when the ward was divided into the Elwood and Tremonton wards, when he was honorably released. On Dec. 12, 1914, he was set apart as president of the High Priests Quorum of the Bear River Stake, in which capacity he visited the different wards of the stake each month with the High Council. In a civil capacity Brother Fridal served eight years as Justice of the Peace of the Manila Precinct. He passed away at his home in Tremonton, Oct. 25, 1933.

The following extract is taken from the local newspaper published at the time of his death: "He was a kind and loving husband and father, a man possessed of those characteristics admired by all—kind and charitable, gentle and forgiving, but firm in the right, he was a wise counselor and true friend, and was sought by many for his counsel and advice. He gave much of his time and means to assist in building up and developing this and surrounding communities."

FRIDAL, Mary (Marie) Hansen, wife of Knud H. Fridal, was born on the island of Fyen, Denmark, Jan. 28, 1859, a daughter of Rasmus Hansen and Ane Katrine Christensen. She was converted to "Mormonism" when quite young and was baptized March 20, 1871, by Chresten Nielsen, and confirmed the same day by Niels C. Edlefsen. With her mother, her sister Kirsten and other relatives, she left Denmark in June, 1871, crossing the Atlantic Ocean in the S. S. "Minnesota." After arriving in New York the company, consisting of 397 Latter-day Saints, continued the journey by rail and arrived in Utah in July, 1871. She located first in Bear River City and then went to Logan, where she spent the first winter. From 1876 to 1879

she taught the summer school in Bear River City. She was married to Knud H. Fridal, Nov. 15, 1878, in the Endowment House in Salt Lake City by Daniel H. Wells. She was called to act as secretary of the Bear River City Relief Society, Aug. 5, 1875, which position she held for over 25 years, or until May 12, 1901, when she was set apart as president of the Elwood Relief Society. This office she held with fidelity until Aug. 31, 1913, when she was set apart as second counselor in the Bear River Stake Relief Society. On June 4, 1916, she was sustained as first counselor in that organization which position she held with honor until the time of her death, which occurred Oct. 30, 1925, thus being over fifty years continuously an officer in the Relief Society. She was second counselor in the Bear River City Retrenchment Society (now Y. W. M. I. A.) from Jan. 3, 1876, to Nov. 21, 1881, and first counselor in the same organization from 1881 to 1890. Sister Fridal was the mother of eight children, namely, Knud H. Fridal, jun., Walter E., John Henry, Verne A., Ira O., Lucy (Mrs. Bowcutt), Hazel (Mrs. Wright), and May. Sister Fridal was a devoted wife, mother and friend. Her life was filled with acts of charity and love.

FULLMER, Benjamin, Bishop of the Alpine Ward, Utah Co., Utah, from 1907-1913, was born May 4, 1872, in Salt Lake City, Utah, the son of Eugene B. Fullmer and Sarah Jane Mitchell. He was raised in the Sixth Ward, Salt Lake City, where he attended the public schools, and later took a correspondence business course. He was baptized May 4, 1880, and taking an active part in Church affairs, he was ordained a Deacon, Dec. 31, 1882, by James Leatham, and acted as a counselor in the Deacons' quorum; was ordained a Priest, April 12, 1889, by Jesse West; ordained an Elder, June 10, 1895, by Charles H. Hyde; ordained a Seventy, June 27, 1897, by Apostle George Teasdale, and became a member of the 23rd quorum of Seventy. In 1895 (June 12), he married Nellie Needham in the Salt Lake Temple. Eight children are the issue of this marriage, viz: Myrtle, Earl N., Mildred, Arvilla, Elizabeth, Sarah, Virginia and La Ree. In 1897-1900 he filled a mission to the Eastern States, laboring principally in West Virginia. He was ordained a Bishop by Apostle Rudger Clawson and set apart to preside over the Alpine Ward, which position he held until Dec. 20, 1913. After that he resided for a short time in American Fork, and finally located in Salt Lake City in 1917. Elder Fullmer has occupied a number of secular positions in the community. Thus he served as mayor of Alpine City, as deputy sheriff in Utah County, and as city marshal at American Fork. He has followed merchandising in Alpine and Salt Lake City and is at present (1936) engaged as a contractor and builder in Salt Lake City. In a Church capacity he has labored as a home missionary. His wife died Oct. 17, 1928, at his residence in the Eighth Ward, Salt Lake City, and in 1936 (Aug. 1) he married Emily Bulmer, a widow, daughter of Joseph and Emily P. Brooks.

GARDNER, James Hamilton, the first Bishop of the Lehi Second Ward (Alpine Stake), Utah Co., Utah, was born July 29, 1859, at Mill Creek, Salt Lake Co., Utah, the son of Archibald Gardner and Sarah Hamilton. His father was a Utah pioneer of 1847, a natural leader of men, resourceful, energetic, able to cope with new conditions, and as a mill builder and pioneer had but few equals in the West. The father being too busy with public works to spend much time with his children, James H. was compelled to depend largely upon himself from his early youth. Like most others of that period he had but little opportunity for education, his entire school life consisting of six winters in the common schools. The rest of his time was spent working upon the farm and, after he had reached young manhood, in the lumber camps. He was baptized when about eight years old and subsequently ordained to the Priesthood. In 1880-1884 he filled a mission to Hawaii and for three years and a half he was engaged in both missionary and secular labors in that "garden spot of the world." Arriving upon the islands just at the time the sugar boiler on the Laie plantation was about to return home, Brother Gardner was assigned to work in the sugar mill and thereby became a thorough master of the art of boiling sugar. After his return to Utah he was ordained a Seventy by Abraham H. Cannon and followed various kinds of employment. In 1886 (Oct. 15) he married Rhoda Priscilla Huffaker (daughter of Simpson D. Huffaker and Rhoda P. Barnum), who was born Dec. 30, 1864. This union has been blessed with nine children, namely, James Hamilton, Archibald Delos, Viola, Vera, Reid Huffaker, LeRoy Barnum, Marian, Ferne, and Lois. Soon after his marriage, Brother Hamilton located in the great Snake River Valley in Idaho and struggled for several years to subdue this new country, making it fit for habitation. In 1890 the Lehi sugar factory was built, and as an immediate necessity of obtaining workmen to run it arose, Brother Gardner was summoned to Lehi and became a successful sugar maker, serving successively as sugar boiler, night foreman, general foreman, and finally as superintendent of the factory. Later he was made general consulting superintendent and a member of the technical board which controls the operation of the plants.

Since his residence in Lehi, Elder Gardner has given a large part of his time and talents to the work of public service, serving one term in the city council, and also as a commissioner of Utah County. He helped to establish new enterprises in Lehi, extending his activities to the mercantile and banking business, and to dry farming, fruit culture and stock raising.

In 1903, when the Lehi Ward was divided, James H. Gardner was chosen Bishop of the Lehi Second Ward.

GILBERT, Alonzo Jesse, president of the Idaho Stake of Zion, was born April 11, 1888, at Fairview, Oneida Co., Idaho, a son of Jesse Gilbert and Mary Ann Harris. He was baptized

July 2, 1897, by Joseph S. Wright and later ordained to the Aaronic Priesthood. After being ordained an Elder Oct. 27, 1907, by William Tanner, he filled a mission to Great Britain in 1907-1909, during which he labored in the Nottingham Conference and baptized fourteen persons. He returned home, Dec. 25, 1909, after having traveled 16,000 miles. During the next three years he worked on his father's farm at Whitney, Idaho, and was active in the ward as a Sunday School teacher and a class leader in Y. M. M. I. A., and on Nov. 27, 1910, was ordained a Seventy by Charles H. Hart and later became a president of the 197th Quorum. In 1913 Elder Gilbert moved to Fairview, Idaho, and a year later to Bancroft, where he established permanent residence. From 1920-1922, he served on the Idaho Stake Sunday School Board. On June 4, 1922 he was appointed clerk of the Bancroft Ward and on Jan. 30, 1926, became clerk of the Idaho Stake. On May 18, 1930, he was ordained a High Priest and set apart as second counselor in the presidency of the Idaho Stake by Apostle Melvin J. Ballard, and on Sept. 2, 1934, was sustained as president of the Idaho Stake, being set apart to that position by Apostle

Richard R. Lyman. Elder Gilbert married Jennie Layton in the Salt Lake Temple, Oct. 30, 1907, the ceremony being performed by John R. Winder. Sister Gilbert is a daughter of Christopher Layton and Mary Jane Roberts, and has become the mother of two sons and one daughter.

In secular affairs Pres. Gilbert served as a school trustee for 12 years and as chairman of the board two years. In 1931 he was elected Trustee of the Village of Bancroft, in which position he served four years, two as chairman of the board. Pres. Gilbert is a farmer and stock raiser by avocation.

GILES, James Arthur, seventh Bishop of the 14th Ward (Salt Lake Stake), Salt Lake City, Utah, was born Aug. 20, 1889, in Salt Lake City, the son of James Joseph Giles and Annie Grace Winter. He was ordained a Deacon, Jan. 31, 1902, by Joshua E. Salisbury; a Teacher, June 5, 1907, by Nels Monson; a Priest, Aug. 7, 1907, by Chr. N. Christensen; an Elder, Nov. 11, 1907, by Frank D. Jones; a Seventy, Jan. 31, 1915, by Seymour B. Young, and a High Priest, May 2, 1920, by Charles H. Hyde. In each of these quorums he held leading positions, being president of a Deacons' Quorum, president of a Teachers' Quorum, secretary in a Priests' Quorum and instructor in Elders' and Seventies' Quorum. From 1908 to 1910 he labored as a missionary in the Western States Mission, during which time he acted as president of the Y. M. M. I. A. in Denver. He also served as president of Y. M. M. I. A. in the 26th Ward for two years, member of the Stake Board of Y. M. M. I. A. in the Pioneer Stake for ten years (part of the time as counselor in the superintendency, and later as stake superintendent of Y. M. M. I. A.) Bro. Giles also served as chairman of the 26th Ward Recreation Committee for three years and on the Pioneer Stake Recreation Committee for several years. He served as a member of the High Council in the Pioneer Stake and also in the Salt Lake Stake.

While residing in the 17th Ward (Salt Lake Stake) he acted as president of the Y. M. M. I. A. for two years, and as supervisor of Priesthood activity for one year, and, while still a member of that ward was called to (twins who died within two weeks of birth), and Virginia Aleen. Bishop Giles has followed the printing business practically all his life, having commenced that work when only 14 years of age. Bishop Giles is blessed with a very genial disposition and seems to be specially suited to fill the position he occupies in the Salt Lake Stake.

succeed George Q. Morris as Bishop of the 14th Ward, being ordained a Bishop and set apart to that position, Jan. 13, 1924, by Melvin J. Ballard. After serving as Bishop of the 14th Ward for more than twelve years, Bishop Giles was honorably released at a ward conference held Oct. 18, 1936, having been called into the Salt Lake Stake High Council to supervise the labors of the Aaronic Priesthood, a position for which he is particularly fitted, having previously labored with such marked success in Y. M. M. I. A. work.

On April 24, 1912, Bro. Giles married Alice Margaret Stanley (daughter of Bishop Frank Stanley) in the Salt Lake Temple. This union has been blessed with six children, namely, Margaret Annie, Mary Alice, Shirley Grace, Jean Arline and James Arthur

GOFF, Clifford Isaac, a senior member of the High Council of the East Jordan Stake, was born July 27, 1877, in West Jordan (now Midvale), Utah, a son of Hyrum Goff and Maria T. Arnold. He was baptized in the "Old Mill Race," West Jordan, Aug. 6, 1885, by Bishop Archibald Gardner and confirmed the same day by his father, Hyrum Goff. He was ordained a Deacon May 16, 1891, a Priest, June 1, 1893, by his father, an Elder, Oct. 3, 1907, by William L. Bateman, a Seventy, Feb. 25, 1906, by Peter T. Rundquist, and a High Priest, Jan. 25, 1906. He began school in what was known as the "Old Mud Temple" in Midvale, Utah, when he was six years old, with Elizabeth Cutler as teacher. Continuing in the grade schools, the Central Seminary at Murray, and the Brigham Young University at Provo, he graduated from the latter institution in the spring of 1898. Just before his graduation, Brother Goff was called on a mission to the State of Colorado, but two months later, before leaving his home, he was given an honorable release, accompanied by a call to go to Manassa, San Luis Valley, Colorado, to take the principalship of the Church schools of that place. This position he held for three years. Upon his return home he was made principal of the East Jordan District Schools, which position he held for eight years. While in Colorado he was the M. I. A. chorister and the ward chorister of Manassa for three years. From 1901 to 1905 he served as first assistant superintendent on the Jordan Stake Sunday School Board and as superintendent of that board from 1905 to 1919.

He served as chairman of the Lesser Priesthood Committee in the Jordan and East Jordan stakes from Aug. 10, 1909, until September, 1935. He was a member of the District Board of Boy Scouts of America in Jordan Stake from 1920 to 1927, when he became chairman of the East Jordan Stake Boy Scouts organization, which position he still (1936) holds. He served as superintendent of Religion Classes of the Jordan Stake for four years, as stake chorister of the Jordan Stake for eight years and served in the same capacity in East Jordan Ward for eight years. He was a member of the Jordan Stake Board of Education for seven years and is now a member of the East Jordan Stake Board of Education and a High Council advisor to the Boy Scouts of America in that Stake. He was set apart as an alternate High Councilor in the Jordan Stake, Aug. 10, 1919, by Pres. John G. Sharp, who also set him apart as a regular High Councilor, Nov. 12, 1922. When the Jordan Stake was divided May 9, 1927, Brother Goff was set apart as the Senior High Councilman of the East Jordan Stake by Apostle John A. Widtsoe, which position he still holds.

In civil affairs Elder Goff has served as postmaster at West Jordan (now Midvale) by appointment of Pres. Theodore Roosevelt and later of Pres. Howard Taft, which position he held for eight years. He again served as postmaster at the same place from May 20, 1930, to Feb. 14, 1935, by appointment of Pres. Herbert Hoover.

He also served as deputy sheriff, city justice and sexton of Midvale, helped to organize the first commercial club there and became its first secretary, was a charter member of the Midvale Progressive Club and served as its secretary for three years. He was a probation officer in Salt Lake County for two years, and after being made a charter member of the Midvale Volunteer Fire Department he has been a member of the Utah State Firemen's Association for the past 15 years. He has been a notary public for the past 26 years and was a member of the board of directors of the People's State Bank and of the Midvale State Bank.

Of late years Brother Goff is a mortician and funeral director, and operates a mortuary, known as the C. I. Goff & Son Mortuary, he having become a licensed embalmer in 1917 and served as a member of the Utah State Board of Examiners of Embalmers from 1924 to 1931. He has been secretary of several mining companies and is now secretary of the Tintic Outpost Mining Company, and president of the Goff Investment Company, and of the Goff family genealogical association.

On Sept. 2, 1903, Elder Goff married Sabina Josephine Larson, in the Salt Lake Temple. Five children have been born of this union namely, Leo Clifford (born Jan. 4, 1905, and died Jan. 30, 1909), Louis Edwin (born Aug. 17, 1906), Cora Madge (born Dec. 13, 1907), Melba Berniece (born Aug. 22, 1909), and Coral (born March 30, 1911).

GREGORY, Elijah Binam, Bishop of Farmington Ward, Davis Co., Utah, was born Feb. 7, 1883, at Bairdstown, Lamar County, Texas, a son of Samuel L. Gregory and Lydia A. Myers.

He was baptized Dec. 25, 1896, by John Wood, ordained a Deacon in the fall of 1900 at Massey, Oklahoma, by President James G. Duffin of the Southwestern States Mission, and ordained a Priest, Jan. 21, 1905, by Jacob Miller at Farmington, Utah. Brother Gregory was ordained an Elder, May 10, 1909, by James Wm. Walker, and filled a mission to the Central States from 1909 to 1911. He was ordained a Seventy, Nov. 17, 1913, by Amasa L. Clark and served as one of the presidents of the 56th quorum of Seventy from 1918 to 1929. He was ordained a High Priest, Nov. 26, 1929, by Edw. B. Clark, and a Bishop by Apostle Rudger Clawson, Jan. 25, 1931, and set apart to preside over the Farmington Ward. Elder Gregory served as an officer and class leader in various quorums of the Priesthood and auxiliary organizations with which he was associated from his youth and acted as chorister of the Farmington Ward from 1918 to 1931.

In civil life Elder Gregory served as city councilman two terms, and as director, and at present, as president of the Miller Floral Company of Farmington. In 1912 he married Julia Ellen Tree in the Salt Lake Temple. This marriage has been blessed with seven children namely, Frederick Levi, born Sept. 24, 1913; Julia Fern, born Sept. 9, 1915; Rulon Wells, born Sept. 22, 1918; LeGrande E., born Sept. 30, 1921; Harold Lamar, born Nov. 9, 1923; Helen Ruth, born May 2, 1926, and died Feb. 27, 1930; Dorothy Mae, born Aug. 16, 1931.

GROVER, Thomas, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born in Whitehall, Washington Co., New York, July 22, 1807, the son of Thomas Grover and Polly Spalding. As the father, Thomas, had died during the previous February, the rearing and teaching of the infant, as well as that of his brothers and sisters was left to his widowed mother.

When the boy was twelve years old he entered a boat on the Erie Canal as a cabin boy and twelve years later he became captain of the boat "Shamrock."

In 1828 he married Caroline Whiting, the daughter of Nathaniel Whiting and Mercey Young, and while they were still living at Whitehall, their oldest daughter Jane was born. A little later he moved to Freedom, New York, where three other daughters were born. It was at this point that he first heard the Gospel and became a member of the L. D. S. Church in 1834.

From a letter written March 2, 1886 by Caroline Nickerson Hubbard to her daughter Persia Grover Bunnell, the following is taken: "It was in Freedom, Cattaraugus County, New York, where he and his wife first heard and embraced the Gospel. In 1834 the Prophet Joseph and Sidney Rigdon were the ones that bore the message to them and baptized Brother Grover and some others. He removed to Kirtland and helped to build the Temple there.

Shortly after his arrival in Kirtland, Brother Grover called on the Prophet. As he knocked at the door the Prophet opened it and said, putting out his hand: 'How do you do, Brother Grover. If God ever sent a man he sent you. I want to borrow every dollar you can spare for immediate use. Brother Grover entered the house and conversed with the Prophet about the situation, offering to let Joseph have what money he needed. Brother Joseph accepted the offer and told Brother Grover to look around and find a location that suited him for a home and then return, when the money he had advanced would be returned to him. In a short time the place was selected, but Brother Grover refused to receive back his money, saying, 'I have sufficient for my needs without it.' From that day the devotion of Thomas Grover to Joseph Smith never wavered."

On Feb. 4, 1841, when the Nauvoo Legion was organized with Joseph Smith as lieutenant-general, Thomas Grover was chosen as an aide-de-camp on the general's staff and on Jan. 28, 1842, he was appointed one of his body guards.

When Joseph was kidnapped by Wilson and Reynolds, Brother Grover was one of the number who rescued him, also when Joseph was imprisoned at Rock Island his release was effected by Thomas Grover and Stephen Markham. During his lifetime the Prophet gave him a sword which has been a precious heirloom in the family and which is now in the hall of relics at the State Capital of Utah.

During the years from 1840 to June, 1844, Brother Grover was sent on three missions through the states of Michigan, New York and southern Canada.

In June, 1844, while doing missionary service near Kalamazoo, Michigan, he was warned in a dream to return to Nauvoo. He hesitated about the matter until the warning was repeated the third time. Then he awoke his companion, a Brother Wilson, and they got up, made it a matter of prayer and were told to go at once to Nauvoo. They did so, taking the shortest route possible, and arrived at Carthage just after the martyrdom of the Prophet Joseph and his brother Hyrum. Hurrying forward, they overtook the company with the bodies and accompanied them to Nauvoo, where Brother Thomas was requested to assist in the preparation of the bodies for burial. During that service, at the request of Emma Smith, he cut a lock from the Prophet's hair which she divided with him.

In October, 1840, Brother Grover's wife, Caroline Whiting, died, leaving six little girls, Jane, Emmeline, Mary, Adeline, Caroline and Eliza Ann; the baby, Emma, died.

On Feb. 20, 1841, he married Caroline Eliza Nickerson Hubbard, widow of Marshall Hubbard. She was the mother of Persia Grover, born Dec. 27, 1841, and Marshall Grover, born Sept. 27, 1846. This wife Caroline wrote in her journal "that the principle of plural marriage was taught by the Prophet Joseph Smith, that her husband, Thomas Grover, believed and accepted that law, and that on Dec. 17, 1844, he married Hannah Tupper, daughter of Silas Tupper, and Hannah Ladd, as a plural wife. The first child of that union, Thomas, Jr., was born Nov. 17, 1845, in Nauvoo, Ill."

In December, 1845, they had their endowments in the Nauvoo Temple and their sealings on Jan. 20, 1846. Just before they were driven out of Nauvoo, Brother Grover also married Laduska Tupper, a sister of Hannah.

Feb. 8, 1846, this family along with many others, left their comfortable homes and started the long trek across

Iowa on the way toward the Rocky Mountains.

When they were crossing the Mississippi River on a flatboat, the boat commenced to sink because of a plank being stamped off by oxen that were being led behind the wagons. In trying to loosen the oxen, Brother Grover had got off the boat and was down the stream some little distance when he saw that only the covers of the wagons were above the water. Being an expert swimmer he soon reached the boat and tearing the covers loose he told the folks "not to move an inch and that not a hair of their heads should be harmed." Hannah held her ten-weeks-old baby on her shoulder to keep his head above water and the little three-year-old Persia cried, "Lord, save my little heart." For four months they traveled before they reached Council Bluffs, July 23, 1846. Brother Grover at once began to prepare for winter. He went down into Missouri and bought a load of fresh pork which he sold for enough cornmeal to last the family all winter. Later he was appointed butcher for the entire camp and "in that capacity he killed and cut up, without any help except that of his own family, one or two beeves every day besides many hogs."

When the plan came up to organize the first company of Pioneers, Thomas Grover was one of the first to join with Pres. Brigham Young and help to effect that organization. Leaving his family at Winter Quarters to follow with the season's emigration, he himself set out with the Pioneer company.

When the company reached the north fork of the Platte River, it was necessary to build a ferry to carry the wagons across. Brother Grover was appointed to supervise the construction of such a ferry and to take charge of operating the same. He selected ten men to go for timbers with him and they got out two large trees, hewed them out canoe fashion and lashed them together to make the raft. After ferrying the pioneer company across, they also took over a large company of Oregon emigrants, for which they were paid in provisions and foodstuff, which was a great blessing to the weary travelers. Sufficient food was received to last the entire company twenty days.

After this crossing had been successfully made, Pres. Young and his counselors appointed Thomas Grover and eight other ferrymen and one blacksmith to remain at the ferry and attend to the crossing of the on-coming emigrants as well as the later companies of the Mormon Pioneers. They remained at the Platte until the water went down and then started back along the trail to meet their families. They ran out of provisions at one time and for three days had only one skunk for food, then coming to an Indian camp, they were given an abundance of buffalo meat. They met the company with whom their families were traveling and, joining with them, they arrived in the Salt Lake Valley, Oct. 2, 1847, with Charles C. Rich's company.

The first winter was spent in Salt Lake City, but the following spring they moved to Duel creek, or what is now known as Centerville. One year later they moved to Farmington. That season Brother Grover raised three hundred bushels of wheat, in spite of the ravages of the crickets, which the family fought desperately to keep them from eating all of the crop. This they did by digging a ditch around the field and filling it with water and then walking along the banks and killing the crickets with switches as they attempted to jump across.

In the fall of 1848, as he and about thirty other men were starting for California, he was asked to use his influence with this company (himself included) to pay for five hundred head of Texas cattle which had been bargained for and brought to Utah to help keep the Mormons from starvation. This they did, by paying four dollars a head for them after the men had earned it in California. At this time Pres. Young also appointed Brother Grover to settle up the accounts and business connected with the Saints who had come around Cape Horn with the ship "Brooklyn." This responsibility he also accomplished successfully.

He worked in the gold mines for a year and during that time he collected about $20,000 in gold dust from the California members of the Church and turned it into the tithing fund of the Church. In addition to this, on the return home, he was chosen captain of a rich company of Mormons returning to Utah, when by his influence and example the company put into the hands of the Church leaders in tithing and loans such a generous contribution of gold dust that Pres. Young putting his hands on Brother Grover's shoulders said, "Brother Grover, if every Latter-day Saint would do as you have done there would be no need of a tithing among this people." (From the Journal of his wife, Hannah.)

In the spring of 1850 Brother Grover took his family and went back across the plains to Iowa to buy cattle. On the way he met Aunt Lydia Knight. She was very destitute and had no team to take her to Utah. Brother Grover gave her a yoke of cattle, clothing and food to last her until a crop could be raised. When the Grover family arrived in Iowa they settled on Mosquito Creek, and Brother Grover went into Missouri and bought 150 cows, ten yoke of oxen and some young cattle. They decided to stay there for the winter so that made it possible for his wife Hannah to go back to New Hampshire to get her mother. During the winter Pres. Jedediah M. Grant came to see them and because of ill health he remained with them most of the winter. When he was ready to return to the Valley, Brother Grover gave him a team of horses and a light spring wagon that he had bought for the purpose of bringing Grandmother Tupper in to join the body of the saints. In the spring of 1853 Brother Grover and his family returned to the Salt Lake Valley bringing 150 cows with him. This entire journey to and from Iowa was made by the family traveling alone and without accident. Brother Grover was a splendid marksman and so was able to provide his family with buffalo meat and wild game.

After his return he again settled in Farmington. The year of the grasshopper depredation he had plowed his land in the fall and during a warm spell in February he planted his wheat. It came on early and was ready for harvesting before the grasshoppers got so bad, while the late grain was nearly all eaten by them.

That season he harvested seven hundred bushels of wheat which would have brought five dollars a bushel on the public market, but Brother Grover loaned and sold every bushel of it, except enough for his own family, for the tithing office price of two dollars a bushel.

At this time Sister Brown, a widow, sent her boy to ask Brother Grover to sell her a little flour, just a few pounds. Brother Grover sent his son to fill a grain sack full of flour and put it on the boy's wagon. The flustered youth asked how much a whole sack of flour would cost, adding that he had only a little money. To which Brother Grover replied, "I do not sell flour to widows and fatherless children." As the sack was placed upon the wagon the happy boy drove away in tears. In 1856 two girls from England, Emma and Elizabeth Walker, arrived in the Valley with one of the handcart companies. Later these girls became wives of Thomas Grover and both of them reared large families.

The "Big House" as the family home was called was built in 1856 and is still standing in a good state of repair, on the main street in Farmington.

Brother Grover served three terms in the Utah Legislature, part of the time being during its session in Fillmore. He was also Probate Judge of Davis County.

During the construction of the Cottonwood Canyon canal he contributed twenty-five young cows for the purpose of transporting the granite blocks for the erection of the Salt Lake Temple.

In 1861 he sent a driver, wagon and a yoke of oxen to the Missouri River to help bring in the poor emigrating saints. He continued this practice each year as long as teams were being sent back. In 1863 his son Thomas was driver of the team.

When the Indians fell upon the Mormon colony near Salmon River, Idaho, he fitted out and sent a man with riding horse, pack animal and provisions to those left helpless and in distress. He contributed half the ground for the Farmington meeting house and boarded the men free of charge during its construction.

Brother Grover was ordained a High Councilman in Kirtland, Jan. 13, 1836, under the hands of Joseph and Hyrum Smith and Sidney Rigdon, Brother Rigdon being the spokesman. Shortly afterward he moved to Far West, Missouri, and served in the same capacity there and also on the banks of the Missouri river among the scattered saints. He was called by revelation to be a member of the High Council in Nauvoo. (Doctrine and Covenants Section 24, page 445). This calling did not cease at Nauvoo, but continued on into Utah at the request of Pres. Young. He served as a missionary in the Eastern States during 1874-1875, and visited his old home and kindred on that occasion.

Brother Grover's word was as good as his bond. A common saying with him was, "A debt can never be outlawed; a dollar is due until it is paid. If I were going to be hanged I should go on time."

During the crusade of the early 80s, as he was returning home from Nephi, U. S. Marshal Dyer boarded the train. With a sporting twinkle in his eye, his son Joel came up to him and said: "Father, Marshal Dyer is on the train, shall I introduce you to him? You might arrange a compromise with him." "What," said the father, "compromise with the devil? Never!"

Another time a deputy marshal came to his home to serve a writ on him for polygamy. When the man appeared at the door and announced that he had a writ to serve, Brother Grover shouted in his sonorous voice, "Read it. Read it." The officer fumbled in his pocket for the paper, but in his excitement could not find it. At the repeated command, "Read it," he turned and fled from the house in terror. That warrant was never served.

At the time of his death there were less than $200 in obligations standing against him, and not a dollar's worth of his property had ever been mortgaged.

At a reunion of the family held in Parker, Idaho, July 22, 1902, his daughter Emmeline Grover Rich said, "My father was loved by all who knew him. He never spoke evil of anyone; he did not boast, and he did not take honor unto himself. Many times he has divided his last meal with a sufferer. His word was as good as his bond. He could neither be bought nor sold. He was incapable of a little mean or treacherous trick. Not one of his children has apostatized."

At the death of his wife Caroline, in 1840, the kindred of Brother Grover wrote to him from New York to bring his six little children home to them. The distracted father decided to do it and so told the Prophet Joseph of his intentions. Brother Joseph was at the time making preparations for a somewhat extended absence from home himself, and so said to Brother Grover, "You are not to do anything of the kind. I want you to stay here and take care of my family while I am away." Brother Grover granted his request and his children often related how they had seen their father load up his wagon with food and provisions and take it to Emma Smith and her family.

About the last Sunday in the life of Thomas Grover he attended the sacrament meeting in Farmington Ward. As the amen was spoken and the people were about to move, Brother Thomas suddenly raised his hand and said, "Wait a minute, Bishop." Then he added, that he could not go home until he had borne testimony that the Gospel was true and that Joseph Smith was a true Prophet of God. All during his late years he seemed to feel that his special mission was to testify to the divine mission of Joseph Smith.

On Thursday, Feb. 20, 1886, Thomas Grover passed to the Great Beyond, leaving four wives and 26 living children to continue his work.

GROVER, Thomas, Jr., a Utah Pioneer of 1847, was born Nov. 17, 1845, in Nauvoo, Illinois, a son of Thomas Grover and Hannah Tupper. During the exodus from Nauvoo in February, 1846, he was saved from drowning by his mother holding him on her shoulder as the ferry boat on which they were crossing the Mississippi river dipped water until the wagon boxes were full.

He came with his parents to the Salt Lake Valley, arriving Oct. 2, 1847, in Charles C. Rich's company.

In the spring of 1848 he located in Centerville, and later moved to Farmington, Davis Co. He accompanied his parents back to Iowa in 1850, and returned in 1853, having walked the greater part of the distance and helped to drive 150 cows from the Missouri river to the Salt Lake Valley.

He spent most of his boyhood herding cattle on the promontory west of Brigham City and farther south along the lake bottoms. Many times he assisted his father in butchering beef and cutting meat in pieces weighing from ten to twenty pounds each; and helped to distribute it to their neighbors in Farmington for Sunday or Christmas dinners.

In 1861 he drove a team back to the States in Captain Joseph Horne's company to help bring in the poor emigrating saints. The teamsters were five months on the road. Brother Grover was a member of the posse under Robert T. Burton who broke up the Morrisite camp on the Weber in 1862.

In the fall of 1864 he accompanied George Heiner and Wyman Parker to Morgan County, and spent the Christmas holidays with the family of Martin Heiner. On the 10th of February, 1865, he married their daughter, Elizabeth, being sealed in the Endowment House by Heber C. Kimball. Their first child, Thomas Martin Grover, was born in Morgan, Nov. 27, 1866.

Owing to the grasshopper depredations in Morgan County during the summer of 1868, Brother Grover took his wife and baby and went to Farmington to work on the threshing machine. There his second child, Evelyn Maria, was born. Soon after the October conference that year he was called to settle on the "Muddy," and thus became one of the founders of St. Joseph, Nevada. The "Muddy" Valley at that time constituted a part of Utah. On the journey down their mules were stolen by the Indians, leaving the travelers stranded nearly one hundred miles away from their destination, until help could be sent to them. They loved the country, and raised wonderful crops, but the Indian troubles and the excessive taxes of Nevada impelled President Young to release the colonists from their mission and instruct them to return home or go elsewhere, where conditions were more favorable. Brother Grover went back to Morgan, and spent a good part of the time in 1871 and 1872 in the Endowment House doing baptismal work for his dead kindred on his mother's line.

He moved to Nephi, Juab Co., in 1872, where he remained until August, 1879, when he again returned to Morgan. During his sojourn at Nephi he served as town constable and worked at blacksmithing and farming. For three years he presided over the Mound's branch of the Church. In 1877 he and his mother went to St. George and did work for the dead in the temple. At that time he married Louisa Ann Picton.

In 1883 he was set apart by William W. Taylor to preside over the 35th Quorum of Seventy, which position he held with honor until 1910. Shortly after that he was ordained a High Priest, and was called to officiate as an ordinance worker in the Logan Temple, where he rendered very faithful service, which especially endeared him to Pres. M. W. Merrill. He performed 9090 baptisms in that Temple. In 1885 (May 7), he married Ann B. Saunders, who became the mother of two sons and one daughter.

Three years (1901 to 1904) he spent in Rexburg, Fremont Co., Idaho, to which place his older children had removed. While there he labored as a stone mason, helping to erect the Rick's Academy, the Rexburg Central School and several other public buildings. He also did extensive building construction in Afton, Wyoming. In 1880 and 1881 he worked as overseer for Grover, McCune & Reed in railroad construction in Colorado. He also helped to build the Utah Central Railroad through Juab County.

His character was outstanding for integrity, honesty and true charity. The widow, the down-trodden and the missionary's family were always objects of his special care. He was rigidly punctual in all his affairs, a conscientious worker, a faithful observer of the Word of Wisdom, extremely temperate in all his habits and true to every trust.

He was the father of six sons and thirteen daughters, all faithful Latter-day Saints.

HADFIELD, William, second Bishop of the Lehi Third Ward, Lehi Stake, Utah Co., Utah, was born June 3, 1879, at Provo, Utah Co., Utah, the son of Samuel Hadfield and Alice Baker. Being left an orphan he moved from Provo to Lehi in December, 1889. He was baptized in 1890 by A. M. Fox, ordained a Deacon by W. W. Clark, and ordained an Elder by Edward Southwick in June, 1902. In 1902-1904 he filled a mission to the Eastern States, where he acted as president of the New York Conference for five months. At home he acted as superintendent of the Lehi Third Ward Sunday School from 1904 to 1910. In 1910 he was chosen as second counselor in the Bishopric of the Lehi Third Ward, having previously been ordained a Seventy, in 1906, by Jonathan G. Kimball. In 1905 (June 28) he married Charlotte Gough in the Salt Lake

Temple. This marriage has been blessed with eight children, viz: Alice Charlotte, Dale William, Horace James, Heber Gough, Leo Arnold, Glenn Robert, Donna Mary, and Willa Fay. He was ordained a Bishop, Oct. 14, 1923, by James E. Talmage and set apart to preside over the Lehi Third Ward, which position he still holds. Brother Hadfield was the first and only Latter-day Saint to represent Utah at the National Convention of Mail Carriers in September, 1913, at Evansville, Indiana.

HALES, Jacob Lehman, Bishop of the Cedar Valley Ward, (Lehi Stake) Utah Co., Utah, was born March 11, 1864, at Enterprise, Morgan Co., Utah, the son of Henry William Hales and Sarah Jane McKinney. He moved with his parents to Cedar Fort when eight years old, and after reaching the age of thirteen he moved to Millard County, settling near Deseret. He was educated in Cedar Fort and Deseret.

He was baptized Aug. 15, 1880, by David K. Crafts; was ordained an Elder, May 15, 1899, by Frank Hinckley; ordained a Seventy, May 17, 1899, by Joseph W. McMurrin, and filled a mission to the Eastern States in 1899-1901, laboring in West Virginia. In 1901 (Oct. 16) he married Mary Matilda Crafts in the Salt Lake Temple; two children have blessed this marriage, viz: Myron Lehman and Katharina Rebecca. Brother Hales was ordained a High Priest, March 12, 1911, by George Cunningham. He served as assistant superintendent of the Cedar Fort Sunday School, and as second counselor to Bishop James E. Garn (being set apart to the latter position Feb. 25, 1912). After serving as first counselor to Bishop Hacking about one year, he was sustained as Bishop of the Cedar Valley Ward, Jan. 22, 1922, being ordained to that office Jan. 29, 1922, by Apostle Richard R. Lyman, and still acts as Bishop in Cedar Valley. Brother Hales is a farmer by avocation.

HATCH, Ezra Taft, fifth Bishop of the South Bountiful Ward, Davis Co., Utah, was born Dec. 29, 1871, at Bountiful, a son of Orin Hatch and Elizabeth M. Perry. He received his education at Bountiful; was baptized July 4, 1880, by Wm. Brown, and taking part at Church activities suited to his age, was ordained a Deacon, but soon afterwards went to live in a sheep camp and for some years was engaged in the sheep and cattle business, locating in Morgan, Rich and Tooele counties successively. At all times, however, he endeavored to be a consistent member of the Church, and on March 28, 1897, was ordained an Elder by John N. Hatch. Less than a month afterwards (on April 23, 1897) he was ordained a Seventy by Seymour B. Young and set apart for a mission to the Society Islands, for which mission he left his home on April 27, 1897, and returned in October, 1900. While on the islands he labored mostly on the Upper Tuamotu group and also on the Leeward Islands, principally on Borobora, Huahine and Mepete. On July 19, 1904, he married Edith Folsom in the Salt Lake Temple. Three sons and three daughters have blessed this union, namely, Ezra Charles, Julian Wilder, Mark, Ruth, Leah and Edith. Soon after his marriage, while residing temporarily in the Argyle Ward, Rich Co., Utah, Brother Hatch was ordained a High Priest, Aug. 6, 1905, by Apostle Rudger Clawson and set apart as a member of the Woodruff Stake High Council. Returning to South Bountiful in December, 1905, he acted as a home missionary in the Davis Stake, and from 1908 to 1916 served as superintendent of the South Bountiful Sunday School. He was chairman of the ward Genealogical Committee and for twenty years acted as a ward teacher with great fidelity. In January, 1928, he succeeded Bishop Samuel C. Howard as Bishop of the South Bountiful Ward, a position he still holds. In a civil capacity Bishop Hatch has served as county commissioner for Davis County for two years, director in the Deseret Live Stock Company, president of the town board of Woods Cross in 1935, and has held many other positions of honor and trust.

He has followed farming, stock raising and dairying, in which projects he has had much success. He is known for his integrity and fair dealing.

HEATON, Charles Carroll, president of the Kanab Stake of Zion, was born Dec. 4, 1880, at Cotton Farm, Washington County, Utah, the son of Jonathan Heaton and Lucy E. Carroll. When about three years old he moved with his parents to Orderville, where he was raised and attended school. He was baptized July 7, 1889, by Alvin F. Heaton, ordained a Deacon, Feb. 6, 1897, by Charles W. Carroll, and an Elder, Nov. 28, 1900, by Edward Carroll. From his earliest youth he took an active part in the Orderville Sunday School, acting at one time as its superintendent and he also held the positions of secretary and first counselor in the ward Y. M. M. I. A. He moved to the Moccasin farm in 1900, soon after marrying Margaret Cox, Nov. 28, 1900, in the St. George Temple. This marriage has been blessed with ten children, namely, Charles Leonard, Jennie, Clifford K., Richard, Keziah, Jonathan Grant, Grace, Melvin Kelsey, Margaret Alice, and Lavinia Ann. Prior to 1900 President Heaton's parents had located at Moccasin Springs, in fact when the United Order in Orderville was dissolved and the property previously owned by the corporation was distributed, the Heaton family received as their portion the Moccasin Farm. In due course of time some of the family moved to other parts of the country and Jonathan Heaton and his sons became the sole owners of the Moccasin Springs property. After the death of Jonathan

Heaton, the ranch was owned by his widow, Mrs. Lucy E. Heaton and her six sons, who now occupy seven beautiful homes at the Moccasin Springs and constitute the entire population of the Moccasin Springs Branch of the Church, numbering about seventy souls. Charles C. Heaton was appointed president of the branch when it was first organized. He held that position until 1913, when he was called on a mission to the Northern States. On that occasion he was ordained a High Priest by Apostle Francis M. Lyman. On his mission he labored eight months in the South Chicago Branch (or the Roseland Branch), later for eight months as president of the Wisconsin Conference and then nine months as president of the Manitoba Conference in Canada. After returning from his mission, he acted as president of the Y. M. M. I. A. in the Kanab Stake and also as a member of the High Council. These positions he held until Feb. 25, 1934, when he was set apart as president of the stake.

In a secular capacity President Heaton has acted as postmaster, justice of the peace and state livestock inspector. He is a successful farmer and stock raiser and has from his early youth exhibited spiritual and civil leadership. Both in Canada and the United States he has taken an active part in the Boy Scout movement.

HERRICK, John Lester, president of the Wetsern States Mission, from 1908 to 1919, was born in Ogden, Utah, June 2, 1868, a son of Lester James Herrick, and Agnes McQuarrie. His boyhood and young manhood were spent in the Second Ward of Ogden, where he served in the presidency of the Deacons' and Teachers' Quorums, and had charge of the Priests under the direction of Bishop Robert McQuarrie. He also acted as secretary and later as president of the Young Men's Mutual Improvement Association of the Ogden Second Ward, presided over the ward choir and served as business manager of the Second Ward Dramatic Club for many years.

He was ordained an Elder in May, 1894, by John Scowcroft, and a High Priest in 1899 by Apostle Franklin D. Richards. In 1889 he was chosen secretary of the Stake Board of the Young Men's Mutual Improvement Association and became superintendent of said board in 1899, serving in that capacity until the division of Weber Stake in 1908. Prior to that he was a member of the High Council for five years.

In the fall of 1908 he was called to preside over the Western States Mission with headquarters at Denver, Colorado, and assumed the duties of that position, Jan. 1, 1909. During his administration he built the present chapel and mission home at Denver. After being released in July, 1919, he acted as president of the Denver Branch in 1928-1934.

In 1894 (June 1) he married Jane Richards West in the Salt Lake Temple, Apostle Franklin D. Richards performing the ceremony. This union has been blessed with three children, namely, Josephine, John West, and Lester James.

Brother Herrick started work as an office boy in the Z. C. M. I. at Ogden in 1885 and remained with that institution for five years; he was assistant bookkeeper when he resigned to go to the First National Bank of Ogden as bookkeeper. Five years later he was appointed assistant postmaster at Ogden, which position he occupied for six years. He resigned to join the Boyle Furniture Company as secretary-treasurer, and two years later he entered into a partnership with George J. Kelly as "Kelly & Herrick Real Estate & Insurance." This partnership continued for five years or until he was called on a mission to the Western States in 1908. After being released from his mission, he remained in Denver with his family and engaged in insurance brokerage; continued in that line until he received his present appointment as guide in the Church Office Building, April 15, 1936. His wife died in Salt Lake City, Sept. 11, 1936, at the age of sixty-two, following an operation.

HILTON, Eugene, second counselor in the presidency of the San Francisco Stake, was born Nov. 12, 1889, at Virgin City, Washington Co., Utah, a son of John Hugh Hilton and Maria Parker. He was baptized on his eighth birthday anniversary (Nov. 12, 1897) by his father. After being ordained to the offices of Deacon and Priest, he was ordained an Elder May 26, 1912, at Hinckley, Utah, by John C. Webb, and was ordained a High Priest May 23, 1926, by Apostle Richard R. Lyman at Thatcher, Arizona, while presiding over the Gila College. From 1912 to 1914 he filled a mission to the Eastern States, during which time he presided for approximately one year, over the East Pennsylvania Conference. Always active in his Church duties, Brother Hilton served as a member of the Granite Stake Sunday School Board from 1921 to 1922, and as a member of the General Board of Sunday Schools from 1922 to 1927. In 1924 he moved with his family to Arizona to work in the college at Thatcher. Three years later he moved to Berkeley to attend the University of California. While there he acted as superintendent of the Sunday schools of the San Francisco Stake from 1927 to 1930, when he was called into the High Council of the San Francisco Stake. On Nov. 16, 1930, he was set apart by Apostle George Albert Smith as second counselor in the presidency of the San Francisco Stake.

After returning from his mission he became a salesman to assist himself through the Brigham Young University. In a civil capacity, Elder Hilton was a farmer until 1914. He taught school from 1917 to the present time, acting as principal of the L. D. S. Seminary in Lehi, Utah (an organization of which he was also the founder), principal of the Blackfoot (Idaho) Seminary, instructor at the L. D. S. University from 1921 to 1924; instructor and secretary of the Gila College (Thatcher, Arizona) from 1924 to 1925, and as president of that institution from 1925 to 1927. Then removing to California in June, 1927, he spent one year as full time graduate student and then accepted a position as head of the Social Studies Department of the Roosevelt High School in Oakland, California, and later as head of the Social Studies and English departments of the McClymonds High School in Oakland.

His educational studies led to his receiving the following degrees: A.B. in 1919 from the Brigham Young University at Provo, Utah; M. S. in 1924 from the University of Utah, and Ed. D. in 1930 from the University of California. While attending these universities he became prominent in an editorial capacity, being editor of the B. Y. U. "Banyan," author of the "Junior College Book List," published by the University of California Press in 1930, also by appointment of the North Central Association, author of an extensive research study which produced in 1932 the "Evaluated Period," Vol. I, page 56.

In 1916 (Sept. 28), Pres. Hilton married Ruth Naomi Savage in the St. George Temple. This union has been blessed with eight children, namely, Eugene Savage, Joseph Roy, Phyl Normington, Theodore Caldwell, Lynn Mathers, John Levi, George Fayette and Patricia Ruth. He is well qualified for the position which he holds, being highly respected among the leading men of San Francisco and vicinity, and is always ready to uphold the principles of the Gospel among his associates and friends.

JACOBS, Henry Chariton, jun., president of the North Sanpete Stake of Zion, was born March 15, 1876, in Prattville, Sevier County, Utah, the son of Henry Chariton Jacobs and Susie Stringham. With his parents he moved to Salt Lake City when two years old and received his schooling in the Sugar House Ward and later in the Eighteenth Ward Seminary, under the tuition of Geo. M. Mumford. Young Henry was baptized by his father, March 15, 1884, and confirmed a member of the Church by Bishop Orson F. Whitney. He was ordained successively to the offices of Deacon, Teacher, Priest and Elder, and was ordained a Seventy, March 27, 1896, by Heber J. Grant. In 1896-1898 he filled a mission to Great Britain, laboring in the Sheffield Conference, part of the time as conference secretary. During this mission he baptized three converts. In 1902 (December 17), he married Alberta Larsen in the Salt Lake Temple and moved to Magrath, Canada, where he resided for a time. On March 27, 1903, he was ordained a High Priest by John W. Taylor and set apart as second counselor to Bishop John P. Anderson of the Raymond Ward of the Alberta Stake. In 1909 he returned to Utah and engaged in the mercantile business at Mount Pleasant, where, continuing over the Sunday School of the Mount Pleasant South Ward. On Sept. 12, 1909, he was set apart as first counselor to Bishop Justis Burt Seeley of the Mount Pleasant North Ward, and on July 16, 1911, he succeeded Bishop Seeley as Bishop of that ward, in which position he served until Sept. 16, 1926, when he was chosen as a High Councilor in the North Sanpete Stake of Zion. On June 16, 1929, he was set apart as second counselor in the presidency of the North Sanpete Stake, which position he occupied until June 21, 1936, when he was set apart by George F. Richards as president of said stake, succeeding Soren M. Nielsen in that position. Brother and Sister Jacobs have a family of three sons and one daughter, namely, James Larsen, Henry C. (3rd), Bryant Stringham and Dorothy.

President Jacobs is of pioneer ancestry and inherits the sturdy virtues of faith, courage and perseverance which characterized that noble band of empire builders of the West.

JACOBSON, Oliver Karl, an Elder who died in the mission field, was born Sept. 16, 1897, at Randolph, Utah, a son of Oliver Jacobson and Emma Jane Thornock. He was baptized June 2, 1906, by F. Hunsaker, ordained a Deacon Dec. 11, 1911, by P. E. Dunford, ordained a Priest Nov. 27, 1915, by his father and ordained an Elder Nov. 26, 1921, by Clarence Aston. On Dec. 1, 1921, he was set apart for a mission to New Zealand by Joseph F. Smith, jun. In June, 1924, while still laboring as a missionary, he was thrown from a horse and kicked in the head. He was able to remount and ride to an emergency hospital, where he received treatment, but the following day was transferred to the hospital at Neunka, where he remained for a month, until he died, July 18, 1924. His remains were sent to his parents in Idaho, where funeral services were held at Bancroft, Sept. 23, 1924, attended by Elders Rufus K. Hardy and Benjamin Goddard, representing the Maori Missionary Society.

JENSEN, Hans Peter, presiding Elder of Mantua Ward, Box Elder County, Utah, was born in Ny Hegested, Sjalland, Denmark, March 3,

1815, and learned the blacksmith trade when a very young man. He joined a religious movement in Copenhagen in 1834, and became a member of a faction of the Lutheran Church, called "Kirketroende." In 1839, when the first Baptist missionaries came from Hamburg to Copenhagen, he became fascinated by the Bible doctrines taught by them, was shortly afterwards baptized and made a member of the first Baptist church in Scandinavia. Shortly afterwards he went as a Baptist missionary to the city of Aalborg, Jutland, where he succeeded in raising up a branch of that church, of which he was appointed president, or "Forstander." About the same time he laid the foundation of a flourishing foundry and blacksmithing business in the adjacent town of Norre Sundby, in which he was very successful, and soon became a man of considerable means and influence.

In the fall of 1850, Elder Geo. P. Dykes arrived in Aalborg, as the first "Mormon" missionary in Jutland, and began to preach the fulness of the Gospel. Hans Peter Jensen opposed him at first, but was soon convinced of the truth, after which he with his wife and six others were baptized Oct. 27, 1850, as the first fruits of Elder Dykes' labors in Aalborg. A flourishing branch sprang into existence in Aalborg a month later, mostly made up from persons who formerly were Baptists and Hans P. Jensen was ordained a Priest and appointed to preside over it. Almost immediately after this a severe persecution arose against the Saints, among whom Brother Jensen was the main object of the people's hatred and his life was sought several times. Upon one occasion the mob forced him to flee from his home and family, and run about 20 miles, to a place where he could escape on a steamer bound for Copenhagen. Subsequently he spent most of his time in the missionary field and traveled extensively in Denmark and Norway. He organized the two first branches of the Church in the latter country and also organized the first branch in the dukedom of Schleswig, which at that time belonged to the Danish monarchy. He was constantly subjected to severe persecution, and at one time very roughly handled on the island of Bornholm. At a conference, held in Copenhagen in February, 1852, he was ordained to the office of a High Priest by Erastus Snow and appointed a counselor to Elder John E. Forsgren, who at the same time was appointed president of the Scandinavian Mission pro tem. He subsequently occupied the same position to Elder Willard Snow, who was sent from England to take charge of the Church in Scandinavia. When Pres.

Willard Snow took sick in August, 1853, and started for England, Elders Hans P. Jensen and Peter O. Hansen accompanied him and were with him on the steamer when he died and his body buried in the North Sea.

Elder Jensen continued his missionary career until the fall of 1853, when with his family he emigrated to Utah, after he had sold his valuable factory in Norre Sundby and spent the means derived therefrom for the benefit of the mission and the emigration of the poor. Shortly after his arrival in Utah he located in Brigham City, being one of the first settlers of that place. In the spring of 1863, about a dozen Danish families were called by the Church authorities to settle in the "Little Valley," three miles east of Brigham City, in charge of Hans Peter Jensen. The place was named Mantua after Pres. Lorenzo's Snow's birthplace in Ohio. Here Elder Jensen presided until 1877. During that time he had retained his home in Brigham City where he resided until his death, May 29, 1883. He filled numerous positions of trust and responsibility and was devoted in supporting Pres. Snow all through the period of the Brigham City co-operative movement. He left a large family, having 35 sons and daughters.

JOHNSON, John Edward, first counselor in the presidency of the San Francisco Stake of Zion, was born Oct. 2, 1890, in Murray, Salt Lake Co., Utah, the son of John Johnson and Edla Wilhelmina Lundell. His parents being staunch Latter-day Saints, the boy, John Edward, was trained in the principles of the Gospel from his early youth and

Robert L. Campbell, and subsequently ordained successively to the offices of Deacon, Teacher, Priest and Elder. When a few months old, he moved with his parents from Murray to Benjamin, Utah Co., Utah, where he received a common school education, graduating from the eighth grade in the spring of 1906. At the age of seventeen, he entered the High School Department of the Brigham Young University at Provo, graduating from that school in 1911. He then entered upon college work in the Brigham Young University, graduating with the degree of A. B. in the spring of 1915. During his last year of study there he functioned as president of the student body. In 1912-1913 he taught school in Hinckley, Utah, and later acted as principal of the Snowflake Stake Academy at Snowflake, Arizona. After moving to Berkeley, California, in the fall of 1917, he entered the School of Jurisprudence of the University of California, graduating with the degree of Juris Doctor in the spring of 1920. After being admitted to the bar in 1920, he commenced the practice of law in Provo, Utah, being associated with Alfred August Booth and Isaac E. Brockbank. Leaving Provo in December, 1921, he became a title examiner in the Federal Land Bank of Berkeley, at Berkeley, California. He became attorney for said bank in August, 1922, and attorney for the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Berkeley upon its organization in 1923. Resigning these positions in August, 1926, he became attorney for the Pacific Coast Joint Stock Land Bank of San Francisco and Mercantile Mortgage Company. In 1931 he became a member of the law firm of Johnson, Ruggeri and Harmon with offices in the Federal Reserve Bank Building. In 1932, Mr. Ruggeri returned to Utah, whereupon the firm became known as Johnson and Harmon. While attending the University of California, Brother Johnson acted as counselor to President W. Aird Macdonald for a short time in the Oakland Branch of the Church. When the Berkeley Branch was organized in November, 1929, he became the branch president and served in that capacity until July 10, 1927, when the San Francisco Stake was organized. Upon that occasion, he was chosen as first counselor in the presidency of said stake, which position he held until the stake was divided and Oakland Stake was organized, effective Jan. 1, 1935. He was ordained a High Priest and set apart to that position by Apostle George Albert Smith on July 10, 1927.

On June 22, 1916, he married Mamie Huish (Mary Elma Huish), daughter of James William and Mary Elizabeth Fillmore Huish, in the Salt Lake Temple. This union has been blessed with four children, namely, Robert Huish Johnson, Marion Huish Johnson, Carolyn Huish Johnson and Thomas Huish Johnson. On June 13, 1933, his wife, Mamie, passed away in Berkeley, where she is buried in the Sunset Memorial Cemetery. On Aug. 31, 1934, Elder Johnson married Miss Ethel La Von Brockbank, daughter of Taylor Park Brockbank and Sarah LeCheminant Brockbank, in the Salt Lake Temple, of which union there has been born a daughter.

JONES, Ezra Benson, an active Elder in the Church, was born March 29, 1856, in Provo, Utah, the youngest son of James W. Jones and Sarah Ann Mallerny. Soon after his birth the family moved to North Bend (later Fairview), Sanpete Co., Utah, where they assisted to establish a new settlement, of which Brother James N. Jones was the first presiding Elder. Little Ezra who was named in honor of Apostle Ezra T. Benson, was only ten years old when his father died, and eight months after that his brother Thomas was killed by Indians during the Black Hawk war. Ezra still remembers the horrors of that period and also the hardships encountered in getting material, with which to build houses, the labor of digging irrigation ditches with their primitive equipment and the many discouragements which the pioneer settlers had to overcome. And yet he insists that, on account of the sincere friendships and the simple amusements in which all engaged with no class distinction, he still regards those days as the happiest of his life. Later, Brother Jones engaged in operating saw mills and had a grocery store at Millburn, Sanpete Co., for 28 years. In 1926 he and his family moved to Salt Lake City, where with his sons, he established the Jones Coal and Expansion Joint Company with which he is still associated. On May 23, 1894, he married Sarah Jane Housekeeper, a pioneer girl of pioneer parents, who has been a loyal and loving helpmeet to him and has become the mother of twelve children, eight of whom were present on the occasion of the golden wedding of Brother and Sister Jones, May 23, 1934. At that time there were 25 grandchildren alive.

JONES, James Naylor, a Utah pioneer of 1849, was born April 3, 1810, at Baltimore, Maryland. He was residing in Ohio when L. D. S. missionary operations were commenced in that state. Becoming a convert to the restored Gospel he participated in the early activities of the Church in Ohio, and later became associated with the Prophet Joseph Smith, acting as his body guard upon many occasions in Missouri and Illinois. Brother Jones and his wife were the only members of the family who accepted the Gospel, the others being bitterly opposed to "Mormonism." While living in Nauvoo, James N. Jones and his wife (Sarah Ann Malerny Jones) suffered much persecution and mob violence, which on one occasion resulted in their house being burned and their only cow driven off, although it was known that Brother Jones had a family of little children to support. After being driven from Nauvoo, Brother Jones, with many of the exiled saints, located at Council Bluffs, Iowa, where he remained until 1849, when, crossing the plains with an ox team in a company of other emigrants, he arrived in Great Salt Lake Valley in the fall of that year. Soon after his arrival he located on Big Cottonwood Creek, but soon afterwards moved to Provo, Utah Co., where he was called to act as a counselor in the Utah Stake Presidency in 1855.

In 1859 he moved to Sanpete County to assist in founding a settlement on the Sanpitch River. The site chosen was called North Bend because the river at that point changes its course to a somewhat southerly direction. Here the settlers quarried rock for the erection of a fort as a protection against Indians, and when a postoffice was established, the name of the settlement was changed to Fairview because of its pleasant location. Elder Jones was the first presiding Elder of the settlement, and under his direction a townsite was surveyed and city lots distributed, while farming land for each family was also designated.

Brother and Sister Jones raised a large family, one of whom, Thomas, was killed by Indians during the Black Hawk war while on picket guard. Brother Jones died at Fairview, Aug. 14, 1865, and his wife died there Feb. 14, 1886.

LANGLOIS, David Richard, first president of the Burley Stake of Zion, was born Jan. 28, 1874, at Huntsville, Utah, a son of George Langlois and Mary Charlotte Ohlson. He was reared to manhood in Huntsville, where he completed the eighth grade in the public school. He then attended the Weber Academy one year, after which he attended the University of Utah, graduating from the four year normal course in 1897. He then taught school in Weber County for five years. He was baptized July 30, 1882, by Peter C. Geertsen and ordained an Elder Jan. 29, 1899, by George Green. He served as first counselor in the Y. M. M. I. A. at Huntsville in 1899-1900. From 1899 to 1901, inclusive, he was a member of the Stake Board of Religion Classes of the Weber Stake and acted as superintendent from 1902 to 1905, when he moved to Acequia, Idaho, where he opened a general merchandise store. A branch of the Church was organized in Acequia in April, 1906, by Pres. Wm. T. Jack of the Cassia Stake, with David R. Langlois as president. He was also made president of the Elders' Quorum, which included all the Elders on the Minnidoka Project, both on the north and south sides of Snake River. In 1909 he sold his mercantile business and took his wife and four children to visit his wife's relatives in England, she having emigrated from England in 1898, after having endured much persecution on account of her religion. Returning from England in 1910, Brother Langlois and his family located in Oakley, Idaho, where he organized the Farmers' Commercial and Savings Bank, of which he was cashier for four years. In 1910 he was made a member of the Cassia Stake

Sunday School Board and in 1911 became stake superintendent of Religion Classes. In 1914 he sold his interests in Oakley and moved to Burley, Idaho, entering the grocery business.

On May 30, 1915, he was ordained a High Priest by Pres. Wm. T. Jack and sustained as Bishop of the Burley First Ward, being ordained to that office Jan. 25, 1916, by Apostle Geo. F. Richards. On July 27, 1919, the Cassia Stake was divided and the Burley Stake organized with Bishop Langlois as president. He was set apart to this office by Apostle Melvin J. Ballard on the date mentioned.

On Feb. 8, 1899, he married Edith Maude Ellerby. Eight children have been born of this union, namely, Gladys Edith, David Percy, Charles Vernon, Joseph Alfred, Annie Winifred, George Roland, Richard Ellerby and Gordon Ellerby. Richard died Dec. 26, 1926.

At present Pres. Langlois is engaged in farming, sheep raising, and real estate, loan and insurance business. The Burley Stake, under the direction of Pres. Langlois, is progressing and the members are actively engaged in the work of the Lord.

MACDONALD, Wallace Aird, jun., president of the San Francisco Stake of Zion, was born Jan. 10, 1887, at Mesa, Arizona, the son of Wallace

Aird Macdonald and Sarah B. Brundage, and a grandson of Alexander F. Macdonald, the first president of the Maricopa and Juarez stakes. The boy, who was known as "Wallie," was baptized, March 7, 1895, by Warner H. Allen. After being active in his Church duties in Arizona, he was ordained an Elder, Sept. 28, 1905, by Morris C. Phelps, and from Oct. 15, 1905, to Feb. 5, 1908, filled a mission to the Southern States under the direction of Pres. Ben E. Rich, where he worked in the mission office and also labored as a missionary in the states of Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky and Ohio. He was active in Sunday School, M. I. A. and Priesthood organizations in the Maricopa Stake, where he held the offices of ward president of M. I. A., secretary of Sunday School, ward clerk and stake clerk. In 1911 he removed to San Francisco to follow newspaper work as an artist and reporter for the "Daily News," and later, the "Bulletin," and "Call." He was also associated with the N. E. A., a newspaper syndicate, for several years. From 1911 to 1915 he was active in Church work in the San Francisco branch, where he was a member of the Sunday School superintendency, and president of Y. M. M. I. A. In 1915 he moved to Berkeley, where he became active in the auxiliary organizations of the Oakland branch. In 1919 he was chosen second counselor to Pres. N. B. Phillips of that branch, and on May 5, 1920, was set apart by Pres. Jos. W. McMurrin as president of said branch, then belonging to the California Mission. The branch included all the East Bay district from Haywards to Vallejo. Under his direction, Sunday schools, and finally branches, were organized in Alameda, Elmhurst, Dimond, Berkeley, Richmond, Martinez, Haywards and Vallejo. On Jan. 24, 1926, he was ordained a High Priest by Apostle John A. Witdsoe; and when the San Francisco Stake was organized July 10, 1927, he was set apart by Apostles Rudger Clawson and George Albert Smith to preside over that stake.

On June 2, 1909, Pres. Macdonald married Nellie Lesueur, daughter of Pres. John T. Lesueur of the Maricopa Stake and Geneva Casto. The ceremony was performed by John R. Winder in the Salt Lake Temple. This union has been blessed with two sons, Clyde Lesueur (born March 23, 1912) and Keith Lesueur (born March 14, 1915), both in San Francisco, California. Pres. Macdonald is a man of strong and pleasing personality, a capable leader and a devoted Latter-day Saint.

MATHESON, John B., first counselor in the presidency of the Salt Lake Stake of Zion since 1929, was born

June 1, 1890, in Salt Lake City, Utah, a son of John Matheson and Catherine K. Brown. He was baptized Sept. 3, 1898, ordained to the offices of Deacon, Teacher, Priest, Elder and Seventy, and was ordained a High Priest by Rudger Clawson. He has held various positions in the Priesthood quorums and auxiliary organizations of the Church, including secretary and later superintendent of Sunday School and president of M. I. A. in the 29th Ward,

Salt Lake City. He was deputy commissioner of the Salt Lake Stake District of Boy Scouts of America and directed scouting in the Salt Lake Stake for thirteen years. He served as secretary and later as vice president of the Third Ward Civic Improvement Association for several years and was elected to and is now (1936) serving on the Board of Education of the Salt Lake City Public Schools. He was also a counselor to Bishop Wilford W. Emery of the 29th Ward, Salt Lake City, president of the Salt Lake Stake Y. M. M. I. A., and a member of the High Council of the Salt Lake Stake. From the latter position he was honorably released and set apart as first counselor to President Wilford A. Beesley in the Stake presidency on June 16, 1929. On June 1, 1911, Elder Matheson married Edna C. Hazen in the Salt Lake Temple; three boys and three girls have been born of this union.

After being educated in the elementary schools, Salt Lake High School and Business College, Brother Matheson was employed by Cutler Bros. Company of Salt Lake City, Utah, for thirteen years, after which he became a member of A. J. Kirk & Company, wholesale jobbers of Salt Lake City, of which firm he is at present secretary and one of the directors.

MABEY, Chas. R., Governor of Utah from 1921 to 1925, and a member of the general board of Y. M. M. I. A. from 1925 to 1935, was born Oct. 4, 1877, at Bountiful, Utah, a son of Joseph Thomas Mabey and Sarah L. Tolman. He was baptized Oct. 18, 1885, by his father, functioned in offices of the Aaronic Priesthood and later was ordained an Elder. He was ordained a Seventy July 20, 1900, and set apart for a mission to Germany, from which he returned in July, 1903. During the latter part of this mission he presided over the Berlin Conference. Bro. Mabey was educated in the public schools of Utah, is a graduate from the Normal School of the University of Utah, studied at the Chicago University, graduated from the School of Fire at Fort Sill, Oklahoma and is a graduate of the American Institute of Banking. He served as mayor of Bountiful from 1911 to 1913 and was a member of the State Legislature from 1913 to 1915.

Elder Mabey has rendered efficient service to his country as a soldier. He was captain of Company "E" of the National Guard of Utah in 1897-1898; enlisted as a volunteer in Battery "A" Utah Light Artillery, May 5, 1898, and was mustered out Aug. 16, 1899, at San Francisco, Cal. He was under fire more than twenty times and was cited for gallantry in action on river gunboat "Covadonga" on Rio Grande de Pampanga May 14, 1899. He volunteered as a private in the World war July 3, 1917, served with the 145th Field Artillery as captain of Battery "F" and as instructor at the School of Fire, Fort Sill, Oklahoma, from April to December, 1918. He is the author of a book entitled "Utah Batteries, a History", published in 1900, served as a member of the American Legion and United Spanish War Veterans and as commander of Salt Lake Post No. 2 American Legion in 1927-

1929. While serving in the Utah Legislature Elder Mabey was author of the Anti-Race Track Gambling Bill and while Governor of Utah he reorganized the State's administrative system, inaugurated fight to get school lands of Utah confirmed to the state and was instrumental in securing the Colorado River Pact between seven states, whereby rights of several states were established, from which grew the now famous Boulder Dam.

On Dec. 20, 1905, Elder Mabey married Afton Rampton in the Salt Lake Temple. This marriage has been blessed with four children, namely, Rendell N., Chas. P., Robert B., and Edward M.

NIELSEN, John Strong, Bishop of the Mona Ward, was born Aug. 28, 1877, at Mona, Juab Co., Utah, a son of Christian Emil Nielsen and Christine Knudsen. He was reared and schooled in Mona and later became a student of the High School at Payson, and the Juab Stake Academy at Nephi, and of the Brigham Young Academy at Provo. He was baptized by his father, ordained to offices in the Aaronic Priesthood and ordained an Elder March 2, 1899, by his father. On Jan. 3, 1900, Elder Nielsen was ordained a Seventy by George Teasdale and set apart for a mission to the Eastern States, during which he labored principally in Virginia, West Virginia, New Jersey and in Brooklyn, N. Y. After his return in 1902 he served as a home missionary. On June 10, 1910, he was ordained a High Priest by Orson F. Whitney and set apart as second counselor in the bishopric of the Mona Ward and later served as a member of the High Council of the Juab Stake, in which capacity he acted until Oct. 6, 1929, when he was set apart as Bishop of the Mona Ward.

In 1914 (Aug. 19th) he married Hazel Vest in the Salt Lake Temple. This union has been blessed with ten children, namely, John Merrill, Helen Christine, James Wendell, Mary, Paul Wayne, Calvin Emil, Elaine, Joseph

NIELSEN, Soren Michael, third president of the North Sanpete Stake of Zion, was born June 4, 1886, at Visborg, Aalborg amt, Denmark, son of Soren Christian Nielsen Gade and Johanne Marie Jensen (Renborg). He emigrated to Utah in 1895 with his mother and family, crossing the Atlantic in the steamship "Ethiopia." The family located in Mount Pleasant where the boy attended the public schools and where he was baptized when 11 years old by Henry Hasler and later ordained a Deacon. Brother Nielsen was ordained an Elder April 13, 1913, by Christian N. Lund and acted as a counselor in the 1st Quorum of Elders in North Sanpete Stake from 1914 to 1917. In 1914 he was called to act as president of the Y. M. M. I. A. in the Mount Pleasant South Ward which position he held for two years and was also a member of the ward Sunday School superintendency. After that he acted as Stake superintendent of Y. M. M. I. A. He was ordained a Seventy, July 15, 1922, and became a member of the 66th Quorum of Seventy. On April 1, 1923, he was ordained a High Priest by Rudger Clawson and set apart to preside over the North Sanpete Stake of Zion, which position he still held in 1930.

On April 16, 1913, Pres. Nielsen married Florence Ericksen, a daughter of Henry Ericksen and Wilhelmina Monson. This union has been blessed with five children, namely, Florence, Howard Soren, Don Ericksen, Grant Ericksen and Margerie.

In 1919 Pres. Nielsen moved into the Mount Pleasant North Ward, where he acted as an officer in the ward Y. M. M. I. A. and as ward scout master. In scout work he proved himself a most efficient officer and in 1921 led a successful excursion to Bryce Canyon with nearly 200 people, of whom 110 were regular scouts from the two Mount Pleasant wards. He also served as deputy scout commissioner for the North Sanpete Stake, and as president of the Bryce Canyon Council of Boy Scouts of America. Later he was awarded the Silver Beaver award for distinguished service in scouting. From his boyhood days, Pres. Nielsen has been engaged in the sheep business, his interests extending into various parts of Utah and into Colorado, Wyoming and Idaho. In 1908 he became associated with the Ericksen Meat and Grocery Company as an employee and stockholder. At present he holds a controlling interest in the firm, is manager of the corporation and has charge of the company's store on Main street, Mount Pleasant. He is still interested in the sheep industry and also in banking enterprises. Being deeply interested in civic affairs, he served for seven years in the Utah National Guard and in 1916-1917 did actual military service on the Mexican border as a captain of cavalry. He served as a member of the Utah Water Storage Commission under Governor Dern and Governor Blood successively, was president of the Snow College Board until that school was turned over to the State and served as chairman of the Board of county commissioners of Sanpete County in 1933 and 1934. Summing up we may say that Pres. Nielsen has distinguished himself as a successful business man, a good citizen and an energetic Church worker.

NOALL, Irvin Simon, second counselor in the presidency of the Salt Lake Stake of Zion since 1929, was born May 20, 1891, in Salt Lake City, Utah, a son of William Thomas Noall and Sarah Elizabeth Smith. He was baptized in June, 1899, and became secretary and later president of a Deacons' quorum. Subsequently he was a counselor in a Teachers' quorum; served as a block teacher for four years, served as a Sunday School teacher and Stake Sunday School board member. He was a president of the Y. M. M. I. A. in the 28th Ward, Salt Lake City, and later served as a member of the Salt Lake Stake M. I. A. Board. Brother Noall was ordained an Elder in 1911 in preparation for a mission to England which extended from 1911 to 1914. His labors were chiefly in the Leeds Conference. He became a member of the Salt Lake Stake High Council in 1924 and on June 16, 1929, he was set apart as a counselor to Pres. Wilford A. Beesley in the Stake presidency.

In August, 1915, Elder Noall married Sarah E. Walters. Five children have blessed this union, namely, Maurine, Phyllis, Irvin Walter, Norma La Von and Kenneth LeRoy.

Elder Noall was educated in the elementary and secondary schools of Salt Lake City, the University of Utah (where he graduated with the degree of B. A. in 1918), the University of California (where he received the degree of M. A. in 1927, and Ed. D. in May, 1935). As a youth he learned the carpenter trade under his father. In 1915 he changed his occupation to that of teaching, which he pursued as follows: High School at Milford 1915-1916; Murdock Academy at Beaver, 1916-1918; principal at Grantsville

High School, 1918-1919; director of part-time and evening school at Ogden, 1919-1920; state supervisor of Trade and Industrial Education, 1920-1922, and 1924-1934; special agent for part-time education for Federal Board for Vocational Education, 1922-1924; state director of Vocational Education, 1930-1936; instructor in summer school at University of California, 1924-1926, and 1935; at Agricultural College of Utah, 1927, and University of Utah, 1936; supervisor of Vocational Teacher-Training in the San Francisco Bay Region for the California State Board of Education, 1934-1935.

PALMER, William Rees, eighth president of the Parowan Stake of Zion, was born at Cedar City, Iron County, Utah, May 7, 1877, the son of Richard Palmer and Johanna Rees. He was baptized July 25, 1885, by Charles Heyborne, ordained a Deacon by Bishop Wm. H. Corry and subsequently ordained a Teacher and a Priest. He was ordained an Elder by his father in 1897 and ordained a Seventy in December, 1897, by Apostle George Teasdale. In 1897-1900 he filled a mission to the Southwestern States, laboring principally in what was then Indian Territory (now Oklahoma) and Kansas, presiding part of the time over the Cherokee Conference, and serving as mission secretary during the latter part of his mission. From his earliest youth he was active in Church affairs; thus he acted as president of the Y. M. M. I. A. in 1895-1897, and as superintendent of the Ward Sunday School for twelve years (1902-1914). He also acted as a president of the 63rd Quorum of Seventy, and filled the position of stake clerk from 1900 to 1909. On Sept. 20, 1908, he was ordained a High Priest and served as a member of the Parowan Stake High Council from 1909 to 1918. On June 22, 1918, he was ordained a Bishop by Apostle Richard R. Lyman and set apart to preside over the Cedar West Ward.

From 1909 to 1910 he served as county assessor for Iron County. Having received a good education he engaged in the banking business and for a number of years served as cashier in the Iron Commercial and Savings Bank, and later as a director in the Bank of Southern Utah. He also served eight years as book-keeper and assistant manager of the Cedar City Co-op Store. Later he acted as book-keeper, secretary and treasurer, and still later as manager of the Cedar Mercantile and Livestock Co. and as secretary-treasurer of the Iron Springs Sheep Co. In 1918 he helped to organize the Cedar City Home Building Society and served as its president until 1931. Having in his youth learned the trade of saddle and harness maker, he worked with his brothers at that trade for several years, prior to 1900. Having served as Bishop of the Cedar West Ward for three years, he was chosen as second counselor to Henry W. Lunt in the stake presidency. On May 31, 1925, he succeeded President Lunt as president of the Parowan Stake of Zion. This position he still (1936) holds.

President Palmer seems to be a natural historian and has spent considerable time in collecting historical data of the early pioneer days of Southern Utah and has also paid considerable attention in that line to the Indian tribes inhabiting southern Utah and northern Arizona. In recognition of this ability he was appointed by Governor George H. Dern to serve on the Board of Control of the Utah State Historical Society, which position he still holds. He has published much new Indian material and has delivered many lectures on Indian and pioneer subjects. He has also served on the historical committee of the Utah Trails and Landmarks Society. In October, 1935, he became attached to the Church Historians Office. During the World war, by appointment from

Bishop Charles W. Nibley he organized the first Red Cross Chapter for Iron County and served as its chairman until after the close of the war. During that troublous time he also served either as chairman or as secretary in every Liberty Bond sales drive in Cedar City. In January, 1918, he was appointed by General Crowder of the U. S. Army, a member of the soldiers legal advisory committee and in that capacity filled out most of the draft questionnaires for the Iron County men. When in 1932 the depression was settling heavily on the people, he was again elected president of the Red Cross and at the same time was appointed by the County Commissioners as Chairman of the committee to handle the newly created Federal Relief. He served in that capacity for over two years and in that time organized one hundred work projects and saw eighty six of them completed. In June, 1924, President Palmer took an active part in organizing a boy scout council for southern Utah, and became the first president of the Zion Park Scout Council of the Boy Scouts of America, which embraced Millard, Beaver, Iron, Kane and Washington counties in Utah and Clark and Lincoln counties in Nevada. On June 9, 1933, under the newly passed Debtors Relief law (Federal) he was appointed by Judge Tillman D. Johnson Conciliation Commissioner for Iron County, Utah. One year later his jurisdiction was extended to embrace Beaver, Iron and Washington counties. When the Church set up its Social Security Plan in 1936, and stakes were grouped into Regional units, President Palmer was selected as the first regional executive chairman for the St. George Region, embracing the Kanab, Zion Park, St. George, Moapa and Parowan Stakes. He is now (1936) active in this work. On May 7, 1901, he married Kate Vilate Isom, (daughter of George Isom and Alice Parker), who was born January 23, 1878, at Virgin, Washington Co., Utah. This union has been blessed with eight children, namely, Alice, George, William I., Vilate, Elizabeth, Eugene, Richard I., and Rodney.

PETERSON, Elwood Lynn, fourth Bishop of Lakeside Ward, Snowflake Stake, was born Nov. 2, 1908, at Lakeside, Navajo Co., Arizona, a son of Joseph Peterson and Amanda Melvina Andelin. He was baptized Nov. 3, 1916, by Don C. Smith and ordained an Elder Nov. 11, 1928, by his father. He was ordained a Seventy Aug. 23, 1930, by Joseph F. Smith, jun., and a High Priest and Bishop, May 9, 1931, by Apostle George F. Richards, on which occasion he was set apart to preside over the Lakeside Ward. Bro. Peterson had previously served as counselor in a Deacons Quorum, superintendent of Sunday School, scout master and ward teacher. He graduated from the grammar school at Lakeside and from the Union High School at Snowflake, Arizona, and while in the latter school acted as president of the student class in his sophomore year, as standard bearer in his junior year and as the class president again in his senior year. He also was graduated from the L. D. S. Seminary in Snowflake in 1927. He attended the Utah State Agricultural College for a year, but due to ill health could not continue. On Oct. 21, 1930, he married Lucilia Smith in the Arizona Temple. Three children have been born of this union, namely Elwood Russell, Dwain Smith and Marguerite.

PETERSON, Hugo Daniel Edward, missionary, editor and translator, was born Aug. 14, 1860, in the city of Visby, Isle of Gotland, Sweden, the son of Isak Peterson and Anna Sophia Gardstedt. Being born of goodly parents, he was baptized May 11, 1873, ordained a Priest April 27, 1880, an Elder Aug. 31, 1881, by Niels Wilhelmsen, a Seventy Feb. 23, 1885, by Seymour B. Young, and a High Priest by John H. Anderson, Nov. 23, 1928. In the summer of 1879 he was called by Pres. Niels Wilhelmsen to Copenhagen, Denmark, the headquarters of the Scandinavian Mission, to become translator and associate editor of

"Nordstjarnan." He held that position from February, 1881, to June, 1883, when he, with his brother Anton P. Peterson, emigrated to Utah and entered the parental home, in Scipio, Utah, where the parents had settled the previous year. After spending his first years in Utah laboring with his father and brother in the building trade, in farm work, and as clerk to Bishop Thomas Yates in the Scipio Co-op store, Brother Peterson went to Salt Lake City, where he engaged in his trade as a printer. After working for some time on "Svenska Harolden," and the "Salt Lake Herald," he became a compositor and later a linotype operator on the "Deseret News," until he in June, 1914, was appointed to publish "Utah-Posten," a Swedish weekly newspaper, one of four Church-owned foreign language publications issued in Salt Lake City, which position he held till May, 1923, when he was called to preside over the Swedish Mission, and while there, in addition to his other duties, he again translated, and edited the mission periodical, "Nordstjarnan." After returning home from this mission, he held a position in the Church Historian's Office, until he, in May, 1934, again was called to preside over the Swedish Mission, and while occupying this position supervised the printing of a third edition of the Book of Mormon in the Swedish language, a new translation of which was made a few years previously by Bro. Janne M. Sjodahl, and in which labor Elder Peterson had assisted. He also revised and prepared a number of booklets, pamphlets and tracts for the printers, and contracted for and watched some large improvements and repairs of the mission house in Stockholm. On May 23, 1884, he married Miss Axeline Manuella Nielsen, born in Copenhagen, Dec. 10, 1865, the wedding ceremony taking place in the Endowment House in Salt Lake City. This union has been blessed with nine children, namely,

Hugo C. A., Mrs. Alma P. Zobell (deceased), Walter A., Francis (Frank) E., Mrs. Norma P. Anderson, Mrs. Viola P. Kasteler, Mrs. Ella P. Clift, Earl L., and Mrs. Mildred P. Kinnersley. Sister Peterson and daughter Mildred accompanied Elder Peterson on his mission to Sweden in 1923-1925, when they labored in the several auxiliary organizations, Sister Peterson, besides, presiding over the Relief Society organizations in the mission, and in the Stockholm Branch, while Mildred functioned as the branch organist. Sister Peterson again accompanied her husband on his mission in 1934-1936, and took an active part in missionary work. Elder Peterson has from his youth been a faithful worker in the Church. He was for many years a president of the 4th Quorum of Seventy; choir leader for about twenty-five years in the early Scandinavian meetings, from the time they were held in the old Social Hall; presided over the Swedish organization in the Ensign Stake from 1906 to 1916, and has also presided over the Swedish Missionary Society. By appointment of the First Presidency in 1909 he compiled and published Zion's Sanger, in the Swedish language, and Zion's Sange, in the Danish-Norwegian language, both words and music. For some years he was a member of the force of Elders in Ensign Stake set apart to administer to the sick in the hospitals. He also labored as a missionary in the Ensign Stake among the non-"Mormon" population, and from his early youth served as a block teacher. Since returning from his last mission, Brother Peterson has again been employed in the Church Historian's Office.

Brother Peterson has always been an observer of the Word of Wisdom, and says that through thus living an exemplary life, he is enjoying such health and vigor as usually are enjoyed only by younger people.

PETERSON, Joseph, first counselor in the presidency of the Snowflake Stake, Arizona, was born April 10, 1874, at Lehi, Utah, a son of Andrew A. Peterson and Anna Maria Earland

(Mary Ann Erlandson), who had emigrated to Utah in 1862 and settled at Lehi. There Joseph was baptized and ordained successively to the offices of Deacon, Priest and Elder. As a boy he herded stock on the range in the summer and studied in the winter. He is an ardent lover of nature and also of books, and it was hard for him to choose his vocation in life. But by the advice of his parents he entered the Brigham Young University in Provo, in 1891, graduating from that institution in 1897 with the degree of Bachelor of Pedagogy. In 1898 he was called to go to Arizona, as principal of the Snowflake Academy, and has resided in Navajo County, Arizona, ever since. On Dec. 10, 1900, he was ordained a High Priest by Pres. Jesse N. Smith and set apart as a member of the Stake High Council, and on Oct. 19, 1924, was set apart by Pres. Rudger Clawson as first counselor to Pres. Samuel F. Smith of the Snowflake Stake, a position which he still holds (1936).

to purchase a sheep ranch and laboring to convert it into a beautiful mountain settlement. He has held a number of important political positions including that of county superintendent of schools for three terms, representative of Navajo County in the territorial legislature and member of the county board of supervisors. During the World war he acted as secretary of the Navajo County Council of Defense, was one of the "Four Minute Speakers" and chairman of the county committee in the drive for funds carried on by the Y. M. C. A. and allied organizations. On Dec. 24, 1897, he married Amanda M. Andelin of Richfield in the Manti Temple; four sons and two daughters were born of this union before the mother passed into the Great Beyond, Aug. 16, 1919. On Aug. 21, 1924, he married Lydia Savage Smith, a young widow with two daughters. Sister Lydia has become the mother of five sons (one deceased).

PERSCHON, William Franz Albert, Sixth Bishop of the Fourth Ward, Salt Lake City, Utah, was born Oct.

20, 1883, at Konigsberg, East Prussia, Germany, the son of Karl Albert Perschon and Wilhelmine Mahnke. His parents were not members of the Church, but young Perschon, who became a convert to "Mormonism," was baptized Oct. 10, 1903, by Gottlieb Blatter at Konigsberg. The father died when Brother Perschon was 17 years old, and leaving his family in East Prussia he emigrated to Utah in 1905, and located in Salt Lake City. After residing in the 20th Ward about two years, he became a permanent resident of the 4th Ward. Having been ordained first a Deacon, and later a Teacher before leaving Germany, he was ordained an Elder by C. Clarence Neslen and later presided over the first quorum of Elders in the Pioneer Stake. He also acted as superintendent of the 4th Ward Sunday School. On Dec. 21st, 1919, he was ordained a High Priest by Chas. H. Hyde and set apart as second counselor to Bishop Charles H. Worthen of the 4th Ward, which position he held until Aug. 26, 1923, when he was sustained as Bishop of the 4th Ward. He was ordained a Bishop by Joseph F. Smith, jun., Sept. 7, 1923. In 1906 (Oct. 10) he married Johanna E. Bucholz, which marriage has been blessed with nine children, namely; Ruth E., Margaret M., William V., Grace L., Madeline J., Charles A., Johanna E., Joseph A., and Edith E. Bishop Perschon is a painter and decorator by vocation, having learned his trade in Germany. At present he is the head of the Perschon Paint & Wallpaper Company, with store and warehouse on State Street, Salt Lake City.

PORTER, Roy Stillman, stockraiser and farmer, was born in Granger, Salt Lake County, Utah, Feb. 20, 1880. Roy spent his early life on the farm of his maternal Aunt and Uncle, Mary Stillman Porter and Moses Ross Porter in Granger. These were his kind foster-parents and the latter subsequently became senior partner in the ranching business with him. After graduating from the public school at Granger, Roy took the missionary course at the Latter-day Saint's University in Salt Lake City. In 1904

he graduated from the Normal course in that institution. The following year he taught school near his home. In the summer of 1905 he was called on a mission to the Southern States. Here, from the mission headquarters at Chattanooga, Tenn., he labored for 27 months. Most of his work was done in the state of Alabama, where, through his mildness and faithfulness, he won converts to the Church and friends to himself. On his return to Utah he entered into partnership with his Uncle, Ross Porter, a native of Kentucky, hay and grain merchant and fruit grower in Taylorsville, West Jordan, Granger, and Brighton, west of Salt Lake City. At his home ranch, "The Oasis," located midway between Salt Lake City and Magna, he conducted a successful cattle business and did valuable experimental work in the cultivation of alkali ground. He served on the Y. M. M. I. A. board of Granite Stake, also as a home missionary, was a member of the High Priest's quorum, and president of the Y. M. M. I. A. of Brighton ward for many years, as well as head of the boy scouts of this locality. While road supervisor of Brighton and North Point, the largest district in area in Salt Lake Co., he obtained the old railroad grade for gravel to surface the roads west of the city and also built a number of substantial bridges over the canals that intersect this country. He had charge of some of the drainage work of this section, acted as Democratic district chairman and was vice-president of the North Jordan Irrigation company as well as a stockholder in the Utah and Salt Lake Canal Co.

On July 17, 1912, he married Miss Elizabeth Rachel Cannon in the Salt Lake Temple, Prest. Anthon H. Lund officiating. She is the daughter of the late Angus M. Cannon, President of the Salt Lake Stake of Zion, and Dr. Martha Hughes Cannon, Utah pioneer physician. The issues of this marriage were three children, namely, Roy, jun., who died in infancy; Martha Hughes Porter (Mrs. Bruce K. Arnold) and Mary Idelia Porter.

Elder Porter died at Buena Vista, Salt Lake Co., Utah, Aug. 8, 1919, aged 39 years.

PYE, Mary Francis (Kelly), a former member of the Salt Lake Stake Y. W. M. I. A. Board, was born Sept. 11, 1867, at Allahabad, India, a daughter of Robert Dolbey Francis and Maria Banks. Dr. Francis (a practicing physician and pharmaceutical chemist) died of sunstroke in 1869 and Mrs. Francis brought her two little daughters (Mary, two years old, and Alice, three months) to England. Here they were left with their grandparents (William and Maria Lamprell Banks) while Mrs. Francis returned to India later in 1869 to settle up her affairs. Under the care of their grandparents the little girls received instruction under private teachers until the return of their mother to England in 1875, when they were put into the public schools. Later, Mary and her sister attended the Gordon Academy for girls in Clapham, London, and then went to a convent school in France to take a "finishing course" abroad, a custom in England. This, however, led to Alice becoming a Catholic and later a nun. In 1892 the family met some of the L. D. S. missionaries and becoming converts, Mary and her mother were baptized in London and came to Utah in the fall of 1894, where on Nov. 28, 1894, Mary was married in the Salt Lake Temple to Willard John Kelly, an Elder whose acquaintance she had made in London. But the young couple were not long permitted to enjoy their happiness for Brother Kelly died suddenly Feb. 28, 1895, just three months to the day, after their marriage. Sister Kelly and her mother then engaged in the dressmaking business in Salt Lake City and finally had charge of the Woman's Co-op Store, belonging to the Relief Society. In 1903 Sister Francis retired from business and Sister Kelly became an instructor at the L. D. S. U., teaching French and sewing. She was the first instructor in the Domestic Arts department of the institution and, upon leaving four years later, had two assistant teachers, so popular was the course offered. In 1907 she was married to Caleb Enoch Pye, a widower, and endeavored to do her duty as a mother to his family and also became the mother of one son (John Kelly Pye). Brother Caleb E. Pye died of cancer, May 15, 1915, after which Sister Pye was engaged to work in the Historian's Office as a clerk, and later as secretary to Andrew Jenson, which position she still (1936) holds.

Sister Pye has occupied many positions of trust in the Church, having been a counselor in the 20th Ward Y. W. M. I. A., a member of the Salt Lake Stake and Ensign Stake Y. W. M. I. A. boards, chorister of the Salt Lake Stake Relief Society, superintendent of Religion Class, Sunday School teacher and class leader in the 14th Ward Genealogical Society, etc. She is the author of a number of short stories, poems and articles published in local journals and twice was the winner of the Deseret News Christmas Story contest.

RICH, Alice MacLachlan, widow of Ben E. Rich, was born Feb. 21, 1869, at Salt Lake City, the daughter of William McLachlan and Caroline Filer, being the fifth child in a family of ten children. After having received the usual grade schooling, she attended the Deseret University. At the age of seventeen she applied for the position of teacher in the Primary grade of the West Jordan school, and was given charge of the entire school of three grades. Preferring another vocation, however, she later found employment in the R. K. Thomas store in the old Eagle Emporium building, on 1st South and Main streets, remaining with that establishment for fifteen years.

Beginning in the year 1906, Sister Rich served three and a half years as clerk in the State Treasurer's office, in 1914 for seven months as deputy county clerk for Davis County, and then for the following four years in the employ of the State Insurance Department. In December, 1917, she was called to take a position in the Presiding Patriarch's office, where she remained for ten years. In 1927 she became a member of the Historian's Office staff, which position she still (1936) retains.

During the year 1900, Sister Rich filled a mission for the Church in the Northern States. At home also she has been an active Church member, having served as the first secretary of the Primary Association, organized in 1882 in the 7th Ward of Salt Lake City, with Sister Permeia James as president. In the M. I. A. of the same ward Sister Rich later held the positions of secretary, second counselor, and first counselor. From the latter position she resigned when called on her mission. Having moved to Centerville in 1909, she served as a member of the Centerville Genealogical Committee until her appointment on the South Davis Stake Genealogical Board. As a member of the famous Tabernacle Choir, Sister Rich visited the World's Fair with that organization in 1893, and later accompanied that body of singers on its trip to California and Colorado. She also recalls with great pleasure the visits she has made to the several temples built by the Church, including those of Kirtland, Logan, Manti, St. George, Arizona and Salt Lake City.

RICHINS, Jessie Willmott, president of the Twin Falls Stake, Idaho, in 1930+, was born March 16, 1879, at Henefer, Utah, a son of Charles Rich-ins and Agnes Mary Willmott. He was baptized in June 1887, by Albert Harris and moved with his parents to Colonia Diaz, Old Mexico, when nine years old. He was ordained a Seventy and set apart for a mission to the Southern States, July 19, 1898, by George Reynolds. On his return to Mexico from this mission he married Alice Jackson, daughter of Joseph B. Jackson and Mary E. Beckstead, the ceremony being performed in the Salt Lake Temple, Oct. 25, 1900. Four sons and eight daughters were born of this union, namely, Osborn, Ezra, Jesse Willmott, jun., Joseph, Alice La-Preal, Vera May, Leola, Agnes, Zelpha, Mary, Nedra and Beverly. The Richins family was driven out of Mexico in 1912 and located in Idaho, where Brother Richins was ordained a High Priest and Bishop, April 30, 1916, and set apart to preside over the Hazel Ward, Cassia Stake, Idaho, by Joseph F. Smith, jun.. On June 1, 1924, he was set apart by Apostle Richard R. Lyman as second counselor to President Lawrence G. Kirkman of the Twin Falls Stake, and on Oct. 26, 1930, he was set apart as president of the Twin Falls Stake by Geo. F. Richards, succeeding Lawrence G. Kirkman.

Pres. Richins has been engaged in farming and stock raising and for five years acted as labor agent and Spanish interpreter for the Amalgamated Sugar Co., and since 1925 has been associated with the Beneficial Life Insurance Co., his field of activity comprising the Western states and parts of Canada and Mexico. For two years he was president of the Twin Falls district of the Boy Scouts of America.

SCHREINER, Alexander, organist of the Tabernacle, Salt Lake City, Utah, was born July 31, 1901, in Nuremberg, Germany, the son of Johann Christian and Margarethe Schwemmer Schreiner. His parents joined the Church in 1903 and soon thereafter offered their home to the branch for regular sacrament services, Sunday school and choir rehearsals. This afforded their son opportunity to hear much church music at an early age. When only five years old, at a Christmas program, he played in public for the first time. He was baptized at the age of eight, at which time he was also appointed organist for the Nuremberg branch of the Church. His regular duties consisted of playing for Sunday school, Sacramental meeting, choir rehearsal and the mid-week Bible hour. At this time he was studying piano with Herr Karl Anders and violin with Herr Stengl.

In 1912 he left Germany with his parents and settled in Salt Lake City. He was immediately appointed organist for the German meetings, and, soon thereafter, organist in the Cannon Ward. His musical studies in piano, harmony and organ were continued under the tutelage of John J. McClellan, who recognized the talent of this eleven-year-old boy and who at that early date predicted a brilliant future for him.

At the age of sixteen, Alexander Schreiner was engaged to play the large organ at the American Theater, then the most important play-house in Salt Lake City. By the time he finished high school he was offered a similar position in Butte, Montana, and, following this, he did theater work in Portland, Oregon, and in Los Angeles, California. At the age of twenty he played his first recitals on the Tabernacle organ at the invitation of the regular organists.

In 1921 he left for a mission in California. His fame was then already established, for during his first year of missionary work eight different organist's positions were offered him, greatly to the pride and astonishment of his missionary companions. Of course none of these positions could be accepted at that time. However, he played a number of concert engagements, dedicating new church organs, one of which was the large organ in Angeles Temple, Los Angeles. During the last part of his mission he presided over the Los Angeles Conference, in which thirty-five missionaries were laboring. He was released in March, 1924.

Upon his return to Salt Lake City, he was immediately appointed one of the organists at the Tabernacle. In September, 1924, he left for Europe, and for two years in Paris he studied harmony and counterpoint with Henri Libert, and organ with Charles Marie Widor and Louis Vierne, the latter organist at Notre Dame Cathedral. He was invited frequently to play various important organs, and thus had good opportunity to study their design and construction.

In 1927 he married Margaret Lyman, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Richard R. Lyman, who was born Sept. 15, 1903. Two children have been born to this union, namely, Richard Lyman Schreiner in 1931 and John Christian Schreiner in 1933.

In 1930, when the University of California at Los Angeles was presented with the beautiful Mudd Memorial organ, Mr. Schreiner was invited to play the first 25 recitals. This was to be followed by other series of recitals by other organists, in order that the University authorities might have some basis of judgment on which to make a final selection for the permanent position. After Mr. Schreiner had played his first six recitals, his success was so outstanding that the contracts with the other organists (who were to try out) were all cancelled and he was appointed University organist with the consent of the First Presidency of the Church, who gave him a yearly leave of absence for nine months. He continues to spend his summers at the Tabernacle, where he plays national radio broadcasts and noon recitals. At the University of California at Los Angeles, in addition to his duties as organist, he is a member of the faculty as lecturer in music.

For five years he was organist at the First Methodist Church of Los Angeles, the largest Methodist Church in the world. He assisted John McCormack in the making of one of his motion pictures at the Fox Studio. He has played dedicatory recitals at Barker Brothers in Los Angeles, and in Riverside, San Bernardino, Fullerton, Phoenix and other cities.

During the summer of 1936 the "Deseret News" presented him in a series of special Bach, Franck and Wagner programs at five p. m. in the Tabernacle. These recitals were enthusiastically received by large audiences.

Mr. Schreiner is intensely interested in devising plans for the improvement of musical equipment in the chapels of the Church. He feels that a pipe-organ is a most desirable adjunct to a church edifice, and that nothing of equal cost can inspire and lead to lofty thoughts as does the music from a church organ. In 1936 he wrote for ward and Sunday school organists a book of devotional music entitled "Schreiner's Organ Voluntaries."

SEEGMILLER, Daniel, second counselor in the presidency of the Kanab Stake from 1887 to 1899, was born Dec. 6, 1836, in Preston, Canada, the son of Adam Seegmiller and Anna Eve Knechtel. As a youth he located in New York City, where he became a convert to the Church and was baptized there Sept. 3, 1853. He came to Utah in 1861 and the following year returned as far as the Missouri River with Church teams to assist in bringing L. D. S. emigrants to Utah. Altogether he crossed the plains six times in that capacity. He served on the police force in Salt Lake City and at times acted as body guard for President Brigham Young. He filled a mission to Germany and Switzerland from 1877 to 1879, during which he presided over the East Swiss, Zurich and Frankfurt on the Main conferences successively. Previous to going on this mission he located in St. George, Utah, where he acted as Chief of Police and later as Sheriff of Washington County. Later he moved to Kanab, Kane County, where he operated a farm and raised choice stock. On May 24, 1887, he was set apart by Apostle Francis M. Lyman as second counselor to Edwin D. Woolley, president of the Kanab Stake, which position he occupied until his untimely death. For some time previous to this tragedy, a misunderstanding had existed between himself and a neighbor, Wm. Roundy, over land and water matters, their land being contiguous and their water interests vested in the same system. On July 23, 1899, Wm. Roundy, finding no water in the ditch, became enraged and going to the home of Bro. Seegmiller, he called him outside and a few minutes later shot him through the heart. The murderer then returned to his home and after bidding farewell to his family, shot himself with fatal result.

Bro. Seegmiller had three wives, 1st, Ellen Smith (daughter of Joseph Smith and Sarah Sailor), who bore him three sons and five daughters; 2nd, Artemesia Snow Woolley (daughter of Erastus and Artemesia Snow, and the widow of Franklin B. Woolley, who was killed by Indians in 1862), 3rd, Emma Isabella Carroll (daughter of Charles Negus Carroll) who bore him four sons and one daughter. Bro. Seegmiller was a frontiersman with a commanding appearance and knowing no fear. But to his family he was a kind and loving husband and father and was highly respected by his associates in the Church. He died, as stated, July 23, 1899, at Upper Kanab.

1887, in Lehi, Utah Co., Utah, the son of Samuel A. Smith and Harriet Jane Webb. He was raised in his birthplace, and there attended the public schools and also the High School. Later he studied at the A. C. in Logan from which he graduated in 1909. He was baptized Oct. 14, 1895, by William Lawrence Hill. In taking an active part in Church matters, he was ordained successively to the offices of Teacher, Priest and Elder, ordained a Seventy Nov. 11, 1919, by Seymour B. Young, and filled a mission to the Northwestern States in 1919-1921, laboring principally in Montana (19 months), part of the time as president of the Montana Conference. At home he labored as a home missionary in the Alpine Stake two years, and also acted as secretary of the Ward Y. M. M. I. A. He was ordained a High Priest Oct. 14, 1923, by James E. Talmage and set apart as first counselor to Bishop Thomas L. Peterson, which position he held until Oct. 24, 1926, when he was sustained as Bishop of the Lehi 4th Ward. He was ordained a Bishop Oct. 30, 1926, by Stephen L. Richards at a stake conference held at American Fork. In 1916 (June 16) he married Mary Elizabeth Fox, which marriage has been blessed with two children, viz: Utella and Ernest J.

In 1933 and 1934 Bishop Smith served as a member of the Lehi city council, and is at present a director of the Pleasant Grove National Farm Loan Association. He is a farmer by avocation and is numbered among the leading citizens of Lehi.

SMITH, Nicholas Groesbeck, president of the California Mission, and eighth Bishop of the 17th Ward, Salt Lake Stake, was born June 20, 1881, in Salt Lake City, Utah, the son of Apostle John Henry Smith and Josephine Groesbeck. He was baptized on the eighth anniversary of his birthday, June 20, 1889, by his father. When three years old he accompanied his mother to Great Britain, his father at that time presiding over the European Mission. After returning to Utah with his mother in 1884 he received a common school education, first in Salt Lake City and afterwards in Snowflake, Arizona, and Manassa, Colorado, where his mother's family spent about ten years while in exile on account of the anti-polygamy persecutions. Apostle John Henry Smith, during that period only had the opportunity of visiting that part of his family occasionally. Returning to Salt Lake City in 1897, Nicholas G. attended High School from which he graduated in 1902. From his earliest youth he took an active part in Sunday school and Y. M. M. I. A. work, acting as librarian of the Sunday school. He was ordained a Deacon and Priest successively and later ordained an Elder by his father; he filled a mission to the Netherlands in 1902-1905, during which he acted part of the time as president of the Amsterdam Conference and was the instrument of adding thirty new converts to the gospel by baptism. After his return from that mission he acted as a counselor in the 17th Ward Y. M. M. I. A. and as a Sunday school teacher. He was also ordained a Seventy and became a member of the Third Quorum of Seventy. In 1906 (Dec. 20th) he married Florence Gay in the Salt Lake Temple, which marriage has been blessed with four children, namely, Girard Gay, John Henry, Stanford Groesbeck and Nicholas Groesbeck. On September 1st, 1913, he was called by Pres. Joseph F. Smith to preside over the South African Mission. He left Salt Lake City with his family Sept. 15, 1913 and had charge of a party of missionaries crossing the Atlantic Ocean. He arrived in Cape Town, South Africa, Oct. 28, 1913 and succeeded Frank J. Hewlett, Oct 30th. During his administration the mission prospered and he reports with pleasure that the Saints in the South African mission rank at the head of the list of all missions in the world as tithe payers. After presiding eight years in South Africa he left Cape Town for home March 11, 1921, being succeeded by James Wylie Sessions. On his return with his family he traveled through war-stricken Europe and among other places visited the battle field of Verdun where everything seemed to be in ruins from the effects of the war. Soon after his return home (May 16, 1921) he was ordained a High Priest by Apostle Rudger Clawson and set apart as a member of the Salt Lake Stake High Council which position he held until Oct. 22, 1922, when he was ordained a Bishop by James E. Talmage and set apart to succeed Franklin S. Tingey as Bishop of the 17th Ward with Harold W. Langton as his first and Amer E. Hansen as his second counselor. Prior to this he was chosen as a member of the general board of Y. M. M. I. A. Bishop Smith's occupation in a secular way is that of manager of the Deseret Bank Building. Formerly he acted as manager of the Mountain States Telegraph and Telephone Company. As a Bishop, with the experience of a missionary abroad and president of a mission, he has become popular with the members of his ward, possessing the confidence and good will of the whole community.

SORENSEN, Christian W., second counselor in the North Sanpete Stake presidency from 1906 to 1914, was born Nov. 1, 1863, in Mount Pleasant, Sanpete Co., Utah, a son of Christian and Christine Sorensen. He was educated in the public schools of Mount Pleasant and the Brigham Young Academy, Provo, taught school in Mount Pleasant for fourteen years, was baptized when about eight years old, ordained to the Priesthood and filled a special mission in the Manti Temple in 1889-1890. He filled a mission to Scandinavia from 1892 to 1894, presiding part of the time over the Aarhus Conference, Denmark. When the North Sanpete Stake was organized in 1900 he was appointed a member of the High Council and later acted as second counselor to Stake President C. N. Lund. He held this position until the stake presidency was reorganized in 1914.

In 1917, Elder Sorensen and his wife, Eva M., performed a short term mission in California and were assigned to labor in San Diego, where their daughter Ruby, who had been in the California Mission six months, was laboring. Bro. Sorensen's missionary field of labor was chiefly among the soldiers of the 145th Artillery, a Utah unit quartered at Camp Kearney. Many of the soldiers attended Sunday School (of which Elder Sorensen was superintendent) and took part in other Church activities. The Sorensen home, which was near the chapel at San Diego, was a rendezvous for many of the soldier boys, and Sister Sorensen proved herself a real mother to them while in their midst. Besides being a faithful Church worker, Elder Sorensen has held many civil positions, such as city recorder, assessor and collector, councilman, member of the House of Representatives in the Utah Legislature, member of the district school board and has followed the business of banking and farming. In April, 1886, he married Dina A. Hansen, who died Sept. 27, 1888, after bearing two children. On June 24, 1891, he married Eva Madsen of Manti who bore him three children. Elder Sorensen is still an active and leading man in public affairs in Mount Pleasant. Since June 16, 1929, he has been president of the High Priests' Quorum of the North Sanpete Stake. He is also serving his third term as Conciliation Commissioner for Sanpete and Juab counties, under appointment by the Hon. Tillman D. Johnson, Judge of the United States District Court for the District of Utah under Act of Congress of March 3, 1933, known as the Debtors' Relief Law.

TOWLER, Thomas Edgar, president of the Wells Stake, Salt Lake City, Utah, was born Sept. 3, 1885, in Mill Creek, Salt Lake Co., a son of Daniel Towler and Sarah Ann Durnford, the ninth of a family of ten children. His parents came to Utah in 1863, his father from Cardiff, Wales, and his mother from England. He was baptized by C. L. Miller, Oct. 5, 1893, ordained a Deacon October 22, 1897, and after continued activities in the Aaronic Priesthood was ordained an Elder, April 2, 1906. From 1906 to 1908 he filled a mission to Great Britain, where he served as secretary of the Leeds Conference for nearly eighteen months and had charge of the Clayton Branch of that conference for almost a year. He married Amy Benion in the Salt Lake Temple, Nov. 18, 1909. From this union have been born four children, one girl and three boys; the three boys have died. After his marriage he served as a counselor in the Granite Stake Y. M. M. I. A. and at the same time was president of the Elders' Quorum in the Farmers' Ward and filled other positions from which he was released to become superintendent of the Granite Stake Sunday Schools, which position he held four years. On Feb. 12, 1922, he was ordained a High Priest, and on Sept. 11, 1923, ordained a Bishop and set apart by Apostle Richard R. Lyman to preside over the Farmers Ward. Upon the division of that ward, July 20, 1924, he was set apart by Pres. Rudger Clawson as Bishop of the Whittier Ward of the Grant Stake. This position he held until the organization of the Wells Stake took place on Dec. 31, 1934, when he was set apart as president of the new stake by Apostle George Albert Smith.

On May 8, 1936, he was chosen as second vice chairman to Pres. Harold B. Lee of the Salt Lake Region of the Church Security Program. This region included sixteen stakes in Salt Lake, Tooele and Davis counties. Later he became first vice president under Pres. Marvin O. Ashton. On Sept. 25, 1936, Pres. Towler was appointed Regional Work director and purchasing agent for the Salt Lake Region and to assist in making purchases for the Church Security Program. He is well fitted for his important duties, having served as secretary-treasurer of the Danielson Plow Company, and as manager of the Covey Investment Company. During ten years he operated a retail grocery concern, increasing the business from one to four stores and pioneering the cash and carry system. He is connected with the Brower-Towler Motor Company and the Towler Investment Company, of Salt Lake City.

WALKER, James Henson, first Bishop of the Pleasant Grove 3rd Ward, Utah Co., Utah, was born Oct. 12, 1878, at Pleasant Grove, a son of Apollos Benjamin Walker and Sarah Jane Holman, and a grandson of Henson Walker, one of the original pioneers of Utah. On his eighth birthday anniversary (Oct. 12, 1886) he was baptized by his father and from then on took an active part in Church affairs suited to his age. He was ordained successively a Deacon, a Priest, and in due time was ordained an Elder by Bishop James Cobbley of Lindon. Later he became a member of the 44th Quorum of Seventy, and he also served in the superintendency of the Pleasant Grove Ward Sunday School.

In August, 1907, Bro. Walker was ordained a High Priest by Elder Abel J. Evans, and set apart as second counselor to Bishop Swen L. Swenson of the Pleasant Grove Ward. He held this position until May 6th, 1909, when Pres. Joseph F. Smith ordained him Bishop of the newly made Pleasant Grove 3rd Ward, where he served until 1923. Since the organization of the Timpanogos Stake, he has been active as a member of the High Council and he has been a most successful leader of the Stake Adult Aaronic Priesthood group.

James H. Walker's career as an educator has been just as intensive as his church life. His early education was received at Pleasant Grove, and then for one year he attended the high school connected with the B. Y. U. at Provo. He began his teaching career when a very young man, advancing his own scholastic training during the summer months and in extension work during the winter. In this manner he graduated from the normal course of the University of Utah in 1912, and received his B. S. degree from the same institution in 1916. He also took graduate work at the University of Chicago for two summers. His first three years of teaching experience were at Lindon; then for 15 years he taught in the Pleasant Grove schools, being steadily advanced from grade teacher to high school principal, and from this position to superintendent of the Alpine School District, where he remained six years.

At present Bro. Walker is a representative of the Macmillan Publishing Company of New York and as such he is an able factor in the educational field. He also finds time to promote worthwhile projects in his home community. He is a prominent figure on the Cannery Board and also of the Bank of Pleasant Grove.

In December, 1896, Elder Walker married Della Cobbley, daughter of Charles A. and Emma Cobbley of Lindon. Thirteen children were born of this marriage, namely: Charles Benjamin, Leo, Zola, Rowena, Thomas Arnell, Legrande, Calvin, Edna, Myron, Jane, Muriel, James Henson jun., and Emma. In July, 1923, Mrs. Walker died, and in August, 1925, Bishop Walker married Josephine Greenwood, daughter of Benjamin and Jane Greenwood of American Fork, Utah. One son, Benjamin, has been born of this marriage.

At the age of 57, Bro. Walker regards his 12 children and 18 grandchildren as his greatest asset. Twelve children have graduated from Pleasant Grove High School, four have college degrees, one is on a mission, and the rest are pursuing educational studies in various fields, and all are active members of the Church.

Bishop Walker is regarded by his many friends in the little community of Pleasant Grove, and throughout the state of Utah and neighboring states, as a valuable personality, a thinker, a man of keen intellect and broad understanding.

WALKER, Joseph, a pioneer of Cedar City, Utah, was born March 19, 1813, at Bradford, Yorkshire, England, a son of Samuel and Sarah Walker. His wife, Betty Smith Walker, was born Oct. 8, 1812, in Yorkshire, a daughter of Stephen and Mary Smith. Bro. Walker and wife with their five children, John (aged 15 years), William, Thomas, Simeon and Mary, emigrated to Utah in 1849, crossing the Atlantic Ocean in the ship "Zetland," and the plains in Capt. Orson Spencer's company, arriving in Salt Lake City, Sept. 23, 1849. Bro. Walker bought a farm at Mill Creek, Salt Lake Co., Utah, adjoining that of his friend, Joseph Wright, who also emigrated from England and had been a fellow workman with Bro. Walker in the iron works at Low Moor, Yorkshire. In the fall of 1851, Bro. Walker moved his family to Parowan, Iron Co. Later, directed by counsel of Pres. George A. Smith, he became a member of a small company led by Elder Matthew Curruthers, who located a fort northwest of the Cedar City cemetry. In May, 1854, Pres. Young visited the settlers and while there stopped on the present site of Cedar City. Placing the point of his staff on the northwest corner of the old Isaac C. Haight lot, he said: "Build west and south, but go no further north." To build homes in the newly surveyed city, lumber, shingles and lath were necessary. Bro. Walker and his sons were on hand to supply these things and were engaged in the lumber business for a number of years. When the Deseret Iron Company was organized, Joseph Walker became a prominent factor in it and labored faithfully at the work for which he had been so well prepared in the iron works in England. When the iron works were shut down, Bro. Walker returned to the business of lumbering and hauling lumber to town. He died April 25, 1881, leaving two wives and sixteen children.

WHITE, Lizzie Olivia Borgeson, the first lady missionary called from Santaquin, Utah, and the second lady to labor as a missionary in the Eastern States Mission, was born April 25, 1889, at Santaquin, Utah, a daughter of Andrew Borgeson and Necoline Emily Olsen. Being the ninth daughter of a family of eleven children, her training from infancy was one of unselfish co-operation. Order and discipline were a part of her home environment. There, family prayer was part of the day's routine, the Word of Wisdom was strictly adhered to, the Sabbath day observed as a day of rest and tithing paid by all the family to the penny. It was taken for granted that the children were to attend Primary, Sunday school and sacrament meetings, and being a natural leader, Lizzie, very early in life, became class leader in the Y. L. M. I. A., organist in the ward Primary Assn., and a member of the ward choir. As a young woman she attended the Utah Agricultural College at Logan, during which time she taught in Religion Classes in the Logan 7th Ward and was a member of the Stake Tabernacle Choir. Upon completing a commercial course at the U. A. C., she obtained employment as stenographer to Attorney Geo. E. Gray in Pocatello, Idaho, and while there served as junior class leader in the Y. L. M. I. A., teacher in the Sunday School, assistant organist, and choir member. Upon the demise of her employer she returned to Utah and entered the law offices of Judge A. C. Hatch and Chase Hatch of Heber City. In 1913, she was called on a mission to the Eastern States, on which she served as stenographer in the mission office in New York City. One other lady missionary was laboring there, but soon afterwards other sisters were called and it was Sister Borgeson's duty to instruct them in their duties and see them comfortably located in their respective districts. In addition, Sister Borgeson was expected to meet trains and boats, carrying female visitors to New York who had sent word to mission headquarters for someone to receive them on their arrival. In this way she became as well known to the government and railroad officials as any of the regular welfare workers from other organizations. On one occasion a faithful sister, who had presided over the Relief Society in Oslo, Norway, arrived at Ellis Island and was informed by one of the officials that "They could not land a Mormon." Fortunately, Sister Borgeson was at hand to see that the lady received proper consideration and in doing so was able, under the inspiration of the Lord, to explain to this official and others, many of the principles of the gospel and to remove some misunderstanding which had arisen, and from that time the "Mormons" were treated with due courtesy on Ellis Island. Sister Borgeson also had many opportunities to visit different parts of the mission in company with Pres. Ben E. Rich and wife. She also reported the mission news to the "Liahona," and wrote several articles for that periodical.

Upon her return from this mission she was employed by the Knight Woolen Mills, at Provo, for almost a year, during which time she successfully taught a group of boys in the Provo 4th Ward Sunday School. She was also engaged in home missionary work and was a member of the Stake Tabernacle Choir. Being offered a position in the office of the Z. C. M. I. at Pocatello, Idaho, she went north and remained there until the Z. C. M. I. building was destroyed by fire in 1916, when she became secretary to the State Prosecuting Attorney and had experience as a court reporter in criminal cases. During this time she was a member of the Stake Y. L. M. I. A. Board and organized and conducted a junior choir in the Pocatello 3rd Ward. In 1918 she became associated with the Utah-Idaho Sugar Company at Garland, Utah, as senior stenographer, boarding at the time with the family of Bishop Chas. Munns, where she met a Mr. Lucian Elmer White of Springfield, Ill., who was investigating the gospel and was soon afterwards baptized by Bishop Munns. The two young people having many interests in common, such as the enjoyment of music, literature and exercise in the great out-doors, their friendship culminated in a romance which led to their marriage in the Salt Lake Temple, March 31, 1919; a daughter (Venita Annette) was born to them, Sept. 15, 1920. In the spring of 1919, Bro. and Sister White located in Twin Falls, where Bro. White engaged in business and Sister White was secretary to J. C. Wheelon, of the Twin Falls Canal Co. She continued her Church activities, serving as a counselor in the ward Relief Society, teacher of the advanced theological class in Sunday School and assistant chorister and bee-keeper.

Her marriage, however, was not successful, and in July, 1922, the young couple obtained a divorce. Locating in Salt Lake City, Sister White was employed first in the office of Hyrum E. Crockett, Secretary of State, and later in the office of the Wm. J. Burns International Detective Agency. In April, 1924, she became secretary to the superintendent of the Dr. Groves L. D. S. Hospital, a position which she holds at present. Sister White was a member of the McCune School of Music Symphony Orchestra, of the L. D. S. Band and Orchestra and the Girls M. I. A. Band. Her daughter has inherited this artistic temperament to a marked degree and has made several public appearances in concerts as the star performer on several instruments. The greatest responsibility in life to Sister White, at the present time, is to guide this precious daughter into paths of righteous living, and she feels that the greatest mission in life for any woman is that of motherhood.

WOOLLEY, Ralph Edwin, superintendent of the erection of the Hawaiian Temple, was born March 4, 1886, at Grantsville, Utah, a son of Samuel Edwin Woolley and Alice Rowberry. He was baptized in the spring of 1894 at Skull Valley, Utah, by Wm. W. Cluff, and a year later accompanied his parents to Hawaii, where his father presided over the Mission from 1895 to 1919. Bro. Ralph Edwin was ordained a Deacon at Laie, Oahu, in 1898, by his father, and ordained a Priest at Honolulu in 1900 by Wm. G. Sears, president of the Samoan Mission, after which he assisted in missionary work in Hawaii. After returning to Grantsville, Utah, in 1905, he was ordained a Seventy by J. Reuben Clark, sen. He attended the University of Utah and received the degree of B. S. in engineering in 1912. He also received the degree of B. S. from the Agricultural College of the Utah Engineering School in 1914. In 1916, he was commissioned by Pres. Joseph F. Smith to superintend the erection of the Temple at Laie, Oahu, Hawaii. This work was accomplished in a most satisfactory manner, and the building and settings now attract the attention of all visitors.

On Sept. 19, 1933, Elder Woolley was ordained a High Priest by Pres. Castle H. Murphy and set apart as chairman of the Hawaiian Mission High Council, and when the Oahu Stake was organized June 30, 1935, he was chosen as president of the same. This was the first stake of Zion organized outside of the American continent. Elder Woolley was set apart to this office July 1, 1935, by Pres. Heber J. Grant. In June, 1936, he was appointed by the First Presidency as chairman of the L. D. S. Hawaiian Temple Committee. Pres. Woolley married Romania H. Hyde, Dec. 8, 1920; they have one little daughter named Virginia Jeanette.

1856, in Brigham City, Utah, a son of Jonathan C. and Mary Jane Wright. He was baptized April 25, 1864, by William Neeley and confirmed the same day by his father. He was ordained a Priest Aug. 12, 1882, by Francis M. Lyman and ordained a Seventy July 17, 1884, by William Woodward and became a member of the 18th Quorum of Seventy. At the age of fourteen he left home to work in the tie camps of the Union Pacific Railroad in Idaho and Wyoming. After this he lived for several years in Gentle Valley and Soda Springs, Idaho, and in the spring of 1887 went to Marsh Center to close out the business affairs of Bishop Melvin L. Gruwel, who had moved to Mexico. At Marsh Center he became acquainted with Mary Hawkins (daughter of Carl W. Hawkins, formerly a resident of Plain City, Utah), whom he married Sept. 12, 1888; six sons and one daughter were born of this marriage. Elder Wright was sustained as Bishop of Marsh Center Ward Nov. 5, 1891, and on Jan. 27, 1892, was ordained a High Priest and Bishop by Apostle Marriner W. Merrill and set apart to preside over the Marsh Center Ward, which position he held until Dec. 19, 1901. In February, 1903, he moved to La Grande, Oregon, where he engaged in farming and fruit raising, and also labored as a home missionary. At the time of his death which occurred at La Grande, Oregon, Nov. 28, 1930, Bishop Wright was president of a High Priests' Quorum.

YOST, Fred, second counselor in the presidency of the Idaho Stake, was born April 30, 1892, at Langnau, Switzerland, a son of Christian Yost and Anna Gerber. He came to America with his parents in 1896, crossing the ocean in the ship "Circassia." The family located in Providence, Cache Co., Utah, where the boy later received his schooling and he also attended the Utah Agricultural College at Logan. He was baptized May 1, 1900, by Samuel Stillman, ordained a Deacon when twelve years of age by Godfrey Fuhri-man and acted as a counselor in the presidency of a Deacons' quorum. At fifteen years of age he was ordained a Teacher and on Sept. 27, 1909, was ordained a Priest by C. M. Hammond. After being ordained an Elder Dec. 15, 1913, by Joseph Campbell, he filled a mission to the Northern States from Nov. 8, 1915, to Oct. 10, 1917, laboring in the Michigan Conference. After returning home he acted as Sunday School teacher, class leader, and later as a counselor in the Y. M. M. I. A., and as a home missionary in the Cache Stake. In the spring of 1920 he moved to Bancroft, Idaho, where he served as president of the First Quorum of Elders in the Idaho Stake from 1923 to 1927, and was a member of the Idaho Stake Sunday School Board; later he acted as a counselor in the superintendency of that board. On Dec. 31, 1927, he was sustained as Stake superintendent of Sunday schools, and served in that position until October, 1934. Elder Yost was ordained a Seventy Dec. 31, 1927, by Rulon S. Wells and served as a president of the 197th Quorum of Seventy for seven years. On Sept. 2, 1934, he was ordained a High Priest by Richard R. Lyman and set apart as second counselor to Alonzo J. Gilbert of the Idaho Stake Presidency. In a civil capacity he served as a member of the North Gem school board for seven years, acting as chairman of the board for three years.

On November 24, 1914, he married Bertha P. Humphreys, daughter of Jesse B. Humphreys and Elmina Graham. This marriage has been blessed with eleven children, namely, Glenn F., Delva P., Thad O., Lois M., Date E., Clotiel, Erma, Nelda, Udeane, Ila Rae and ReNae. Pres. Yost is a farmer and stock-raiser by avocation.

REYNOLDS, Harold G., Bishop of the Twenty-first Ward, Ensign Stake, since 1924, was born Nov. 18, 1883, in Salt Lake City, a son of George Reynolds and Mary Ann Tuddenham. He was educated in the public schools of

Salt Lake City, the L. D. S. College and did extension work at the University of Utah. He was baptized Dec. 1, 1891, by Bp. Robert Morris, was ordained a Deacon June 20, 1895, by Wm. Asper, an Elder Feb. 9, 1903, by Herbert J. Shimming, a Seventy Jan. 9, 1912, by Rulon S. Wells, and a High Priest March 22, 1922, by Stephen L. Richards. Elder Reynolds filled a mission to Germany from February, 1903 to November, 1905, and labored as a missionary in London, England, from November, 1905 to April 1906. In November, 1906, he was chosen a member of the General Board of the Deseret Sunday School Union and released from that position in October, 1927, on account of his responsibilities as Bishop. He was a member of the Ensign Stake High Council in 1922 and 1923. On Jan. 27, 1924, he was ordained a Bishop by Pres. Heber J. Grant and set apart to preside over the 21st Ward, Salt Lake City, which position he still holds (1936). In November, 1906, Elder Reynolds was called by Pres. Joseph F. Smith to assist his father, George Reynolds in the missionary department of the Church. After the death of George Reynolds in 1909, Elder Reynolds was appointed mission secretary of the Church by Pres. Joseph F. Smith, his duties including the preparation of missionaries, arranging for their transportation, visas, steamship passage, railroad transportation, etc. In this capacity, he has superintended the preparation and travel of over 25,000 missionaries to different parts of the United States, Canada, Mexico, South America, South Africa, South Sea Islands, and different missions in Europe.

Bishop Reynolds was a member of the Exchange Club. He is now a member of the Traffic Club of Salt Lake City and was president of this organization from 1934 to 1935. He is a member of the Sons of Utah Pioneers.

In the Salt Lake Temple, on June 23, 1911, Elder Reynolds married Ann Amelia Howarth, of Salt Lake City (daughter of Nephi Howarth and Amelia Elizabeth Price). This marriage has been blessed with four children, namely, Elizabeth, Harold G., jun., Ralph Howarth and Marian.

SUMMERHAYS, Caleb Ephraim, senior president of the 3rd quorum of Seventy, was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, April 27, 1871, a son of Joseph William Summerhays (born Jan. 15, 1847, at Pimlico, England) and Mary Melissa Parker Summerhays (born at Kanesville, Iowa, May 21, 1852). On May 1, 1879, Caleb E. was baptized by John Cottam in Dimick B. Huntington's font on 3rd West Street, between 1st and 2nd North streets; he was confirmed on the same date by Bishop Frederick Kesler. About 1884 he was ordained to the office of a Deacon and later to the office of a Priest, and while holding the latter office assisted the older brethren in block teaching. From 1884 to 1889 he attended the District School and the L. D. S. Business College and in his leisure time worked for the Rowe Morris Summerhays Company, hide and wool merchants. Hyrum M. and Joseph F. Smith, sons of Pres. Joseph F. Smith, were his nearest friends during his boyhood days and in the year 1889, he and Hyrum M. Smith were called on a home mission by Pres. Smith.

In 1890 Bro. Summerhays was called on a mission to the Samoan Islands. He received his endowments May 22, 1890, in the Logan Temple and on June 17, 1890, was ordained a Seventy by B. H. Roberts and became a member of the 24th Quorum of Seventy. A few days later he left his home for Samoa, arriving on the island of Upolu, July 14, 1890. He labored on the island of Upolu most of the time, for several months as president of the Siupapa Branch. After laboring faithfully as a missionary for three years he left Apia Aug. 16, 1893. Soon after his return (on Nov. 9, 1893) he married Ellen Louise Barret in the Salt Lake Temple. She was born Jan. 14, 1871, in Salt Lake City, Utah. From 1903 to 1907 Elder Summerhays was employed by the Rowe Morris Summerhays Company as a purchasing agent on the road, buying hides, wool and furs. During this time he acted as a home missionary in the Salt Lake Stake.

From 1907 to 1910 he filled a second foreign mission, laboring on this occasion in England, and presided over the Preston Branch, with Frank R. Smith (son of Joseph F. Smith) as his companion. After six months he was called to labor in the Burnley Branch with Urban Johnson as his companion, and during their stay there they baptized about thirty converts. Some time after his return home, his father Jos. W. Summerhays, his brother Joshua James Summerhays, and himself bought out the Rowe Morris and Summerhays Company, which has since been operated as the J. W. Summerhays and Sons Co. and which is still a growing concern. Bro. Sum-merhays has belonged to the Tabernacle and Seventeenth Ward choirs, has been a member of the 3rd quorum of Seventy for 39 years, was one of the presidency of that quorum for 9 years and is now senior president. Since 1930 he has presided over District No. 2 of the Salt Lake Stake Home Mission which is composed of the 14th, 17th and Capitol Hill wards.

SUMMERHAYS, Ellen Louise Bar-

ret, wife of Caleb E. Summerhays, was born Jan. 14, 1871, in Salt Lake City, the daughter of Clarence Barrett and Georgianna Robbins. Her mother was born on the ship "Brooklyn" which carried a company of Saints from New York to San Francisco in 1846. Sister Summerhays has been active in the auxiliary organizations of the Church and has served as class leader and teacher in Relief Society, Religion Classes and Y. L. M. I. A.

was elected a member of the National Women's Democratic Committee in 1928. Sister Allen was president of the Utah Stake Relief Society from 1918 to 1924, and initiated the Community Welfare Department in Provo. She was married to Robert Eugene Allen June 11, 1902, and all but one of their five children have filled missions for the Church. Sister Inez Knight (Allen) was one of the first two regularly called women missionaries in the Church and served in England from April, 1898, to June, 1900.

BARBER, Adeline Hatch, a member of the General Board of Relief Society from 1893 to 1898, was born Jan. 26, 1834, at Lincoln, Maddison Co., Vermont, a daughter of Hezekiah Hatch and Aldura Sumner. She emigrated to Utah in 1848, as an exile from Nauvoo. She was married to George Barber in Salt Lake City in 1852, and later moved to Cache Valley, where she did much to encourage sericulture, and manufactured the silk used in the black silk dress presented by Utah women to Susan B. Anthony and worn by the latter during several conventions. Sister Barber was president of the Retrenchment Society at Smithfield, Utah, for eight years; counselor in the Cache Stake Primary Association for three years and president of that organization 14 years. She was a counselor in the Relief Society at Smithfield for nine years, and president of that organization for nine years. For 22 years she served as a worker in the Logan Temple and died in Logan, Utah, March 5, 1918.

BARKER, Kate M., a member of the General Board of Relief Society since Feb. 20, 1929, and second counselor in the presidency of that organization since 1935, was born May 30, 1881, at North Ogden, Utah, a daughter of Nathaniel Montgomery and Nancy Clark. She was educated in the public schools, graduated from high school and taught school four years. Previous to this she was president of the 33rd Ward, Salt Lake City, Primary Association for one year, and a member of the Relief Society Board of Liberty Stake for two years. On May 30, 1906, she was married to James L. Barker, head of the Modern Language Department of the University of Utah, and a member of the Deseret Sunday School Union Board. She is the mother of one son and two daughters. With her husband and children, Sister Barker has traveled extensively in the United States and in Europe. Four times she has sojourned in Europe, her residence there covering a period of eight years, during which she studied in Neuchatel, Switzerland, and at the University of Paris. At home she is active in educational work for the Church and State and is an outstanding member of the U. of U. Women's Club.

BAXTER, Lotta Robina Paul, a member of the General Board of Relief Society since April 2, 1921, was born Feb. 14, 1870, a daughter of James Patten Paul and Elizabeth Evans. She was educated in the grade schools of Salt Lake City and the University of Deseret and took a special course in literature at the University of Utah. At nine years of age she served as secretary of a ward Primary Association, later as secretary, teacher and president of the Y. L. M. I. A. of the 10th Ward, Salt Lake City, member of the Salt Lake Stake Y. L. M. I. A. Board, and upon the division of the Salt Lake Stake in 1904, was appointed president of the Liberty Stake Y. L. M. I. A., which position she held until called to serve on the General Board of Relief Society. Thus she has an unbroken record of office in auxiliary organizations since she was nine years of age. In 1896 she was married to Samuel Emerson Baxter, a widower with six children. She became the mother of four children and has proved a splendid mother to all, including one motherless grandson.

BEAL, Ida Peterson, member of the General Board of Relief Society since Aug. 17, 1927, and also chairman of the Music Committee of that organization, was born Feb. 7, 1876, at Ephraim, Utah, a daughter of Canute Peterson and Charlotte Eckstrom. She was educated at the Sanpete Stake Academy (now Snow College) and at the B. Y. U. and studied music under Prof. A. C. Lund. On June 19, 1901, she was married in the Manti Temple to Thomas A. Beal of the University of Utah, and in 1925-1926, spent ten months in Europe with him studying and traveling. Music and gardening are her hobbies.

BEATIE, Phoebe Louisa Y., a member of the General Board of Relief Society from 1901 to 1921, was born Aug. 1, 1854, in Salt Lake City, Utah, a daughter of Brigham Young and Clarissa Ross Chase. She was a charter member of the Young Ladies' Retrenchment Association, of the Daughters of Utah Pioneers and of the Utah Chapter of the Daughters of the Revolution. She was chairman and secretary of the Relief Society Nurse School from 1902 to 1910, in which capacity she took students into her own home free of charge until they could be placed to earn their board. For many years she was a Temple worker. She was a delegate to the International Council of Women at Washington, D. C., in 1891, and entertained Susan B. Anthony and other noted women at her home. On Jan. 17, 1872, she was married to Walter J. Beatie and became the mother of seven children. She died Aug. 22, 1931, in Salt Lake City. (See also Biographical Encyclopedia, Vol. 2, p. 593).

BENNION, Cora Lindsay, a member of the General Board of Relief Society since April 2, 1921, was born Dec. 9, 1874, in Taylorsville, Salt Lake Co., Utah, a daughter of Joseph S. Lindsay and Emma Bennion, and a granddaughter of Bishop Samuel Bennion, pioneer of 1847. She received her education at the public schools, at the L. D. S. College and at the University of Utah, and with her husband spent the summer of 1899 at the University of Chicago and the school year of 1912-1913 at the University of Wisconsin; before her marriage she taught school for one year. She has also served as secretary, organist and visiting teacher in the Forest Dale Ward Relief Society. On June 22, 1898, she was married to Milton Bennion of the University of Utah and became the mother of ten children. She served as president of the University of Utah Women's Club for one year.

BRADFORD, Nettie Maria, a member of the General Board of Relief Society since March 25, 1925, was born March 17, 1873, in Salt Lake City, Utah, a daughter of Albert W. Davis and Melissa Jane Lambson. She has had extended experience in Church organizations and for four years was an ordinance worker in the Salt Lake Temple. As a Relief Society worker she has served as a special missionary and class leader in Center Ward, and as a counselor and later as president of the Salt Lake Stake Relief Society. While holding the latter position she introduced family registration cards, a feature later adopted throughout the Church. She has also been an active worker in parent-teacher associations, Daughters of Utah Pioneers, University of Utah Women's Club and in work for the adult blind. On Dec. 22, 1896, she was married to Dr. Robert H. Bradford, head of the metallurgical department of the University of Utah and is the mother of three sons and two daughters.

BROWN, Harriet Canfield, a member of the General Board of Relief Society from Oct. 10, 1892, to Dec. 18, 1901, was born March 9, 1834, at Os-

sion, N. Y. She was a graduate of the Alfred Academy, N. Y., and taught school in that state and at Council Bluffs, Iowa. She was baptized July 17, 1854, and was married to Israel Brown, April 13, 1856, at Council Bluffs; with him she came to Utah that year (1856), and after their arrival they made their home in Ogden. In 1858 she was appointed second counselor in the Ogden City Relief Society, and a year later became president. Still later, she acted as first counselor to Sister Jane S. Richards, the general president of Relief Society in Weber County, and helped to organize relief societies in Ogden and other parts of Weber County. She was the mother of three children and died Dec. 27, 1907.

BUNTING, Harriet D., a member of the General Board of Relief Society from Oct. 10, 1892, until her death at Kanab, Utah, Jan. 27, 1893, was born Jan. 31, 1843, at Norfolk, England, a daughter of Robert Dye and Harriet Coman. She came to Utah in 1853 with her parents and little sister Elizabeth, crossing the ocean in the ship "Golconda," and the plains in Capt. Joseph W. Young's Company. On May 15, 1859, she married James Lovett Bunting, and in 1870 accompanied her husband and 25 other pioneer families to settle Kanab; later her husband became president of the Kanab Stake, and Sister Bunting presided over the Kanab Stake Relief Society Board for many years. She also accompanied her husband to England on a mission and during his presidency of the Liverpool Conference in 1878-1880, she organized the first Relief Society and Y. L. M. I. A. in the British Mission. Sister Bunting was the mother of 12 children.

CAINE, Margaret A., a member of the General Board of Relief Society from Oct. 5, 1902, to Oct. 1, 1907, was born Aug. 28, 1859, in Salt Lake City, Utah, a daughter of Frederick A.

Mitchell and Margaret Thompson. She accompanied her parents on a mission to Hawaii in 1873. On March 16, 1881, she married Alfred Caine in Coalville, Summit Co., Utah. She was greatly interested in sericulture, being a member of the territorial organization, and at the World's Fair at Chicago in 1893, she had charge of the Utah silk exhibit and demonstrated procedure of silk manufacture. She also attended the International Council of Women in London in 1899. She served as auditor of Salt Lake County for some time and was an ordinance worker in the Salt Lake Temple for thirty years. Sister Caine was the mother of four children and died Nov. 6, 1929, in Salt Lake City.

CANNON, Annie Wells, a member of the General Board of Relief Society from 1902 to 1910, and from 1919 to the present time, was born Dec. 7, 1859, in Salt Lake City, Utah, a daughter of Daniel Hanmer Wells and Emmeline B. Woodward. She was educated in private schools and graduated from the University of Deseret (class of 1879). She was married to John Quayle Cannon, March 17, 1880, and became the mother of twelve children, eleven of whom are still living (1936). She spent the years 1883-1884 in the Swiss and German Mission, where her husband presided. She has been engaged in Relief Society work since 1874, and was president of the Pioneer Stake Relief Society for 16 years. She was assistant editor of the "Woman's Exponent" from 1895 to 1914, was co-author of the Relief Society Handbook, has contributed largely to magazines, was a member of the Utah State Legislature in 1913-1915, and has been a member of the Salt Lake City Library Board since 1918. She was the first president of the War Mothers of Utah, is a charter member of the Daughters of Utah Pioneers and Utah Red Cross. During the World war she served as assistant chairman of canteen service and chairman for Utah of the European relief work under Herbert Hoover. She has been presented with a medal by the Salt Lake Federation of Women's Clubs for outstanding civic service.

CANNON, Martha A. Brown, a member of the General Board of Relief Society from 1892 to 1907, was born in Ogden, Utah, a daughter of Francis A. Brown. She was educated in the Ogden public schools and the University of Utah and taught school in Weber County. She was an officer in the Young Ladies' Retrenchment Association of Weber Stake. She loved children, and because of her philanthropic work in their behalf the Martha Society of Ogden, an organization for the benefit of underprivileged children, is named for her. Sister Cannon established an annual Old Ladies' Day, when she entertained with dinner and program all the women over 70 in Ogden. She was a delegate to the National Council of Women and traveled extensively in the interest of the Relief Society. In April, 1878, she was married to Frank J. Cannon and became the mother of four children.

CANNON, Sarah Jane Jenne, a member of the General Board of Relief Society from April 5, 1898, to April 2, 1921, was born Sept. 11, 1839, in Camden, Upper Canada, a daughter of Benjamin Jenne and Sarah Snyder. She was the first donor to the Canadian and Hawaiian temples and spoke at the dedication of the Hawaiian Temple, the first woman to be accorded such privilege. She was a temple ordinance worker for twenty years. While serving on the General Board of Relief Society she acted as 3rd vice president from April 4, 1899, to Nov. 10, 1901, when that office was abolished. On April 11, 1858, she was married to George Q. Cannon and became the mother of seven children. Sister Cannon died May 13,

1928. (See also Biographical Encyclopedia, Vol. 2, p. 605.)

CARDON, Lucy Smith, a member of the General Board of Relief Society from Oct. 10, 1892, to Oct. 5, 1902, was born Jan. 5, 1852, at Eaton Bray, Bedfordshire, England, a daughter of Thomas X. Smith and Margaret Gourney. The family, as converts to the gospel, arrived in Utah in 1854. Sister Cardon was prominent in all of the early day pioneer activities for women, such as storing grain, etc. She served in important stake positions in the Relief Society for over forty years, including that of president of the Cache Stake Relief Society. She was the wife of Thomas Bartholomew Cardon and mother of eleven children.

CHILD, Julia Alleman, a member of the general board of Relief Society from 1921 to 1935, and second counselor in the General Presidency and general chairman of the Program of Education from 1928 until her death, Jan. 23, 1935, was born Sept. 8, 1873, at Springville, Utah, a daughter of Benjamin Alleman and Sariah Jane Starr. She was a graduate of the Brigham Young Academy, took courses at the U. of U., and taught in the Springville public schools fourteen years as teacher and principal, showing outstanding ability. Always active in Church affairs she was also a vice regent and member of the Daughters of the Revolution, member of Utah Public Health Association, a director and vice president of the Salt Lake City Congress of Parent-Teacher Association, and a member of the board of directors of the Civic Center. On June 3, 1908, she was married to George N. Child (later superintendent of schools) and mothered five of his children besides being the mother of three herself.

CLEVELAND, Sarah Marietta, a charter member of the Relief Society organized by the Prophet Joseph Smith, March 17, 1842, and first counselor to Emma Smith, the first president of the Female Relief Society in Nauvoo, Ill., was born Oct. 20, 1788, at Becket, Berkshire Co., Mass., a daughter of Ebenezer Kingsley. She was the wife of Judge John Cleveland of Nauvoo, who was never converted to "Mormonism." Sister Cleveland was an earnest worker in the Nauvoo Relief Society during its existence from 1842 to 1844; but when the saints were expelled from Nauvoo she remained there with her husband and family.

COWLES, Elvira A. (later Holmes), general treasurer of the Relief Society organized by the Prophet Joseph Smith at Nauvoo, Ill., March 17, 1842, was born Nov. 23, 1813, at Unadillo, N. Y., a daughter of Austin Cowles and Phebe Wilbur. She was sealed to the Prophet Joseph Smith and lived in his home to assist his wife Emma in her household duties. After the martyrdom of the Prophet, she was married to Jonathan H. Holmes, a former body guard to the Prophet. Her husband joined the Mormon Battalion, and she crossed the plains in Jedediah M. Grant's company and reached Great Salt Lake Valley in September, 1847. She remained for a time in the Old Fort, where she taught school, and after her husband's return from California they made their home in Farmington, where she again taught school, and died March 10, 1871. She was the mother of five children and also reared her husband's motherless daughter.

She has traveled considerably in America and in Europe and has delivered lectures of historic and literary interest on numerous occasions, and has been a delegate to a number of national conventions. A library at the Brigham Young University has been endowed and named in her honor the "Alice Louise Reynolds Library." There are twelve literary organizations known as the Alice Louise Reynolds Club. They are found in Utah from Salt Lake City to St. George, and one is in New York City. Her name is found in Women of the West, Women of America and in Who's Who In Education."

RICHARDS, Barbara Howell, member of the General Board of Relief Society from April 2, 1921, to April 4, 1929, was born Feb. 20, 1888, at Wellsville, Cache Co., Utah, a daughter of Joseph Howell and Mary Maughan. She received her education at the B. Y. College, at the Utah Agricultural College at Logan, Utah, and at Mt. Vernon Seminary, Washington, D. C. She spent 14 years at Washington, D. C., where her father served as Congressman for the State of Utah. On Sept. 12, 1912, she was married to Preston D. Richards and resided in the 20th Ward, Salt Lake City, where she presided over the Y. L. M. I. A. She is the mother of two children, and in 1929 the family moved to California, where she is still actively engaged in Church work.

RICHARDS, Emily Sophia, was a member of the General Board of Relief Society from Oct. 10, 1892, to April 2, 1921. (For biographical sketch see page 109.)

RICHARDS, Jane Snyder, a member of the Relief Society in Nauvoo and of the Central and General Boards of Relief Society in Utah from 1888 to 1910, was born Jan. 31, 1823, at Pamela, Jefferson Co., N. Y., a daughter of Isaac Richards and Lovise Comstock Snyder. She was married to Franklin D. Richards, Dec. 18, 1842, and came to Utah with her husband in 1848. Bro. Richards, who in 1849 was called to the apostleship, established permanent residence in Ogden in 1869, where Sister Richards presided over the Relief Society, and was the first president of the Weber Stake Relief Society, organized July 19, 1877, by Pres. Brigham Young. This position she held for 31 years, and was first counselor in the general presidency of Relief Society from 1888 to 1901. She was one of Utah's representatives at the National Council of Women in 1891, when the Relief Society and Y. L. M. I. A. became affiliated with that organization. She was also vice president of the Utah Board of Lady Managers of the World's Fair at Chicago, Ill., in 1893. Sister Richards was the mother of six children and died Nov. 17, 1912.

ROBERTS, Lillian Cameron, a member of the General Board of Relief Society from Dec. 13, 1916, to Feb. 7, 1923, was born Jan. 22, 1882, a daughter of David Cameron and Sarah Ann Child. She served as a teacher in the Sunday School and as a counselor in the Y. L. M. I. A. of the 11th Ward, Salt Lake City, and has held the following positions in the Relief Society: member of Ensign Stake Board, member of Taylor Stake Board, counselor in the presidency of Taylor Stake Board, and president of Raymond 1st Ward Relief Society since 1930. She was a clerk in the Church Historian's Office from 1907 to 1908, when she was placed in charge of the Genealogical library and office; later she was appointed librarian, which position she held until 1923. After moving to Canada she served as a member of the Taylor Stake and Raymond 1st Ward genealogical committees. In 1923 she was married to I. Bliss Roberts of Raymond, Alberta, Canada, where she has since made her home. She has one daughter and has mothered five of her husband's children.

ROBISON, Louise Y., seventh General President of the National Woman's Relief Society, was born May 27, 1866, at Scipio, Millard Co., Utah, a daughter of Thomas Yates and Elizabeth Francis. She attended the public schools and Brigham Young Academy and, being a natural leader, held office in the auxiliary organizations, including that of president of the Y. L. M. I. A. in the First and Emerson wards of Salt Lake City. She served on the Granite Stake Genealogical Board, and was a member and first counselor in the Granite Stake Relief Society Board. Sister Robison has been a member of the General Board of Relief Society since April 2, 1921, serving first as second counselor and has been General President of Relief Society since Oct. 8, 1928. During her presidency the Relief Societies in Utah have vigorously supported the movement of a State Training School for the feeble-minded and was largely responsible for its establishment. The Relief Society has also placed a beautiful monument in Nauvoo, Ill., marking the site of the building, in the upper room of which the National Woman's Relief Society (first known as the Female Relief Society) was organized by the Prophet Joseph Smith, Mar. 17, 1842. The dedication of this monument occurred July 24, 1933. Sister Robison supervised work of the Red Cross gauze room at the Gardo House, Salt Lake City, during the World war, and was instructor in surgical dressings. She is a director of the Utah Tuberculosis Association and member of the board of directors of the Visiting Nurses Association, and of the Utah State Public Welfare Board. She is a member of the board of directors of the Travelers' Aid Society and has attended two national conventions of this organization. She was a delegate to the National Conference of Social Work, to the National Women's Christian Temperance Union, to the National Council of Women, and to the International Congress of Women at the Century of Progress Fair at Chicago in 1933, where she presided at one of the general sessions of the Congress. She was also a delegate from the United States to the International Council of Women at Paris, France in 1935, and has traveled extensively in America and in Europe in the interest of the Relief Society. On Oct. 11, 1883, she was married to Joseph Lyman Robison and is the mother of six children.

SHIPP, Dr. Ellis R, a member of the General Board of Relief Society from 1898 to 1907, was born Jan. 20, 1847, in Davis County, Iowa, a daughter of William F. Reynolds and Anna Hawley. She came to Utah in 1853 with her parents and was educated in the local grade schools and the University of Deseret. She attended the Women's Medical College of Pennsylvania and graduated therefrom in 1878 with the degree of Doctor of Medicine, being the second Utah woman to graduate from an Eastern medical institution; later she took graduate work at the University of Michigan Medical School. She practiced medicine for many years in Utah and was one of the staff physicians of the Deseret Hospital. She has always been very modest in her prices and has never refused aid to any in distress. Her teaching activities, embracing obstetrics and hygienic living covered a period of more than fifty years. Sister Shipp is a poetess and one of whom Utah is justly proud. In 1910 she published a volume of poems entitled "Life Lines". On May 5, 1866, she was married to Dr. Milford B. Shipp and became the mother of ten children. She is still (1936) active and preparing to celebrate her 90th birthday anniversary.

SMITH, Bathsheba Wilson, was a charter member of the Female Relief Society organized by the Prophet Joseph Smith in Nauvoo, Ill., on March 17, 1842, and became fourth general president of the General Board of Relief Society. In 1837 she was baptized and located in Nauvoo where she became well acquainted with Joseph Smith's family and was married to George A. Smith, the Prophet's cousin, July 25, 1841, and became the mother of two children. She officiated as an ordinance worker in the Nauvoo Temple, in the Endowment House in Salt Lake City and in the Logan and Salt Lake temples in Utah, and presided over the women's department in the Salt Lake Temple from the late nineties until her death. Sister Smith was a counselor in the presidency of the Central Board of Relief Society from 1888 to 1892 and in the presidency of the General Board from 1892 to 1901, when she became general president of the Relief Society. During her presidency the headquarters of the General Board were established in the Bishop's Building. Sister Smith died Sept. 20, 1910, in Salt Lake City. (For further details see Biographical Encyclopedia, Vol. 1, p. 699.)

SMITH, Emma Hale, wife of the Prophet Joseph Smith and the first president of the Relief Society in 1842-1844, was born July 10, 1804, in Harmony, Susquehanna Co., Pennsylvania, a daughter of Isaac Hale and Elizabeth Lewis. She was a faithful wife and mother and during times of persecution her home was always open to the sick and needy. She supervised the work of boarding and clothing the men engaged in building the temples at Kirtland and Nauvoo, and during the persecutions in Illinois, she, in company with others, journeyed to Quincy, Ill., and presented a memorial to Gov. Carlin in behalf of her people. She was appointed to make a selection of hymns to be used by the Church in Nauvoo, many of which are included in the L. D. S. hymn book. When the saints were expelled from Illinois in 1846, Emma Smith chose to remain in Nauvoo, where she later married Major Lewis C. Bidamon in 1847. She died in Nauvoo April 30, 1879. She was the mother of four sons and adopted a daughter. (For further details see Biographical Encyclopedia, Vol. 1, p. 692.)

SMITH, Ethel Reynolds, a member of the General Board of Relief Society from April 2, 1921, to February, 1936, was born Oct. 23, 1889, in Salt Lake City, Utah, a daughter of George Reynolds and Amelia Schofield. She was an efficient worker in the various organizations of the Church from her early girlhood and worked for a time in the Church Historian's office. For several years she served as chairman of the Genealogical Department of the Salt Lake Stake Relief Society and as assistant to Willard Young in the Salt Lake Stake Genealogical Society. On Nov. 2, 1908, she was married to Joseph Fielding Smith, member of the Quorum of the Twelve, and is the mother of nine children; she has also reared two of her husband's daughter's by a former wife.

SMITH, Julina Lambson, member of the General Board of Relief Society from 1892 to 1921 and second counselor in the presidency of that organization from 1910 to 1921, died in Salt Lake City, Jan. 10, 1936. (See page 68.)

In 1845 she was married in Nauvoo, Ill., to Presiding Bishop Newel K. Whitney and in 1848 she came to Utah with Bishop Whitney's family. Bishop Whitney died Sept. 23, 1850 and in 1852 Sister Emmeline was married to Elder Daniel H. Wells. In 1866, Pres. Brigham Young instructed Sister Eliza R. Snow to assist the Bishops to organize Relief Societies in the various wards of the Church, in which she was assisted by Sister Emmeline B. Wells. In 1888 Sister Wells became a member of the General Board of Relief Society, serving successively as corresponding secretary and general secretary of that organization. She became general president in 1910, which office she held until 1921, her death occurring April 25, 1921. In 1874 she became assistant editor of the "Woman's Exponent," the organ of the Relief Society, and was editor and publisher of that periodical from 1876 to 1914. She also published two editions of her poems and numerous pamphlets and brochures. She organized the "Reapers' Club" and the "Utah Woman's Press Club" and also women's literary organizations, in which she fostered talent by publishing writings of the members in the "Exponent." Sister Wells was appointed chairman of the wheat storing movement in 1876 by Pres. Brigham Young and continued to advocate the cause until 1918 when the stored wheat was turned over to the United States. While she presided over the Relief Society, the Welfare Department and the Burial Clothes Department were organized at Relief Society headquarters. Sister Wells was a pronounced suffragist and gave service in organizing both state and national associations, and as a delegate to women's councils she traveled extensively at home and abroad. In 1928 the women of the State of Utah placed a marble bust of Mrs. Wells in the rotunda of the State Capitol in recognition of her service to women. Sister Wells was the mother of six children. (See also Biographical Encyclopedia, Vol. 2, p. 731.)

Smith (Church Historian) and Susan E. West. She was educated in the private school of Mary Cook and in the University of Deseret, receiving a teacher's certificate from the latter institution. She joined the Relief Society as a young girl and acted in the capacities of visiting teacher, secretary, ward president, stake president, member of the general board, general treasurer, first counselor in the general presidency, and on April 2, 1921, was sustained as general president. Mrs. Williams who was possessed of fine business ability, centralized the funds of the General Board and established the business affairs of the board on a sound business basis. She represented the Relief Society at national and international councils of women and was a delegate to Rome in 1914, after which she toured Europe. She was a charter member of the Daughters of the Revolution and of the Daughters of Utah Pioneers. On July 17, 1877, she was married to Wm. N. Williams and became the mother of eleven children. Sister Williams died March 8, 1930. (See also Biographical Encyclopedia, Vol. 2, p. 738.)

WOODRUFF, Emma Smith, a member of the General Board of Relief Society from 1892 to 1910, was born March 1, 1838, at Spring Hill, Daviess Co., Missouri, a daughter of Samuel Smith and Martishia Smoot. Her family joined the Church in early days and moved to Nauvoo. As a child she was greatly impressed by the Prophet Joseph Smith and all her life remembered his kindly attitude towards her. She came to Utah in 1850, and in 1853 was married to Apostle Wilford Woodruff and later became the mother of eight children. She was a charter member of the Retrenchment Society and later presided over the Farmers Ward Relief Society. She was a member of the first Salt Lake Stake Relief Society Board and president of the Granite Stake Relief Society. When the Salt Lake Temple was opened in 1893 she was chosen as an ordinance worker, serving as assistant to both Zina D. H. Young and Bathsheba W. Smith, when they presided over the women's department there. Sister Woodruff died March 4, 1912. (See also Biographical Encyclopedia, Vol. 2, p. 805.)

YOUNG, Zina Diantha, a member of the Relief Society in Nauvoo and third general president of the National Woman's Relief Society (1888 to 1901), was born Jan. 31, 1821, at Watertown, Jefferson Co., N. Y., a daughter of William Huntington and Zina Baker. "Aunt Zina," as she was affectionately known, was baptized by Elder Hyrum Smith in New York in August, 1835. She was a member of the temple choir at Kirtland, Ohio, and came to Utah in September, 1848. She was a wife of Pres. Brigham Young and was noted for her deep spirituality and pleasing personality. She was especially active in caring for the sick and prepared herself for this work by taking a course in nursing and midwifery under Dr. Willard Richards. She later established a school for nursing in the old Social Hall. Being a practical woman she made her own candles, soap, starch, etc., before such things were obtainable except at a very high price. She was a carder, spinner and weaver of cloth and chairman of the sericulture project for the State of Utah. Before becoming general president of Relief Society she had served as first counselor in the presidency of the Central Board of Relief Society from 1866 to 1888. During her presidency, annual dues were established, and the Relief Society became affiliated with the National Council of Women (1891). She presided over the women in the Salt Lake Temple for a number of years. Sister Young represented the Relief Society at meetings of the National Council of Women, National Woman's Suffrage Association and at the World Congress of Women at Chicago in 1893. Besides being the mother of three children she reared four other children as her own. She died Aug. 28, 1901. (See also Biographical Encyclopedia, Vol. 1, p. 697.)

GENERAL BOARD OF DESERET SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION

AUSTIN, Mark, a member of the Deseret Sunday School Union Board since 1929, was born Oct. 3, 1864, in Studham, Bedfordshire, England, a son of John Austin and Emma Grace. In 1868 he came to Utah with his parents, crossing the Atlantic Ocean on the steamship "Minnesota" which arrived in New York harbor July 12, 1868. Thence the emigrants traveled by rail to Laramie, Wyoming, and from this point, as passengers in Capt. Joseph S. Rawlins' mule train, to Salt Lake City where they arrived July 25, 1868. The family located at Lehi, Utah, where they took up land and ters of the sugar business of the State of Utah. In 1929 he was called to be a member of the Deseret Sunday School Union Board.

In 1887 he married Marie Vaughan in the Logan Temple. Five of the six surviving children of this union have already been married in the Temple and all but one have filled missions, two to New Zealand and two to Holland. Bro. and Sister Austin also have both filled missions to Great Britain. (See Bio. Ency. Vol. 2, p. 589.)

were among the foremost farmers to bring about the successful cultivation of the sugar beet when the sugar factory was established at Lehi in 1890. In due course of time Bro. Austin became associated with the Utah and Idaho sugar factories, and when in 1904 a sugar factory was established at a point about five miles northeast of Rexburg, Idaho, the people who had located in its vicinity were on July 24, 1904, organized as the Sugar Ward with Mark Austin as Bishop. Assisted by the Saints of the ward, he erected a modern meeting house, a rock building, said to be the finest chapel in the Fremont Stake at that time. On June 30, 1905, Bishop Austin was released as Bishop of the Sugar Ward and appointed a counselor in the presidency of the Fremont Stake, which position he held until 1910, when he was called to preside over the Fremont Stake of Zion. This position he held until 1925, when he was honorably released to move to Salt Lake City, the headquar-

Her father, who died in 1934, was Reuben J. Bailey; her mother, who resides in Salt Lake City, was Alice Park before her marriage. The Baileys and the Parks immigrated from Great Britain to Canada, where they embraced "Mormonism." Shortly after joining the Church they moved to Utah, settling in the Salt Lake valley.

Miss Bailey was educated in the public schools of Salt Lake County, including the Granite High School; in the Latter-day Saints' College, from which she was graduated in 1927; and in the University of Utah, which gave her a degree in science (B. S.) in 1932. While she majored in education, she did considerable work in Western history, in which she is greatly interested. During her college course she became a member of Chi Omega, a national sorority.

In religious work Miss Bailey has always been active. Besides having attended the auxiliary organizations of the Church, she taught a Sunday School class for several years in Wilford Ward, where she makes her home. In 1934 she became a member of the Grant Stake Sunday School Board, and was connected with that group till she was called to the general board. On the general board, of which she is the youngest member in years, she is on the committee which has charge of the Primary Department.

At present (1936) Miss Bailey is a teacher in the fourth grade in the Granite School district.

BARKER, James Louis, a member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union since 1928, was born July 27, 1880, at North Ogden, Utah, a son of Henry Barker and Margaret Stalle. He was baptized in 1888 by Joseph Orton, functioned in various offices of the Aaronic Priesthood, was ordained an Elder, and on June 25, 1901, was ordained a Seventy by Jos. W. McMurrin and set apart for a mission to Switzerland. From this mission he returned Aug. 15, 1904.

On May 30, 1906, Elder Barker married Kate Montgomery, a daughter of Nathaniel Montgomery and Nancy Clark, who has borne him one son and two daughters. She, with her little family, accompanied her husband to Europe and remained abroad about eight years while Bro. Barker studied in Switzerland and the University of Paris. Prof. Barker is now head of the Modern Language Department of the University of Utah.

BENNETT, John Foster, treasurer of the Deseret Sunday School Union since 1906, was born July 11, 1865, at Birmingham, England, the son of Richard and Maria Foster Bennett. Richard Bennett was not a member of the Church, but was honest and conscientious. With his wife and two little children (one the subject of this sketch) he came to Utah with his wife's family in 1868. The Foster family located in Bear Lake valley, but Richard Bennett found work in Salt Lake City. When John was eight years old he was taken by one of his aunts to visit his grandparents in Bear Lake Valley. Being naturally very active, he enjoyed life on the farm and insisted upon remaining there and found work herding cows in the summer and feeding stock in the winter. While there, with the consent of his father, he was baptized and confirmed a member of the Church. Upon his return to Salt Lake City, two or three years later, he attended Karl G. Maeser's school for a short time, but not being happy there he presented himself at Miss Cook's school in the Social Hall, where he earned his tuition by doing janitor work and gardening for Miss Cook in the summer. Later he attended the University of Utah for a short time. Like most boys he took a great interest in the Fire Brigade and served as the "mascot" of the Veteran Firemen's Association in his boyhood and was later given an honorary life membership in that organization. After working in a blacksmith's shop for a time he became associated with Charles R. Savage the pioneer photographer, where his sister Jane also worked, which gave him great joy. After ten years of service there he became associated with the S. R. Marks Furniture Company, and still later was a clerk and salesman for Dinwoodey Furniture Co. The death of Nathan Sears of the Sears Glass and Paint Company in 1896, was a great sorrow to Bro. Bennett as they had been close friends. Shortly afterwards he assumed the management of the business in behalf of the family of Bro. Sears and a new company was organized of which he became president. In due time he purchased the Sears interest and continued the business as the Bennett Glass and Paint Company.

On Nov. 17, 1897, in the Salt Lake Temple, he married Rosetta E. Wallace, daughter of Henry and Ellen Harper Wallace of Salt Lake City. This marriage has been blessed with five children, three sons (Wallace F., Harold H. and Richard S.) and two daughters (Elizabeth, wife of Elwood G. Winter, and Mary, wife of Kenneth E. Smith).

Bro. Bennett has always been deeply interested in Sunday School work and presided over the Sunday school of the 20th Ward for some years. Since 1897 he has been a member of the Deseret Sunday School Union Board and since 1908 has been general treasurer of that organization, and in addition is at present a member of the Church Auditing Committee. He is also a director of Z. C. M. I., Zion's Savings Bank, Utah State National Bank, Deseret Book Company, Home Fire Insurance Company, Zion's Benefit

BENNION, Adam Samuel, a member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union since 1915, was born Dec. 2, 1886, at Taylorsville, Utah, a son of Joseph Bushell Bennion and Mary Ann Sharp. He was educated in the primary and secondary schools in Salt Lake City, obtained the degree of B. A. at the University of Utah in 1908, the degree of M. A., at the Columbia University, N. Y., in 1912, and the degree of Ph. D. at Berkeley, Calif., in 1923. Bro. Bennion was baptized when he was eight years old and after functioning in offices of the Aaronic Priesthood, he was ordained an Elder. On Oct. 27, 1910, he was ordained a Seventy by J. Golden Kimball and became a member of the 115th Quorum of Seventy. From 1904 to 1907 he was a member of the superintendency of the Taylorsville Sunday school and teacher in the Y. M. M. I. A. From 1907 to 1911 he served in the superintendency of the Granite Stake Sunday school board, and in 1915 became a member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union. In 1919 he was appointed a member of the general board of Religion Classes, and in June, 1919, he was appointed superintendent of the Latter-day Saint schools, which position he held until 1927, when he became an official of the Utah Light and Power Company. On Sept. 14, 1911, he married Minerva Richards Young, daughter of Gen. Richard W. Young and Minerva Richards. Five children have blessed this marriage, namely, Phyllis, Adam, Richard, Marian and Edmund.

BENNION, M. Lynn (Milton Lindsay) a member of the General Board of the Deseret Sunday School Union, was born Oct. 2, 1902, in Salt Lake City, Utah, a son of Milton Bennion and Cora Lindsay. He was baptized Oct. 30, 1910, by George C. Osguthorpe, ordained a Deacon July 12, 1914, by James Henry, a Teacher Jan. 28, 1918, by Eugene M. Cannon and a Priest Jan. 11, 1920, by Elias S. Woodruff.

He was ordained an Elder Oct. 2, 1921, by William M. Hunter, and a High Priest July 15, 1934, by Apostle George Albert Smith. From 1920 to 1923, Elder Bennion filled a mission to the Central States, presiding over the Southwest Missouri Conference part of the time. After his return from this mission he continued his education at the University of Utah, graduating in 1926. From 1925 to 1926, he presided over the Y. M. M. I. A. of the Forest Dale Ward. From 1926 to 1927 he taught in the L. D. S. Seminary in Kamas, Utah, and served during that year on the South Summit Stake Sunday School Board. The following two years were spent teaching in the L. D. S. Seminary at Richmond, Utah, and serving on the Benson Stake Sunday School Board. He was appointed a member of the East Jordan Stake High Council, July 15, 1934, and of the Deseret Sunday School Union board in November, 1934. He took a master's degree in the University of Utah in 1931, and in 1934 he received a doctor's degree in the field of education from the University of California, and was appointed supervisor of the L. D. S. senior seminaries in November, 1935. He is also a member of the Phi Delta Kappa (a national educational fraternity) and of the Sigma Chi (a national social fraternity).

On Sept. 18, 1928, Dr. Bennion married Katherine Snow, daughter of Warren C. Snow and Kate Crawford; this union has been blessed with two daughters, namely, Katherine Annette, born Sept. 18, 1928, and Coralyn E., born Feb. 9, 1932.

BENNION, Milton, First Assistant in the General Superintendency of the L. D. S. Sunday Schools, was born at Taylorville, Utah, June 7, 1870, a son of John Bennion and Mary Turpin. He was baptized Aug. 1, 1878, by Archibald Frame, was ordained to the office of a Deacon at the age of 12 years, a Teacher at 15, and a Priest at 18 years of age. He was ordained an Elder Nov. 8, 1889, by William Bennion, and a Seventy Nov. 11, 1889, by Apostle John Henry Smith, and set apart for a mission to New Zealand. While on this mission Elder Bennion labored most of the time in the Whangarei District, over which he presided in an efficient manner until the close of the year 1892, when he returned home. The journey from Salt Lake to New Zealand had been across the Pacific Ocean. The return journey was made via Australia, Ceylon, Egypt, Palestine and various parts of Europe; thus he circumnavigated the globe. Being one of the leading educators of the state, he is deeply interested in Sunday School work and became a member of the Deseret Sunday School Union Board in 1909, and upon the reorganization of the general superintendency Oct. 30, 1934, was selected as First Assistant to Supt. George D. Pyper.

Elder Bennion acted as principal of the Southern Branch of the Utah State Normal School at Cedar City from 1897 to 1900, was a member of the Utah State Board of Education from 1898 to 1900, an assistant professor in the University of Utah in 1901-1904, and professor of philosophy at the same institution from 1904 to 1913. Since 1913 he has been Dean of the School of Education and professor of philosophy and education since 1914, and director of the summer sessions in the University. He received the degree of B. S. from the University of Utah in 1897; M. A. from Columbia University in 1901, and the honorary degree of Ed. D. from the University of Utah in 1931. He acted as chairman of the committee on character education of the National Council of Education and of the National Education Association from 1920 to 1926, has been a member of the National Council of Education since 1915 and is a fellow in the American Association for the advancement of science.

On June 22, 1898, Elder Bennion married Cora Lindsay in the Salt Lake Temple. To them have been born the following sons and daughters: Claire (Mrs. Wm. L. Jones), Maurine (Mrs. E. L. Folsom), Milton Lindsay (M. Lynn), Wayne L., Lowell L., Ruth, Grant Madson, Frances, Margaret and Vaughan L. Ruth and Margaret died in infancy. All the others, except Vaughn, are now adults and graduates of the University of Utah.

CANNON, George M., a member of the General Board of the Deseret Sunday School Union since 1901, and a son of Angus Munn Cannon and Sarah Maria Mousley Cannon, was born at St. George, Washington Co., Utah, Christmas morning 1861. There being no house in the town, he was born in a covered wagon, the box of which had been lifted from the running gears and set upon supports, which raised the bed a few inches above the ground. The family was recalled from the Dixie Mission and returned to Salt Lake City in the spring of 1869.

George M. was baptized by George Q. Cannon on his eighth birthday, Dec. 25, 1869, became a member of the 14th Ward, and there received successively ordination to the office of Deacon, Teacher, Priest, and Elder, the latter ordination was under the hands of the presidency of the 1st quorum of Elders, Edward W. Davis, John W. Taylor and Matthias F. Cowley. Later George M. Cannon became president of the First Quorum of Elders, and as such had charge of the furnishing of the Elders' room in the Salt Lake Temple at the time of its dedication in 1893. He continued in that position until the organization of the Granite Stake, when on January 28, 1900, he was ordained a High Priest by Francis M. Lyman and sustained as stake superintendent of Sunday schools. In November, 1900, he became a member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union.

In business George M. Cannon has been active from early youth. He was bookkeeper and collector for his father in the coal business in Salt Lake City, selling coal from the old "Grass Creek Coal Mines" (near Coalville); engaged in the real estate business with his brother John M. Cannon from 1886 to 1891. On January 1, 1891, he became cashier of Zion's Savings Bank and Trust Co., a position held until Sept. 30, 1906, at which time he retired, and has engaged in private business since that date. He had active connection with mutual building societies of Utah; was a charter member of Zion's Benefit Building Society; organized the Deseret Building Society, the final draft for which was drawn by himself, Richard W. Young and Philip Maycock. He is now president and manager of the Prudential Federal Savings and Loan Association. In 1907, with greater opportunity for private work, he planted Rosedale Orchard, probably the most noted cherry orchard in Utah, which is still being enlarged and improved year by year.

In political circles George M. Cannon has had great experience and is widely known. He was in 1884 elected county recorder of Salt Lake County and held that position for six years. He studied the best methods of showing titles to real estate, and in 1888 copyrighted Cannon's System of Abstracts. This he gave to Salt Lake County upon retirement from office in 1890, and the system is still in use after more than forty-five years; and has been copied in many other counties of Utah.

Elder Cannon was elected to the Constitutional convention in 1895, and was chairman of two of its committees; one on taxation; the other on public debt. In 1895 he became chairman of the Republican State Committee, and had charge of the campaign which ratified the State Constitution, and elected to state office every man on the Republican ticket. Utah became a state on Jan. 4, 1896, and Mr. Cannon became the first president of the State Senate of Utah. (See also Bio. Ency. Vol. 1, p. 566.)

CANNON, Tracy Y., Bishop of the Cannon Ward and member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union and of the general music committee of the Church, was born

July 23, 1879, in Salt Lake City, Utah, a son of George Q. Cannon and Caroline Young. He was baptized Aug. 2, 1887, by Joseph Keddington and ordained a Deacon; ordained a Teacher Feb. 29, 1896, by George Q. Cannon, and a Priest Nov. 19, 1897, by Cyrus H. Gold. He was ordained an Elder Sept. 12, 1898, by Angus M. Cannon, a Seventy June 25, 1901, by J. Golden Kimball, and a High Priest in November, 1915, by Wm. McLachlan. He served as a member of the Pioneer Stake High Council from November, 1915, to May 15, 1927, and became a member of the General Sunday School Board, June 8, 1917, being set apart to that position by Pres. Joseph F. Smith. After being ordained a Bishop, Dec. 14, 1930, by Apostle George Albert Smith, he presided over the Cannon Ward, which position he held until Feb. 23, 1936, when he was released on account of his many duties connected with music in the Church. Bishop Cannon was sustained as assistant tabernacle organist in April, 1909, and later became organist; was a member of the Centennial Committee in 1930, and played the organ for the great pageant in that year. He has been director of the McCune School of Music since June 11, 1925, for which position his training has adequately fitted him. He was educated in the public schools of Salt Lake City and at the University of Utah. Later he studied piano with Alberto Jonas in Berlin, and organ with Albert A. Stanley in Ann Arbor, Michigan, with Alexandre Guilmant in Paris, and with Pietro A. Yon in New York; harmony and counterpoint with Dr. Stanley; harmony, counterpoint, fugue and composition with Walter Meyerowitz of Berlin, and orchestration with Albert Rousell in Paris. He received an honorary degree of Master of Music from the Chicago Musical College, June 18, 1930, and has been active as a teacher of piano, organ and composition, over a thousand students having come under his tutelage. He has written a number of songs and hymns, and was one of the editors of the L. D. S. hymn book, edition of 1927.

On Sept. 12, 1905, Elder Cannon married Elsie Priscilla Jennings Ritter, who was born Feb. 6, 1884, and died at Manheim, Germany, May 27, 1907. On April 26, 1911, he married Lettie Taylor, who was born in Ogden, Utah, Aug. 24, 1889, and died in Salt Lake City, May 4, 1935. The following children were born to Tracy Y. Cannon and Lettie T. Cannon: Tracy Taylor, born Feb. 10, 1912; Melvin Croxall, born July 25, 1913; Ralph Taylor, born April 22, 1914; Judith, born Sept. 20, 1916; Frances, born May 18, 1919; Rose Ann, born Jan. 3, 1923, and Emerson Taylor, born March 6, 1926.

CUMMINGS, Horace Hall, a member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union since 1901, was born June 12, 1858, at Provo, Utah, a son of Benjamin Franklin Cummings and Catherine Hall. He was baptized Dec. 7, 1866, by Edward Stevenson, ordained an Elder Dec. 20, 1874, by his father (B. F. Cummings), ordained a Seventy Jan. 2, 1884, by Thomas V. Williams, and ordained a High Priest, Jan. 28, 1900, by Anthon H. Lund. He filled a mission to Mexico in 1885-1887, presiding over the Mexican Mission during the last year. While on this mission he distributed the first shipment of Books of Mormon in Spanish, shipped the first company of 42 Mexicans to the L. D. S. colonies in Chihuahua, translated and printed in Spanish a number of sec-

Elder Cummings worked as a chore boy for two years at $10 per month and his board, then, for one year, at the Deseret News office for $5.00 per week; then for three years in a woolen factory at $9.00 per week, giving all he earned to his parents. After taking a B. S. degree in 1895, in the University of Utah, he took further work in the Chicago University and the Columbia University, and added to his store of knowledge by reading and study, so that he became one of the foremost educators in the State of Utah. Thus, he taught for six years in the public schools, five years in the Church schools and eleven years in the University of Utah. He served over thirteen years as general superintendent of the L. D. S. schools. While serving as a member of the third Utah State Legislature, he introduced a bill which moved the University of Utah from its location on 2nd West street to the commodious site on the east bench.

Bro. Cummings had charge of the Utah Educational Exhibit at the World's Fair at St. Louis, Mo., in 1904, and won for the exhibit gold and silver medals and about 20 lesser ones. He was also chosen to represent the National Educational Association at the Mexican Centennial celebration on invitation of Pres. Porfiro Diaz, at the expense of the Mexican government.

By request of the Utah State Text Book Commission, Bro. Cummings wrote three school books on elementary science, which received three adoptions of five years each, and now after 35 years, without revision, are still used in many schools, and secure for the writer a nice little check annually as royalty on sales. He has also done his share in the civic development of Salt Lake City by building, at different times, two homes for his mother, two for himself, a store at 44 East South Temple street, three apartment houses on 2nd South street, and four houses in Gilmer Park, costing in all, including the land, about $300,000. In ward and stake capacities he has also been a faithful and zealous worker. Among other offices he served as a Sunday school teacher for over 25 years, president in the 61st Quorum of Seventy, stake superintendent of religion classes, member of the High Council of Granite Stake, member of the central committee which started the M. I. Associations, general superintendent of L. D. S. schools, and a member of the Deseret Sunday School Union Board since 1901.

In 1881, Elder Cummings married Barbara M. Moses. This union has been blessed with six sons and two daughters, namely, Horace Moses, Julian Moses, William Ridge, Victor Clyde, Lorenzo John and Harold Moses, and Ruby and Norma. He also married Matilda Wilcox Bliss, a widow with three children (Ella Maud, Edwin Samuel and Walter Bliss); one child, a daughter who died two days after birth, was born of this marriage.

DE JONG, Gerrit, jun., member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union, and of the Church Music Committee, was born March 20, 1892, at Amsterdam, Holland, a son of Gerrit de Jong and Lijda Marianna Kuiper. With his parents and an only sister, he emigrated to America in 1906, crossing the Atlantic Ocean in the ship "Potsdam" of the Holland-America Line, and arrived in Salt Lake City, July 28, 1906. He was baptized Nov. 1, 1907, by John B. Fehr in the Salt Lake Tabernacle, and ordained a Priest Feb. 24, 1908, by John K. White. He was ordained an Elder Aug. 22, 1911, by Robert B. T. Taylor; a Seventy Nov. 27, 1912, by J. Golden Kimball, and a High Priest Feb 5, 1928, by Wm. A. McCullough. Although only 14 years of age when he arrived in Utah, young Gerrit not only spoke his native language (Dutch), but English, German and French, and since that time has become proficient in the Spanish language. For some time he attended the Murdock Academy in Beaver, Utah, and the L. D. S. University in Salt Lake City. He received an A. B. degree from the University of Utah in December, 1920, and a M. A. degree from the same institution in June, 1925. He studied at the National University of Mexico in 1921, and at the University of Munich, Germany, in 1927. He attended the Leland Stanford Junior University in California, from June, 1931, to October, 1932, where he received the degree of Ph. D. in June, 1933, having specialized in Germanic and Romanic languages and literatures. He perhaps holds a record in the Church for having preached the gospel in different parts of the world in five different languages. Beginning the study of music in Holland at 11 years of age, he specialized in piano and organ, and has since developed a fine reputation as a choral and orchestral director and composer. After teaching music privately in Salt Lake City until 1916, he became an instructor at the Murdock Academy at Beaver, and taught there in 1916-1918. He was instructor of modern languages at the L. D. S. University of Salt Lake City from 1919 to 1925, since which time he has acted as professor of modern languages and dean of the College of Fine Arts at the Brigham Young University at Provo, Utah. He was a member of the general board of Religion Classes until that organization was discontinued, became a member of the Utah Stake High Council in 1933 and of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School and of the Church Music Committee in 1934.

On Sept. 14, 1911, Bro De Jong married Rosabelle Winegar of Salt Lake City in the Salt Lake Temple, Pres. Joseph F. Smith officiating. Four children have blessed this union, namely, Wm. Gerritt, born in 1913; Belle Felice, born in 1919; Nola Eloise, born in 1924, and Carma Rose, born in 1930.

DRIGGS, Howard Roscoe, a member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union, and of the High Council of the New York Stake of Zion, was born Aug. 8, 1873, at Pleasant Grove, Utah, the son of Benjamin W. Driggs and Rosalia Ellen Cox. Being born of Latter-day Saint parents, he was baptized when he was eight years old and after officiating for some time in the Aaronic Priesthood was ordained an Elder in 1897 at Pleasant Grove. He was ordained a Seventy Sept. 26, 1906, by Seymour B. Young, and a High Priest Dec. 9, 1934, by J. Reuben Clark. When only 14 years of age he acted as assistant secretary of the Y. M. M. I. A. in Pleasant Grove, served as secretary of that organization in 1887-1890, and as president from 1890 to 1891. Bro. Driggs also served as assistant superintendent of the Pleasant Grove Sunday school from 1892 to 1895, and instructor in the Sunday school for training teachers (Cedar City) about 1898. He taught the parents' class in the 11th Ward Sunday school, Salt Lake City, from 1907 to 1908, was supervisor of parents' classes in the Ensign Stake from 1908 to 1910, and has been a member of the general Sunday School Board since 1910. While residing in New York City he organized elementary and primary departments in the Sunday schools there in 1919, and assisted Apostle Reed Smoot in organizing the first L. D. S. Sunday school in Washington, D. C., about 1934. He acted as counselor to the president of the New York Branch of the Church from 1928 to 1930, and presided over that branch from 1928 to about 1930.

Bro. Driggs was graduated from the Brigham Young University in 1892, from the University of Utah in 1907 with the degree of A. B. and from the same institution in 1918 with the degree of M. A. In 1926 he received the degree of Ph. D. from the New York University. While a student at the University of Chicago in 1906, he won a scholarship in the Interstate University Oratorical Contest.

He now ranks as one of the most able teachers the State of Utah has produced. He commenced his career as a teacher in an ungraded school in Pleasant Grove (Manila) in 1891, was principal of the Lindon School in 1894, instructor of English in the Branch Normal School in Cedar City, Utah, from 1897 to 1900, and assistant principal of the same school from 1904 to 1906; instructor of English at the U. of U. from 1912 to 1914, professor of English education in the same institution from 1914 to 1923; visiting professor of English Education in the New York University, 1923; associate professor of English education in the New York University from 1924 to 1926, and professor of English Education in the New York University since 1928. During the years 1918-1922, being on leave of absence from the University of Utah, he studied English teaching over the United States.

Dr. Driggs was president of the Utah Library Gymnasium Commission from about 1908 to 1911, executive secretary of the Utah State Board of Education in charge of libraries from 1915 to 1916; president of the Utah Education Association in 1916, member of the Executive Board of the same from 1917 to 1920, and vice president of the National Education Association from 1919 to 1920. He is a life member of the latter association, and was vice president of the New York City Teachers' Club from 1931 to 1932. He also helped to organize and became a charter member of the Utah Trails and Landmarks Association in 1931, has been president of the Oregon Trail Memorial Association from 1927 to the present (1936), and originated and directed the Covered Wagon Centennial in 1930, and the Pony Express Diamond Jubilee in 1935. The office of the Oregon Trail Association is in New York City.

Dr. Driggs is proud of his pioneer ancestry and is a staunch representative of the Church and of his native state wherever he may be. On Sept. 8, 1897, he married Eva May Framp-ton, daughter of William M. Framp-ton and Mary Terry. This union has been blessed with two children, namely, Howard Wayne, and Harold Perry.

DURHAM, George Henry, a member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union since 1930, was born Sept. 12, 1883, at Parowan, Utah, a son of Thomas Durham and Caroline Mortensen. He was baptized Sept. 13, 1891, by David Matheson, sen., functioned in the offices of the Aaronic Priesthood, was ordained an Elder and later a Seventy and acted as a president of the 69th Quorum of Seventy, and is at present a president of the 157th Quorum of Seventy. Always of a musical temperament, from his early youth he gave service to the Church in a musical capacity. After graduating from the Murdock Academy at Beaver, Utah, he took special courses with John J. McClellan, Tracy Y. Cannon and Hugh Dougall, after which he taught music in Utah and Idaho. From 1913 to 1918, he studied music in Boston, Mass., during which time he acted as superintendent of the Boston Branch Sunday school for three years and as musical director in the branch for five years. He spent two summers at the Joseph Smith Memorial Farm, South Royalton, Vermont, entertaining tourists with musical programs. In 1918, he returned to Utah, taught music at the Murdock Academy, Beaver, acted as music supervisor of the Beaver City schools and later became music supervisor of the Iron County schools. In 1921 he moved to Salt Lake City, where he became music director at the South Junior High School, chorister for the Ensign Stake Sunday School Board, and from 1922 to 1931, he was music supervisor at the L. D. S. College. Since 1930 he has been one of the music personnel of the Deseret Sunday School Union Board. From 1935 to 1936 he had leave of absence and attended the University of Southern California.

On June 10, 1909, Elder Durham married Mary Ellen Marsden of Parowan, in the Salt Lake Temple; from this union six sons and two daughters have been born, namely, George Homer, Wilby Marsden, Lowell Marsden, Lucius Marsden, Thomas LaMar, Wayne Cole, Jean Marie and Joyce Elaine.

FELT, (Anne) Marie Fox, a member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union, since 1930, was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, July 24, 1900, a daughter of Jesse M. Fox and Hanne Sorena Neve. She was baptized Aug. 1, 1908, by Horace T. Godfrey, and from her earliest youth took an active part in the organizations of the Church. After attending the public schools she studied at the University of Utah, majoring in kindergarten and primary work, and received a diploma as an instructor in these branches, which led to her appointment in 1927 as president of the Utah State Kindergarten-Primary Association (Utah Branch of the International Association for Childhood Education), a position which she held until 1931. She taught in the Salt Lake City schools from 1919 to 1931, and acted as demonstration teacher in the kindergarten department of the

Sister Felt was a member of the Granite Stake Sunday School Board from 1919 to 1924, and of the Grant Stake Sunday School Board from 1924 to 1928. From 1930 to 1934, she served as an associate member of the Deseret Sunday School Union Board and became a regular member of that organization in 1934.

On Sept. 2, 1931, in the Salt Lake Temple, she was married to Elder Joseph Harold Felt, a prominent young business man of the city.

With such unusual training along the lines of child education, Sister Felt is able to render exceptional service to the Sunday School cause in the responsible position to which she has been called.

GLADE, Earl J., a member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union, was born Dec. 2, 1885, at Ogden, Utah, a son of James Richard Glade and Annie Louise Norberg. He was baptized Feb. 26, 1894, by James Anderson, served in various offices of the Aaronic Priesthood, and was ordained an Elder July 24, 1909, by Frederick Rasband. On Aug. 16, 1904, he was set apart for a mission to Switzerland and Germany, laboring principally in the Breslau Conference (Germany) of which he was president. He returned from this mission in July, 1907. On Sept. 11, 1907, Bro. Glade married Sarah Elizabeth Rasband, daughter of Frederick Rasband and Mary E. Hawkins. Seven children have blessed this marriage, namely, Melba, Melva, Earl, jun., Frederick, Richard, Keith and Patricia.

Elder Glade was graduated from the Brigham Young University at Provo, Utah, where he was head of the department of business education for five years. On moving to Salt Lake City, he became affiliated with the University of Utah as professor of business for fourteen years. His main achievement, however, is in the radio broadcasting industry. As managing director of Radio station KSL, he is recognized as Utah's radio pioneer. Through his efforts, Utah is widely recognized as a radio broadcasting center. Through his efforts also, the Salt Lake Tabernacle choir and organ have been broadcast from coast to coast once each week upwards of seven years.

HILL, Geo. R., second assistant in the general superintendency of the L. D. S. Sunday schools, was born April 10, 1884, at Ogden, Utah, a son of George Richard Hill and Elizabeth Nancy Burch. His grandparents on both sides were pioneers of Utah and settled in Ogden in 1848. In 1889 Bro. Geo. R. Hill located on a farm at Springville, Utah, where his son, Geo. R., jun., attended the public schools until his graduation in 1900. He graduated from the high school of the Brigham Young University at Provo in 1904, received the degree of B. S. from that university in 1907, obtained the degree of B. S. A. from the Utah Agricultural College in 1908 and that of Ph. D. at Cornell University in 1912.

Bro. Hill was baptized when about eight years old and after serving in offices of the Aaronic Priesthood was ordained an Elder, and later a Seventy to become a member of the 220th

Quorum of Seventy. He served as an officer and teacher in the Y. M. M. I. A. and as a member of the general board of that organization from 1926 to 1935. In Sunday school work he acted as chorister and also as a teacher in the Springville 3rd and Logan 5th wards, as Sunday school superintendent in the Logan 5th ward, as member of the Sunday school boards of the Salt Lake and Cache stakes, as member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union from 1925, devoting much time to the preparation of lesson outlines, and in 1934 was set apart as a member of the general superintendency of the L. D. S. Sunday schools.

As an agriculturalist, Bro. Hill's activities have been of great value to his native state. As a youth he engaged in farming, was instructor of agriculture and science in the L. D. S. High School in 1907-1908, instructor in plant physiology in Cornell University in 1910-1912, was research assistant in the Missouri Botanical Garden in 1912-

1913, professor of botany and plant pathology at the U. S. A. C. at Logan, Utah, in 1913-1915, and dean of agriculture at the U. S. A. C. in 1915-1925. Since 1925 he has been director of the department of agricultural research at the American Smelting and Refining Company with headquarters at Salt Lake City. He is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, of the Botanical Society of America, of the American Society of Plant Physiologists, of the Utah Academy of Science and of the Gamma Alpha and Sigma Xi.

On April 10, 1914, Dr. Hill married Elizabeth Odette McKay, daughter of David McKay and Jeanette Evans of Huntsville, Utah. This marriage was blessed with three children, namely, Elizabeth, George Richard III, and Jeanette Evans McKay Hill. Bro. Hill has taken a keen interest in scouting, being actively engaged in these activities for the past twenty-one years and has served as scoutmaster of the Logan Troop Five, member of Cache Valley Council, chairman of the Oquirrh District, member of the Salt Lake Area Council and vice president of the Salt Lake Council. His philosophy of life is expressed as follows: "The man worth while is the man who can smile, though everything goes dead wrong," "I know that my Redeemer lives," and "There is beauty all around when there's love at home."

HOLT, George A., a member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union since 1928, was born June 28, 1880, in Bountiful, Utah, a son of William J. Holt and Louise Hill. He was baptized Sept. 30, 1888, by Samuel Smedley, ordained to offices in the Aaronic Priesthood and ordained an Elder Dec. 6, 1900, by Richard Stringham. He was ordained a Seventy Oct. 29, 1901, by Seymour B. Young, and a High Priest somewhat later by Charles B. Felt. After serving as a president of Y. M. M. I. A.,

Sunday school teacher and superintendent of Sunday schools in Weber Stake, he filled a mission to Great Britain in 1901-1904, laboring in Scotland, where he served as a missionary and clerk of ber of the Salt Lake Chamber of Commerce, and president of the Sunset Mausoleum Company, Salt Lake City.

HOOPER, Thos. Albert, a member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union since 1920, was born May 18, 1881, in Salt Lake City, Utah, a district. After his return from this mission he married Bessie Crosbie of Ogden, Nov. 22, 1904, in the Salt Lake Temple. This marriage has been blessed with nine children, namely, William F., Forrest C., Helen Louise, Gordon C., George Albert, jun., Dale C., Dorothy Alice, Bettie Jean and Maxine Joan. Three sons (William, Forrest and Gordon) have filled honorable missions to Germany.

As a boy Bro. Holt attended school in Bountiful and the L. D. S. College in Salt Lake City, and also assisted his father in farming and market gardening. He was employed for a time by the Wright Mercantile Company of Ogden, and later, becoming associated with the O. P. Skaggs Company, moved to Salt Lake City. This concern and the Safeway stores are subsidiaries of the Western States Grocery Co., in all of which concerns Bro. Holt has become a large stockholder and leading executive. He is also a director of the Pacific National Life Insurance Company, and of the KSL Radio Broadcasting Station, and is a mem-a son of Thomas A. Hooper and Emily S. Aubrey. He was baptized Oct. 1, 1889, by Joseph Keddington and ordained to offices in the Aaronic Priesthood, being at one time president of a Deacons' quorum in the 11th Ward, Salt Lake City. He was ordained an Elder early in June, 1921, by Arthur W. Brown and ordained a Seventy June 21, 1901, by B. H. Roberts, on which occasion he was set apart for a mission to Germany. After laboring successfully in the Konigsberg and Hamburg conferences, he was honorably released in July, 1904, after which he visited Switzerland, Holland, Belgium and France. For two years after his return home he acted as organist for the Ensign Stake. In a business capacity he became associated with a brokerage firm and later was manager of the Deseret News job printing department. Some time afterwards he was appointed manager of the Deseret Sunday School Union Book Store, which was combined with the Deseret News Book Store and became the Deseret Book Company of which he is still (1936) the manager.

In June, 1907, Elder Hooper married Lillie May Coulam of the 11th Ward, Salt Lake City; four children have been born of this union, namely, Beth, Eugene A., Ruth and Gretta.

Bro. Hooper moved to the Granite Stake and became stake organist for the Sunday Schools. He also acted as choir leader of the Forest Dale Ward for eleven years, and during this time was president of the ward Y. M. M. I. A. In a civil capacity Elder Hooper has been a member of the Commercial, Rotary, Kiwanis and Bonneville clubs of Salt Lake City and of the Graphic Arts Association, of which organization he was an executive.

JUDD, Robert L., a member of the general board of Deseret Sunday School Union since 1920, a prominent jurist and general council for the Church, was born July 6, 1885, in Salt Lake City, Utah. (See Biographical Encyclopedia, Vol. 4, p. 100.)

KIMBALL, Edward Partridge, a member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union since 1916, was born June 2, 1882, in Salt Lake City, Utah, a son of Albert K. Kimball and Harriet Partridge. He was baptized when eight years old by John Keddington, ordained to offices in the Aaronic Priesthood and later ordained an Elder. He was educated in the public schools and the Latter-day Saints College in Salt Lake City and the Brigham Young University at Provo, after which he took extensive musical training in Germany. On April 11, 1902, he was set apart for a mission to Germany from which he returned in April 1906. Later he was ordained a High Priest and in 1928-1930 he presided over the German-Austrian Mission with headquarters in Dresden, Germany.

In 1906, Elder Kimball married Hazel Young Beatie, a daughter of Walter J. Beatie and Phoebe Young. Three children have blessed this marriage, namely Marion Y., Edward B. (Ted) and one son deceased.

While attending the L. D. S. College, Bro. Kimball wrote the college song "Gold and Blue". Later he was music editor of the Deseret News for three years and a member of the Church Music Committee. He is the author of some music text books, including the "Choristers' Manual." For twenty-five years he served as organist of the Tabernacle in Salt Lake City and in 1933 was called to act as organist of the magnificent chapel erected by the Church in Washington, D. C., where he also operates a bureau of information in connection with the chapel.

MAW, Herbert Brown, a member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union, was born at Ogden, Utah, March 11, 1892, a son of Ephraim G. Maw and Emma Brown. When young Herbert was about seven years of age his parents established residence in Salt Lake City, where he attended the Hamilton, Webster and Oquirrh schools, graduating from the latter in 1908. He studied at the L. D. S. High School from 1908 to 1912, and at the University of Utah from 1912 to 1918 and from 1922 to 1923. He attended the University of Wisconsin during the summer of 1920, and the Northwestern University in Chicago, Ill., in 1926-1927. He obtained the following degrees: L.L.B., University of Utah, in 1916; B.S., University of Utah, in 1923; M.A., Northwestern University, in 1926, and J.D. at the same University in 1927. He was admitted to the Utah State Bar in June, 1916, and has practiced law ever since. He taught in the L. D. S. Business College in 1916-1917 and 1919-1923, was instructor at the University of Utah Department of Speech from 1923 to 1925, was assistant professor from 1927 to 1928, associate professor from 1928 to 1931, professor of speech from 1931 and dean of men from 1928 to the present time (1936). Dr. Maw was elected to the Utah State Senate in 1928 for four years; again in 1932 for two years and in 1934 for four years. He was president of the Senate during its twenty-fourth legislature in 1935-1936.

Bro. Maw was baptized at the age of ten, ordained a Deacon at the age of 12 and on later dates ordained a Teacher, an Elder and a High Priest. He has served in the capacities of block teacher, Sunday school teacher, M. I. A. teacher, M. I. A. superintendent and second counselor to Bishop I. Owen Horsefall in the 9th Ward of Liberty Stake. Later he served as stake president of M. I. A. in the Liberty Stake from 1920 to 1925, as second counselor to J. Percy Goddard in the stake Sunday school superintendency of Liberty Stake in 1928, as superintendent of Sunday schools of Liberty Stake in 1928 and 1929, and was also a member of the High Council of Liberty Stake in 1928 and 1929. While attending the Northwestern University in Chicago in 1925-1927 he taught in the Logan Square Branch Sunday School. He served on the general board of the Y. M. M. I. A. from 1928 to 1935, during most of which period he was chairman of the "M Men" committee and was sustained as a member of the Deseret Sunday School Union Board Dec. 10, 1935.

During the World war, Bro. Maw enlisted in the Aviation Corps at Fort Douglas, Utah, July 30, 1917, was transferred to Kelly Field, Texas, in August of that year, and graduated from the Aviation Ground School for Pilots in February, 1918. He was appointed one of the L. D. S. chaplains in March, 1918, with the rank of first lieutenant and was assigned chaplain at large of the 89th Div., Camp Funston, Kansas. He went over seas in the spring of 1918, saw active service at the front until Armistice Day, 1918, served with the Army of Occupation in Germany until May, 1919, and was discharged at Fort Russell, Wyoming, June 28, 1919. He is the author of a book entitled "Public Speaking for the Beginner" and a number of magazine articles. On June 22, 1922, he married Florence Buehler; four children have been born of this union, namely, Herbert Warren, Florence LaRue, Emma Jean and Shirley Bea (the last named now deceased).

NICHOLS, DeLore, a member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union, was born July 14, 1889, in Brigham City, Utah, a son of George W. Nichols and Bertha Magdeline Jensen. He was baptized Sept. 4, 1898, by Peter Sorensen and attended the grade and high school of Brigham City, and, being a lover of sport, he played on the first basketball team organized in the last named school. After completing one year of high school, he filled a mission to England. Upon his return he entered the Utah State Agricultural College in the fall of 1913 and graduated in 1917. During the participation of the United States in the World war, Bro. Nichols was placed in charge of some 250 war gardens in Logan and vicinity. Since that time he has been associated with the Agricultural College Extension Service, having headquarters at different times in Flagstaff, Coconino Co., Arizona, and in Morgan County, Utah. At present he is located in Davis County, Utah, and resides at Farmington. While living in Morgan County, he was a member and later president of the Morgan Stake Sunday School Board, a member of the Morgan Stake High Council and director of teacher-training work. He became a member of the South Davis Stake Sunday School Board as soon as he located in that county and was sustained as superintendent of Sunday schools in the stake Jan. 11, 1929. Bro Nichols was ordained a High Priest Dec. 9, 1923, by W. W. Francis, and on Nov. 21, 1934, he became a member of the Deseret Sunday School Union Board.

In 1922 Elder Nichols married Charlotte Stallings of Ogden, an active Church worker, having been president of the Ogden Stake Primary Board and a member of the faculty of the Weber College. Brother and Sister Nichols have two little daughters, Natell and LaDene, and the family is most highly esteemed, being leaders in the promotion of social, dramatic and literary projects as well as in Church activities in the ward and stake.

PACK, Frederick James, a member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union since 1930, was born at Bountiful, Utah, Feb. 2, 1875, a son of John Pack (a pioneer of July 22, 1847) and Mary Jane Walker (a pioneer of 1852). He was baptized in his youth by Joseph Hyrum Grant, and confirmed by Benjamin Ashby. He held various positions in the Aaronic Priesthood; was ordained an Elder by Mahonri M. Brown, Dec. 4, 1892, a Seventy by Francis M. Lyman, Dec. 18, 1896, and a High Priest by John W. Taylor in 1897.

On the 18th of December, 1896, he and his wife were set apart to assist John W. Taylor in opening the Colorado Mission. Elder Pack was later called to preside over the Pueblo Conference, and still later over the Colorado Springs Conference. He returned home in 1898.

Elder Pack was a member of the Religion Class Board of Logan Stake in 1906-1907, a member of the Bishopric of the 33rd Ward of Salt Lake City in 1908-1911, the superintendent of the Sunday schools of the Liberty Stake in 1911-1916, and a member of the High Council of Liberty Stake in 1920-1930.

He is the author of numerous treatises, both scientific and religious, prominently among the latter being his books "Tobacco and Human Efficiency" and "Science and Belief in God." He is also the author of the lessons for the gospel doctrine department of the Sunday schools for the years 1932, 1933, 1937, and the theological lessons of the Relief Society for the years 1932, 1933, 1934, 1935. Upon invitation of Pres. Rudger Clawson, he gave a series of 28 weekly radio lectures dealing with the Breadth of Mormonism, April 3, to Oct. 9, 1932.

Elder Pack received his early education in the public schools of Bountiful and at the L. D. S. College in Salt Lake City. He later attended the University of Utah, where he obtained the degree of mining engineer in 1904. In 1905 he was graduated from the Columbia University, New York City, with the degree of Master of Arts, and in 1906 with the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. At that time he was elected to membership in the honorary scientific society of Sigma Xi. For one year, 1906-1907, he was professor of geology and mineralogy at the Brigham Young College at Logan, Utah.

In 1907 he was called to the Deseret Professorship of Geology at the University of Utah, which position he occupies at present. Doctor Pack is a Fellow in the Royal Scottish Geographical Society of Edinburg, a Fellow of the Geological Society of London, and a Fellow of the Geological Society of America.

On the 25th of November, 1896, Elder Pack married Sadie Grant, daughter of Joseph Hyrum Grant and Evaletta Eldredge. The following named children have blessed their union: Eugene G., Alvin G., Marion, and Eleanor. Since 1908 Elder Pack and his family have resided in Salt Lake City at 501 South Thirteenth East Street.

PETERSEN, P. Melvin, a member of the Deseret Sunday School Union General Board, was born Feb. 15, 1886, in Salt Lake City, a son of Waldemar H. Petersen and Elizabeth Hailstone. He was baptized in 1895, later ordained to the offices of Deacon and Teacher by Elder Joseph H. Felt, and an Elder, Nov. 26, 1905. He was ordained a Seventy, April 29, 1912, by Seymour B. Young and a High Priest, Aug. 28, 1932, by Joseph F. Smith, jun. His boyhood home being in the 11th Ward, Salt Lake City, he served in a number of leading capacities including that of ward chorister. While studying music in New York City he acted as superintendent of the Sunday school of the branch of the Church there and after his return home was appointed a member of the Deseret Sunday School Union Board, May 23, 1922. He served as a president of the 3rd Quorum of Seventy and has been a faithful member of the Tabernacle choir. He accompanied this organization as one of the soloists in 1911, during a five weeks tour of the principal cities in the Eastern States. After graduating from the New York College of Music he became an instructor of music at the University of Utah from 1917 to 1919, when he was appointed supervisor of music in the Salt Lake City public schools. This position he held until 1920, since which time he has been director of music at the West High School. He was one of the organizers of the L. D. S. School of Music, which later became the McCune School of Music. On Dec. 5, 1906, he married Viona Banks (daughter of Orville Dye Banks and Marion Bowring), born July 2, 1885, in Ogden, Utah. Nine children have been born of this marriage, namely, Viona, Hugh Waldemar, Melvin Banks, Orma B., LeRoy E., Elizabeth B., Marion B., Laurette B., and Orville B.

During the pageant, "The Message of the Ages," in April, 1930, Bro. Petersen represented one of the leading characters, that of Ephraim. He has been invited to sing in many Church services and gives generously of his time and talent in behalf of the Church and civic organizations. He is a teacher and singer of prominence throughout the State of Utah.

PYPER, George Dollinger, general superintendent of the Deseret Sunday School Union, was born Nov. 21, 1860, in Salt Lake City, Utah, a son of Alexander C. Pyper and Christiana Dollinger. He was baptized when eight years old, officiated in the offices of the Aaronic Priesthood and was ordained an Elder in 1883, and later ordained a High Priest. In 1901 a sketch of Elder Pyper's life was published in the Biographical Encyclopedia Vol 1, p. 669. Since that time he continued to act as manager of the Salt Lake Theatre until 1929, when the edifice was torn down. For a period of over thirty years he had brought to the people the finest attractions the stage afforded and during that period also brought to the Tabernacle, Salt Lake City, many world-famed artists and musical organizations. In 1928 he published the story of the Salt Lake Theatre and early drama in Salt Lake, under the title of "The Romance of An Old Playhouse." Among the side activities he was a member of the first Salt Lake Board of Education, and of the first City Library Board; also president of the Salt Lake Oratorio Society and Musical Arts and Civic Music Association, and since its organization has been first assistant to Elder Melvin J. Ballard in the Church Music committee. In 1909 he installed a Church exhibit in the Government Building at the Alaska-Yukon Exposition at Seattle, Washington. The models of the temple and tabernacle used at that fair were taken to the Smithsonian Institute at Washington, D. C., and recently have been shown at the Century of Progress in Chicago, and the San Diego expositions. Elder Pyper was chairman of the Century of Progress Church committee and in consultation with the Fairbanks family (J. B., J. Leo and Arvard) supervised the preparation of that wonderful exhibit.

In November, 1911, Elder Pyper managed the Tabernacle Choir in a 6000 mile tour to the National Irrigation Congress held in Madison Square Garden, New York City, and extended the tour to Washington and other cities of the United States. On this tour the choir sang before Pres. Taft in the White House. In 1934 he conducted the tour of the choir to the Century of Progress Fair in Chicago, where it sang for a week at the Ford auditorium. In 1929 he was named as chairman of the L. D. S. Pageant Committee which produced the great spectacle "The Message of the Ages" in the Tabernacle, Salt Lake City, April 6, 1930, as part of the exercises celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of the organization of the Church. The pageant involved 1500 people, ran for 30 nights and was witnessed by approximately 200,000 people. Following the pageant Bro. Pyper visited the Hawaiian Islands in the interest of the Sunday schools and the Y. M. M. I. A. He was among the early flyers from Hilo to Honolulu. Since January, 1910—a period of 27 years—he has been associate editor of "The Juvenile Instructor," now "The Instructor."

When Elder David O. McKay was appointed general superintendent of the Deseret Sunday School Union in 1918, he chose Elders Stephen L. Richards as his first, and George D. Pyper as his second assistant. This position Elder Pyper held until Oct. 30, 1934, when he was set apart as general superintendent, with Elders Milton Bennion and George R. Hill as assistants. At this writing he is well and active though far beyond the biblical three score and ten.

REES, Alfred C., member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union since 1920, was born Feb. 9, 1876, at Grantsville, Utah, a son of Joseph A. Rees and Christina Amelia Hassel. He was baptized when eight years old by A. R. M. Beck in Spanish Fork, the family home. From his earliest youth he has been continuously active in the organizations of the Church. He served as a missionary in Switzerland in 1899-1902, two years in field work and one year as secretary of the mission, during which time he compiled a brief history of the Church in the German language for mission use. After his return home he located in Salt Lake City, where he served as a teacher in the 17th Ward Sunday School, as a member of the Salt Lake Stake Sunday School Board, as superintendent of the 22nd Ward Sunday School, as a member of the superintendency of the Salt Lake Stake Sunday schools, member of the superintendency of the 31st Ward Sunday school, superintendent of Sunday schools in Liberty Stake and, since Oct. 10, 1920, has been a member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union. He was engaged in newspaper work for 12 years, acted as the executive director of the Utah Manufacturers' Association, of the Utah Associated Industries and of the Utah Taxpayers' Association. He has served as national chairman of the Council of American Industry and is recognized as a national authority on taxation and public relations.

On Jan. 4, 1906, he married Ida Davis of Salt Lake City, who has occupied important positions in the Relief societies of the Salt Lake and Liberty stakes and is a writer of ability. This marriage has been blessed with six children, namely, Alfred D., Lyman D., Stanley D., Richard D., William D. (deceased) and Elias D.

REISER, Albert Hamer, general secretary of the Deseret Sunday School Union Board, was born Aug. 31, 1897, a son of Albert S. Reiser and Nellie Hamer. He was baptized Aug. 31, 1905, by Alexander Burt, was ordained an Elder on April 21, 1931, a Seventy by J. Golden Kimball, and a High Priest May 24, 1936. He was educated in the public schools of Salt Lake City and at the L. D. S. High School and Business College. He graduated from the high school in 1916, and the same year was awarded a certificate of graduation in shorthand from the Business College. He graduated from the University of Utah with a Bachelor's Degree in 1919 and acted as assistant registrar in that institution in 1919-1920. He served as part time instructor in English, economics and commercial law in the L. D. S. College for three years, studied law at the University of Utah and was admitted to the bar Oct. 20, 1926. On June 1, 1922, he was appointed business manager of the "Juvenile Instructor" (now called "The Instructor"), and on Nov. 1, 1927, of the "Sunday School Lessons."

On June 9, 1920, in the Salt Lake Temple, he married Elizabeth Baxter (daughter of Samuel E. Baxter and Lotta Paul), born Feb. 2, 1897, in Salt Lake City. Seven children have been born from this marriage, namely, Albert Hamer, Elizabeth Lucille, David Emerson, Marilyn Jeanne, Barbara Anne, Richard Evans, and Elaine Marie. Continuing his duties as general secretary, Elder Reiser became a member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union Sept. 30, 1924, which position he still holds.

RICHARDS, Lynn Stephen, a member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union, was born Feb. 3, 1901, on the present site of the Lincoln Ward chapel (Granite Stake) Salt Lake City, Utah, a son of Elder Stephen L. Richards and Irene Smith Merrill. He was baptized when about eight years old and ordained successively to the offices of Deacon, Teacher and Priest; and Elder in June, 1919. Elder Richards filled a mission to the Eastern States from June, 1919, to June, 1921, laboring principally in Philadelphia and Boston. He acted as principal of the Oneida-Franklin Stakes Seminary during the years 1923-1924 and 1925-1926, and has been engaged continuously as a teacher in Sunday schools since 1925. He was made a member of the Liberty Stake Sunday School superintendency in October, 1933, and became a member of the Deseret Sunday School Union Board in October, 1934. He attended the public schools of Salt Lake City, including the Granite High School, after which he graduated from the L. D. S. University in 1919. After returning from his mission he attended the University of Utah in 1921-1922, the Utah State Agricultural College in 1922-1923, and graduated from the Brigham Young University in 1924 with the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

Continuing his education at the law school of the Leland Stanford Junior University in 1926-1928, he received in 1928 the degree of Juris Doctor. Returning to Salt Lake City he was admitted to practice law in the Supreme Court of the State of Utah on July 22, 1929, and in the District Court of the United States Sept. 16, 1933. He served as secretary of the senate of the Utah State Legislature in 1933-1935, and at the present time is practicing law as a member of the firm of Moyle and Richards, attorneys, of Salt Lake City.

On Dec. 11, 1924, Elder Richards married Lucille Janet Covey, a descendant of Lucy Mack, and this union has been blessed with four children, namely, Lynn Stephen, jun., Joseph Covey, Rosalie Lucille and Victoria Janet.

As a young man Elder Richards has rendered valuable service to the Church and to the community at large.

ROLAPP, Henry Hermann, a member of the Deseret Sunday School Union Board and chairman of the Church Auditing Committee, a sketch of whose life to the close of 1920 is published in the L. D. S. Biographical Encyclopedia, Vol. 3, p. 501, was called in 1927 to succeed Elder B. H. Roberts as president of the Eastern States Mission. After his return home in 1929, he resided in Los Angeles, Calif., where he died Jan. 8, 1936. His remains were brought to Ogden for interment, where impressive services were held, presided over by Pres. Heber J. Grant.

ROSS, Charles J., a member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union, since 1919, was born Feb. 28, 1867, in Salt Lake City, a son of James D. and Sarah E. Ross. He was baptized when about eight years old, ordained to the Aaronic Priesthood, served as a counselor in a Deacons' Quorum, and later was ordained an Elder by Apostle John W. Taylor. On April 11, 1892, he was ordained a Seventy by B. H. Roberts and became a member of the 77th Quorum of Seventy. He was ordained a High Priest by Lorenzo Farr and served as secretary of a High Priests' Quorum in the Weber Stake. He also served on the Weber Stake Sunday School Board, becoming 1st assistant to Superintendent Thomas B. Evans, and was a member of the Weber Stake High Council. He was instrumental in organizing the Weber Stake Tabernacle Choir and acted as president and manager of that organization for over twenty-five years. In this period he arranged tours for the choir to the Lewis and Clark Exposition at Portland, Oregon, and to California at the opening of the Irrigation Congress when they sang the magnificent "Irrigation Ode," composed by Prof. John J. McClelland and published under the direction of Bro. Ross. The Weber Stake Choir also sang at other great fairs at San Diego and San Francisco. In 1897 Elder Ross married Isabell H. Salmon, now a counselor in the general board of the Primary Association. Bro. Ross is an insurance and real estate salesman, has worked with the Beneficial Life Insurance Co., the Kimball and Richards land merchants and the Government Home Owners Loan Corporation.

SEEGMILLER, Frank K., a member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union since 1919, was born in Richfield, Utah, Aug. 20, 1875, a son of William Henry Seegmiller and Mary Ellen Laidlaw. He was baptized Oct. 3, 1883, by Richard Nielsen, ordained a Deacon Oct. 23, 1888, by Simon Christensen, a Teacher Sept. 9, 1891, by Bishop Joseph S. Horne, and an Elder Jan. 3, 1895, by his father. He was ordained a Seventy July 15, 1896, by John Henry Smith, and a High Priest Sept. 13, 1931, by William C. Winder.

From September, 1891, to May, 1894, he attended the L. D. S. College, studying under Pres. Willard Done and Dr. James E. Talmage, from which institution he graduated in May, 1894. He received his endowments in the Salt Lake Temple, June 26, 1896, and from July, 1896, to January, 1899, he filled a mission to Switzerland and Germany, during which he opened up a mission district in Darmstadt (Hesse), in Germany, and also presided over the Frankfurt a M Conference. After his return from this mission he presided over the Richfield 2nd Ward Sunday School. Later, having become a resident of Salt Lake City, he acted as a member of the Granite Stake Sunday School superintendency, and in 1919 became a member of the Deseret Sunday School Union Board.

Bro. Seegmiller is a teacher by profession, and in 1894-1895 was principal of a grade school in Thurber, Utah, and from 1895 to 1896, principal of a grade school in Snowflake, Arizona. Returning to Richfield he was associated with the high school there from 1899 to 1908, part of the time in the position of principal of that school. From 1908 to 1929 he was instructor of modern languages at the L. D. S. University and also acted as second counselor to Pres. Willard Young and to Pres. Osborn J. P. Widtsoe, and as first counselor to Pres. Guy C. Wilson. For some time he was also principal of the high school in that institution, and he is at the present time (1936) principal of the Granite L. D. S. Seminary.

On Aug. 13, 1902, Elder Seegmiller married Ruth Henrietta Baker. Six children have blessed this union, namely, Francis Marion Seegmiller (born 1903), Ralph Lane Seegmiller (born and died in 1905), Arlo Baker Seegmiller (born 1908), Junius William Seegmiller (born and died in 1912), David Warren Seegmiller (born 1916) and Marie Seegmiller (born 1919).

SMITH, David Asael, a member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union, was born May 24, 1879, in Salt Lake City, Utah, a son of President Joseph F. Smith and Julina Lambson. He was baptized May 24,

1887, served as an officer in Deacons and Teachers quorums, also in the Sixth quorum of Elders of the Salt Lake Stake, and in each of the quorums from Deacon to High Priest. During 1900 and 1901 he was a member of the Salt Lake Stake Sunday School Board, and when the Granite Stake was organized he was sustained as a stake supervisor of Religion Class work and later became a member of the newly organized Liberty Stake and was sustained and served as a counselor in the superintendency of the Stake Y. M. M. I. A., also as a member of the Stake Sunday School Board. He has served as a member of the Board of Trustees of the Dr. W. H. Groves L. D. S. Hospital since 1908, and for several years was its superintendent. He is now vice president of that institution. He has served as president of the Tabernacle Choir since 1908 and as one of the Presiding Bishopric since December, 1907. (See also Bio. Ency. Vol. 3, p. 775.)

SPERRY, Lucy Emma Gedge, a member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union since 1926, was born July 23, 1899, in Salt Lake City, Utah, a daughter of Nathan Gedge and Charlotte Lane. She was baptized July 23, 1907, by Theodore Schoenfeld and received her education in the public schools of Salt Lake City. After graduating from a normal course in the University of Utah, she taught school from 1920 to 1928. She became a Sunday School teacher at an early age and later served on the Pioneer Stake Sunday School Board, the Granite Stake Sunday School Board and became a member of the Deseret Sunday School Union Board in 1928. On June 17, 1924, in the Salt Lake Temple, she was united in marriage to Rulon J. Sperry; two children have been born from this union, namely, Geraldine (born Jan. 16, 1932), and Robert La Mont (born March 26, 1936).

THOMAS, Elbert Duncan, United States Senator and member of the Deseret Sunday School Union Board since 1929, was born June 17, 1883, in the 7th Ward of the old Salt Lake Stake, the son of Richard K. Thomas and Caroline Stockdale, who emigrated from England to Utah in 1863.

The associations incident to activities revolving around the old "Bar-nacle," a little theater built by his father, R. K. Thomas, for the use of his family and their neighbors, gave him an opportunity to meet leaders of Salt Lake's political and cultural groups. This resulted in his taking an interest in politics and dramatics. He and his wife (Edna Harker) both became widely recognized as amateurs in their youthful days on the stage. As early as 1898 as a boy speaker, he appeared at political rallies. When eight years of age Elbert D. Thomas was baptized by John Keddington and passed regularly through the Priesthood grades of Deacon, Teacher, Elder, Seventy, and High Priest. He was ordained a Seventy by George Albert Smith when he was set apart for a mission, and later became one of the presidents of the historic 3rd Quorum of Seventy. He was president of the 7th Ward M. I. A. and a member of the Pioneer Stake Mutual Board. He also served for many years as president of the 17th Ward M. I. A. and as a member of the old Salt Lake Stake M. I. A. Board. Both in the Pioneer and Salt Lake stakes, he served as a home missionary. He is at the present time (1936) a member of the High Council of the Salt Lake Stake, a member of the Stake Board of Education, and since 1926 has served as a member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union. He was ordained a High Priest by Elder Joseph F. Smith, jun., in 1925.

With his wife, Edna Harker Thomas, who was for years second assistant general superintendent of the Primary Associations, he left for Japan in 1907, where he became secretary and later president of the Japan Mission. They were released in October, 1912, and returned home after a tour through Asia, northern Africa, and Europe. There is in the Japanese language one small book written by Brother Thomas entitled "Sukui No Michi," (The Way To Salvation), and a larger book of three hundred pages containing his writings. These writings are addresses and articles dealing with many gospel themes. They were first written in English and then translated into Japanese colloquial for oral reading. Later they were transcribed into the Japanese written language by Elder Lloyd O. Ivie and published by the Mission under the direction of Pres. Grant Ivins. Under Pres. Thomas' direction the translation of the L. D. S. Hymn Book was commenced. This translation continued until the entire L. D. S. Hymn Book was translated in such a way that the tunes as used in English could be sung in Japanese, and then it was published. The translation of the most significant sections of the Doctrine and Covenants and of Talmage's "Articles of Faith" were also begun. Dr. Talmage's book was later finished and published by Pres. H. Grant Ivins.

Brother Thomas finished the grade schools (the Grant School in Salt Lake City) in 1899 and went directly as a preparatory student to the University of Utah. As a student and a member of the faculty of the University he spent twenty-seven years.

He has received three academic degrees from three different institutions: A. B. (Utah, 1906), Ph. D. (Calif., 1924), and LL. D. (Hon., U. of So. Calif., 1935). The last degree was conferred in recognition of "distinguished achievement in education and public service." As an undergraduate he majored in Latin and Greek. He took his doctor's degree in political science and oriental languages.

On returning from his mission, upon the recommendation of Professor Byron Cummings and Pres. J. T. Kingsbury, he was appointed by the regents of the University of Utah an instructor in Latin and Greek at the University. This marked the beginning of an educational career which has been varied. For six years he served as a University administrative officer, having charge of the secretary's and registrar's offices. As secretary of the board of regents, he administered the University's financial affairs. During the World war, along with the State and University funds, he was responsible for hundreds of thousands of dollars of Federal moneys which the government expended through the University. From 1917 to 1922, he was chairman of the Military Affairs Committee of the University. Brother Thomas served as 2nd lieutenant in the First Infantry of the Utah National Guard in 1906 and 1907. From 1918 to 1924 he was a major in the inspector general's department, United States Reserves. In 1920 he was nominated by the State Democratic Convention for the office of Secretary of State.

His life in the Far East gave him Asiatic interests and he organized courses at the University of Utah dealing with Asia. This work brought him recognition in educational centers and as a result he has been honored with an executive committee membership in the American Council of Learned Societies. His book, "Chinese Political Thought," is a result of this interest. He was made a member of the Carnegie European Conference of American Professors in 1926, which gave him the opportunity to study international organizations at The Hague, Geneva, and Paris. In 1934 he received the Oberlaender award for study in Germany. He is a member of the executive council of the American Society of International Law and has membership in the American Political Science Association and the Chinese Social and Political Science Association. He was awarded a medal for distinguished services in the social sciences by the Pi Gamma Mu national honorary fraternity, and is a member of Phi Delta Theta and Phi Kappa Phi.

From 1922 to 1924 he served as a teaching fellow in political science at the University of California and in 1933, when he left the University of Utah to assume his duties as a member of the United States Senate, he held a professorship in political science. In 1935 he delivered a series of lectures at the University of California on "Modern Political Trends As Reflected in Legislation."

In the United States Senate he serves on the committees of Foreign Relations, Military Affairs, Education and Labor, Mines and Mining, and the Pensions. He served as a member of the select committee to investigate the 1932 election in Louisiana. Appointed by Vice President Garner in 1935, he serves now as vice chairman of the Thomas Jefferson National Memorial Commission.

Brother and Sister Thomas have three daughters, namely, Chiyo, Esther (Mrs. Wayne Clayton Grover), and Edna Louise. (See also Bio. Ency. Vol. 2, p. 722.)

TRIBE, Junius Rallison, a member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union, was born Oct. 9, 1904, at Ogden, Utah, a son of Charles Joseph Tribe and Mary Anne Rallison. He was baptized Aug. 3, 1913, by David W. Tribe, and confirmed a member of the Church by Fred W. Rallison, ordained a Deacon April 9, 1917, by Hyrum E. Lund, a Teacher May 16, 1920, by Hyrum E.

Lund, and a Priest Jan. 23, 1921, by John W. Chambers. He was ordained an Elder April 1, 1923, by Hyrum E. Lund and presided over the 2nd Quorum of Elders in the 4th Ward of the Ogden Stake from 1925 to 1926. On Jan. 10, 1936, he was ordained a High Priest by Stake Pres. Wm. H. Reeder, jun. In 1926-1928 he filled a mission to the Northern States, and after his return presided for two years over the Y. M. M. I. A. of the Ogden 4th Ward. He was a member of the Mount Ogden Stake Sunday School Board from 1931 to 1935, and became a member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union, Dec. 22, 1935. He has been actively engaged in Sunday school work since his early youth with the exception of two years in M. I. A. work, and during that time he was organist for the ward and Sunday School. He attended school in Ogden and in 1933 graduated from the University of Utah with an A. B. degree. On June 26, 1930, he married Alberta Miriam Stratford of Ogden in the Salt Lake Temple. Their home is in Ogden, where Bro. Tribe is employed by the Utah Power and Light Company.

WAHLQUIST, John T., a member of the Deseret Sunday School Union Board since 1932, was born Sept. 10, 1899, at Heber City, Utah, a son of Charles John Wahlquist and Elizabeth

Campbell. He was baptized when about eight years of age by David A. Broadbent, was ordained a Deacon in 1911, a Teacher in 1913, a Priest in 1915, an Elder in 1919, and a Seventy in 1933. He acted as secretary and assistant superintendent of the Heber 3rd Ward Sunday School from 1915 to 1917, as Elders' Quorum leader in Hooper, Plain City and Ogden 3rd Ward from 1920 to 1924; as stake teacher-trainer in North Weber Stake in 1923-1924, and in Liberty Stake in 1931-1933. He was a member of the M. I. A. superintendency of the University Ward, Salt Lake City, in 1925-1926, and of the 27th Ward in 1927-1928. While attending the University of Cincinnati in 1929-1930 he was a teacher in the M. I. A. of the Cincinnati Branch of the Church. After his return home he acted as a member of the Sunday school superintendency of the University Ward in 1930-1931, and became a member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union in 1933. He received his education in the public schools of Heber City and Provo, at the Wasatch High School and the B. Y. U. High School in Provo. In 1924 he received the degree of B. S. and in 1926 that of M. S. from the University of Utah and received the degree of Ph. D. in 1930 from the University of Cincinnati. He has followed the profession of a teacher, working in the public schools of Uintah Co., Utah, in 1918-1920; in Weber County in 1920-1922, at the Ogden Senior High School in 1923-1924, at the University of Utah as an instructor in 1921-1928, as assistant professor in 1930-1932, as associate professor in 1932-1935, and as a professor since 1932. He has been a director of the Wm. M. Stewart Training School at the University of Utah since 1932. He served as a visiting professor in the University of Cincinnati during the summers of 1931 and 1932 and at the George Washington University at Washington, D. C., during the summer of 1935. He has been a contributor to professional journals and to L. D. S. Church publications ("Instructor," "Children's Friend," "Relief Society Magazine," etc.) He is the author of "Teaching as Direction of Activities" (official teacher-training text) in 1933 and "Status of Junior College Instructor," U. S. Office of Education, in 1931. On Aug. 30, 1923, Dr. Wahlquist married Grace Dorius of Ephraim, Utah, which union has been blessed with two sons, namely, Don Dorius and Carl Dorius.

WHEELON, Ruth Agnes, member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union, was born Aug. 16, 1904, at Garland, Utah, a daughter of John Campbell Wheelon and Agnes Ross Wardrop. She was baptized Sept. 6, 1913, by James Jensen and took an active part in the Church activities suited to her age. Having moved to Idaho, she served as a teacher in the Sunday school and as bee keeper in the

Y. L. M. I. A. of the Twin Falls 2nd Ward in 1921, and in 1923 she was called to act as play leader on the Primary Board of the Idaho Stake. She moved to Salt Lake City, and in 1925-1926 was chorister of the M. I. A. in the Jefferson Ward, Grant Stake. She started to teach Church History in the Wasatch Ward Sunday School in 1927, and in 1934 was called to serve in the Church History Department of the Granite Stake Sunday School Board, but was released from that position a year later to become a member of the Deseret Sunday School Union Board, being sustained to that office Nov. 12, 1935.

Sister Wheelon graduated from the high school in Twin Falls, Idaho, in 1922, attended the Utah Agricultural College during the winter and spring quarters of 1924, and entered the University of Utah for the winter and spring quarters of 1925. She worked in the court house of Brigham City, Utah, from August until December, 1924, after which, having moved to Salt Lake City, in June, 1925, she became associated with the Western Loan and Building Company, where she is still employed. She is a member of the Altrusa Club of Salt Lake City (a business and professional women's club), a national organization, and she is also a member of the Beta Delta Sorority, a social unit of the Utah State Agricultural College at Logan, Utah. Thus, the training that Sister Wheelon has had, added to a natural interest in historical matters, have specially fitted her for her work on the Deseret Sunday School Board.

WITBECK, Inez, a member of the general board of the Deseret Sunday School Union since 1928, was born July 5, 1898, in Salt Lake City, a daughter of Otto Witbeck and Marie Christian-sen. She was baptized in 1906, educated in the Salt Lake City public schools, the University of Utah, and the Utah Agricultural College. She served as president of the Forest Dale Ward Y. L. M. I. A. for three years, but the major part of her Church activities has been with the Sunday School. She became a member of the Deseret Sunday School Union Board in 1928, and has rendered very efficient aid in the Kindergarten Department. In 1934 she was president of the Kindergarten-Primary section of the Utah Educational Association and is educational director of the Delta Theta Chi, a national educational sorority.

BADGER, Rodney Carlos, a member of the General Board of Y. M. M. I. A. from its organization in 1898 to 1912, was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, Sept. 8, 1848, a son of Rodney Badger (one of the original pioneers of Utah) and Nancy Garr. He grew up with the state and served in the Indian wars, as a missionary to California, as a surveyor on the Utah Central Railroad and later as a telegraph operator, and was a member of the bishopric of the 15th Ward, Salt Lake Stake, for a number of years. He was a teller in the Deseret National Bank for some years and a member of the Badger Bros. Company brokers. He had a large family, many of whom now hold prominent positions in the stake.

BALLARD, Melvin J., a member of the General Board of Y. M. M. I. A. from 1919 to 1922. (See Biographical Encyclopedia, Vol. 1, p. 419 and Vol. 3, p. 744.)

BEAL, Thomas Andrew, a member of the General Board of Y. M. M. I. A. from 1922 to 1934, was born July 20, 1874, at Ephraim, Utah, a son of Henry Beal and Annie Christina Byergo. He attended the elementary schools of the state, took out a master's degree in accounting at the Gem City Business College at Quincy, Illinois, and his A. B. degree from the University of Utah. He took his M. A., M. S. and Ph. D. degrees from the Columbia University. From 1914 to 1923 he was instructor in the University of Utah and in 1923 was appointed dean of the School of Commerce and Finance in that institution. This department had been established largely through his efforts. For a time he was a member of the Board of Regents of the University of Utah. On June 19, 1901, in the Manti Temple, Elder Beal married Ida Peterson, daughter of Pres. Canute Peterson of the Sanpete Stake and Charlotte Eckstrom.

BEEBE, O. C., a member of the General Board of Y. M. M. I. A. from 1905 to 1912, was head cashier of Zion's Savings Bank and Trust Company for some time and was in the banking business in Salt Lake City for thirty years. In 1917 he donated $600 to the South African Mission, and in return for this donation was credited with a two years mission. He died in Los Angeles, California, but his remains were interred in Salt Lake City.

BEELEY, Arthur Lawton, a member of the General Board of Y. M. M. I. A., from 1920 to 1935, was born Aug. 28, 1890, in Stockport, Cheshire, England, the son of William Beeley and Elizabeth Ann Lawton. He came to Salt Lake at the age of 18, was baptized June 15, 1907, filled a mission to Great Britain in 1913-1915, and was a member of the 45th quorum of Seventy. He acted as principal of the Emery Academy in Castle Dale, went to the University of Utah in 1917, was in Europe during the first nine months of the World war and was in Paris the day France declared war on Germany. He is now a member of the faculty of the University of Utah. His further activities, etc., can be found in "Who's Who in America."

BOWEN, Albert Ernest, general superintendent of the Y. M. M. I. A., was born Oct. 31, 1875, at Henderson Creek, Oneida Co., Idaho, a son of David Bowen and Annie Shackleton. He was baptized Dec. 2, 1883, by Daniel E. Price and filled a mission to Switzerland and Germany from 1902 to 1904. Just previous to leaving for this mission Bro. Bowen had taken a B. A. degree, with honor, at the Brigham Young College, and upon his return became a member of the faculty of the Brigham Young College. In 1907 he entered the law school of the Chicago University, having previously studied in that institution. In 1911 he was graduated from the law school with the degree of Doctor of Jurisprudence, after which he practiced law in Logan, Utah, and served as county attorney for Cache County two terms. He is now practicing law in Salt Lake City. While residing at Logan, Elder Bowen was superintendent of the Cache Stake Sunday School Board and from 1922 to 1934 was a member of the General Board of the Deseret Sunday School Union, from which position he was released Jan. 1, 1935, to succeed Apostle Geo. A. Smith as general superintendent of the Y. M. M. I. A.

In 1902 Elder Bowen married Aletha E. Reeder who, after becoming the mother of two sons, died in 1906. In 1916 he married Emma Lucy Gates, Utah's beloved songstress, and a grand-daughter of Pres. Brigham Young.

BOWMAN, John Fife, a member of the General Board of Y. M. M. I. A., from 1913 to 1935, was born May 27, 1880, at West Weber, Weber Co., Utah, a son of Andrew Bowman and Elizabeth Fife. He was baptized when 11 years of age, ordained to offices in the Aaronic Priesthood, ordained a Seventy April 11, 1900, by J. Golden Kimball and filled a mission to the Sandwich Islands from 1900 to 1904. He was educated in the public schools, graduated from the Weber Stake Academy in 1898 and taught school for a short time, after which he entered the law school of the University of Chicago. Upon his graduation from that institution he became associated with the county attorney's office in Salt Lake City, from which position he resigned to engage in private practice with the firm of Stewart, Bowman, Morris and Callister, attorneys-at-law. He served as mayor of Salt Lake City from January, 1928, to January 1932. During this time he concentrated much of his efforts in the suppression of crime and in securing for the city an adequate supply of water. Bro. Bowman is strong in his convictions and courageous in standing by any principle he believes to be right. He resumed his legal practice at the close of his municipal office.

On Jan. 27, 1903, Elder Bowman married Edna Melissa Smith in the Salt Lake Temple. She is a daughter of Pres. Joseph F. Smith and Edna Lambson. Five children have blessed this marriage, namely, Dorothy, Katherine, John F., jun., Ruth and Joseph Fielding.

BRIMHALL, Geo. H., a member of the General Board of Y. M. M. I. A. from 1898-1932, died July 21, 1932. (See Bio. Ency. Vol. 1, p. 714, and Vol. 3, p. 325.)

CANNON, George J., a member of the General Board from 1904 to 1922. (See Bio. Ency. Vol. 4, p. 21.)

CANNON, Hugh Jenne, a member of the General Board of Y. M. M. I. A., was born Jan. 19, 1870, in Salt Lake City, Utah, a son of Geo. Q. Cannon and Sarah Jane Jenne. He had an active life in the publishing business, of which his father was a pioneer, being editor of the "Juvenile Instructor." Besides editing the Sunday School magazine, Hugh J. was a member of the Sunday School Board for twenty-seven years and was president of the Liberty Stake, Utah, for twenty years. His first mission at the age of twenty years ended in a year and a half when he accompanied the body of his brother, David H. Cannon, who had died in the German Mission, to Utah. He accompanied Elder David O. McKay on a tour of inspection to nearly all the missions of the Church in 1920 and 1921, and was editor of the "Improvement Era." He died Oct. 6, 1931.

CANNON, Lewis Telle, a member of the General Board of Y. M. M. I. A. from 1903 to 1935, was born April 22, 1872, in Salt Lake City, Utah, the son of George Q. Cannon and Martha Telle. He was baptized April 22, 1880, by Angus M. Cannon, ordained a Seventy July 19, 1898, by Wilford Woodruff and filled a mission to Germany in 1898-1900, laboring principally in the Frankfurt Conference. He is a prominent architect, doing business in Salt Lake under the title of Cannon and Fetzer.

CARLSON, Oscar William, a member of the General Board of Y. M. M. I. A. from 1929 to 1935, was born May 21, 1881, in Mill Creek, Utah, the son of William Carlson and Anna Benson. He was educated in the public schools, the State Normal College and the University of Utah, studied law at the University of Chicago, and was admitted to the bar in 1907. He is an eminent corporation lawyer, was chairman of the County Board of Commissioners, served as a member of the Board of Regents of the University of Utah, and in many other civic and Church capacities. He married Nellie Wilson and three children were born to the couple. The wife died Jan. 16, 1919, and Bro. Carlson married Greta Wilson, who is the mother of two children.

CHRISTENSEN, Martin Elmer, a member of the General Board of Y. M. M. I. A. since 1935, was born Sept. 13, 1902, in Manassa, Colorado, a son of Martin Christensen and Louisa Mauss. He was baptized Sept. 25, 1910, ordained a Seventy Oct. 13, 1902, by Rulon S. Wells, and filled a mission to the German-Austrian Mission in 1925-1928. He has specialized in the study of chemistry and now occupies the position of State Chemist. He was ordained a High Priest Sept. 1, 1929, by Stephen L. Richards; married Melba Morgan Aug. 14, 1929, which union has been blessed with two children, viz., LaRae and Morgan Dale. He joined the Boy Scouts of America in May, 1916, and labored in the Cottonwood Stake among the scouts; was stake secretary of Y. M. M. I. A. in 1923-1925, was chorister in 1923-1925, graduated from the University of Utah in 1923 with a B. S. degree, was assistant state chemist for Utah from 1923 to 1925 and from 1928 to 1934 (Sept. 15), when he was appointed state chemist. He was appointed a member of the General Board of Y. M. M. I. A. in April, 1935.

She has been connected with the music department of the Salt Lake City schools for many years.

ANDERSON, Jane Ballantyne, a member of the General Board of the Y. W. M. I. A., was born Feb. 10, 1861, in Salt Lake City, Utah, the daughter of Richard Ballantyne (founder of L. D. S. Sunday schools) and Mary Pearce, who emigrated from London. She was educated in the public school at Eden, Weber Co., and the private academy of Prof. L. F.

Moench in Ogden. She taught school from 1879 to 1882 in the district schools of Riverdale, Uintah and Hooper. On June 29, 1882, she married Edward H. Anderson, and reared a family of six boys and one girl. She served as class leader and member of the presidency of the Ogden 4th Ward Y. L. M. I. A., as counselor and president of the Sugar House Ward Y. L. M. I. A., and as a member of the General Board of the Y. L. M. I. A. in 1908-1929.

BAXTER, Julia Strong, a member of the General Board of the Y. W. M. I. A., was born Dec. 31, 1886, in Alpine, Utah, the daughter of Davis J. Strong and Martha Healey. She was educated in the public schools of the Alpine district and the Brigham Young University, moved to Bear River Stake where she became active in Church organizations, holding the position of counselor in the Y. L. M. I. A. stake presidency, acted as secretary of the stake Primary organizations, and organizer in the Sunday School and Primary. Residing again in the Alpine Stake, she held the position of counselor in both ward and stake capacities and was for five years stake president of the Y. L. M. I. A. there, being finally called to the General Board in 1926. She was married to Reuben E. Baxter in 1909, and is the mother of three sons, two of whom (Harold E. and J. Clifton) are living.

BEESELEY, Clarissa A., second counselor in the general presidency of the Y. W. M. I. A., was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, the daughter of Ebenezer Beesley and Annie Frewin Buckeridge. She was baptized Aug. 4, 1887, by Wm. Hymas, at Liberty, Idaho, participated in the Salt Lake City 16th Ward Church activities, particularly in those of the M. I. A.; became ward president of the Y. L. M. I. A. at the age of seventeen, and later was made stake secretary and stake president of this organization. During 1910-

1911 she filled a mission to the Central States. Upon returning she was called to the General Board of the Y. L. M. I. A., in January, 1912. She served as general secretary from 1914 to 1929, as associate editor of the "Young Woman's Journal" from 1914 to 1923, and as editor from 1923 to 1929. In April, 1929, she was chosen second counselor to Pres. Ruth May Fox. Sister Beesley is a graduate of the University of Utah and was a teacher in the Salt Lake City schools until called into the general office of the M. I. A. in 1914. She has traveled extensively for the organization and assisted in the preparation or editing of most of the M. I. A. publications during the past twenty years.

BEESELEY, Evangeline Thomas, a member of the General Board of Y. W. M. I. A., was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, the daughter of Moroni J. Thomas and Agnes Olson. She was educated in the public schools, and attended the L. D. S. University and University of Utah; also did considerable private work in voice and methods. She was supervisor of music in the Cache County schools, served as Y. L. M. I. A. president in the Salt Lake City 24th Ward, was teacher in Primary and Sunday School, chorister in the Sunday School and organist in the M. I. A.; was called to the General Board in February, 1922, served as director of music and is a member of the Church Music Committee. She is the wife of Pres. Wilford A. Beesley and the mother of four children: Beverly, Virginia, Wilford A., jun., and Garratt Thomas.

BEELEY, Glenn Johnson, member of the General Board of the Y. W. M. I. A., is the daughter of Abraham Johnson and Maribah Davis, and was born at Moroni, Utah, March 13, 1893. She received a good education and obtained her A. B. at the Brigham Young University in 1915; later she attended the San Francisco Art Institute, the University of Chicago, and the Central School of Arts and Crafts in London (1932-1933), where she went in company with her husband, who attended the Oxford University. She has been active in auxiliary work of the Church, and in 1930 was called as a member of the General Board of the Y. L. M. I. A. As a member of the Lion House Social Center Committee, she assisted in plans for remodeling and redecorating when the building was taken over by the General Board. She has taught arts and crafts at the Brigham Young University, the Emery Stake Academy, the Women's Civic Center, the Lion House Social Center, and is at present director of the F. E. R. A. group in useful handicrafts at the University of Utah. She is the author of a book written for the National Women's Relief Society, entitled "Handcraft for Every Woman," and also of "Utah Industries from Suggested Topics and Speakers." She was married to Arthur L. Beeley, Prof. of Sociology, at the University of Utah, June 6, 1916, and is the mother of two children (Mary and Stephen J.).

BENNETT, Rosetta Wallace, a member of the General Board of Y. W. M. I. A., was born Dec. 12, 1869, in Salt Lake City, Utah, the daughter of Henry Wallace and Elen Harper. She was educated in the public schools, the University of Utah and the L. D. S. University; was married to John F. Bennett, Nov. 17, 1897. She began her work in the auxiliaries of the Church at thirteen. In 1895 she became a counselor in the Y. L. M. I. A. presidency of the 7th Ward, Salt Lake City, and was called in 1896 to the General Board. BRANDLEY, Elsie Talmage, a member of the General Board of the Y. W. M. I. A., was born Aug. 16, 1896, in Salt Lake City, Utah, the daughter of Dr. James E. Talmage and May Booth Talmage. It isn't difficult to trace the brilliance of mind, great capacity for work, versatility, understanding, and innate refinement which were Elsie's to her illustrious parents. She received her education at the L. D. S. High School and the Brigham Young University, where her ability for writing and her gift of leadership were manifest. She graduated from the B. Y. U. in 1917 and in the fall of that year was married to Harold C. Brandley. To them were born seven daughters, namely, Barbara and Betty (twins), Norma, Joyce, Helen, Susan and Rosemarie. She was a worker in the auxiliary organizations of the Church and was called to the General Board of the Y. L. M. I. A. in March, 1924. She was associate editor of the "Young Woman's Journal" from 1923 to 1929. In 1929 when the "Journal" and "Improvement Era" became one publication she was made associate editor, which position she held at the time of her death Aug. 20, 1935. She assisted in the writing of many manuals and publications for the Y. W. M.

I. A. Due to her unusual ability as a writer and speaker, she was called upon constantly by religious and civic groups to give addresses and book reviews, and conduct group discussions. In 1935 she wrote for the "Salt Lake Tribune" under the name of Brenda Lee. Her untimely death was a shock which everywhere caused people to exclaim: "She was so alive, so vital, so necessary." Her brilliance, her understanding and her literary gifts will long be remembered.

BRIXEN, Julia M., a member of the General Board of the Y. W. M. I. A., was born in Sweden. She was baptized at the age of 13 (her parents having accepted the Gospel in Sweden), and came to Utah as a child and worked in a Salt Lake hotel and assisted her family to emigrate. She was educated in the public schools and the L. D. S. University, was active all her life in Church and community affairs, and is the mother of seven children. After her release from the General Board, which her family duties necessitated, she was active in the Highland Park Ward until her death which occurred Nov. 24, 1933.

CLAWSON, Vida Fox, was made a member of the General Board of the Young Woman's Mutual Improvement Association in April, 1927, during the time when Sister Martha H. Tingey was president of that organization.

She was born in Salt Lake City,

Utah, the daughter of Ruth May and Jesse W. Fox, jun., was educated in the public schools of Salt Lake City and in the L. D. S. University. She was married to Chester Young Clawson, June 10, 1910, and is the mother of four children, viz: Emily Clawson Wright, Ruth Clawson McGowen, Vida Elizabeth, and Truman Fox Clawson.

At the time of the Church Centennial she began organizing social study groups for the study of Church History. Each of these twenty odd groups has a name, and the aggregate is called The Centennial Society.

In 1933 she began conducting historic pilgrimages to Church Shrines and in 1934 arranged, in behalf of one of these pilgrimages, for a meeting to be held in the Kirtland Temple. This was the first meeting held in that Temple by members of our Church for nearly one hundred years. Elder Melvin J. Ballard was the speaker and gave a stirring review of the restoration of the Gospel, and especially the events which took place in the Temple at Kirtland, Ohio. It was a glorious event and almost a hundred Latter-day Saints were present to participate in the exercises.

Pratt. In 1883, with her father's family, she emigrated to Utah, crossing the Atlantic in the ship "Nevada" with a company of Latter-day Saints in charge of Ben. E. Rich. She became interested in Kindergarten work and studied kindergarten methods under Miss Alice Chapin and in the University of Utah under Miss Mary C. May. For two years Sister Anderson taught the Free Kindergarten in Salt Lake City and for four years operated a private kindergarten and also for four years was assistant teacher in the kindergarten department of the University of Utah. For five years she served as a counselor to Louie B. Felt in the Primary Association of the 11th Ward, Salt Lake City, and in October, 1890, was sustained as general secretary of the Primary Association. From this position she was released in 1905, to act as first counselor to Louie B. Felt, general president of the Primary Associations of the Church, and on Oct. 8, 1925, she succeeded Sister Felt in that position. Sister Anderson has been editor of the "Children's Friend," the organ of the Primary Association, since 1901, and in her official capacity in the Primary Association has visited every stake in the Church except those just recently organized. Sister Anderson helped to establish the Primary Children's Hospital in Salt Lake City and is president of the board of trustees of that institution. For one year she served under Dr. E. Gowans in behalf of the Children's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor during the World war, working under the direction of Miss Julia Lathrop, being appointed to serve as an honorary or "dollar a year" worker. As a member of the Salt Lake committee of child welfare (division of the state defense council) in April, 1919, Sister Anderson received from the U. S. Department of Labor a handsome bronze medal. For her efficient service, the U. S. Treasury Department, in 1919, presented her with a Victory Loan Medal, made from a captured German cannon. The Primary Association, over which Sister Anderson presides, has a total membership of nearly 120,000.

ANDERSON, Vesta Erma Edwards, a member of the general board of the Primary Association, was born Sept. 1, 1892, at Willard, Utah, a daughter of John A. Edwards and Naomia Nebeker. She was baptized Nov. 3, 1900, by her father, and specialized in kindergarten training, graduating from the University of Utah Kindergarten-Primary Department in 1916, after which she became an assistant to Miss Rose Jones of the U. of U. Kindergarten Department. From 1918 to 1919 she was teacher at the Neighborhood House. In a Church capacity she served as kindergarten leader on the Ensign Stake Sunday School Board, member of the Religion Class of the Granite Stake Primary leader in the Granite Stake and became a member of the general board of the Primary Association in 1936. On June 16, 1920, she was married to Maurice Anderson in the Salt Lake Temple and is the mother of four children, namely, Naomia, Marjean, Vesta and Maurice Edwards.

BARRATT, Matilda M. W., first counselor in the general presidency of the Primary Association from 1880 to 1888, was born Jan. 17, 1837, at Stockport, Cheshire, England, a daughter of Samuel and Mary Moorhouse. She was well educated and forceful in character and directed the affairs of her father's business in England in such a manner that it was said she could bargain with the cleverest men in the community. She joined the Church in England and endured much persecution. With her young son and a cousin (Mrs. Annie D. Watson) she emigrated to Utah in 1876. On Oct. 11, 1864, she was married to John Barratt, foreman of her father's factory. Three children were born of this marriage, namely, Samuel (born Feb. 24, 1866) and Matilda and Evangeline, who died in infancy. After filling an honorable mission to England her son Samuel died Dec. 25, 1900, in Salt Lake City, after which in his memory Sister Barratt erected the Barratt Hall as one of the buildings connected with the L. D. S. College in Salt Lake City, at a cost of $24,000. Sister Barratt did not long survive her son, but died in Salt Lake City, April 14, 1902.

BEEBE, Clara Woodruff, a counselor in the general presidency and a member of the general board of the Primary Association from 1904 to 1927, was born July 23, 1868, in Salt Lake City, a daughter of Wilford Woodruff and Emma Smith. She was a student of the Salt Lake City schools and of the University of Deseret. She acted as secretary of the Primary Association in the Farmers' Ward at the age of 14, and served for three years, was president of the 20th Ward Primary Association in 1895-1898, and a member of the Salt Lake Stake Primary Board until called to the general board of the Primary Association, serving as second counselor from 1905 to 1925. She was a perfect hostess and had charge of all special social events on the board. As a result of her activity 152,331 baptisms for the dead were performed by children of the Primary. She was also a member of the Salt Lake Civic Center from April 19, 1917, to 1921, serving as treasurer and a member of the board of control. On Aug. 3, 1887, she was married to Ovando C. Beebe and was the mother of eight children, namely, Veda Clare, Woodruff Collins, Emma, George Rogers, Hester, Blanch W., Margaret and Ruth. Pearce was released Dec. 25, 1880, Bro. Batt was left in charge of the Mission. He was succeeded Jan. 20, 1881, by Wm. M. Bromley, and returned to Utah May 28, 1881.

BEAUCHAMP, Robert (also called Dolling), president of the Australasian Mission from 1865 to 1874, was born June 5, 1818, in Plymouth, Devonshire, England, a son of Samuel Dolling and Mary Lacey. He went to Australia as a young man and was baptized at Adelaide, South Australia, in 1841, or 1842, by William Barrett, the first missionary to Australia. In 1858, on account of the Johnston Army troubles, all the Zion Elders were called home, and Thomas Ford, a local Elder, was appointed to preside over the Australasian Mission. He was ably assisted by Elder Beauchamp who succeeded Wm. Broadbent as president of the mission in 1865, which position he held until 1868 when he, with his family, emigrated to Zion. A year later (1869) Elder Beauchamp returned to Australia to again preside over that mission. He died Sept. 7, 1890, in Geelong, Victoria.

BINGHAM, John Samuel, president of the Australasian Mission from 1890 to 1891, was born Feb. 3, 1860, at Payson, Utah, a son of Perry L. Bingham and Sarah Elizabeth Lusk. He was baptized when about eight years old, was set apart for a mission to Australasia April 8, 1888, arrived in the mission field June 23, 1888, was appointed president of the mission Oct. 6, 1890, succeeding Angus Taylor Wright, and acted in that capacity until he was honorably released to return home Sept. 13, 1891.

BROADBENT, William, president of the Australasian Mission from 1863 to 1865, wrote to George Q. Cannon, stating that he had acted as president of the Australasian Mission since the death of Thomas Ford in 1863.

BROMLEY, William M., president of the Australasian Mission from 1881 to 1883, died April 14, 1911. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 2, p. 24).

DOWDLE, Absalom Porter, president of the Australasian Mission from 1856 to 1857, was born June 1, 1819, in Franklin County, Alabama, a son of Robert Dowdle and Sarah Ann Robinson. He married Sarah Ann Holladay and came West with the so-called Mississippi Company in 1846, and spent the winter at Pueblo, on the Arkansas river. He was appointed by Elder Wm. Crosby Nov. 17, 1846, to preside over the Saints at Fort Pueblo.

Bro. Dowdle and family and the other families of the Pueblo Company, following in the wake of the Utah Pioneers in 1847, arrived in Great Salt Lake Valley July 29, 1847, with Capt. James Brown's detachment of the Mormon Battalion, which had also wintered at Pueblo. Elder Dowdle was called to fill a mission to Australia, arriving at Sydney April 1, 1852. When Pres. Augustus Farnham sailed from Sydney May 28, 1856, he left Absalom P. Dowdle in charge of the Australasian Mission. Elder Dowdle presided until June 27, 1857, when he sailed on the ship "Lucas," homeward bound.

FARNHAM, Augustus, president of the Australasian Mission from 1853 to 1856, was born May 20, 1805, in Andover, Essex Co., Mass., a son of Peter and Chloe Farnham. He was baptized April 21, 1843, ordained a Seventy Aug. 17, 1845, was called to fill a mission to Australasia, arriving in Sydney April 1, 1851, on the ship "Pacific". He became president of the mission by vote April 10, 1853, and left for home May 28, 1856, on the ship "Jenny Ford." Elder Farnham died May 2, 1865, at Farmington, Utah.

Czechoslovak Mission

GAETH, Arthur, the first and only president of the Czechoslovak Mission prior to 1930, was born May 6, 1905, in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, the son of Otto S. Gaeth and Josephine Lindhardt. His parents joined the Church when he was six years of age and he was baptized by his father on August 27, 1913. The family moved to Utah in April, 1919.

Elder Gaeth was set apart on May 11, 1926, by Apostle David O. McKay as a missionary to the German-Austrian Mission, where he labored for 36 months, during the last year as general superintendent of auxiliary organizations.

On May 19, 1929, after Elder Gaeth had been released from the German-Austrian Mission and was preparing to spend six months in the Swiss-German Mission, delivering illustrated lectures on Utah and the Mormons, he was called by President

John A. Widtsoe of the European Mission to go to Prague, Czechoslovakia, to investigate conditions and gain permission for the opening of a mission of the Church in that land. The investigation proved that the time was ripe for the inauguration of the work of the Lord in that land and on July 24, 1929, President Widtsoe, President and Sister Hyrum W. Valentine and four missionaries from the German-Austrian Mission met in Prague with Elder Gaeth and five other missionaries: Elders Alvin G. Carlson, Joseph I. Hart, Willis H. Hayward, Charles Josie, and Wallace F. Toronto, and the three Brodil Sisters, members of the Church living in that city. Together they journeyed to the famous Karlstejn Castle, built near Prague in 1348. In a little grove in the shadow of the castle President Widtsoe dedicated the mission on July 24, 1929, and set Elder Arthur Gaeth apart as its first president. President Hyrum W. Valentine ordained him to the office of a High Priest.

During the ensuing year the missionaries spent their time learning the new language. They held their first meetings in English and attracted an average attendance of sixty better-class people. The Elders gained valuable publicity in the newspapers and President Gaeth was able to deliver two German lectures over the radio, as well as prepare two others which were delivered over the radio in Czech by a friend. His illustrated lectures on Utah and the Mormons were in demand everywhere before adult education circles and the English clubs in the country of which there were more than thirty.

On April 6, 1930, on the 100th anniversary of the organization of the Church, the Czech missionaries held their first conference which was conducted in the Czech language. On this occasion the Mission distributed a new Czech songbook which contained 70 songs which had been translated into the Czech language. Most of the leading newspapers of the country printed accounts of the centenary celebration of the organization of the Church and Elder Gaeth delivered a Czech lecture over the radio in Prague and a German lecture over the radio in Brno commemorating the event.

In the meantime new missionaries were sent to Czechoslovakia and the mission was organized on a permanent basis. Twenty-eight new tracts were translated and published, the Book of Mormon was translated and came off the press in February, 1933, and two booklets: "A Century of Mormonism," especially prepared for the mission by President Gaeth, and "What Is Mormonism," by President John A. Widtsoe, also made their appearance.

In January, 1931, President Gaeth returned to the United States, delivering lectures about "Czechoslovakia, the Cradle of Slavonic Liberty" at Eastern universities and in Utah. On March 23, 1931, he married Martha K. Picha in the Salt Lake Temple and in April he returned with her to Czechoslovakia to preside over the mission. Together they made many friends, became members of the American Institute of Czechoslovakia, and lectured in many sections of the country. In 1934 Sister Gaeth was one of the official delegates of the Czechoslovak National Council of Women at the international congress of Women's organizations in Paris, France. Pres. Gaeth represented the Brigham Young University at the International Agricultural Congress in Prague in 1931 and at the International Congress of Philosophy at the same place in 1934. President and Sister Gaeth were released in July, 1936, to be succeeded by President and Sister Wallace F. Toronto.

From September, 1935, to April, 1936, a series of articles "A Missionary's Odyssey," by Elder Arthur Gaeth, appeared in the church section of the Deseret News giving an account of his missionary experiences in Germany and Austria and of the development of the Czechoslovak Mission. Elder Gaeth also visited Hungary, Jugoslavia, Roumania, and Russia and investigated religious conditions in those countries. In 1934, under his direction, Sister Etus von Haragos completed the translation of the Book of Mormon in Hungarian.

European Mission

The European Mission had its beginning in 1852. Since that date the presidents of the European Mission have had jurisdiction over all the Latter-day Saint missions in Europe, Asia (Japan excepted) and Africa.

French Mission

Presidents: John Taylor, 1850-1851; Curtis E. Bolton, 1851-1853; Andrew L. Lamoreaux, 1853-1854; William C. Dunbar, 1854-1856; Geo. L. Keaton, 1856-1858; Mark Barnes, 1858-1859; Louis A. Bertrand, 1859-1864. (From 1864 to 1913 the few members in France and on the Jersey Islands constituted a part of the British Mission.) Edgar B. Brossard, 1913-1914; Benjamin F. Howells, in 1914; Russell H. Blood, 1924-1925; Ernest C. Rossiter, 1925-1928; Peter

BARNES, Mark, president of the French Mission from 1858 to 1859, was an Elder from England who was recommended by Edward Bunker July 10, 1855, to serve as president of the French Mission. Elder Bunker said of Mark Barnes that he was a good, faithful Elder, who had been in the missionary field a long time. He accompanied William Budge to the Isle of Jersey June 9, 1858, to act as president. On Jan. 1, 1859, he reported the French Mission at a conference held in Birmingham, England, and on Jan. 22, 1859, according to the "Millennial Star," he was continued as president of the French Mission. After acting as president of the Dorsetshire Conference in England from Aug. 10, 1861, he sailed from Liverpool May 6, 1862, as second counselor to Pres. John D. T. McAllister in charge of a company of Saints. The company landed in New York June 12, 1862.

BERTRAND, Louis Alphonso, president of the French Mission from 1859 to 1864, was born Jan. 8, 1808, in Roguevaire, Bouches de Rhone, France, a son of Joseph Bertrand and Mary Flandin. He was baptized Dec. 1, 1850, by John Taylor, in the River Seine; came to Utah in 1855, but returned to France as a missionary in 1859 to take charge of the French Mission. Many conversions were made in Switzerland and Belgium as well as in France. Brother Bertrand's wife and their two sons remained in Paris. He never married again, but remained faithful to his wife, until he died March 21, 1875.

BOLTON, Curtis E., president of the French Mission from 1851 to 1853, was born July 10, 1812, in Philadelphia, Penn., a son of Curtis and Ann Bolton. It is not known when he became a member of the Church, but on Sept. 4, 1842, he was ordained an Elder at Little Falls, New Jersey, and became a member of a branch of the Church which was organized by Elder John Leach. Later, he lived in Nauvoo where he took an active part in protecting the Temple from being damaged by the mob in February, 1846. Bro. Bolton probably came to the Valley in 1848, as he was called in October, 1849, to accompany John Taylor on a mission to France, arriving in England May 27, 1850. He translated articles for newspapers, and later, assisted by native converts from the Channel Islands, he translated the Book of Mormon into French, and published a magazine called "L'Etoile du Deseret". He returned to Utah in 1853, and died Dec. 6, 1890, in Marysville, Piute Co., Utah, aged 80 years.

BLOOD, Russell Henry, president of the French Mission from 1924 to 1926, was born Oct. 27, 1900, at Kaysville, Utah, a son of Henry H. Blood and Minnie A. Barnes. He was baptized Oct. 27, 1908, was set apart Nov. 10, 1921, for the British Mission, was appointed president of the French Mission Dec. 27, 1923, and acted in that capacity until his release in July, 1925.

DUNBAR, William C., president of the French Mission from 1854 to 1856, was born Oct. 26, 1822, in Inverness, Scotland, a son of James and Ann Dunbar. He was baptized Dec. 28, 1840, and labored in England as a missionary in 1846-1852. He emigrated to Utah in 1852. He was ordained a Seventy and called to England to fill a mission, was appointed president of the French Mission Dec. 2, 1854, and was released Dec. 8, 1855. Bro. Dunbar was a famous comedian, vocalist, and bagpipe performer of the early days of Salt Lake City; he was also one of the founders of the "Salt Lake Herald." Elder Dunbar died in Salt Lake City June 8, 1905.

BROSSARD, Edgar Bernard, president of the French Mission from 1913 to 1914, was born April 1, 1889, at Oxford, Idaho, a son of Alphonse Brossard and Mary Catherine Hobson. He was baptized May 31, 1901, was set apart for a mission to Switzerland and Germany Oct. 2, 1911, was sustained as president of the French Mission Oct. 15, 1912, and acted in that capacity till May 7, 1914, when he was succeeded by Benjamin F. Howells.

CHRISTENSEN, Peter Rulon, president of the French Mission from 1928 to 1929, was born Dec. 29, 1901, in Ephraim, Utah, a son of Hans Christensen and Elizabeth A. Thomson. He was baptized Feb. 8, 1910, was set apart for a mission to France June 22, 1926, became president of the French Mission Sept. 20, 1928, upon the departure of Pres. Ernest C. Rossiter and wife for their home in Utah. Elder Christensen was released Jan. 1, 1930, but soon after his return to his home in Ephraim he took sick and died Sept. 6, 1930.

HOWELLS, Benjamin Francis, president of the French Mission in 1914, was born March 5, 1888, in Salt Lake City, Utah, a son of Thomas F. Howells and Mary Parrish. He was baptized in March, 1896, set apart for a mission to Switzerland and Germany July 22, 1912, and was made president of the French Mission May 7, 1914. When war was declared in August of that year he and most of the American missionaries were released to return home.

KEATON, George Dennis, jun., president of the French Mission from 1856 to 1858, was born June 27, 1828, in Buckleberry, Berkshire, England, a son of George Dennis and Mary Jane Keaton. He was appointed to fill a mission in Italy Dec. 11, 1852, from England, and labored in that mission till June, 1854. On Dec. 8, 1855, he was appointed president of the French Mission, and as late as July, 1858, was still acting as president of that mission.

ROSSITER, Ernest Crabtree, president of the French Mission from 1925 to 1928, was born Oct. 16, 1882, in Salt Lake City, Utah, a son of William A. Rossiter and Eliza Crabtree. He was baptized Nov. 4, 1890, was ordained a Seventy Jan. 10, 1905, by Seymour B. Young and filled a mission to Europe, laboring in the Belgian part of the Netherlands Mission. Immediately afterwards (1907-1909) he filled a mission to the Northern States. In 1915 he was called to preside over the Society Islands Mission, which position he held until 1919. He was set apart July 28, 1925, to preside over the French Mission, and

ministry good progress was made in France. After being ordained a High Priest by Charles A. Callis he was chosen as a member of the High Council in the Salt Lake Stake. Since May, 1929, he has served as manager of the Temple Square Hotel.

TAYLOR, John, president of the French Mission from 1850 to 1851. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 14.)

WOOLF, Golden LeGrande, president of the French Mission from 1929 to 1933, was born Dec. 13, 1891, in Millville, Cache Co., Utah, a son of Martin Woolf, sen., and Roseltha Hyde. He was baptized May 5, 1900, was set apart for a mission to the Swiss and German Mission March 21, 1911, and returned to his home in Alberta, Canada, Jan. 1, 1914. He was called to preside over the French Mission Dec. 4, 1929, when Pres. P. Rulon Christensen was released. His wife, Fanny E. Coombs Woolf, accompanied him. She was born June 6, 1893, at Nephi, Utah, a daughter of Mark A. Coombs and Henrietta McCune. After this mission, they made their home in Provo, Utah. Elder Coombs is principal of the Brigham Young College high school.

German Mission

LOUTENSOCK, Peter, president of the German Mission from 1897 to 1899, was born Jan. 31, 1848, in Wattenheim, Rhein, Bavaria, a son of Charles P. Loutensock and Maria K. Holz. He was baptized Dec. 31, 1874, ordained an Elder in February, 1875, by Henry Eyring and presided over the Mannheim Branch until June 9th of that year, when he emigrated to Zion. He filled a mission to Minnesota, U. S., in 1883-1884; acted as president of the Y. M. M. I. A. in Lehi and later at Eureka, Utah, and acted as Bishop of the Eureka Ward in 1894-1896. He was set apart for a mission to Germany July 17, 1896, by Geo. Teasdale, and arrived in Bern, Switzerland, Aug. 24, of the same year. After laboring a while in the missionary field he was called in October to Bern to help in the mission office, which he did until Jan. 1, 1897, when he was placed in charge of the mission.

1899 to 1901, died July 7, 1924, in Salt Lake City, Utah. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 598.)

RISER, George Christian, president of the German Mission from 1854 to 1855, was born July 16, 1818, at Kornwesthime, Wurtemberg, Germany, a son of Christopher Casper Riser and Barbara Hoffman. He emigrated to America in the spring of 1831, was baptized Dec. 12, 1842, in the Mississippi River by Elder Albert Brown, and went to Utah in 1846. He was called on a mission to Europe in 1852, arriving in Liverpool, England, Jan. 3, 1853. After visiting some of the branches in England, he went to Hamburg, Germany, and was appointed president of the German Mission Jan. 21, 1854. He was arrested and imprisoned for preaching the Gospel Aug. 13, 1854, and not being allowed to continue his labors, he was released to return home, and reached the Valley Sept. 11, 1855. Elder Riser died Jan. 24, 1892, in Salt Lake City, Utah.

BENSON, Ezra T., president of the Hawaiian Mission pro tem. in 1864, died Sept. 3, 1869, in Ogden, Utah. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 99.)

BIGLER, Henry W., president (pro tem.) of the Hawaiian Mission from 1857 to 1858. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 3, p. 599.)

CLARK, Hiram, first president of the Hawaiian Mission from 1850 to 1851, was born Sept. 22, 1795, in Wells, Rutland Co., Vermont, a son of Luman and Permelia Clark. After being baptized into the Church he was ordained a High Priest in January, 1847, and was called to fill a mission in California in 1850. At a meeting presided over by Charles C. Rich held on the banks of the Sacramento River, Calif., Sept. 25, 1850, Elder Clark, who had previously filled two missions to Great Britain, was appointed to preside over the Hawaiian Mission, and he with others left a California mining camp Oct. 18, 1850, for San Francisco, where they embarked on the ship "Imaum" Nov. 22, 1850, and arrived in Honolulu Dec. 12, 1850. Elder Clark's presidency was not a success. He died Dec. 28, in San Bernardino, Calif., in 1853.

FARR, Enoch, president of the Hawaiian Mission from 1885 to 1887, was born Dec. 28, 1845, in Nauvoo, Ill., a son of Lorin Farr and Nancy B. Chase. He was baptized in 1854, after coming to Utah with his parents in 1847. Being called and set apart Oct. 13, 1884, for a mission to the Sandwich Islands, he arrived in Honolulu Nov. 8, 1884, and succeeded Elder Edward Partridge as president of the Hawaiian Mission. He returned to Utah May 30, 1887, and died June 30, 1914.

GIBSON, Walter Murray, a self-appointed president of the Hawaiian Mission who functioned from 1861 to 1864, was born Jan. 16, 1822, at sea, between Gibraltar and England, a son of John Gibson and Lucy Murray. He was baptized Jan. 15, 1860, filled a short mission to the United States from April to November, 1860, and arrived in Honolulu, Hawaii, June 30, 1861. Soon after his arrival he claimed to be the president of the mission. Because of his desire to "set up a kingdom" of his own on the islands he was excommunicated from the Church in April, 1864. He died Jan. 21, 1888, in San Francisco, California.

KING, William, president of the Hawaiian Mission from 1887 to 1890, was born April 8, 1834, in Cicero, Onondaga Co., N. Y., a son of Thomas R. King and Matilda Robison. He was baptized in 1843, came to Utah at an early day, and was identified with some of the foremost interests of the Territory. Twelve years of his life were spent in missionary labors among the natives of the Sandwich Islands. He also filled a mission to the United States. He was set apart for his mission to the Sandwich Islands Oct. 18, 1886, and being made president April 6, 1887, he acted in that capacity until Nov. 13, 1889. He sailed from Honolulu May 9, 1890, for his home in Utah, accompanied by his wife.

MITCHELL, Frederick A. H. F., president of the Hawaiian Mission from 1873 to 1875, was born July 14, 1835, in Sheffield, Yorkshire, England, a son of Hezekiah Mitchell and Sarah Mallinson. He was baptized in July, 1845, emigrated to St. Louis, Mo., in 1849, and arrived in Utah in 1854. He married Margaret Thompson on Nov. 15, 1855, who bore him twelve children. In the spring of 1856, he was called to labor in the Sandwich Islands. He walked all the way to California, driving stock as far as Carson Valley, in order to earn his supplies. He returned in 1858, and in 1868 was chosen as second counselor to Bishop Edwin D. Woolley of the 13th Ward, Salt Lake City. He acted thus until May, 1873, when he was again called to the Sandwich Islands as a missionary, taking his wife and five children with him. He acted as president of the Mission until Feb. 2, 1875. Elder Mitchell died July 26, 1923.

1879, died Nov. 29, 1900. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 408.)

NEBEKER, George, president of the Hawaiian Mission from 1865 to 1873, died Dec. 1, 1886. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 682.)

NEFF, Eugene Jefferson, president of the Hawaiian Mission from 1922 to 1926, was born March 29, 1883, in East Mill Creek, Utah, a son of Amos Herr Neff and Eliza Anne Hughes. He was baptized Sept. 1, 1892, filled a mission to Hawaii in 1904-1908, and was set apart to preside over the Hawaiian Mission Feb. 2, 1923.

NOALL, Matthew, president of the Hawaiian Mission from 1892 to 1895, was born Feb. 1, 1864, in Salt Lake City, Utah, a son of Simon Noall and Rebecca Squire. He was baptized June 6, 1872, ordained a Seventy in 1884, and filled a mission to the Sandwich Islands in 1885-1889. He left Salt Lake City Nov. 17, 1891, on a second mission to preside over the Hawaiian Mission; he arrived in Honolulu Dec. 18, 1891, and returned Nov. 4, 1895.

PACK, Ward Eaton, president of the Hawaiian Mission from 1876 to 1878, was born April 17, 1834, in Jefferson County, N. Y., a son of John Pack and Julia Ives. He was baptized April 17, 1842, set apart April 10, 1876, arrived in Honolulu June 1, 1876, and upon the departure of Elder Alma L. Smith, June 2, 1876, assumed the presidency of the Mission. He returned to Utah April 1, 1878. Elder Pack died Nov. 16, 1907, at Vernal, Utah.

1882 to 1885, died Nov. 17, 1900. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 488.)

SMITH, Alma Lamoni, president of the Hawaiian Mission from 1864 to 1865, and from 1874 to 1875, was born Dec. 16, 1831, in Amherst, Lorain Co., Ohio, a son of Warren Smith and Amanda Barnes. He was baptized in July, 1841, emigrated to Utah in 1850, filled a mission to the Sandwich Islands in 1856-1858, a second mission in 1864, acting as president from Oct. 2, 1864, to Oct. 7, 1865. He returned May 9, 1868, after performing a successful mission. Elder Smith presided over the Mission a second time from Sept. 21, 1874, to Dec. 31, 1875, returning to his home in Utah, July 3, 1876.

SMITH, Elias Wesley, president of the Hawaiian Mission from 1919 to 1922, was born April 21, 1886, in Laie, Oahu, Hawaiian Islands, a son of Pres. Jos. F. Smith and Julina Lambson. He was baptized April 21, 1894, ordained an Elder and filled a mission to the Hawaiian Islands in 1907-1910. Being called on a second mission to Hawaii, he was set apart to preside over the Hawaiian Mission May 8, 1919, and acted in that capacity until his return.

SMITH, Joseph F., president of the Hawaiian Mission for a short time in 1864, died Nov. 19, 1918. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 66.)

SNOW, Lorenzo, president of the Hawaiian mission for a short time in 1864, died Oct. 10, 1901. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 26.)

SMITH, Silas, president of the Hawaiian Mission from 1855 to 1857, was born June 6, 1822, in Stockholm, St. Lawrence Co., N. Y., a son of Asahel Smith and Elizabeth Shilling. He was baptized Aug. 27, 1835, came to Utah at an early day, and was called to fill a mission to the Pacific Isles April 7, 1854. He arrived in Honolulu Sept. 27, 1854, acted as president of the Mission from July 24, 1855, to Oct. 6, 1857, and sailed on that day for home on the ship "Yankee." Elder Smith died June 11, 1892, in Meadow, Millard Co., Utah.

WADDOUPS, Mark, president of the Hawaiian Mission from 1926 to 1930, was born Feb. 8, 1878, in Bountiful, Utah, a son of Thomas Waddoups and Mary Call. He was baptized Feb. 8, 1886, educated in the schools of Bountiful, the B. Y. U., at Provo, and the L. D. S. U. in Salt Lake City. He filled a mission to Hawaii in 1900-1904, and married Olivia Sessions Oct. 12, 1904, which union was blessed with five children. The family moved to Idaho in 1905, and Elder Waddoups taught school in the Iosepa Colony (Skull Valley, Utah) in 1904-1905. He was called on a mission to Iosepa in May, 1906, and resided there with his family until May, 1917, when he was called to labor in the Salt Lake Temple as an ordinance worker. In June, 1918, he was called on a second mission to Hawaii to preside over the Hawaiian Temple. After being released from that position in June, 1924, he returned to Utah with his family, but in October, 1924, he was called again to preside over the Hawaiian Temple. His family joined him in June, 1925, and on June 4, 1926, he succeeded Eugene J. Neff as president of the Mission.

WOOLLEY, Samuel Edwin, president of the Hawaiian Mission from 1895 to 1919, was born Oct. 22, 1859, in Salt Lake City, Utah, a son of Samuel W. Woolley and Maria Angell. He was baptized in 1868, and filled a mission to the Sandwich Islands in 1880-1884. In 1890 he filled a mission to the Iosepa Colony (Skull Valley, Utah) and was set apart to preside over the Hawaiian Mission Aug. 9, 1895. While presiding he had charge of the erection of the Hawaiian Temple, was president of the Temple after its completion, and the plantation at Laie. He was released July 1, 1919, to return home.

Icelandic Mission

Presidents: Johan P. Lorentzen, 1853-1854; no Zion Elders in Iceland for several years; Magnus Bjarnason, 1873-1874; Thordur Didrickson, 1875-1876; Jon Eyvindson, 1879-1881; Gisli Bjarnason, 1882-1883; Einar Eirikson, 1885-1886; Haldor B. Jonson, 1886-1887; Einar Jonson, 1888-1890; Thorarinn Bjarnason, 1894-1895; Haldor Jonson, 1898-1900; Jon Johannesson, 1900-1903; Loftur Bjarnason, 1903-1906; Jacob B. Jonson, 1910-1912; Einar Eirikson (second term), 1912-1914.

BJARNASON, Gisle E., president of the Icelandic Mission from 1882 to 1883, was born Nov. 25, 1849, in Iceland, the son of Einar Bjarnason and Gundrun Jonason. He was baptized in 1875, and later emigrated to Utah. Having been called to perform a mission to Iceland, he arrived in Copenhagen June 3, 1882, and was by the president of the Scandinavian Mission (of which mission Iceland was a part), appointed to preside in Iceland, from which position he was honorably released in 1883, on account of ill health, and returned to his home in Spanish Fork, Utah, where he died Aug. 18, 1934.

BJARNASON, Loftur, president of the Icelandic Mission from 1903 to 1906, was born March 15, 1879, in Spanish Fork, Utah Co., Utah, the son of Gisle E. Bjarnason and Haldora Jonson. He was baptized when about eight years of age and later emigrated to Utah. Called to fill a mission to Iceland, he arrived in Reykjavik April 21, 1903, and labored diligently and with some success part of the time without a missionary companion. On Elder Jon Johanneson's departure for home, Elder Bjarnason succeeded him as president of the mission, being appointed to that position, June 16, 1903. Bro. Bjarnason was a faithful Elder, but had to seek employment in a store on Vestmanoen in order to meet expenses. He baptized eight persons and left for home in 1906.

BJARNASON, Magnus, president of the Icelandic Mission from 1873 to 1874, was born Aug. 3, 1815, in Kross Kirke, Rangarvalla, Iceland, the son of Bjarna Bjarnason and Thorbiorg Gudmund. He was baptized June 3, 1853, and later emigrated to Utah. Being called on a mission he arrived in Copenhagen May 30, 1873, and was appointed to labor in Iceland. He labored diligently until June, 1874, when he left Iceland and returned to his home in Spanish Fork, Utah, bringing with him eleven persons, seven of whom were baptized after their arrival in Utah. Elder Bjarnason suffered some persecution on his mission, having been arrested three different times for distributing Mormon literature, and for discussing religion in people's homes.

BJARNASON, Thovarinne, president of the Icelandic Mission from 1894 to 1895, was born June 17, 1849, at Skaptafill, Iceland, the son of Bjarni Magnusson and Karitas Jacobson. He was baptized in 1882, emigrated to Utah and made his home in Spanish Fork. Having been called on a mission to Iceland, he arrived in Reykjavik Feb. 1, 1894, and labored with some success in Iceland until he, being honorably released, sailed for home July 4, 1895. Elder Bjarnason died in Spanish Fork about 1924.

DIDRICKSON, Thordur, president of the Icelandic Mission from 1875 to 1876, was born March 28, 1828, at Usterlandane, Iceland. He was baptized Feb. 17, 1855, and emigrated to Utah afterwards. In 1875 he was called to perform a mission to Iceland, and arrived with other Utah Elders in Copenhagen May 24, 1875. He was appointed by the president of the Scandinavian Mission to preside over the mission in Iceland, where he labored with some success in spite of opposition, and returned to his home in Spanish Fork, Utah, in the fall of 1876.

EIRIKSON, Einar, president of the Icelandic Mission from 1885 to 1886, was born Dec. 30, 1847, in Iceland, and died at Elmo, Emery Co., Utah, Oct. 8, 1931. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 525.)

EYVINDSON, Jon, president of the Icelandic Mission from 1879 to 1881, was born June 14, 1845, at Rangarvalla sysla, Ustrelandane, Iceland, the son of Eyvind and Anna Jonson. He was baptized Sept. 4, 1874.

JOHANNESON, Jon, president of the Icelandic Mission from 1900 to 1903, was born June 2, 1862, at Hrutfirdi, Hunavatus, Iceland, the son of Johannes Johnson and Sophia Gunhaugson. He was baptized May 13, 1894, emigrated to Utah and made his home for many years in Cleveland, Emery Co., Utah. To fill a mission in Iceland, he left Salt Lake City, Aug. 18, 1900, and arrived in Reykjavik Sept. 28, 1900. During his missionary labors he baptized ten new members, ordained three and blessed thirteen children. He also aided five to emigrate to America. At the close of his mission, there was a membership in Iceland of thirty-nine souls. While in Iceland, Elder Johanneson, besides his other duties, composed and published a number of tracts. Elder Johanneson died in Salt Lake City Feb. 17, 1930.

was born Aug. 16, 1839, at Gotshyld, Rangarvalla sysla, Iceland, the son of John Haldorson and Gudrun Jonson. He was baptized May 25, 1874, and soon emigrated to America. After his release as a missionary, he accepted a position as commander of a small fishing vessel, and while engaged in unloading its cargo on Westmanoen in 1900, a barrel of fish liver fell on him, after which accident he only lived an hour or two, when he died.

JONSON, Haldor, president of the Icelandic Mission from 1898 to 1900, was born March 1, 1856, at Mealdland, Straftafalls, Iceland, the son of Jon and Margaret Jonson. He was baptized Nov. 29, 1880, emigrated to the United States in 1881, and located at Ferron, Utah, in 1891. Elder Jonson filled two missions to his native land, one in 1898-1900, laboring faithfully and well for 25 months, and again in 1910-1913. Elder Jonson died in Cleveland, Emery Co., Utah, Jan. 11, 1936.

JONSON, Haldor B., president of the Icelandic Mission from 1886 to 1887, was born June 11, 1852, at Reykjavik, Iceland, the son of Jon Jonson and Asa Michelson. He was baptized April 2, 1881, emigrated to Utah, and later filled a mission to his native land as stated. He died in Spanish Fork, Utah, Nov. 24, 1925.

JONSON, Jacob Baldwin, president of the Icelandic Mission from 1910 to 1912, was born May 21, 1843, in Hinavatu, Iceland, the son of Jon Benedictson and Sigridur Skuladthson. He was baptized Sept. 6, 1877, emigrated to Utah and settled in 1873 in Spanish Fork, where he died July 23, 1930.

LORENTZEN, Johan P., president of the Icelandic Mission from 1853 to 1854, was born May 23, 1815, in Copenhagen, Denmark, and was baptized April 19, 1851. Bro. Johan P. Lor-entzen never emigrated to America, but died in Copenhagen, almost lost and forgotten by his former associates in the Church.

Indian Territory Mission

Presidents: Henry W. Miller, 1855-1856; Washington N. Cook, 1856-1858; Henry Eyring, 1858-1860; Matthew W. Dalton, March, 1877-November, 1877; George Teasdale, April-September, 1883; Matthew W. Dalton (second term), 1883-1884; Andrew Kimball, 1885-1897; William T. Jack, 1897-1898.

Note: The name of the Indian Territory Mission was changed to the Southwestern States Mission in March, 1898.

DALTON, Matthew William, president of the Indian Territory Mission in 1877, and from 1883 to 1884, was born Nov. 1, 1828, in Madrid, St. Lawrence Co., N. Y., a son of John Dalton and Mary McGovern. His mother died when he was six years old. His father married again and his wife became a real mother to the boy who came to America when a young man. His journey across the plains, up the Platte River, over onto the Bear River and thence north into Idaho, was one of thrilling experiences, meeting hundreds of buffalo and wild Indians. Going south he walked through the present site of Willard, and after walking some 14 miles he arrived at Ogden Sept. 5, 1850, where he found a few scattered "Mormons." Having become interested in the Mormon people he decided to remain, and he built a home on the block now occupied by the Broom Hotel in Ogden. He was baptized Dec. 12, 1850, and in 1853 made his home in Willard. While on his missions among the Indians he taught them how to farm, erected the first house for the Indian Mission and performed a remarkable work among the natives. He also filled missions in Mexico, Europe and in various parts of the United States. He presided over the 59th quorum of Seventy for 48 years, built a sailing boat, was hotel keeper at Willard, served as justice of the peace, school trustee and captain in the territorial militia, and was a delegate to the constitutional convention. He also gave considerable attention to the study of astronomy and writing. His most notable work, the "Key To This Earth," in which he discussed the planetary system, gained a wide circulation. He died at the advanced age of 89 years, at Willard, Utah, March 14, 1918.

to 1860, died Feb. 10, 1902. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 311.)

JACK, William T., president of the Indian Territory Mission from 1897 to 1898, died Dec. 15, 1934, in Salt

Lake City, Utah. (See Bio. Ency. Vol. 1, p. 304.)

MILLER, Henry W., president of the Indian Territory Mission from 1855 to 1856, died Oct. 9, 1885. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 3, p. 165.)

Kooyman, 1929-1933.

BENNION, Edwin, president of the Netherlands Mission from 1893 to 1895, was born April 8, 1868, at Taylorsville, Utah, a son of John Bennion and Mary Turpin. He was baptized in May, 1876, ordained a Seventy Oct. 14, 1892, by Seymour B. Young, and filled a mission to the Netherlands in 1892-1895, being set apart, together with his wife, Mary Emma Lindsay Bennion, Oct. 14, 1892. On May 21, 1893, he succeeded Alfred L. Farrell as president of the mission. He was succeeded by Asa W. Judd.

From 1900 to 1903 he served as second counselor, and from 1903 to 1911 as first counselor in the presidency of the Granite Stake, Utah. He died at Draper, Utah, April 3, 1930.

BOCKHOLT, Derck (or Dirk), president of the Netherlands Mission from 1874 to 1875, was born Oct. 6, 1843, at Gorinchem, Netherlands, a son of Herman H. Bockholt and Annie Valk. He was baptized Nov. 1, 1863, by John I. Smith, and left Rotterdam June 1, 1864, as an emigrant for Utah. Having become a member of the 36th Quorum of

Seventy, he was set apart for a mission to his native land Aug. 28, 1874, and appointed to preside over the mission. He translated and published in the Netherlands language, "The Kingdom of God," by Parley P. Pratt. In civic life he served as clerk of Salt Lake County, both before and after his mission period. He died Jan. 1, 1887, at Salt Lake City. (See also Bio. Ency., Vol. 3, p. 24.)

BROWN, Francis Almond, president of the Netherlands Mission in 1867 and again from 1889 to 1891, was born Nov. 14, 1822, in Millford, Otsego Co., New York, a son of Jesse Brown and Roxana Grant. He was baptized Feb. 11, 1844, by John Lane. For two years he studied in the Genesee Wesleyan Seminary at Lima, New York. In the summer of 1844 he filled a short mission among relatives and friends, and in October of that year he gathered to Nauvoo. He taught school in Iowa and in the Music Hall at Nauvoo. In 1851 he filled a second short mission to Nova Scotia, and moved to Utah in 1856. In 1865 he was called to labor as a missionary in the Netherlands, and in 1867 he succeeded Joseph Weiler as president of the mission. During his second mission, he published the Book of Mormon in the Dutch or Netherlands language, the translation having been made by his predecessor, John W. F. Volker.

He taught school in Ogden, becoming the leader, if not practically the founder of education in Weber county. He served as probate judge, alderman and justice of the peace, and also was secretary and later president of irrigation companies. He died June 9, 1894, at Ogden, Utah. (See also "Historical Record", Vol. 5, p. 114.)

BUTTERWORTH, John Addison, president of the Netherlands Mission from 1916 to 1920, was born Oct. 15, 1882, at Mill Creek, Salt Lake Co.,

Utah, a son of William J. Butterworth and Melinda H. North. He was baptized Nov. 6, 1890, became a member of the 61st Quorum of Seventy, and filled two missions to the Netherlands, the first one in 1906-1909. His presidency, during his second mission, included three years of the World war, when only a small number of missionaries from America were laboring in Holland, the majority having been transferred to the United States shortly after the outbreak of the disastrous conflagration. Holland managed to keep out of the war, but her manifold cares, principally the lack of sufficient food stuffs, put the people in a depressed, dissatisfied and unspiritual mood, making missionary labors much harder than ever before in the history of the mission. President Butterworth was not allowed to enter Belgium, but he aided the Brussels and Liege conferences with funds from the headquarters of the mission at Rotterdam. He is a teacher at the Granite Junior High School.

CANNON, Sylvester Quayle, president of the Netherlands Mission from 1900 to 1902 and from 1907 to 1909, was born June 10, 1877, in Salt Lake City, Utah, a son of George Q. Cannon and Elizabeth Hoagland. He was baptized June 10, 1885, by his father, who also ordained him a Seventy, Sept. 1, 1899. On the latter date he was set apart for his first mission to the Netherlands and arrived in Rotterdam Sept. 28, 1899. He labored in the Liege conference till August, 1900, when he was appointed to succeed mission president Alfred L. Farrell. In the spring of 1902 he accompanied Pres. Francis M. Lyman of the European Mission on a trip to Turkey and Palestine, and on Oct. 8, of the same year, he was succeeded in the mission presidency by his brother Willard T. Cannon. On May 19, 1907, he arrived in Rotterdam for a second mission, accompanied by his wife, Winnifred S., and two children: Julian and Elinor. This time Elder Cannon succeeded Alex. Nibley as president of the mission.

Prior to his first mission, in 1899, Elder Cannon graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Science in Mining Engineering after pursuing a four-year course at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology at Boston. He presided over the Pioneer Stake in 1917-1925, and on June 4, 1925, was chosen to succeed Chas. W. Nibley as Presiding Bishop of the Church. (See also Improvement Era, Vol. 28, p. 887.)

CANNON, Willard Telle, president of the Netherlands Mission from 1902 to 1905, was born June 20, 1877, at St. George, Utah, a son of George Q.

Cannon and Martha Telle. He was baptized June 25, 1885, by his father, and on Jan. 27, 1902, he was ordained a Seventy and set apart for his mission by Rudger Clawson. Arriving in Rotterdam

Feb. 26, 1902, he was assigned to labor in the Liege conference, and on Oct. 8, of that year, succeeded his brother Sylvester Q. as president of the mission. In Belgium Elder Cannon spoke French, and in Holland he acquired a good working knowledge of the Dutch or Netherlands language. Having been honorably released, he left Rotterdam for home April 17, 1905, after turning the affairs of the mission over to Jacob H. Trayner, his successor. Elder Cannon is now vice-president and general manager of the Utah-Idaho Sugar Company at Salt Lake City.

EARDLEY, Roscoe Woolley, president of the Netherlands Mission from 1911 to 1913, was born Feb. 13, 1880, at Salt Lake City, Utah, a son of James Walter Eardley and Catherine Adella Woolley. He was baptized June 8, 1888, and on Oct. 13, 1899, he was ordained a Seventy and set apart for a mission to the Netherlands by Geo. Reynolds. On Oct. 17, 1911, he was set apart to preside over the Netherlands Mission by Pres. Joseph F. Smith. On this second Mission he was accompanied by his wife, Ella May Patten Eardley (born June 14, 1882, at Salt Lake City, a daughter of Thomas C. Patten and Mary A. Newman), who was set apart by Anthon H.

Lund. Elder Eardley served as Bishop of the Salt Lake City 3rd Ward, Liberty Stake, in 1920-1924. He is now manager of the United Grocery Company at Salt Lake City.

FARRELL, Alfred Lundberg, president of the Netherlands Mission from 1892 to 1893 and from 1897 to 1900, was born March 4, 1868, at Logan, Utah, a son of

George L. Farrell and Mary Charlotte Lundberg. He was baptized June 7, 1877, by his father, and was set apart for his first mission Feb. 20, 1891. On Oct. 12, 1892, he succeeded Timothy Mets as president of the mission. On his second mission he was accompanied by his wife, Luna Angel Thatcher Farrell, who was born Dec. 17, 1875, at Salt Lake City, a daughter of George W. Thatcher and Luna Young. Elder and Sister Farrell were set apart August 13, 1897. This time Elder Farrell succeeded Frederick Pieper as president of the mission, and labored diligently for nearly three years, rendering highly successful service. Sister Farrell gave birth to a child (Luna Charlotta) while on her mission, and returned home with her baby after serving as a missionary for two years. Elder Farrell was succeeded by Sylvester Q. Cannon.

HAIR, Thomas C., temporary president of the Netherlands Mission from 1913 to 1914, was born Nov. 19, 1885, at Ephraim, Utah, a son of Nicholas

C. Hair and Mary E. Haddon. He was baptized Jan. 1, 1894, set apart for his mission Oct. 17, 1911, and ordained a Seventy at Rotterdam pursuant to a letter from the First Presidency, dated July 21, 1913.

He succeeded Pres. Roscoe W. Eardley, who sailed from Rotterdam July 26, 1913, Elder Hair having served as mission secretary for some time under Pres. Eardley. Brother Hair acted as mission president pro tem. until the arrival of the new president, Le Grand Richards, who took charge Jan. 1, 1914.

HANSINK, Johannes (Jan), temporary president of the Netherlands Mission in 1877, was born Nov. 4, 1827, at Zwolle, Holland, a son of Gerrit Hansink and Catherine W. Schultz. He was baptized Sept. 9, 1866, in the city of his birth, ordained an Elder May 20, 1872, by Sybren van Dyk, and appointed mission president pro tem. June 9, 1877, when Peter J. Lammers returned home. He was in charge of the mission until Oct. 8 of that year, when the new president, Bernhard H. Schettler, arrived in Zwolle. With his wife, Maria Johanna Fernold (born Aug. 7, 1827, at Zwolle, Holland, a daughter of Hendrik Jan Fernold and Gerardina Visser) Elder Hansink—whose name is sometimes written Hanszink—came to Utah in 1878. He died April 19, 1879, at Salt Lake City.

HOLLING, Marcus, president of the Netherlands Mission from 1867 to 1869, was born July 20, 1828, in Meldorf, Holstein, Denmark, a son of Paul W. Holling and Anna Laackman. He was baptized Dec. 1, 1864, by John Sharp (presumably in Salt Lake City) and became a member of the 36th

Quorum of Seventy. Formerly he was a Lutheran minister and had also been associated with educational institutions in Germany, his specialty being languages and higher mathematics.

He was set apart for a mission to Europe April 21, 1867, arrived in Holland July 7, 1867, and succeeded Francis A. Brown as president of the mission. On Sept. 25, 1869, he turned the affairs of the mission over to Jan F. Krumperman, a local member, and left Holland, but did not return to Utah. He became an apostate.

HYDE, Charles Stanford, president of the Netherlands Mission from 1923 to 1926, was born Jan. 7, 1888, at Salt Lake City, Utah, a son of Charles H.

Hyde and Caroline Stanford. He was baptized Jan. 7, 1896, by his father, filled a mission to the Netherlands in 1907-1909, and another one in 1923-1926, when he had charge of the mission.

On his second mission he was accompanied by his wife, Lanora Sperry Hyde, who was born March 19, 1890, at Salt Lake City, Utah, a daughter of William A. Sperry and Anna Z. Eardley. He served as second counselor in the presidency of the Pioneer Stake, Salt Lake City, in 1925-1929 and as first counselor in 1929-1930+. Elder Hyde is now chief clerk in the Presiding Bishop's office.

JUDD, Asa Walter, president of the Netherlands Mission from 1895 to

and Mary Minerva Dart. He was baptized May 28, 1877, by Wm. D. Johnson, jun., and filled two missions to the Netherlands, the first one in 1887-1889, and the second one in 1893-

1896. On his second mission he succeeded Edwin Bennion as president of the mission in the spring of 1895, and was succeeded by Geo. S. Spencer the following year. Elder Judd was precinct justice of the peace for seven years, was U. S. commissioner, and served at different times as Bishop's counselor, Bishop, High Councilor and M. I. A. Stake Board member in the Kanab Stake. In 1933 Elder Judd, who lives in Fredonia, Arizona, filled a short term mission to the Central States.

Koldewyn, Zwier Willem, temporary president of the Netherlands Mission in 1882 and again from 1884 to 1885, was born March 18, 1830, at

Deventer, Netherlands, a son of Jan Koldewijn and Elizabeth Veugelink. He was baptized at Deventer April 7, 1872, by Jan Poorte, and ordained a Deacon June 2, 1872, by Sybren van Dyk. When

Pres. van Dyk left Holland in June, 1882, Brother Koldewyn succeeded him as president pro tem. The new president, Peter J. Lammers, arrived in November of that year, and when he had finished his mission in November, 1884, Brother Koldewyn again became president pro tem., serving this time until November, 1885, when John W. F. Volker arrived to take charge of the mission. Zwier Willem Koldewyn died at Ogden, Utah, May 14, 1889.

KOOYMAN, Frank L., president of the Netherlands Mission from 1929 to 1933, is the author of "De Profeet der Mormonen, een eerlijk Waarheidsgetuige" (The Mormon Prophet an Honest Witness of Truth) and other writings in the Dutch or Netherlands language. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 4, p. 101.)

KRUMPERMAN, Jan Frederik, temporary president of the Netherlands Mission from 1869 to 1871, was born Oct. 12, 1832, at Zwolle, Netherlands, a son of Martinus Krumperman and Gerritdina Krijnders. He was baptized Aug. 21, 1866, ordained an Elder Nov. 14, 1868, and appointed mission president pro tem. Sept. 25, 1869, at the departure of Marcus Holling. He rendered service until the arrival of Sybren van Dyk, who took charge Dec. 16, 1871. Elder Krumperman came to Utah in 1873 and died in Ogden July 27, 1876.

LAMMERS, Peter Jacob, president of the Netherlands Mission from 1875 to 1877 and from 1882 to 1884, was born Oct. 22, 1839, in Amsterdam, Holland, a son of Pieter Lammers and Christina Alida Kortman. He was baptized June 23, 1864, ordained an Elder Oct. 20, 1865, under the hands of Joseph Weiler and Francis A. Brown, and set apart as a local missionary. In this capacity he labored until Aug. 20, 1869, when he left

Holland as an emigrant for Utah. Pres. Weiler, reporting his missionary activities, describes Elder Lammers as "indefatigable in his labors." Brother

Lammers returned twice to his native land, both times as president of the mission, and translated and published several small books and pamphlets. The first edition of the Dutch or Netherlands L. D. S. Hymn Book was also compiled by him. He died March 1, 1921, at Ogden, Utah. (See also Improvement Era, Vol. 24, p. 669, and the Netherlands Mission "Ster," Vol. 26, pp. 120 and 127.)

LILLYWHITE, John Philip, president of the Netherlands Mission from 1920 to 1923 and from 1926 to 1929, was born Dec. 23, 1882, at Greenville, Beaver Co., Utah, a son of Benjamin Lillywhite and Mary Lewis. He was baptized June 1, 1893, and filled three missions to the Netherlands, the first one in 1905-1907. On his second and third missions, when he presided, he was accompanied by his wife, Lillian Dahlsrud Lillywhite, who was born Feb. 8, 1896, at Salina, Sevier Co., Utah, a daughter of Andrew Dahlsrud and Anna Jensen. Elder Lillywhite, who is a teacher by profession, received his L. L. B. from the American Extension University at Los Angeles, California, in 1929, and his A. B. degree in religious education from the Brigham Young University at Provo, Utah, in 1935. He is principal of the Box Elder Seminary at Brigham City, Utah.

METS, Samuel, temporary president of the Netherlands Mission from 1863 to 1864, was born Dec. 30, 1836, at Zwyndrecht, Holland, a son of Philip Mets and Leah Ova. He moved to Rotterdam in 1862, his name being entered in the register of population (bevolkings register) July 21 of that year. About that time he accepted the restored Gospel, which was introduced in the Netherlands in 1861. When A. W. van der Woude left for Utah June 1, 1863, Samuel Mets—who presided over the Rotterdam branch—was left in charge of the affairs of the mission, it seems, and Joseph Weiler, the next president sent from Utah, found him at his post on his (Elder Weiler's) arrival Oct. 31, 1864. Bro. Weiler wrote at that time: "He (Samuel Mets) bids me welcome to all he has, and says as long as he has anything I shall share. I like his appearance very much, and he feels like doing all he can to help to roll on the Work in which he is engaged" (Mill. Star, Vol. 26, p. 734). Brother Mets died April 26, 1903, in Rotterdam.

METS, Timothy, president of the Netherlands Mission from 1891-1892, was born Dec. 4, 1828, at Vlissingen (Flushing), Holland, a son of Philip Mets and Leah Ova. He was baptized at Rotterdam June 10, 1862 or 1863, by Paul A. Schettler, who also ordained him an Elder in 1865 at Salt Lake City. He emigrated to Utah in 1864, accompanying forty-six other emigrants.

Elder Mets assisted in building Morgan City, Utah, and in October, 1879, moved to Mesa, Arizona, where he arrived in February, 1880. His family, at that time, consisted of twelve souls, including his wife's mother and Cornelis Dirk and Geertje van Ek Exalto, whom he cared for.

Elder Mets left Mesa for the Netherlands (not traveling via Salt Lake City) Nov. 26, 1890, and succeeded, upon his arrival, Francis A. Brown as president of the mission. During his administration, in 1891, Belgium was added to the Netherlands Mission. He writes that he "enjoyed his mission exceedingly." He died April 17, 1911, at Mesa, Arizona.

NIBLEY, Alexander, president of the Netherlands Mission from 1906 to 1907, was born May 7, 1876, at Logan, Utah, a son of Charles W. Nibley and Rebecca A. Neibaur. He was baptized

June 10, 1884, ordained a Seventy Sept. 7, 1898, by Joseph F. Smith, and filled two missions in the Netherlands, the first one in 1898-1901. During his first mission he prepared the music and words for the fourth edition of the L. D. S. Hymn book in the Dutch or Netherlands language, in collaboration with Paul Roelofs, and during his second mission—when he presided—he published the fifth edition of the Netherlands L. D. S. Hymn books, having prepared the copy for this issue also in collaboration with Elder Roelofs.

PETERS, Frederik, temporary president of the Netherlands Mission from 1878 to 1880, was born April 21, 1824, at Zutphen, Netherlands. He was baptized

June 25, 1874, at Zutphen, by Gerardus B. Denkers and was ordained an Elder and set apart as president of the Zutphen branch May 30, 1875. He was appointed mission president pro tem.

by Bernard H. Schettler in June, 1878, and had charge of the work in the Netherlands until the arrival of Sybren van Dyk, in May, 1880. He left Holland Oct. 17, 1881, as an emigrant for Utah, accompanied by his wife, Agatha (Aagtje) van Duivenbode Peters (born in March, 1825, at Deventer, Netherlands) and four children. He died Dec. 5, 1896, at Salt Lake City.

PIEPER, Frederick, president of the Netherlands Mission from 1896 to 1897, was born Sept. 24, 1872, at Lunen, Westphalia, Germany, a son of Godfroy Frederick Pieper and Henrietta Esselmann. He was baptized Oct. 16, 1888, in the river Scheldt near Antwerp, Belgium, by Mischa Markow, was appointed president of the Antwerp branch Jan. 31, 1892, and left Belgium as an emigrant for Utah Sept. 1 of that year.

He was ordained a

Seventy and set apart for a mission to Europe Oct. 8, 1894, by Brigham Young, jun., spent the winter of 1894-1895 doing missionary work in Rotterdam, Germany, and arrived in Rotterdam March 21, 1895. After laboring both in Belgium and Holland, he succeeded George S. Spencer as president of the mission Dec. 1, 1896. In Germany at the home of his father in Lunen, his wife, Olina Johanson Pieper, took sick with bronchitis and died Jan. 23, 1895. She was born April 15, 1870, near Christiania, Norway, joined the Church in 1885 and emigrated to Utah in 1889. During Elder Pieper's sojourn in the Netherlands, his mother, Henrietta Esselmann, also died. Sister Esselmann and her seven children were the first converts to the Church in Belgium. Her remarkable conversion, in which that equally remarkable missionary, Mischa Markow, played such an extraordinary part, forms an interesting chapter in the history of the Netherlands-

Belgium Mission. Her demise came July 20, 1897, in the 18th Ward, Salt Lake City, giving Elder Pieper the very sad experience of losing both his wife and his mother while laboring as a missionary.

RICHARDS, LeGrand, president of the Netherlands Mission from 1914 to 1916, was born Feb. 6, 1886, at Farmington, Utah, a son of George F. Richards and Alice A.

Robinson. He was baptized June 11, 1894, and filled two missions to the Netherlands, the first one in 1905-1908. On his second mission—when he presided—he was accompanied by his wife, Ina Jane Ashton Richards, who was born Sept. 14, 1886, at Salt Lake City, a daughter of Edward T. Ashton and Cora Lindsay. Elder Richards was ordained a High Priest and Bishop June 29, 1919, by Charles W. Penrose, and presided over the Sugar House Ward, Granite Stake, in 1920-1925. In 1926 he filled a short term mission to the Eastern States. In 1931-1933 he presided over the Hollywood Stake, California, and was set apart Dec. 29, 1933, to preside over the Southern States Mission. (See Improvement Era, Vol. 17, p. 250.)

SCHETTLER, Bernhard Herman, president of the Netherlands Mission from 1877 to 1878, was born at Neuwied, near Coblenz, Prussia, January 19, 1833, a son of Johann Frederick Augustus Schettler and Caroline L. Zeplin. He received a collegiate education, emigrated to America in 1853, heard the message of "Mormonism" in New York City and was baptized there May 7, 1860, by George Q. Cannon. In 1861 he came to Utah, arriving in Salt Lake City Sept. 23, of that year.

For eleven years he was employed as clerk in Pres. Brigham Young's office.

During the absence of his brother, Paul A. Schettler, who made a trip to the Holy Land with the so-called Palestine Party in 1872-1873, he acted in his brother's place as treasurer of Salt Lake City. When

Zion's Savings Bank and Trust Company was first organized in 1873, Elder Schettler was appointed cashier of that institution, a position he occupied for many years. He died Oct. 25, 1907, at Salt Lake City. (See also Biographical Encyclopedia for the Salt Lake Stake, page 82.)

SCHETTLER, Paul August, president of the Netherlands Mission from 1861 to 1862, was born Aug. 13, 1827, at Neuwied, near Coblenz, Prussia, a son of Johann Frederick Augustus Schettler and Friedericke Charlotte Menzel. He emigrated to America in 1858, accepted the Gospel in New York City and was baptized there Feb. 9, 1860, by George Q. Cannon. That same year he joined the Saints in Utah and the following year was set apart to commence missionary work in the Netherlands. With his companion, A. W. van der Woude, he arrived in Rotterdam Aug.

5, 1861. Soon a number of converts were made, and in May, 1862, a branch was organized in Amsterdam. In September, 1862, Elder Schettler was transferred to Switzerland, where he could use his native tongue. He was succeeded by A. W. van der Woude. Elder Schettler labored in his new field until 1864, when he was honorably released. For twenty years he was treasurer of Salt Lake City. In 1872 he once more visited the Netherlands, this time as a member of the "Palestine Party," en route to the Holy Land. In July, 1874, a stroke of paralysis disabled him, and he died Nov. 3, 1884, at Salt Lake City. (See also Swiss and German Mission.)

SPENCER, George Sterling, president of the Netherlands Mission in 1896, was born Oct. 13, 1870, at Salt Lake City, Utah, a son of Claudius V. Spencer and Matilda Price. He was baptized June 1, 1882, ordained a Seventy and set apart April 13, 1894, by Heber J. Grant for a mission to Great Britain, but upon his arrival in England his mission was changed to Holland, and when Asa W. Judd left for home March 30, 1896, Brother

Spencer succeeded him as president of the mission. He presided until Dec. 1, of that year, when he was succeeded by Frederick Pieper. Elder Spencer is the author, in collaboration with Wm. J. DeBry, of "De Verzoening en het Verlossingsplan van Jezus Christus" (The Atonement and the Plan of Redemption of Jesus Christ), an 8-page tract, and is the founder of the "Ster," the Netherlands Mission paper. For many years he was a member of the Granite Stake High Council, and he has also acted as Bishop of the Forest Dale Ward in the Granite Stake. He is now vice-president of Zion's Savings Bank and Trust Company.

THATCHER, Brigham Guy, president of the Netherlands Mission from 1909 to 1911, was born Sept. 10, 1870, at Logan, Utah, a son of George W. Thatcher and Luna C. Young. He was baptized when about nine years old, by Anders Peterson, was ordained a Seventy and set apart for a mission to the Netherlands Aug. 13, 1897, by Seymour B. Young, and returned July 9, 1900.

During his second mission to the Netherlands in 1909-1911, he presided over the field. Both times he was accompanied by his wife, Florence Beatie Thatcher, who was born Sept. 20, 1870, in Salt Lake City, a daughter of Hampden Sidney Beatie and Marion Mumford. From 1906 to 1917 Elder Thatcher presided as Bishop over the Logan 1st Ward of the Logan Stake.

TRAYNER, Jacob Hampton, president of the Netherlands Mission from 1905 to 1906, was born March 13, 1877, at Philadelphia, Penn., a son of John

Trayner and Anna Maria Hampton. He was baptized Nov. 30, 1885, by John Cottam, and set apart April 7, 1903, for a mission to the Netherlands. Shortly after his arrival he was called to labor at the headquarters of the mission, and on Sept. 1, 1903, was appointed mission secretary. In April, 1905, he succeeded Willard T. Cannon as president of the mission, and served till April, 1906. From 1916 to 1923 he acted as clerk of the Union Stake, Oregon. Elder Taylor is now manager of the Latter-day Saints Hospital at Idaho Falls, Idaho.

VAN DER WOUDE, Anne Wiegers, president of the Netherlands Mission

from 1862 to 1863, was born July 12, 1812, at Franeker, in the Netherlands, a son of Wieger van der Woude and Catherine (Tryn'je) Gerrits. More than likely he was the first Netherlands convert, but not in Holland. He was master mariner and spoke several languages, including Chinese, having spent five years in China after a shipwreck in oriental waters. Later he became a ship broker at Cardiff, Wales, and there he was baptized Oct. 30, 1852, by George Taylor. On January 24, 1853, he sailed from Liverpool for America—accompanied by his wife, Siebregje J. Zwart (born April 14, 1814, at Dokkum, Netherlands, a daughter of Jan Zwart and Jetske Brouwer) and three children: Catherine (Tryntje), Wieger and Jan—the "Golconda." He was ordained an Elder March 16, 1861, by John V. Long, and April 8, 1861, while living in Ogden, Utah, he was set apart as a missionary to Holland, where he arrived Aug. 5, 1861, with his companion, Paul A. Schettler. He baptized the first converts in the Netherlands Oct. 1, 1861, at Broek-Akkerwoude, Friesland, where an attractive marker was erected in the fall of 1936. In 1862, when Pres. Schettler was transferred to Switzerland, Elder van der Woude succeeded him. He returned to Utah in 1863 and later moved to Idaho, Americanizing his surname into Vanderwood. He died in August, 1890, at Malad, Idaho.

VAN DYK, Sybren, president of the Netherlands Mission from 1871 to 1874, and again from 1880 to 1882, was born May 22, 1827, at Leeuwarden, in the Netherlands, a son of Roelof van Dijk and Sjieuwke Westra. He was baptized May 19, 1862, by A. W. van der Woude, and soon was found assisting the Elders in their labors. When in 1866 the first Dutch or Netherlands edition of Parley P. Pratt's "Voice of Warning" was published, brother Van Dyk's translation was used, which he had made from the German. He also translated other missionary literature. He left Holland for Utah in 1869, accompanied by his wife and two children. In the fall of 1871 he was back in his native land, as a missionary, having been set apart to preside over the mission, succeeding Jan F. Krumperman, who had had temporary charge since 1869. In collaboration with Johannes H. Heman he translated John Jaques' "Catechism for Children," which he published. During his second mission he wrote several "circulating letters," calculated to instruct and edify the scattered saints. Returning to Utah in 1882, he turned the affairs of the mission over to Zwier W. Koldewyn, a local member. Elder Van Dyk, whose name is sometimes written Van Dyke (in Dutch van Dijk), died Nov. 29, 1899, at Loa, Utah.

VOLKER, John W. F., president of the Netherlands Mission from 1885 to 1889, was born Aug. 5, 1859, at Amsterdam, Netherlands, a son of Jan

Willem Frederik Volker and Anna Catherina Scherrewitz. He was baptized March 6, 1877, by Peter J. Lammers, and filled two missions to the Netherlands, the first one in 1882-1883. Elder Volker, on his second mission, translated Parley P. Pratt's "Voice of Warning" and also the Book of Mormon into the Dutch or Netherlands language, the first book coming off the press in its second edition in 1889, the latter work

(the first edition in the Dutch language,) being published in 1890, after Elder Volker's return home.

Shortly before his death, Elder Volker sojourned once more in the Netherlands for some time, visiting relatives and the places where he had labored as a missionary. He died March 8, 1932, at his home in Ogden, Utah.

WALKER, James H., president pro tem. of the Netherlands Mission in 1909, was born May 31, 1885, at Coalville, Summit Co., Utah, a son of Robert Walker and Jane Wright. He filled a mission to the Netherlands in 1907-1910 and had temporary charge of the affairs of the mission between the administrations of Sylvester Q. Cannon and Brigham G. Thatcher. Elder Walker is now Bishop of the Raymond 2nd Ward, Taylor Stake, Canada.

WEILER, Joseph, president of the Netherlands Mission from 1864 to 1867, was born Nov. 17, 1836, in Chester County, Penn., a son of Jacob Weiler and Anna Maria Malin. He was set apart for his mission April 22, 1864, and landed in Rotterdam Oct. 31, 1864, having labored in England first. With the arrival of Elder Weiler, the Netherlands, which had theretofore formed a part of the Swiss and German Mission, became a separate mission. (See also "Historical Record", Vol. 5, p. 32.)

Presidents: Ezra F. Richards, 1897-1898; Ezra T. Stevenson, 1898-1900; John Ephraim Magleby, 1900-1903; Charles B. Bartlett, 1903-1905; Louis G. Hoagland, 1905-1907; Rufus K. Hardy, 1907-1909; George Bowles, 1909-1911; Orson D. Romney, 1911-1914; William Gardner, 1914-1918; James N. Lambert, 1918-1920; Frederick W. Schwendiman, May-November, 1920; George Shepherd Taylor, 1920-1923; Angus T. Wright, 1923-1925; Andrew Reed Halversen (acting), May-August, 1925; John Howard Jenkins, 1925-1928; John Ephraim Magleby (second term), 1928-1930.

BARTLETT, Charles Bart, president of the New Zealand Mission from 1903 to 1905, was born Aug. 27, 1869, in Mountain Dell, Salt Lake Co., Utah, a son of Charles C. Bartlett and Anna K. Jensen. He was baptized July 21, 1878, ordained to the Priesthood and filled a mission to New Zealand in 1892-1896. He was set apart for a second mission to New Zealand, June 20, 1902, to preside over the mission, and arrived in Auckland Aug. 12, 1902, having spent three weeks in the Hawaiian Mission. Being honorably released he returned home in 1905.

GARDNER, William, president of the New Zealand Mission from 1914 to 1918, died Feb. 4, 1932, in Salt Lake City. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 3, p. 379.)

South American Mission

Presidents: Melvin J. Ballard, 1925-1926; K. B. Reinhold Stooft, 1926-1935. Prior to this (in 1851-1852), Apostle Parley P. Pratt and Elder Rufus Allen filled a short mission to South America.

STOOF, K. B. Reinhold, president of the South American Mission from 1926 to 1935, was born Jan. 12, 1887, at Plaueninsel, Prussia, Germany, a son of Frederick W. Stooft and Karoline Schuler. He was baptized Sept. 21, 1907, set apart for his mission

May 4, 1926, and returned Oct. 16, 1935. He was accompanied by his wife, Martha F. E. Stoof, a daughter of Paul Hurte and Pauline Stiller, who was born Oct. 1, 1900, at Seifersdorf, Prussia, Germany.

BALLARD, Melvin J., president of the South American Mission from

Dec. 6, 1925, to July 23, 1926. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 419, and Vol. 3, p. 744.)

Presidents: Henry G. Boyle, 1875-1878; John Morgan, 1878-1888; William Spry, 1888-1891; J. Golden Kimball, 1891-1894; Elias S. Kimball, 1894-1898; Benjamin E. Rich, 1898-1902; Ephraim H. Nye, 1902-1903; Benjamin E. Rich (second term), 1903-1908; Charles A. Callis, 1908-1934.

The Middle States Mission was organized from a part of the Southern States Mission in 1902, but was united again with the Southern States Mission in 1903.

BOYLE, Henry Green, president of the Southern States Mission from 1875 to 1878, was born March 7, 1824, in Tazewell County, Virginia, the son of John Boyle and Jane E. Taylor. He was baptized Nov. 20, 1843, came to Nauvoo, Ill., from Virginia in 1845, after laboring about a year as a missionary. He enlisted as a member of the Mormon Battalion in July, 1846, and marched all the way to California as a private in Company C; re-enlisted and served another eight months, and then came to the Valley. In 1851 he went with Elders Amasa M. Lyman and Charles C. Rich to San Bernardino, and was one of the founders of that colony. He returned to Utah and filled seven missions to the Southern States, bringing a company of converts back with him each time. Elder Boyle filled fourteen missions in all. He died in November, 1908, in Arizona. (See also Pioneers and Prominent Men of Utah, p. 766.)

was born May 4, 1865, in Dublin, Ireland, the son of John Callis and Susannah Charlotte Quilliam. His father died when he was a boy and his widowed mother moved to Liverpool, England, where Charles was baptized when eight years old. The family came to Utah in October, 1875, and resided in Bountiful, Utah, for about two years, then moved to Centerville, Utah, and later moved to Coalville, Utah. During the winter of 1892-1893, Brother Callis devoted all his time for five months filling a mission in Wyoming, which at that time was a part of Summit Stake. In 1893

Elder Callis was called on a mission to England, and while there acted as president of the Irish Conference. On his return to Utah he was appointed stake superintendent of the Y. M. M. I. A. of Summit Stake and acted in that capacity for nine years. On September, 1902, he married Grace E. Pack, a daughter of Ward E. Pack; eight children are the fruit of this union. In 1906 Elder Callis and his wife were called on a mission to the Southern States. They labored in Florida, over which conference Elder Callis presided. In August, 1908, while he was presiding over the South Carolina Conference, he was appointed to succeed Pres. Benjamin E. Rich as president of the Southern States Mission. Although he had no time to practice law while serving as mission president he was admitted to the Bar in South Carolina and Florida. This gave him prestige and admitted him to circles which otherwise he never could have entered. His wife was president of the Relief Societies in the Southern States for nineteen years. On Oct. 6, 1933, Elder Callis was chosen as one of the Council of the Twelve Apostles and ordained to that office Oct. 14, 1933, by Heber J. Grant. During his residence in Summit County he occupied the following offices respectively: Constable, member of the city council of Coalville, representative to the Utah Legislature, city attorney of Coalville and county attorney of Summit County.

Swiss Mission

The Swiss Mission, founded in 1850, existed as a distinct mission (comprising Switzerland) until 1854, when it became the principal part of the Swiss and Italian Mission. In 1861 the Swiss Mission, the Italian Mission and the German Mission were amalgamated to make the Swiss and German Mission. Another separation took place in 1898, when Switzerland again became a distinct mission, and Germany another, and thus continued until 1904, when the Swiss Mission and German Mission were once more amalgamated and were continued under the title of the Swiss and German Mission (sometimes written Swiss-German Mission).

BOWMAN, Henry Eyring, president of the Swiss Mission from 1898 to 1900, was born Feb. 10, 1859, in Salt Lake City, Utah, the son of Isaac Bowman and Bertha Eyring. He was baptized when he was ten years old, studied under Dr. Karl G. Maeser at the Brigham Young University in Provo, and moved to St. George, where he married Mary Gubler. In 1897 he was called on a mission to Germany and after the first year was called to preside over the Swiss Mission. After his return to America he went to Mexico, where he lost everything in a revolution. He later moved to Kanab, Utah, and still later to Logan, where he labored in the Temple. In 1897 he was called on a mission to Switzerland. Elder Bowman died May 30, 1933, in Provo, Utah.

STENHOUSE, Thomas B. H., president of the Swiss Mission from 1850 to 1854, was born Feb. 21, 1824, in Daskieth, Midlothian Co., Scotland, the son of George and Elizabeth Stenhouse. He was baptized July 14, 1845, at the age of 17, and was the first missionary to preach in Herefordshire and the city of Southampton, in England. He accompanied Lorenzo Snow to Italy and Switzerland, where he, assisted by his wife, established the French paper "Le Reflecteur," in defense of "Mormonism." The Swiss Mission was opened in December, 1850, with Bro. Stenhouse as president. He assisted John Taylor in the publication of "The Mormon," in New York, and came to Utah in September, 1859. He wrote frequently for the "Deseret News," and later published "The Telegraph." Elder Stenhouse died in San Francisco, Calif., March 7, 1882, and was buried at Lone Mountain.

YOUNG, Levi Edgar, president of the Swiss Mission from 1902 to 1904. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 3, p. 798.)

MCDONALD, David Lorenzo, president of the Swiss Mission from 1901 to 1902, was born March 12, 1873, at Heber City, Utah, a son of John McDonald and Mary Lucinda Cole. He was baptized July 4, 1882, by his father, ordained a Seventy July 21, 1899, by George Teasdale, who also set him apart on that date as a missionary to Switzerland.

Utah from 1894 to 1896, was born Feb. 11, 1857, in Salt Lake City, and died Oct. 19, 1934, in Salt Lake City. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 4, p. 1.)

BENNETT, Archibald Fowler, secretary of the Genealogical Society of Utah since 1928, was born March 17, 1896, at Dingle, Bear Lake Co., Idaho, a son of William David Bennett and Emma Neat. He was baptized May 1, 1904, by Zebulon W. Jacobs. With his parents he went to Alberta, Canada, in the summer of 1899, the family residing at Magrath until 1907, when they moved to Taber. There young Archibald was ordained to offices in the Aaronic Priesthood and was ordained an Elder Nov. 30, 1914, by Bryant R. McMullin. He graduated from the Taber High School in 1914, and from the Calgary Normal School in 1915. He then taught school until his enlistment in the Canadian Mounted Rifles, March 26, 1916. With them he went overseas, transferring in England to the Fort Garry Horse, with which unit he was in active service in France from December, 1916, to April, 1919. He received his discharge in Winnipeg, Canada, June 2, 1919. For one year he taught in the Taber High School and for two years in the Knight Academy in Raymond, Alberta. He served for a time as stake superintendent of the M. I. A. in the Taylor Stake.

On Dec. 21, 1921, he married Ann Ella Milner, (daughter of Benjamin Franklin Milner and Sarah Ellen Kinsman), in the Salt Lake Temple. To them have been born two sons and three daughters, namely, Marshall Gordon, David Milner, Barbara, Marilyn and Joan.

In July, 1922, Bro. Bennett and his family removed to Salt Lake City, where he attended the University of Utah, graduating with a B.A. degree in 1925, and receiving his Master's Degree in 1926. During this period he was regularly employed evenings in the registry division of the Salt Lake Post Office. On Oct. 9, 1927, he was ordained a Seventy by Melvin J. Ballard. Having been actively engaged in genealogical research for a number of years, he was appointed secretary of the Genealogical Society of Utah Sept. 1, 1928, which position he still holds.

to 1929, and vice-president since 1934, was born April 19, 1865, at American assistant editor of the "Millennial Star." He filled a second mission to Great Britain in 1921-1923 with Pres. George Albert Smith and again acted as assistant editor of the "Millennial Star." Upon his return in 1923 he was appointed secretary of the Genealogical Society and editor of the "Utah Genealogical and Historical Magazine." He was released from this position in 1924 to become field secretary of religion classes and was the author of a number of articles and of several books for children, the most popular of these being "Mother Stories of the Book of Mormon," "From Ploughboy to Prophet" and "Life of Christ for Little Children." Bro. Morton died in Salt Lake City June 18, 1930, survived by his wife and several children.

NICHOLSON, John, vice-president of the Genealogical Society of Utah from 1894 to 1907, was born July 13, 1830, at St. Boswell, Roxburgh, Scotland, a son of John Nicholson and Elizabeth Hewison. He was baptized April 8, 1861, in Edinburgh, by Elder Robert Hogg. From 1863 to 1866 he labored as a missionary in England, presiding part of the time over the Birmingham Conference. He emigrated to Utah in September, 1866, and from 1878 to 1880 filled another mission in England, acting as associate editor of the "Millennial Star." For many years he was associate editor of the "Deseret News" and was at one time also connected with the "Juvenile Instructor." He was a forceful writer and among the works of his pen are many poetical productions of high merit, including the hymns "The Nations Bow to Satan's Thrall," "While of These Emblems We Partake," etc. For several years previous to his demise he worked as a recorder in the Salt Lake Temple. Elder Nicholson died in Salt Lake City, Utah, Jan. 25, 1909, survived by his wife, three sons and six daughters.

1909, was born May 20, 1830, in Donegal township, Lancaster Co., Pennsylvania, and died Sept. 24, 1909, in Salt Lake City, Utah. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 381; Vol. 3, p. 765.)

MORTON, William A., secretary of the Genealogical Society of Utah from 1923 to 1924, was born in Banbridge, Ireland, Jan. 19, 1866, a son of Solomon Morton and Sarah McGill. In 1888 he heard the gospel through a fellow workman in a printing establishment and emigrated to Utah with his family in 1899. He filled a mission to Great Britain in 1906-1909 with Pres. Heber J. Grant and acted as of that organization from 1921 to 1925, was born Feb. 4, 1832, at Camberwell, London, England. He died in Salt Lake City May 16, 1925, as a member of the First Presidency of the Church. (Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 256; Vol. 3, 769.)

PERKES, William Henry, assistant secretary and librarian of the Genealogical Society of Utah from 1896 to 1900, was born at Dudley, Worcestershire, England, a son of Henry Perkes and Charlotte Lowe. He joined the Church in 1851 and was called to work in the business office of the headquarters of the British Mission at Liverpool in 1856. He emigrated to Utah in 1865 and became a book-keeper in the "Deseret News" office under the direction of George Q. Cannon. He was an ardent genealogist and an efficient aid in the Genealogical Society of Utah from 1896 to his death, which occurred in Salt Lake City June 5, 1900. He was survived by his wife and six children.

REYNOLDS, George, a member of the board of directors of the Genealogical Society of Utah from 1894 to 1909, was born Jan. 1, 1842, in Marylebone, London, England, a son of George Reynolds and Julia Ann Tautz, and died Aug. 9, 1909, in Salt Lake City as one of the First Council of Seventies. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 206; Vol. 3, p. 771.)

RICHARDS, Franklin Dewey, president of the Genealogical Society of

Utah from 1894 to 1899, was born April 2, 1821, in Richmond, Berkshire Co., Mass., and died Dec. 9, 1899, in Ogden, Utah, as one of the Twelve Apostles. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 115.)

SUMMERHAYS, Richard B., secretary of the Genealogical Society of Utah from 1924 to 1928, was born Oct. 17, 1887, in Salt Lake City, a son of Jos. W. Summerhays and Sarah Berrett. He was baptized Nov. 4, 1895, by W. E. Langford. On Aug. 5, 1905, he was set apart by Elder George A. Smith for a mission to the Southern States, from which he returned in June, 1907. After his return he was ordained a Seventy and became a member of the 105th Quorum of Seventy.

SMITH, Hyrum Gibbs, a director from 1917 to 1932, was born July 8, 1879, in South Jordan, Salt Lake Co.,

Utah, a son of Hyrum Fisher Smith and Annie M. Gibbs. He died in Salt Lake City, Utah, Feb. 4, 1932, as the Presiding Patriarch of the Church. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 3, p. 778.)

SMITH, Joseph Fielding, jun., president of the Genealogical Society of

Utah since 1934, was secretary of that organization from 1907 to 1922, treasurer since 1909, and vice-president from 1925 to 1934. He was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, July 19, 1876, a son of Joseph F. Smith and Julina Lambson, and is a member of the Council of Twelve Apostles, and Church Historian. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 3, p. 784.)

Utah since 1921, was born Jan. 31, 1872, on the island of Froen, Trondhjem amt, Norway, a son of John Andreas Widtsoe and Anna Karine Gaarden. He is a member of the Council of Twelve Apostles. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 783; Vol. 3, p. 735.)

WILLIS, George H., one of the Board of Directors of the Genealogical Society of Utah from 1900 to 1909, still resides in Salt Lake City, Utah, but is in a poor state of health.

Zion's Camp

Under the above title we publish a few brief sketches of some of the members of Zion's Camp who made the famous overland journey from Kirtland, Ohio, to Clay County, Missouri, in 1834. Other sketches have already been published in the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd volume of the Encyclopedia, while many others are not ready for publication.

BARLOW, Israel, a member of Zion's Camp, was born Sept. 13, 1806, in Granville, Hampden Co., Mass., a son of Jonathan and Annis Barlow. He came to Utah and selected his farm in West Bountiful in October, 1848, moving his family there for the summer of 1849, and permanently located there in 1850. Bro. Barlow was ordained a Patriarch by Wilford Woodruff in 1882. He died Nov. 1, 1883, in West Bountiful. He was the first nurseryman in Davis County, Utah.

BARNEY, Edson, a member of Zion's Camp, was born June 30, 1806, in Jefferson County, New York, a son of Royal and Rachel Barney. He migrated to Amherst, Ohio, with his parents when a young man and was baptized by Simeon Carter in May, 1831, at that place. He first saw the Prophet Joseph Smith at a conference held in January, 1832, went to Missouri as a member of Zion's Camp in 1834, and came to the "Valley" in 1852, settling in Provo. He filled a mission to Las Vegas in 1855, and another mission to the White Mountains in 1858, and was one of the missionaries in 1861 to St. George, Utah, where he resided until his last sickness. He died Feb. 2, 1905, in Provo, Utah.

BURGESS, Harrison, a member of Zion's Camp, was born Sept. 3, 1814, in Putnam, Washington Co., N. Y., a son of William Burgess. He was baptized Oct. 1, 1832, filled a mission to Vermont in 1833, went to Missouri with Zion's Camp in 1834, was ordained a Seventy Feb. 28, 1835, by Sidney Rigdon, and filled a mission to England before coming to the "Valley." In 1862 he was called to the Southern Utah Mission and settled in Pine Valley. There he acted as a counselor to Bishop Wm. Snow, and after the death of Bishop Snow, acted as Bishop for a short time. He died Feb. 10, 1883, in Pine Valley, Utah.

CAHOON, William F., a member of Zion's Camp, was born Nov. 7, 1813, in Harpersfield, Ashtabula Co., Ohio, a son of Reynolds Cahoon and Thirza Stiles. He came with his parents to Kirtland in 1825, and heard the Elders (Oliver Cowdery, Parley P. Pratt and others) preach the gospel. He was baptized Oct. 16, 1830, by Parley P. Pratt, was ordained a Priest and filled a mission to the States of Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York in 1832-1833, filled another mission in 1833, and in 1834 went to Missouri with Zion's Camp, returning to Kirtland Nov. 17, 1834. When the first quorum of Seventy was organized the following spring he was ordained a member of that quorum. He labored on the Kirtland Temple until that building was completed in 1836, married Nancy Marinda Gibbs, the Prophet Joseph Smith performing the ceremony. On Feb. 15, 1846, he crossed the Mississippi River and joined the companies of saints on Sugar Creek, arriving in the "Valley" Sept. 24, 1849. He died April 6, 1883, in Salt Lake City, Utah.

CHIDESTER, John Maddison, a member of Zion's Camp, was born Jan. 22, 1809, in Pompey, Onondaga Co., N. Y., a son of John P. Chidester and Polly Gifford. He was baptized in June, 1832, in Michigan, by Joseph Wood; joined the Church in the spring of 1832, and left Michigan, where he was baptized, to join Zion's Camp. He effected a junction with the camp some sixty miles from Kirtland and passed through all the vicissitudes of that memorable march. He settled with the saints in Missouri, filled a mission to Michigan in 1842, and when the saints were expelled from Nauvoo, Brother Chidester built and ran a ferry boat across the Mississippi River. In 1851 he arrived in Utah, moved to Spanish Fork in 1853, spent the winter of 1858-1859 in Parley's Park, and in 1859 moved to Salt Lake City, where he lived in the 16th Ward until 1862, when he was called to Dixie. He died Aug. 30, 1893, in Washington, Washington Co., Utah.

CHIDESTER, John Peck, a member of Zion's Camp, was born Dec. 23, 1831, in Somerfield township, Monroe County, Michigan. Arriving in Utah with a company of saints about 1848, he was one of the first settlers of Spanish Fork. He was commissioned as a captain in the Nauvoo Legion and participated in the Walker Indian War of 1853. He married Susan Foy Oct. 23, 1851, and moved with his family to Southern Utah in 1862, settling at Washington, where he lived until his death which occurred Jan. 10, 1897.

CLEMENTS, Ada, a member of Zion's Camp, was born Dec. 24, 1801, in Hebron, New York, a daughter of Justice and Eve Winchell. She was married to Albert Clements Jan. 28, 1822, at Fort Ann; joined the Church soon after her marriage and passed through the Missouri persecutions, together with her husband. She came to Utah in 1852, with her children, while her husband remained in the states till 1872, when he joined his family in Utah. Sister Clements died at Oxford, Bingham Co., Idaho, March 4, 1890. She was the mother of nine children.

CLEMENTS, Albert, a member of Zion's Camp, was born March 19, 1801, in Fort Ann, New York, a son of James Clements. He came to Florence, Ohio, in 1833, in company with Alanson Ripley; remained there till the beginning of May, 1834, and as he wanted to come to Missouri anyway with his family, he joined Milo Andrus, and proceeded to Missouri, and passed through all the persecutions in Missouri with the other Latter-day Saints. He joined Zion's Camp at Mansfield, Ohio, May 10, 1834, and became a member of Orson Hyde's company. In 1852 his family came to Utah where he joined them in 1872. He died April 9, 1882, in Springville, Utah, as a faithful member of the Church.

COLBY, Alanson, a member of Zion's Camp, was born May 9, 1811, in Vermont, a son of Abner and Cynthia Colby. He was converted to "Mormonism" in Michigan in 1834, and started from Oakland County, in that state, in company with Hyrum Smith, Lyman Curtis, and others who joined the main company of Zion's Camp at Salt River, Missouri, in June, 1834. Bro. Colby passed through the persecutions in Missouri with the rest of the saints, being expelled from that state in 1839. After he had made his own escape from Missouri he went back and helped another family to remove to Illinois. After sharing in the troubles in Illinois he migrated to the Great Salt Lake Valley in the fall of 1848. His death occurred Feb. 19, 1875, in Utah, he having been a faithful member of the Church. He left a widow, Fanny Colby, and a sister, Huldah C. Teeples.

COONS, Libeus T., a member of Zion's Camp, was born May 13, 1807. He became a convert to "Mormonism" in the early days of the Church, shortly after which he was blessed and set apart by the Prophet Joseph Smith to nurse the sick, to whom he often brought great blessings and comfort. As a member of Zion's Camp he traveled to Missouri in 1834, and when the first quorum of Seventy was organized in Kirtland, Ohio, in 1835, he was chosen as one of its members. He passed through the persecutions of the saints in Missouri and Illinois, where he was chosen to be a member of the Prophet Joseph Smith's life-guard, and always showed himself faithful to the Church. After his arrival in Utah, he resided in a number of places and finally died at Richfield, Utah, July 7, 1872, leaving a wife, and a numerous family of children. He was a kind father, neighbor and friend.

CURTIS, Lyman, a member of Zion's Camp, was born Jan. 21, 1812, in New Salem, Franklin Co., Mass., a son of Nahum Curtis and Millicent Wait. He was baptized in Michigan, about the year 1833, visited Kirtland, Ohio, in 1833, went back to Michigan, about the year 1833, visited Kirtland, and in 1834 he and eighteen others were called upon by Hyrum Smith and Lyman Wight to join Zion's Camp and go with that company to Missouri. After traveling about one thousand miles they joined the main camp June 8, 1834. In February, 1835, he married Charlotte Alvord. His mother died Sept. 3, 1838, in Caldwell County, Mo. During this time land had been purchased from the Government, houses were built and the comforts of life were beginning to be enjoyed, when in the fall of 1838 a mob drove them from their homes. His father died March 11, 1846, in Nauvoo, and Bro. Lyman Curtis arrived in Salt Lake Valley with the original Pioneers July 22, 1847. He went back in the fall of 1847 with Brigham Young's company, coming back to the Valley with his family in 1850. In 1853 he filled a mission to the Indians of southern Utah, and while thus engaged assisted in raising the first cotton which was raised in Utah. He died Aug. 6, 1898, in Salem, Utah County, Utah.

HUBBARD, Marshall Moore, a member of Zion's Camp, was born June 18, 1805, in Windsor County, Vermont, a son of John and Elizabeth Hubbard. He married Caroline Eliza Nickerson in Dayton, N. Y., Sept. 18, 1829, was baptized in June, 1833, by Amasa M. Lyman, and went to Missouri in Zion's Camp in 1834. He was stricken with cholera, bereft of his speech and hearing and finally of all sense, when the Prophet Joseph commanded Father Freeman Nickerson to administer to him. He was healed, but was very feeble. In the autumn of 1836 he exchanged his farm and other property for land in Michigan and removed to that state. There he took sick with bilious fever, and died Sept. 18, 1838, after two weeks of suffering.

HUMPHREY, Solomon, a member of Zion's Camp, was born Sept. 23, 1775, a descendant of the Connecticut family of Humphreys. His son, Luther Humphrey, was born in Glover, Vermont, in 1808. Bro. Solomon Humphrey, converted by Don Carlos Smith, was ordained an Elder as early as June, 1831. Being called on a mission by revelation June 7, 1831, we find him baptizing people the following year. He was a member of Zion's Camp in 1834, and when volunteer missionaries were called for in August, 1834, he proffered his services to preach. In the "History of Joseph Smith" under date of May 27, 1834, the following is recorded: "This afternoon, Elder Solomon Humphrey, an aged brother of the camp (Zion's Camp) having become exceedingly weary, lay down on the prairie to rest himself and fell asleep. When he awoke, he saw, coiled up, within one foot of his head, a rattlesnake lying between him and his hat, which he had in his hand when he fell asleep. The brethren gathered around him saying: 'It is a rattlesnake, let us kill it;' but Bro. Humphrey said 'No, I will protect him, you cannot hurt him, for he and I have had a good nap together.' " He died in Clay County, Missouri, in September, 1834.

JOHNSON, Seth Gurnsey, a member of Zion's Camp, was born Feb. 14, 1805, in Royalton, Mass., a son of Ezekiel Johnson and Julia Hills. He was well educated, held the office of an Elder in the Church and had labored as a missionary. He died Feb. 19, 1835, at Kirtland, Ohio, of consumption, while teaching school at Willoughby.

McBRIDE, Reuben, a member of Zion's Camp, was born June 16, 1803, in Chester, Washington Co., N. Y., the son of Daniel and Abigail McBride. In 1833 (June 16) he married Ann Anderson, was baptized March 4, 1834, Joseph Smith the Prophet and Parley P. Pratt being honored guests at Bro. McBride's house on the day of his baptism and held a meeting, at which the Prophet called for volunteers to go up and redeem Zion. The new convert was one of the first to respond to the call, and he marched to Missouri with Zion's Camp. He returned to Kirtland, and upon the exodus of the saints from that place was left in charge of the Temple and other property there. He was the first man baptized for the dead in the Temple at Nauvoo, and came to Utah in 1850. He returned to Kirtland in the fall of 1851, and brought his family west, spending the winter of 1852 in Springville, Utah. He was called on a mission to England and crossed the Plains with the missionary handcart company in 1857; he returned in 1858, on account of the Johnston Army troubles, and later (in 1867) returned to England and labored as a missionary in the Nottingham Conference. From 1877 to 1824, he served as a member of the Millard Stake High Council, where his patience, and peaceful, unassuming disposition made all who knew him his friends. He died Feb. 26, 1891, in Fillmore, Utah, survived by his wife and six children, three children having died previously. He left fifty grand-children and thirty great grand-children to revere his memory and emulate his faith in the gospel of Jesus Christ.

NICKERSON, Freeman, a member of Zion's Camp, was born Feb. 5, 1778, in South Dennis, Mass., a son of Eleazer Nickerson and Thankful Chase. He married Huldah Chapman Jan. 19, 1801, and they had nine children. Becoming a convert to "Mormonism" at Dayton, New York, he was baptized in April, 1833, by Zerubbabel Snow. His first mission was among the saints at Kirtland, Ohio, in September, 1833. After that he took the Prophet Joseph and Sidney Rigdon in his carriage to Upper Canada and labored among the people at Mount Pleasant, where a branch of the Church was organized with 13 members and Eleazer F. Nickerson as president. He filled several missions to the States and Canada, was one of the early settlers of Commerce, Illinois, and later of Nauvoo. Being driven from his home in Nauvoo, he died Jan. 22, 1847, at the Chariton River, Iowa, near the Pioneer crossing, aged about 69 years.

NICKERSON, Levi Stillman, a member of Zion's Camp, was born April 2, 1814, in Springville, Susquehanna Co., Penn., a son of Freeman Nickerson and Huldah Chapman. He was baptized in June, 1833, by Amasa M. Lyman, went to Missouri in 1834 with Zion's Camp, and returned to Ohio in August following. In the fall of 1835 he attended the School of the Prophets at Kirtland and was ordained to the Priesthood. During the winter of 1838-1839, he assisted in moving the saints from Missouri when they were driven out by Gov. Boggs. He visited the Prophet Joseph Smith and others when they were in prison in Liberty jail. In June, 1840, he married Mary Ann Neymon and filled a mission to Peoria, Illinois, the same year. He took part in the battle of Nauvoo, crossed the plains to Utah in 1850, and in 1852 started on a mission to Great Britain. His sufferings on the journey were extreme, owing to the severity of the weather, and he arrived at Kanesville, Iowa, quite crippled. He remained in that vicinity until December, 1853, when he was found dead in his tent by some of his friends. Bro. Nickerson was the father of six children.

NOBLE, Joseph Bates, a member of Zion's Camp, was born Jan. 14, 1810, in Egremont, Berkshire Co., Mass., a son of Ezekiel Bates and Theodotia Bates. He was converted to "Mormonism" in 1832; went to Missouri as a member of Zion's Camp in 1834; married Mary Adeline Bee-man Sept. 11, 1837; attended the Elders' school in Kirtland; was chosen a member of the first quorum of Seventy; witnessed glorious manifestations of the power of God in the Kirtland Temple; went to Missouri where he passed through the persecutions of the saints; located in Commerce (Nauvoo), where he was miraculously healed from a severe attack of sickness through the administrations of the Prophet Joseph; ordained a High Priest and appointed to act as Bishop of the Nauvoo Fifth Ward; acted as one of the Prophet's body guard; acted as a Bishop in Winter Quarters; came west in 1846 and followed the Pioneers to the Salt Lake Valley in the fall of 1847; acted as first counselor to Bishop Edward Hunter of the Salt Lake City 13th Ward; moved to Bountiful, in 1862; acted as a member of the Davis Stake High Council and performed a mission to the United States in 1872. He died Aug. 17, 1900, in Wardboro, Bear Lake Co., Idaho.

SNOW, Zerubbabel, a member of Zion's Camp, was born March 29, 1809, in St. Johnsbury, Caledonia Co., Vermont, a son of Levi Snow and Lucina Streeter. Hearing the Gospel preached by Elders Orson Pratt and Lyman E. Johnson in Vermont, Elder Snow was baptized in 1832, went to Ohio, where he met the Prophet Joseph Smith July 14, 1834. In the spring of 1833 Elder Snow returned to Vermont, and remained there until April, 1834, when he went to Ohio, joined Zion's Camp and traveled to Missouri; he acted as commissary of the Camp. In the spring of 1836 the family sold their property in Vermont and made their home in Kirtland; from there they went to Iowa, and from there to Utah. Elder Snow was elected Attorney General of Utah Territory, Feb. 19, 1869. He died Sept. 27, 1888, in Salt Lake City, Utah.

TANNER, Nathan, a member of Zion's Camp, was born May 14, 1815, in Greenwich, New York, a son of John Tanner and Lydia Stewart. He was baptized Sept. 10, 1831, when 16 years of age, and only a boy of 19 when he was called by the Prophet Joseph to join Zion's Camp. He performed his duties in the camp with integrity, was ordained a Seventy Oct. 10, 1835, and filled a mission to the Eastern States in company with Elder Amasa M. Lyman. While on that mission he married Rachel Winter, June 30, 1836, at Bolton, N. Y. He returned with his wife to Kirtland in the fall of 1836, and came to the "Valley" in the fall of 1848. Bro. Tanner was influential in dealing with the Indians, and also had his share of missionary experience and was a "minute man" in the fullest sense of the word. He died Dec. 17, 1910, at the age of 95 years, in Granger, Salt Lake Co., Utah, as the last survivor of Zion's Camp.

WINCHESTER, Benjamin, a member of Zion's Camp, was born Aug. 6, 1817, in Erie County, Pennsylvania, a son of Stephen Winchester. He was baptized in February, 1833, in Erie, Pa., moved to Kirtland in the fall of 1833, and joined Zion's Camp in 1834 and marched to Missouri. He returned to Kirtland, filled a mission in 1837, with Jedediah M. Grant and others as companions, filled other missions later and baptized over eight hundred persons. He raised up a branch of five hundred members in Philadelphia.

WINCHESTER, Stephen, a member of Zion's Camp, was born May 8, 1795, in Vershire, Orange Co., Vermont, a son of Benjamin Winchester and Bethia Adams. He was baptized in February, 1833, in Erie County, Penn., moved to Kirtland, Ohio, in the spring of 1834, where he joined Zion's Camp, in which he acted as captain of a company on the journey to Missouri. After the Camp was disbanded, he returned to Kirtland, and then removed to Missouri in 1837, settling on the prairie south of Far West, where he lived until the saints were expelled in 1839. David W. Patten died at his home after the battle on Crooked River. Elder Winchester shared in the persecutions in Illinois in 1846, and remained at Winter Quarters till 1849, when he came to Utah, settling in Salt Lake City, where he remained until his death, which occurred Jan. 1, 1873. Bro. Winchester was a man of industrious habits, excellent character and of firm and unwavering faith in the gospel.

WINTERS, Hiram, a member of Zion's Camp, was born April 5, 1805, near Westfield, Washington Co., N. Y. He removed with his parents to Seneca County and afterwards settled in Jamestown, N. Y., where he married Rebecca Burdick. He was baptized by Lyman Sherman in June, 1833, and in the fall of that year moved to Kirtland, Ohio. The next year he joined Zion's Camp and marched to Missouri, acting as cook of the second Ten of that organization until the camp arrived at Salt Creek, Mo., where he was appointed to serve in the second company of rangers. After the camp was dissolved, Bro. Winters returned to Kirtland, Ohio, where he was ordained a Seventy by the Prophet Joseph Smith Feb. 28, 1835, being the first Seventy ordained in this dispensation. In the spring of 1835, he was sent on a mission to New York, was present at the dedication of the Kirtland Temple March 27, 1836, and moved to Quincy, Ill., in 1837, later to Commerce. He was ordained a High Priest and appointed to act as a counselor to Bishop Thomas Burdick. In 1845, he moved his family to Nauvoo, and when the camps of the saints moved westward, he established himself at Burlington, Iowa, as a shoemaker and a builder of hydraulic cisterns. Having earned sufficient means to buy a traveling outfit, he followed the Camps of Israel to Kanesville, Iowa, in 1851, and arrived in the Valley in 1852. His wife died while crossing the plains and was buried near Scott's Bluffs on the Platte River. He died Oct. 21, 1889.

ORIGINAL PIONEERS OF UTAH

The term "Original Pioneers of Utah" is applied to the company, consisting of 143 men, 3 women and 2 children, led by President Brigham Young, which entered Great Salt Lake Valley July 21, 22 and 24, 1847.

ADAMS, Barnabas L., one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Aug. 28, 1812, near Perth, Upper Canada. On the westward journey with the pioneers he did good service as captain of the guard at night and at all times was willing to help. This was particularly the case when a stream had to be forded, as he had been accustomed to river work when floating logs down the Mississippi River from Iowa to St. Louis. He furnished timber for the Salt Lake Tabernacle, the theater and other public buildings, and on June 1, 1869, started up City Creek for some tan bark. Before leaving he had strained his chest in lifting a wagon box and was seriously ill on the trip. The following day (June 2nd) he died suddenly at his home in Salt Lake City, leaving a wife and a large family. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 3, p. 577.)

ALLEN, Rufus, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born March 22, 1814, in Litchfield County, Conn., a son of Gideon Allen and Rachel Hand. He returned to Winter Quarters with Pres. Brigham Young the same fall and after his arrival in the Valley a second time located in Ogden, Weber County, where he died during the winter of 1888-1889. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 3, p. 583.)

ANGELL, Truman Osborn, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born June 5, 1810, at Providence, R. I. For many years he held the position of Church Architect and while acting in this capacity the Salt Lake Temple, the Tabernacle, the St. George Temple and many other important public buildings were erected. At the time of his death on Oct. 16, 1887, in Salt Lake City, he held the office of a Patriarch.

ATWOOD, Millen, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born May 24, 1817, at Wellington, Conn., a son of Dan Atwood and Polly Sawyer. For many years he was Bishop of the Thirteenth Ward, Salt Lake City, Utah, and while acting in that capacity he died Dec. 17, 1890, in Salt Lake City. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 633.)

BADGER, Rodney, one of the original pioneers of Utah was born Feb. 4, 1823, at Waterford, Caledonia Co., Vermont, a son of Rodney Badger and Lydia Chamberlain. He acted as a counselor in the bishopric of the 15th Ward, Salt Lake City, from 1851 to 1853. He was a special agent of the Perpetual Emigrating Fund Company, a member of the Nauvoo Legion and served as deputy sheriff of Salt Lake County. He was accidentally drowned in the Weber River on April 29, 1853, in an effort to save the lives of an emigrant family, en route to California. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 3, p. 592.)

BAIRD, Robert Erwing, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born May 15, 1817, in Londonderry, Ireland, a son of James Baird and Elizabeth Erwing. He located in Weber County, served as a justice of the peace and a city councilman in Ogden and was a president of the 33rd Quorum of Seventy. He acted as presiding Elder of the Lynn District in Weber County and died at Lynn, Aug. 24, 1875, leaving a large family.

BARNEY, Lewis, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Sept. 8, 1808, in Niagara County, N. Y., a son of Charles Barney and Mercy Yeoman. He was confirmed a member of the Church by the Prophet Joseph Smith after being baptized in the spring of 1840. He migrated with the Saints from Nauvoo to Winter Quarters and after his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley became noted as an Indian fighter. He died Nov. 5, 1894, at Mancos, Colorado, leaving a large family. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 3, p. 594.)

BARNUM, Charles D., one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born May 9, 1800, near Brockville, Leeds County, Canada. He was baptized by John E. Page in 1836, resided at Nauvoo, where he quarried rock for the Temple. After coming to Great Salt Lake Valley with Pres. Brigham Young he returned to his family in Winter Quarters, but they refused to accompany him west. He returned to Utah in 1850 and acted as a counselor in the bishopric of the 15th Ward, Salt Lake City, where he died Sept. 9, 1894. He was the father of ten children, four of whom survived him. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 3, p. 594.)

BENSON, Ezra Taft, one of the original pioneers of Utah, and a member of the Quorum of Twelve Apostles at the time, was born Feb. 23, 1811, in Mendon, Worcester County, Mass., a son of John Benson and Chloe Taft. After arriving in Great Salt Lake City with the pioneer company in July, 1847, he returned to Winter Quarters in the fall of 1847, with Pres. Brigham Young, and was appointed to preside over the saints in Pottawattamie County, Iowa, with Orson Hyde and George A. Smith. He returned to Great Salt Lake Valley in 1849 and served as a member of the Provisional Government of the State of Deseret previous to the organization of the Territory of Utah and served several terms as a member of the Utah Territorial Legislature. He died suddenly in Ogden, Utah, Sept. 3, 1869, leaving a large family. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 99.)

BILLINGS, George Pierce, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born July 25, 1827, in Kirtland, Ohio. Soon after his arrival in Salt Lake Valley he went to California, but later, responding to a call from the Church, filled a mission to Carson Valley, Nevada. He finally made his residence in Manti, Utah, where he died Dec. 2, 1896, survived by a large family.

BOGGS, Francis, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born May 17, 1807 in Belmont, Ohio, a son of Alexander Boggs and Hannah Martin. He was baptized May 17, 1841, by John Cairn and took an active part in building up Nauvoo, Ill. He resided in Salt Lake City for some time and served one term in the Utah territorial legislature. He was a pioneer of southern Utah and lived at Washington, Utah, where he died Jan. 22, 1889. His wife, Eveline Martin, bore him eleven children, the family doing much to forward a number of pioneer enterprises in Iron and Washington counties, Utah. (Bio. Ency., Vol. 3, p. 322.)

BROWN, George Washington, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Jan. 25, 1827, in Newbury, Cuyahoga Co., Ohio, a son of Nathaniel Brown and Avis Hill. After arriving in Great Salt Lake Valley, he returned to Winter Quarters with Pres. Brigham Young and came again to Utah with his mother, a brother and a sister, in 1850. Later he made his home at Charleston, and was ordained a High Priest by Pres. John Taylor and set apart as an officer in the Wasatch Stake of Zion. He died at Charleston Dec. 20, 1906, survived by a large family. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 3, p. 608.)

BROWN, John, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Oct. 23, 1820, in Sumner Co., Tennessee, a son of John Brown and Martha Chipman. He was a member of Orson Pratt's advance company and one of the first of the pioneers to gaze upon the waters of the Great Salt Lake. On Feb. 2, 1863, he was ordained a Bishop by Pres. Brigham Young and sent to preside over the Saints at Pleasant Grove, Utah, in which capacity he acted for twenty-nine years, after which he was ordained a Patriarch. Bishop Brown died at Pleasant Grove Nov. 4, 1897, survived by a numerous family. (Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 511.)

BROWN, Nathaniel Thomas, one of the original pioneers of Utah, arrived in Great Salt Lake Valley in July, 1847, returned to Winter Quarters with Pres. Brigham Young later the same year and was accidentally shot at Council Bluffs, Iowa, in February, 1848, just as he was preparing to return to Salt Lake Valley with President Young, who was much distressed by the tragedy and remarked that Bro. Brown's old shoes were worth more than the whole body of the man who killed him.

BULLOCK, Thomas, was a member, and acted as clerk of the original company of Utah pioneers. He was born Dec. 23, 1816, at Leek, Staffordshire, England, a son of Thomas Bullock and Mary Hall. On the pioneer journey he kept a faithful record of events, distances traveled, weather conditions and other interesting data which has made his journal not only of state but of national importance. When publication of the "Deseret News" was commenced in 1850, Bro. Bullock was an important member of the staff. He was chief clerk of the Utah Territorial House of Representatives for several sessions and served as chief clerk in the Historian's Office under Willard Richards and George A. Smith, church historians. In 1868 Bro. Bullock located in Summit County, Utah, where he served as clerk of the probate court and recorder of said county. He died at Coalville, Summit County, Feb. 10,

BURK, Charles Allen, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Sept. 2, 1823, in Kirtland, Ohio, endured persecutions with the saints in Missouri, was forced to vacate his home in Nauvoo and after his arrival in the Rocky Mountains was active in pioneer enterprises. He died at Minersville, Beaver Co., Utah, Feb. 26, 1888.

BURNHAM, Jacob, one of the original pioneers of Utah, remained only a short time with the saints in Great Salt Lake Valley. He went on to California where he died in 1850.

CARRINGTON, Albert, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Jan. 8, 1813, at Royalton, Windsor Co., Vermont, a son of Daniel and Isabella Carrington. He received a college education and joined the Church in Wisconsin in 1841. After his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley he held office in the Provisional Government of the State of Deseret and in the territorial government of Utah. He was one of the early editors of the "Deseret News," and on July 3, 1870, was set apart as a member of the Apostles Quorum, which position he held until Nov. 7, 1885, when, on account of transgression, he was for a time, disfellowshipped. He, however, was permitted to renew his covenants by baptism previous to his demise on Sept. 19, 1889. (Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 126.)

CARTER, William, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Feb. 12, 1821, in Leadbury, Herefordshire, England, a son of Thomas Carter and Sarah Parker. He was baptized by Edward Oakey in England Dec. 27, 1840, and came to Nauvoo, Ill., in 1841, where he became acquainted with the Prophet Joseph Smith and assisted in the erection of the Nauvoo Temple. In Nauvoo he married Ellen Benbow and spent the winter of 1846-1847 at Winter Quarters. After his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley he did the first plowing in the "Valley" near the site of the present City and County Building in Salt Lake City. After serving as a member of the bishopric of the 14th Ward, Salt Lake City, for a number of years, he was called by Pres. Brigham Young to assist in the erection of the Temple at St. George, Utah. There he raised a large family and died June 22, 1895.

CASE, James, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born May 4, 1794, at Litchfield, Conn., a son of Joseph and Lydia Case. After spending a short time in Great Salt Lake Valley, he went to Sanpete Valley, Utah, in 1851, and in 1852 was appointed one of the representatives to the Utah Territorial Legislature from Sanpete County. He died in Sanpete County in 1858, soon after returning from a successful mission to the Cherokee Indians, in Oklahoma.

CHAMBERLAIN, Solomon, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born in 1788 at Old Canaan, Conn., a son of Joel and Sarah Chamberlain. He joined the Church at an early day and was active in protecting the saints whenever possible. He had a full suit of buckskin with a wolfskin cap, tanned with the ears on to resemble that animal which he used as a disguise when engaged in secret missions, and which gained for him the name of "old buckskin." After his arrival in Salt Lake Valley he became a pioneer of southern Utah and died at Washington, Washington Co., Utah, in 1862. (Bio. Ency., Vol. 2, p. 604.)

CHESLEY, Alexander Philip, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Oct. 22, 1814, in Fanquier Co.,

Vermont, a son of John and Elizabeth Chesley. He was an active member of the Church during the life of the Prophet Joseph Smith. After coming to Utah he resided for a time in Provo, where he acted as constable. He filled a mission to Australia in 1856-1857. Later he lived at Fillmore and represented Millard County in the Utah Territorial Legislature. He was a farmer and stock raiser by vocation and had several children. When last heard of he was in San Juan Valley, California.

CLAYTON, William, one of the original pioneers of Utah and recorder of many important events which occurred on the memorable pioneer journey, was born July 17, 1814, at Penwortham, Lancashire, England, a son of Thomas Clayton and Ann Critchlow. He was one of the first to embrace the gospel in England. He emigrated to Nauvoo in 1840 and in 1842 succeeded Willard Richards as clerk to the Prophet Joseph Smith. During the pioneer journey he kept an accurate journal which is a valuable record of that important trek. He is the author of the famous "Mormon" hymn, "Come, Come, Ye Saints." Elder Clayton returned to Winter Quarters in 1847 with Pres. Brigham Young and came west again with him in 1848, after which he resided permanently in Salt Lake City, where he served as treasurer of Z. C. M. I., Territorial Recorder of Marks and Brands, and Territorial Auditor of Public Accounts. The latter office he held at the time of his death which occurred Dec. 4, 1879. He was survived by a large family. (Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 717.)

CLOWARD, Thomas P., one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Jan. 16, 1823 in Chester County, Penn., a son of Jacob Cloward and Ann Pluck. After taking part in the establishment of the little colony in Salt Lake Valley, he returned to Winter Quarters with Pres. Brigham Young in the fall of 1847. There he remained with his family, his wife (Mary Page), and did not come back to the "Valley" until 1852. From the time of his arrival, he was active in the development of the future State of Utah and, being a shoemaker by trade, is said to have made the first pair of fine shoes in the territory. He located in Provo, Utah Co., and in 1862 moved to Payson, where he spent the remainder of his life. He also married Mary Gardner and at the time of his death Jan. 16, 1909, was survived by a large family.

COLTRIN, Zebedee, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Sept. 7, 1804, at Ovid, Seneca Co., N. Y., a son of John and Sarah Coltrin. He was one of the early members of the Church, was a member of Zion's Camp and at the organization of the first Quorum of Seventy Feb. 28, 1835, he was ordained a Seventy under the hands of the Prophet Joseph Smith, and when the quorum was more fully organized he was chosen as one of its seven presidents. After assisting in the establishment of the pioneer colony in Great Salt Lake Valley, Elder Coltrin returned to Winter Quarters, but came back later with his family and for many years was a resident of Spanish Fork, Utah Co., where he died July 21, 1887, as a Patriarch in the Church. (Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 190.)

CRAIG, James, one of the original pioneers of Utah and known as the "Bugler of the Pioneers," was born in Ireland, in 1821, a son of David and Elizabeth Craig. After his arrival in Salt Lake Valley he located for a time in Mill Creek and was a member of a company called to assist in exterminating reptiles, birds and dangerous animals. In 1854 he was called on a mission to Great Britain and served for a time as president of the Preston Conference; later he labored in Ireland, his native land. He returned from this mission in 1858 and in 1861 was called to assist in establishing settlements in southern Utah. In time he located at Santa Clara, where he raised cotton with considerable success, and where he died March 2, 1868.

CROSBY, Oscar, a negro, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born about 1815, in Virginia. He was a servant of William Crosby, a wealthy member of the Church in the state of Mississippi. In order to assist the pioneer company on their journey Bro. Crosby and three other brethren (John Brown, John H. Bankhead and William Lay) each concluded to send a negro servant, with supplies and what else they could furnish. The four negroes with two wagons left their homes in Mississippi Oct. 29, 1846, in charge of Elder John Brown, accompanied by a family or two of saints. En route two of the negroes died, but Oscar and Hark Lay (Bro. Lay's man), arrived safely and accompanied the pioneers on their journey rendering good service on the way. Oscar Crosby died in Los Angeles, California, in 1870.

CURTIS, Lyman, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Jan. 21, 1812, in New Salem, Mass., a son of Nahum Curtis and Millicent Waite. He was one of the early members of the Church, being baptized about 1833, and in 1834 became a member of Zion's Camp. He endured persecution with the Saints in Missouri and Illinois and after the expulsion of the Saints from Nauvoo, migrated westward with the exiles to the Missouri. After arriving in Great Salt Lake Valley with the pioneer company in July, 1847, he returned to Winter Quarters with Pres. Brigham Young. Bro. Curtis came to Utah with his family in 1850 and in 1853 went to southern Utah and worked on a project to raise cotton and is said to have picked the first cotton raised in Utah. Returning north again, he settled in Utah County as one of the pioneers of Salem, that name being chosen by him in honor of his birthplace. There he died Aug. 8, 1898, leaving a large family.

CUSHING, Hosea, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born April 2, 1826, in Boston, Mass., a son of Philip and Mary Cushing. He arrived in Great Salt Lake Valley safely with the pioneer company, but died of consumption in Salt Lake City May 17, 1854.

DAVENPORT, James, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born May 1, 1802, at Danville, Caledonia Co., Vermont, a son of Squire Davenport and Susannah Kittridge. He died, as a faithful member of the Church, at Richmond, Cache Co., Utah, about 1885.

DECKER, Isaac Perry, a little boy who at seven years of age accompanied his mother (then the wife of Lorenzo D. Young) on the famous journey across the plains and mountains with the original pioneers of Utah. Isaac Perry Decker was born Aug. 7, 1820, in Winchester, Scott Co., Ill., a son of Isaac Decker and Harriet Page Wheeler. The boy was an eye witness to the early struggles of the pioneers to raise crops, remembered the invasion of the crickets and the providential arrival of the sea gulls. In middle life he made his home in Provo, where his son C. F. Decker served as mayor for some time, and others of his children played important parts in the development of the state. Elder Decker died of infirmities incident to his age, Jan. 24, 1916.

born May 5, 1829, in Westfield, Hampden Co., Mass., a son of Ashbell Dewey and Harriet Adams. He was baptized by Wilford Woodruff in Winter Quarters in 1847, just before leaving as a member of the pioneer company. His parents had become members of the Church in 1846. After assisting to locate the little colony in Great Salt Lake Valley, Bro. Dewey returned eastward with Pres. Brigham Young and his company as far as Pacific Springs, where Bro. Dewey met his family en route for Salt Lake Valley with Abraham O. Smoot's company. He therefore decided to go back to the "Valley" with them. In 1849 he went to California with Capt. Jefferson Hunt and returned to Utah in 1850. He filled a mission to the East Indies in 1852-1854. For a number of years he followed the vocation of a miner and died in Chloride, Arizona, Feb. 23, 1904.

DIXON, John, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born July 26, 1818, in Cumberland, England. He migrated to America and was with the exiled Saints at Winter Quarters when the members of Pres. Brigham Young's pioneer band were selected. With this historic company he reached Great Salt Lake Valley in July, 1847, and took part in the early settlement of the saints in their new home. In 1850 Elder Dixon accompanied George Q. Cannon and other missionaries to the Hawaiian Islands but did not remain there long. He returned home with some others of this first group of missionaries to Hawaii. On Aug. 17, 1853, as John Dixon and three other men were hauling wood to Snyder's mill near Parley's Park, a band of Indians fired upon them, killing John Dixon and John Quayle and wounding another of the men.

a son of Uriel Driggs and Hannah Ford. He joined the Church in Ohio and emigrated to Nauvoo, Ill., in 1840. After his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley he assisted to establish the saints in their new home. In 1851 he accompanied Apostle Amasa M. Lyman on an expedition to California and assisted in the founding of the settlement of San Bernardino. He married Sarah Rodgers in Salt Lake City May 29, 1855, and returned to California, remaining at San Bernardino until that settlement was vacated in 1857 when he settled at Parowan, Utah, where he died Dec. 3, 1860, from injuries received while operating a threshing machine.

DYKES, William, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Nov. 18, 1815, in Philadelphia, Pa., a son of Daniel and Cynthia Dykes. He became a member of the 31st Quorum of Seventy in Nauvoo and is mentioned as a member of that quorum in Salt Lake City as late as August, 1856. After arriving in Salt Lake City with the pioneer company, he assisted to locate the saints in their new home and returned to Winter Quarters with Pres. Brigham Young in the fall of 1847. In 1848 William Dykes is mentioned as having signed a petition for a postoffice on the Potawattamie lands in Iowa. He died in Nebraska Nov. 24, 1879.

EARL, Sylvester H., one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Aug. 16, 1815, in Ohio, the son of Joseph Earl and Dorcas Wixom. He was baptized Feb. 29, 1837, by Charles C. Rich, located in Nauvoo and endured exile with the saints at Winter Quarters. After his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley he assisted in building up a city in Great Salt Lake Valley and later located in the 19th Ward where he became a member of the bishopric. About this time he married Margaret Emily Jones. He filled a three years' mission to Great Britain and in 1861 he was called to assist in strengthening the settlements in southern Utah. He settled in Pine Valley where he engaged in the saw mill business and in stock raising. Bro. Earl died at Middleton, near St. George, July 23, 1872, survived by a family of seven children. (Bio. Ency., Vol. 3, p. 667.)

EASTMAN, Ozro French, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Nov. 18, 1828, in Windham County, Vermont, a son of James Eastman and Clarissa Goss. His parents joined the Church in 1843, but he never was baptized, although he bore a strong testimony to the noble characters of Brigham Young, Heber C. Kimball and other leaders of the Church. As exiles from Nauvoo the family found refuge at Winter Quarters, where Bro. James Eastman fitted out a wagon and was very anxious that his son Ozro should become a member of Pres. Brigham Young's pioneer company, which he was permitted to do. With Pres. Brigham Young he returned to Winter Quarters after a location for the saints had been established in Great Salt Lake Valley, but in the meantime the father (Bro. James Eastman) had died. In 1848, with Pres. Brigham Young, Ozro and his widowed mother and only sister, Sylvia S., came to Salt Lake Valley where Ozro erected a house into which the family moved on Christmas Day, 1848, and where he established the first harness shop in Salt Lake City. Sylvia became the wife of Lorenzo H. Hatch, and in 1855 Ozro married Mary Whittle and became the father of ten children. The family located in Idaho, where he engaged in the business of a saddler and died at Idaho Falls, March 26, 1916.

1815, at Tullamore, King's Co., Ireland, a son of Howard Egan and Ann Meade. When he was about eight years old the family left Ireland for America, locating in Montreal, Canada. Howard became a sailor in his youth and when 23 years of age he married Tamson Parshley. In 1842 he and his wife were converted to the gospel by Elder Erastus Snow and went to Nauvoo, where Howard became a member of the Nauvoo police and a major in the Nauvoo Legion, which led to his being known as "Major Egan." The little family became exiles from Nauvoo in 1846 and located with the saints at Winter Quarters, where Howard Egan was selected to accompany Lieut. Pace and John D. Lee to Fort Leavenworth to collect contributions from the Mormon Battalion to assist the destitute exiles camped on the Missouri River. In the spring of 1847 he was selected to be one of Pres. Brigham Young's company of pioneers. A diary kept by Howard Egan during this famous journey is of great value and has been published by his son in a volume entitled "Pioneering the West." After the saints had been established in their Rocky Mountain home, Bro. Egan accompanied Pres. Brigham Young back to Winter Quarters and returned to the "Valley" in 1848 with his wife and little family. As the community grew, Bro. Egan held many civic offices, was an agent for the pony express and overland mail and successful as a missionary and intermediary among the Indians. He died in Salt Lake City March 16, 1878, survived by a family trained as pioneers and colonizers.

EGBERT, Joseph S., one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born March 10, 1818, in Sullivan County, Indiana, a son of John Egbert and Susan Hahn. As a member of Pres. Brigham Young's famous company of pioneers in 1847, he was also one of Orson Pratt's advance company, and entered Salt Lake Valley on July 22. He returned to Winter Quarters with Pres. Brigham Young later the same year and came back with his family in 1849. He made his home in Kaysville, Davis Co., Utah, where he established a hotel and acted in several civic offices. On several occasions he returned to the Missouri River with Church teams to assist emigrants across the plains. He died May 24, 1898, at Ogden, Utah. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 3, p. 70.)

ELDREDGE, John Sunderlin, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born April 30, 1831, at Brutus, Cayuga Co., N. Y., a son of Alanson Eldredge and Esther Sunderlin. After his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley as one of Pres. Brigham Young's famous company of pioneers, he took an active part in raising crops and forwarding pioneer industries; it is claimed that he was among the first to use the plow in preparing the arid land on the site of the present Salt Lake City. He filled a mission to Australia in 1852-1856. He died suddenly, while plowing on his farm at Charleston, Wasatch Co., Utah, May 7, 1873, being survived by a large family.

ELLSWORTH, Edmund, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born July 1, 1819, in Paris, Oneida Co., N. Y., a son of Jonathan Ellsworth and Sarah Gully. He was baptized Feb. 20, 1840, by Luman Heath and ordained a Seventy March 8, 1843, by Joseph Young and became a member of the Third Quorum of Seventy. After the martyrdom of the Prophet Joseph Smith and the exodus of the saints from Nauvoo, he lived in the saints' encampment at Winter Quarters, until called by Pres. Brigham Young to be one of the company of pioneers. He was a son-in-law of Pres. Young, having married his daughter Elizabeth. When the pioneer company arrived at the Platte River, he assisted to build a ferry there and was appointed one of ten men to remain at that point to ferry California and Oregon emigrants across the river, and also to render service to the L. D. S. emigrants already en route to the Rocky Mountains. Hence, it was not until Oct. 12, 1847, that he arrived in Salt Lake City. He filled a mission to England in 1854-1856, and on returning home he was instructed by Pres. Young to take charge of the first handcart company to cross the plains. The journey was made quite successfully. Soon after his arrival in Salt Lake City, Bro. Ellsworth was elected an alderman in the Salt Lake City administration. In 1880 he moved two of his families to Arizona, in order to avoid indictment for polygamy. But in this he was not successful, for he was arrested in Prescott and served a short term of imprisonment and paid a fine of $300. Bro. Ellsworth died at Show Low, Apache Co., Arizona, Dec. 29, 1893, survived by a large family.

EMPEY, William, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born July 4, 1808, in Osnabrook Township, Stormont County, Canada. He located in Nauvoo soon afterwards and, being ordained a Seventy, became a member of the 13th Quorum. With the exiled saints he made a temporary home at Winter Quarters and was one of Pres. Brigham Young's famous company of pioneers in 1847. With the main body of the company he traveled until they reached a point on the Platte River where it was necessary to build a ferry. Here Bro. Empey and nine other men were left to establish a ferry for the benefit of the companies of saints already on the road en route for Great Salt Lake Valley, and to raise funds by ferrying other emigrants across the river. There he remained until President Young returned to Winter Quarters later the same year, when Bro. Empey returned east with him. With his family Bro. Empey came to the "Valley" in 1848 and located in the 15th Ward, Salt Lake City, where he became a member of the Bishopric. From 1852 to 1854 he filled a mission to England, and for a time presided over the Hull Conference. When first appointed to that district he was, on one occasion, quite discouraged and seeing an old gentleman with white hair enter one of the houses, felt impressed to follow him. To his delight he found a family of saints who assisted him to open up missionary work in the vicinity. Strange to say none of the family knew anything of the white haired gentleman seen by Bro. Empey. After his return home Bro. Empey was called to help strengthen the settlements in southern Utah and died at St. George Aug. 19, 1890, survived by a large family.

ENSIGN, Horace Datus, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Aug. 8, 1826, at Westfield, Hampden Co., Mass., a son of Horace Datus Ensign and Mary Brunson. His parents became members of the Church in 1843 and with a family of five sons and one daughter located in Nauvoo in 1846 but soon afterwards were forced to leave their home and with the exiled saints made a temporary home at Winter Quarters. The father died in September, 1846, and Horace, the oldest son, was called in the spring of 1847 to join the company of pioneers. Horace remained in Salt Lake Valley until Pres. Young returned to Winter Quarters, when he accompanied him as far as the Big Sandy where he met his widowed mother and her family en route for the "Valley" in Capt. Daniel Spencer's company. With them he returned to Salt Lake Valley and located in Ogden where he worked for Captain James Brown. He took an active part in the Echo Canyon War in 1857-1858, married Eliza Jane Stewart and was the father of three sons and three daughters. He died in Ogden Sept. 1, 1866.

EVERETT, Addison, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Oct. 10, 1805, at Wallkill, Orange Co., N. Y., a son of Ephraim Everett, jun., and Deborah Carwin. He was baptized Sept. 1, 1837, by Elijah Fordham and was one of the first members of the New York Branch of the Church. He located at Nauvoo and, after the exodus of the saints from their homes there, he became a Bishop of one of the wards at Winter Quarters until called to be one of the pioneer company in 1847. After Salt Lake City had been divided into wards he became Bishop of the 8th Ward. In 1861 he was called with others to assist in strengthening the settlements of southern Utah. He took part in the Salmon River in 1853 and in the latter part of his life, with his wife Orpha, devoted himself to laboring in the St. George Temple for his dead. He died at St. George Jan. 12, 1885.

FAIRBANKS, Nathaniel, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born May 10, 1823, at Queensbury, Washington Co., N. Y., a son of Joseph Fairbanks and Polly White. He was baptized Aug. 28, 1843, by John Cairns, located at Nauvoo in 1844 and with the exiled saints made a temporary home at Winter Quarters. He was one of Pres. Brigham Young's famous company of pioneers. He returned East with Pres. Young but en route met his brother John B. Fairbanks and family coming to Salt Lake Valley in Daniel Spencer's company and accompanied him to Salt Lake Valley, and took part in the early settlement of Salt Lake City. In 1853, as he was driving a herd of cattle from Salt

FARR, Aaron F., one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Oct. 31, 1818, at Waterford, Caledonia Co., Vermont. He was baptized in 1832 and in 1836 his father's family moved to Kirtland, Ohio, and in 1842 located at Nauvoo, Ill. On June 16, 1844, he married Persis Atherton, the Prophet Joseph Smith performing the ceremony. In 1847 he was chosen as one of Pres. Brigham Young's company of pioneers and traveled with the main body until the company reached Green River, when he and four other brethren were sent back to act as guides to the oncoming emigration. He came to Salt Lake Valley Sept. 20, 1847, with Daniel Spencer's company and helped to establish a government in Salt Lake Valley, being by profession a lawyer. In 1852-1853 he filled a mission to the West Indies and on his way home was called to preside over the St. Louis Branch, succeeding Horace S. Eldredge in that position. Upon his return he made his home in Ogden where he practiced law and served as U. S. Deputy Marshal under Joseph L. Heywood. In 1856 he filled a mission to Las Vegas, Arizona (now Nevada), and in 1859 was elected probate judge of Weber County. He also served as an alderman of Ogden and as representative for Weber County to the Utah territorial legislature. He died Nov. 8, 1903, at Logan, Utah, while visiting his daughter, wife of Moses Thatcher. He was survived by three sons and two daughters. He was a brother to Lorin Farr of Ogden.

FITZGERALD, Perry, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Dec. 22, 1815, in Fayette County, Pennsylvania, a son of John Fitzgerald and Leah Phillips. He received the gospel in Illinois in 1842, was ordained an Elder in 1846 and a High Priest in 1846. With the exiled saints he left his home in Nauvoo, Ill., and spent the winter of 1846-1847 at Winter Quarters. He was chosen as one of Pres. Brigham Young's company of pioneers and assisted in building the "Old Fort" in Salt Lake City and other forts in the vicinity. In 1849 he located at Mill Creek and from there he moved to Draper, Salt Lake County, where he spent the remainder of his life, taking part in the Walker Indian war and in other ways assisting to protect the settlers against Indian invasions. He was faithful in the discharge of his duties as a Latter-day Saint and scrupulously honest in all his dealings. The wife of his youth died in 1852, after which, at different times, he married Ann Wilson and Agnes Wadsworth. He was the father of twelve sons and eight daughters, and died at Draper Oct. 4, 1889.

FLAKE, Green, one of the three negro servants who belonged to the original company of Utah pioneers, was born as a slave in January, 1828, in Anson County, North Carolina, on the plantation of Bro. James Flake's father and spent all his early life in that family. He came with that family to Nauvoo, and thence journeyed west during the exodus from Nauvoo. He was baptized in 1844 by John Brown and given to Pres. Brigham Young by Bro. James Flake. After his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley, Green Flake resided for some years in Union. Later he moved to Idaho Falls, where he died Oct. 20, 1903.

FOWLER, John Sherman, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born in New York City July 12, 1819. Having become a member of the Church, he received a patriarchal blessing from Asahel Smith at Nauvoo, Ill., Feb. 27, 1846, and was a member of the 2nd Quorum of Seventy. He came to Great Salt Lake Valley with Pres. Brigham Young and the pioneers in 1847, but becoming discouraged he went to California in 1848, and subsequently died there.

FOX, Samuel Bradford, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Dec. 4, 1829, at Adams, Jefferson Co., N. Y., and became a member of the Church as a boy. He was one of the young men selected by Pres. Brigham Young to make the pioneer journey and locate homes for the saints in the Rocky Mountains. En route he acted as teamster for Pres. Young. In 1850 he went to California, and the following year suffered a severe attack of smallpox, his face being badly scarred. He is reported to have said that his friends in Utah should never see him in that condition. In 1870 he was living in Oregon. Both his parents were faithful Latter-day Saints and died at Nauvoo.

FREEMAN, John Monroe, one of the original pioneers of Utah, resided for a time in Nauvoo, where he became a member of the 31st Quorum of Seventy, organized in Nauvoo in October, 1845. He did not remain long in Great Salt Lake Valley, but went to Carson Valley, Nevada, in 1850, where he died of cholera.

FRICK, Horace Monroe, one of the original pioneers of Utah, returned to Winter Quarters with Pres. Brigham Young in the fall of 1847. He did not make his home with the saints in the Rocky Mountains, but went to California, where he resided at San Bernardino. In 1860 he visited friends at Manti, Utah, at which time he was still living at San Bernardino. Nothing further is known of him.

FROST, Burr, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Mar. 4, 1816, at Waterbury (or New Haven), Conn., a son of Alpheus and Elizabeth

Frost. Soon after his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley he was appointed one of a committee to assist in the extermination of dangerous animals, snakes, etc., and was, at all times ready to protect the settlers against marauding Indians. He was a blacksmith by trade and made his home in Salt Lake City. From 1852 to 1854 he filled a mission to Australia and was one of the presidents of the 70th Quorum of Seventy. He died Mar. 16, 1878, in Salt Lake City survived by a large family.

GIBBONS, Andrew S., one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born March 12; 1825, in Union township, Licking Co., Ohio. When he was an infant his father gave him to a family by the name of Smith, a relative of the Prophet Joseph Smith. By them he was trained in the principles of the gospel and married Rispah Knight, a daughter of Bishop Vinson Knight in Nauvoo, Ill. After seeing the establishment of a new home for the saints in the Rocky Mountains, he returned to Winter Quarters with Pres. Brigham Young, and in 1852 came again to Utah with his family and located in Davis County. In 1854 he was called to strengthen the settlements in Iron County and served as a missionary to the Indians. In the spring of 1861 he located at St. George, where he was elected sheriff of Washington County. In 1865 he was called to locate on the Muddy River (now in Nevada) to mediate between the white men and the Indians. In 1880 he moved to St. Johns, Arizona, where he died Feb. 9, 1886, as a member of the High Council of the Eastern Arizona Stake of Zion. (Bio. Ency., Vol. 2, p. 194.)

GLEASON, John Streater, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Jan. 13, 1819, in Livonia, Livingston Co., N. Y. He was baptized in 1842, and from that time until chosen as one of the historic band of pioneers under Pres. Brigham Young, he took an active part in assisting and protecting the saints in their forced exodus from Nauvoo and in their settlement at Winter Quarters. After his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley, he assisted in building the Old Fort, and married Desdemona Chase, daughter of Isaac Chase, one of the builders of the old Chase mill in Liberty Park, Salt Lake City. Bro. Gleason resided in Davis County, where he was a president of the 40th Quorum of Seventy and later became a High Priest and served as county commissioner, justice of the peace and county clerk. In 1873 he moved to Pleasant Grove, Utah County, where he died Dec. 21, 1904, survived by a large family. (Bio. Ency., Vol. 3, p. 91.)

GLINES, Eric, was one of the original pioneers of Utah, but little is known of his history. When the company arrived at the Platte River, a ferry was constructed, and when the company left the river, Pres. Brigham Young appointed nine men to remain at the ferry to assist the oncoming emigration and also to ferry other companies over who might be en route for California, thus assisting to make the ferry self-supporting. Eric Glines was not appointed to this mission, but insisted upon remaining. Some days later, repenting of his disobedience, he followed after the pioneers, camping one night alone and other nights with Missourians. This was a dangerous undertaking and he was reprimanded by Pres. Young for his conduct. When last heard from he was living at St. George, in southern Utah.

GODDARD, Stephen H., one of the original pioneers of 1847, was born Aug. 24, 1810, in Clinton Co., N. Y., a son of Stephen G. Goddard and Sylvia Smith. He was ordained a Seventy by H. Harrison June 9, 1845, and became the senior member of the 27th Quorum of Seventy. After his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley with the pioneer band, he assisted in building up the city and owned land at the corner of Main Street and First South Street, later known as the Godbe-Pitts Corner. He was leader of the Tabernacle choir when it sang in the Old Tabernacle. For a time he resided at Bountiful, Utah, but later went to California and died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Harrison, at San Bernardino, Sept. 10, 1898.

GRANT, David, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born July 21, 1816, at Arbroath, Forfarshire, Scotland, a son of Robert and Belle Grant. He was one of the early converts to the gospel in England and emigrating to America, was ordained a Priest at Freedom, Ill., Feb. 20, 1840. He was with the exiled saints at Winter Quarters and was chosen as one of Pres. Brigham Young's company of pioneers in 1847. After the saints had been established in Great Salt Lake Valley, Bro. Grant returned to Winter Quarters with Pres. Young's company in 1847 and came back to Utah with him in the fall of 1848. In 1851 he was ordained a Seventy and became a member of the 33rd Quorum. From 1852 to 1856 he filled a mission to England, leaving his home in Utah in September, 1852, and returning in October, 1856. He crossed the ocean in 1856 as a counselor to Dan Jones on the ship "Samuel Curling" and crossed the plains as an assistant to Captain Edward Bunker in the direction of a handcart company. In 1862, Bro. Grant was called to assist in raising cotton in southern Utah. He returned to his home in Mill Creek, Salt Lake Co., Utah, where he died Dec. 22, 1868.

maining a short time in Great Salt Lake Valley, returned with Pres. Brigham Young to Winter Quarters, where in January, 1848, he was one of the signers to a petition to the U. S. government to establish a post-office on the Pottawattamie lands. He probably returned to the "Valley" with Pres. Brigham Young in 1848. He located in Davis County, where he lived near John M. Kay (at Kaysville) in 1852. From 1855 to 1858 he served as one of the Salmon River missionaries. When last heard from, he was residing in Virginia City, Nevada.

GREENE, John Young, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Sept. 2, 1826, in the State of New York, a son of John P. Greene and Rhoda Young. He received the fullness of the gospel in his youth and drove Pres. Brigham Young's team to Great Salt Lake Valley, arriving there July 24, 1847. In 1857 he was called on a mission to Europe. After his arrival in Liverpool, England, Aug. 4, 1857, he was appointed to labor in the Scandinavian Mission and arrived in Copenhagen, Denmark, Aug. 12, 1857. He set to work diligently to acquire a knowledge of the Danish language, while laboring in the province of Jutland and gained many friends among the warm-hearted Danish people, but returned to Utah in 1858, on account of the Johnston army troubles. After a long career of usefulness, he died in Salt Lake City May 24, 1880.

GROVER, Thomas, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born July 22, 1807, in Whitehall, Washington Co., N. Y., a son of Thomas Grover and Polly Spaulding. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 4, p. 137.)

and was baptized by Daniel Stanton at Mayfield, Ohio, in 1830. In 1834 he was chosen a member of Zion's Camp, and on the way from Kirtland, Ohio, to Clay County, Mo., he acted as a hunter and was known as "Joseph's Nimrod" on that account. With others of that company he was taken sick with cholera, but was healed under the hands of the Prophet. Bro. Hancock hauled rock for the Kirtland Temple and endured persecution with the saints in Missouri. When the Prophet crossed the Mississippi river from Nauvoo in 1844 he put up at Joseph Hancock's house. After the martyrdom of the Prophet and his brother and the exile of the saints from Nauvoo, Bro. Hancock located with them at Winter Quarters and being chosen as one of Pres. Brigham Young's company of pioneers, was actively engaged in hunting on the way, doing his best to keep the company supplied with game. He is said to have killed the first deer above Ensign Peak. He accompanied Pres. Young back to Winter Quarters in the fall of 1847, but returned to the "Valley" in 1852. He was a faithful member of the Church, but liked a roving life and spent much of his time traveling back and forth between Utah and California. He died July 4, 1893, at the home of his nephew, George W. Hancock, in Payson, Utah.

HANKS, Sidney Alvarus, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Aug. 16, 1820, at Madison, Lake Co., Ohio, a son of Benjamin Hanks and Martha Knowlton. After his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley with the pioneers he did his part to establish homes for the companies of saints who should follow, and in 1852 responded to a call to fill a mission to the Society Islands. From this mission he returned in 1860 and on June 1, 1862, married Mary Ann Cook, who became the mother of one son and two daughters. The family located at Snyderville, near Parley's Park. In March, 1870, having lost a cow, he set out to look for her and froze to death. His body was not recovered until a month later.

HANSEN, Hans Christian, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Nov. 23, 1806, in Copenhagen, Denmark. He went to sea as a boy and during some of his voyages visited America. On one of these occasions he became converted to the restored gospel and was baptized in Boston, Mass., during the summer of 1842 by Elder Freeman Nickerson. When the pioneer company was organized, Hans C. Hansen was the only Scandinavian chosen. He was an expert violinist and rendered service in the early days of the settlement of Great Salt Lake Valley with his music. He made his home at Salina, Sevier Co., Utah, but, it is believed, never married. He died at Salina Oct. 10, 1890. (Bio. Ency., Vol. 2, p. 766.)

HARMON, Appleton Milo, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born May 29, 1820, at Conneaut, Pa. Being a mechanic, he constructed the famous roadometer invented by William Clayton and used by the pioneer company to measure distances on the road. He married Elmeda Stringham in Nauvoo, Ill., was a member of the 11th Quorum of Seventy and, after establishing his family in Great Salt Lake Valley in 1848, he filled a mission to England in 1850-1853. He assisted to erect sawmills in Salt Lake, Millard and Washington counties, Utah, and as a contractor he built a furniture factory at Toquerville and a woolen mill at Washington, and also assisted in setting up the machinery in all of these undertakings. He made his home at Holden, Millard Co., Utah, where he died Feb. 27, 1877, survived by several married sons and daughters.

HARPER, Charles Alfred, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Jan. 27, 1816, at Upper Providence, Montgomery Co., Pa. He was a college graduate and dealer in fine carriages, became a member of the Church in the early days of Nauvoo and was well acquainted with the Prophet Joseph Smith and the early leaders of the Church. After his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley in July, 1847, with the pioneer company, he returned to Winter Quarters, but came back with his family in 1848. He helped to establish colonies in southern Utah and Arizona and finally located in Cottonwood, Salt Lake County, Utah, where he died April 24, 1900, survived by a large family.

HENRIE, William, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Sept. 11, 1799, in Pennsylvania, a son of Daniel Henrie and Sarah Mendel. He was baptized by Andrew Lamoreaux July 17, 1842, in Hamilton Co., Ohio, and became one of the famous band of Utah pioneers in 1847. After his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley, he assisted in locating the saints in the old fort and adjacent country. In April, 1849, he was one of the speakers at the stand at the old bowery in Salt Lake City and later the same year was appointed a member of an exploring committee to locate suitable places for settlement in the region of Utah Lake. He established residence at Bountiful, Davis County, where he died Dec. 18, 1883, survived by a large family.

HIGBEE, John S., one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born March 7, 1804, in Tate township, Clermont Co., Ohio, a son of Isaac and Sophie Higbee. He was a cabinet maker by vocation and after his marriage to Sarah Voorhees of Palestine, Ohio, he made his home in Lewistown, Ohio, where he was baptized in May, 1831, by Calvin Wilson and confirmed by Lyman Wight. He moved to Jackson County, Mo., where he was ordained to the Aaronic Priesthood by Lyman Wight. He was appointed assessor of Caldwell County, Mo., while many of the saints were located in that county. On April 4, 1841, he was ordained a High Priest by Isaac Higbee and was ordained a Bishop in Nauvoo, Ill., March 24, 1845, under the hands of Amasa M. Lyman, Orson Pratt and John E. Page, and set apart to preside over the First Ward of that city. After the martyrdom of the Prophet and the exodus of the saints from Nauvoo, he became one of the pioneer company and traveled with them as far as the upper Platte river, when he and nine other brethren were appointed to operate a ferry until the next large company of saints should arrive to relieve them. There he remained until Aug. 10, 1847, when he started east to meet his family, who was traveling with one of the west-bound pioneer companies, which arrived in Great Salt Lake Valley Sept. 26, 1847. From 1849 to 1852 he filled a mission to England. In 1865 he moved to southern Utah, and died at Toquerville, Washington Co., Nov. 1, 1877, survived by a large family.

HOLMAN, John Greenleaf, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Oct. 18, 1828, at Byron Center, Genessee Co., N. Y., a son of Joshua Sawyer Holman and Rebecca Greenleaf. He was baptized when eight years old and moved with his parents to Kirtland, Ohio. There he became closely associated with the Church and was chosen as one of Pres. Brigham Young's band of pioneers in 1847. He returned east with Pres. Young in the fall of 1847 and did not come back to the "Valley" until 1850, when he brought his wife, Nancy Clark, whom he had married in 1849. Bro. Holman resided successively at Pleas-and Grove and at Santaquin, Utah Co., Utah, and in 1883 moved to Rexburg, Idaho, where he died Nov. 5, 1888. While in Pleasant Grove he served as an alderman and city councilman. He was survived by a large and highly respected family. (Bio. Ency., Vol. 3, p. 116.)

HOWD, Simeon, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born in 1813, at Camden, New York. After his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley as one of the pioneers in July, 1847, he was active in assisting to make homes for the saints and to supply their needs, and when Pres. Brigham Young returned to the "Valley" in 1848, after having gone back to Winter Quarters in the fall of 1847, Simeon Howd was one of the brethren who went to meet the company, taking supplies for their subsistence. At a conference held in Great Salt Lake City April 6, 1850, he was appointed first counselor to Joseph Harker in the presidency of the Priests' Quorum, which position he held until he was called in 1851 to assist in establishing settlements in "Little Salt Lake Valley," Iron County, Utah. In 1856, when Beaver was settled by saints from Parowan, Simeon Howd was one of those called to go there and was appointed the first presiding Elder of the settlement. He died in Beaver in 1862.

IVORY, Matthew, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born July 13, 1800, at Philadelphia, Pa., a son of Matthew and Ann Ivory. He was baptized Feb. 1, 1840, by Joseph Newton and in 1847 became one of Pres. Brigham Young's company of pioneers. On April 9, 1879, as a resident of Beaver, Beaver Co., Utah, he was set apart for a mission to New Jersey. From this mission he returned Sept. 12, 1879. He was an expert mechanic, and in 1885, although 85 years of age, he fitted up the mill stones in a newly erected grain chopper at Beaver. Before leaving his job, he made a final test and for a time all went well, when suddenly, one of the stones got loose, and while still revolving at a tremendous rate, it struck Bro. Ivory in the stomach, killing him almost instantly. This accident occurred Oct. 17, 1885.

JACKMAN, Levi, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born July 28, 1797, in Orange County, Vermont, a son of Moses French Jackman and Elizabeth Carr. After coming to Great Salt Lake Valley as one of the pioneers in 1847 he assisted in building up the city and was a counselor to Bishop Shadrach Roundy of the 16th Ward for a number of years. Subsequently he was ordained a Patriarch. He died at Salem, Utah Co., Utah, July 23, 1876, survived by a large family. (Bio. Ency., Vol. 2, p. 769.)

JACOB, Norton, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Aug. 11, 1804, in Sheffield, Berkshire Co., Mass., a son of Udney H. and Elizabeth Jacob. He arrived in Great Salt Lake Valley in July, 1847, and later in the year returned to Winter Quarters with Pres. Brigham Young. He had a wife (Emily Heaton) and family in the East, and with them he returned West with Pres. Brigham Young in 1848, acting on the journey as captain of the guard. After having made his home in Salt Lake Valley, he assisted in building up Salt Lake City and was appointed by Pres. Brigham Young foreman of the carpenters and joiners working on public works. In 1855 he was architect of a bridge erected over the Weber River. As a Seventy he was a member of the 14th Quorum. On July 24, 1860, he delivered the oration at Heber City, where he had made his home, and where he was appointed justice of the peace in 1862. Bro. Jacob's first wife became the mother of eleven children and his second wife, whom he also married in the East, bore him two children.

He also married a widow named Mott, in Salt Lake City, who bore him four sons. Bro. Jacob died at Glendale, Utah, Jan. 30, 1879.

JOHNSON, Artemas, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born April 18, 1809, at Remson, Oneida Co., N. Y., a son of Artemas and Abia Johnson. He was sustained to be ordained an Elder, at a conference held in Commerce (Nauvoo) Oct. 5, 1839, and after being exiled from Nauvoo was chosen in the spring of 1847 as one of Pres. Brigham Young's company of pioneers. Later in the year he returned to Winter Quarters with Pres. Young, and on Dec. 2, 1847, received a patriarchal blessing at Council Bluffs, Iowa, under the hands of Patriarch Isaac Morley. He is believed to have come back to Utah later and died there many years ago.

JOHNSON, Luke S., one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Nov. 2, 1807, in Pomfret, Windsor Co., Vermont. He was baptized by the Prophet Joseph Smith May 10, 1831. He was a member of Zion's Camp, and on Feb. 15, 1835, was ordained one of the Twelve Apostles. After a while he indulged in speculation and devoted more of his attention to his financial interests than to his duty in the Church and was excommunicated from the Church for apostasy at Far West, Mo., April 13, 1838. He continued friendly relations with the saints, however, and was baptized in Nauvoo and came to the "Valley" as one of the pioneers in July, 1847. In 1858 he settled at St. John, Tooele County, Utah, and was appointed Bishop when that ward was organized. On Dec. 9, 1861, he died at the home of his brother-in-law, Orson Hyde, in Salt Lake City.

a son of Samuel and Abigail Johnson. After his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley, he was appointed by Pres. Young to manufacture hats, and in 1861, at a fair at Payson, Utah, where he had located, Bro. Johnson had an exhibit of hats, which was highly praised. In 1864 he still resided at Payson and on Feb. 25th had the misfortune to lose a little son, who was killed while handling a gun sent to Bro. Johnson to be repaired. The date of Bro. Johnson's death is not known.

KELSEY, Stephen, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Dec. 23, 1830, in Montville, Geauga Co., Ohio, a son of Stephen Kelsey and Rachel Allen. His mother was a member of the Church, but he had not been baptized when he became one of Pres. Brigham Young's company of pioneers. At that time he was only 17 years of age. His father, who had recently died, had not joined the Church, but was not antagonistic. Bro. Kelsey returned to Winter Quarters with Pres. Brigham Young in the fall of 1847 and found that during his absence his mother and one of his sisters had died. He came back to Salt Lake Valley in 1848 with the remainder of his mother's family. He had by this time been baptized and was a faithful member of the Church from that time. In 1850 he went to California and managed to wash out about $500 worth of gold, but only stayed four months. Soon after his return he married Lydia Snyder, who proved a devoted wife and bore him eleven children. He located at Brigham City in the fall of 1856, where he remained until 1864, when he went to Bear Lake Valley on a colonization mission and died at Paris, Idaho, May 23, 1900.

KENDALL, Levi Newel, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born April 19, 1822, at Lockport, Niagara Co., N. Y., a son of Levi Kendall and Lorena Lyman. He was baptized in Redford, Michigan, by Elder D. B. Hurlbert, in October, 1842. He was ordained a Seventy in April, 1844, at Nauvoo, under the hands of Pres. Joseph Young, sen., and filled a mission to Michigan the same year. After his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley with the pioneer company in July, 1847, he assisted to plow the land and plant crops until he returned to Winter Quarters with Pres. Young in the fall of the same year. He came back to the "Valley" in 1848, and married Elizabeth Clemmons in Salt Lake City in 1851. In 1856 he became a resident of Springville, Utah, where he assisted in the construction of canyon roads and irrigating canals and from which place in 1861 he went to the Missouri River with Capt. John R. Murdock to bring poor saints to the "Valley." Bro. Kendall died at Springville March 10, 1905, survived by a large family.

KLEINMAN, Konrad, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born April 19, 1815, in Germany, a son of Konrad Kleinman and Odelia Wissing. He emigrated to America when quite young and becoming a convert to the gospel was baptized Aug. 26, 1844, by Dominicus Carter in Indiana. Being chosen a member of Pres. Brigham Young's pioneer band, he (from the time of his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley) took an active part in the up-building of Utah. In 1855-56 he filled a mission to New York, and in 1861 was called to southern Utah on a colonization mission. His first wife had no children, but later he married Anna Benz and Mary Ann Garner and became the father of thirteen children. Bro. Kleinman was ordained a Patriarch in September, 1891, and died Nov. 12, 1907, at St. George, Utah. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 2, p. 661.)

arrived in Great Salt Lake Valley in July, 1847, was born in 1824 in the parish of Ten, in Thelemarken, Norway, a daughter of Ysten Sondrasen. The family emigrated to America in 1837, when Ellen was about thirteen years old, and located in Indiana. Later they moved to La Salle County, Illinois, where Ellen joined the Church in 1842. She became the wife of Heber C. Kimball in the Nauvoo Temple Jan. 7, 1846, shared in the toils and vicissitudes of the saints in their exodus from Nauvoo and the perils of the journey across the plains. Sister Ellen S. Kimball and Hans Christian Hansen were the only Scandinavians in the original pioneer company. Sister Ellen became the mother of five children, three of whom died in infancy. She died Nov. 22, 1871, in Salt Lake City. (Bio. Ency., Vol. 2, p. 772.)

KIMBALL, Heber C., one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born June 14, 1801, at Sheldon, Franklin Co., Vermont, a son of Solomon Farnham Kimball and Anna Spaulding. He was baptized in April, 1832, by Alpheus Gifford and ordained an Elder in 1832, by Joseph Young. He was ordained an Apostle Feb. 14, 1835, under the hands of Oliver Cowdery, David Whitmer and Martin Harris. After helping to establish the headquarters of the Church in Great Salt Lake Valley, he returned with Pres. Brigham Young to Winter Quarters, and when the presidency of the Church was reorganized on Dec. 24, 1847, Bro. Kimball was selected and set apart as first counselor to Pres. Brigham Young, which position he held until his death which occurred in Salt Lake City June 22, 1868. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 34.)

pany of pioneers, and after remaining a short time in the "Valley" returned to Winter Quarters, Iowa, with Pres. Young later in 1847. It is not known that he ever came back to Utah; he is believed to have died in Boston, Mass., in 1862.

LAY, Hark, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was a negro servant of Wm. Lay, a wealthy member of the Church in Monroe County, Mississippi, who was sent with three other negroes, servants of William Crosby, John H. Bankhead and John Brown, in charge of Bro. John Brown, with two good wagons and supplies, to assist Pres. Brigham Young on the pioneer journey. Hark Lay at that time was about 22 years of age. He remained in the western country and died at Union, Salt Lake Co., Utah, about 1890.

LEWIS, Tarleton, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born May 18, 1805, in the Pendleton District (now Anderson), South Carolina, a son of Neriah Lewis and Mary Moss. He moved to Kentucky in 1809 and married Malinda Gimlin March 27, 1828. He was baptized by his brother, Benjamin Lewis, July 25, 1836. In 1847 he was chosen as one of the pioneer company in charge of Pres. Brigham Young. After arriving in the Valley he was appointed Bishop of Salt Lake City, which position he held until Salt Lake City was divided into several wards. In 1850 he was called to assist in locating a settlement in Little Salt Lake Valley, and thus became one of the founders of Parowan, Iron County, where he acted as Bishop until the spring of 1858 when he was called to settle at Minersville, Beaver County, Utah. In the fall of 1877 he was appointed Bishop of the Richfield Second Ward in Sevier County, which position he held until he moved to Teasdale, Piute County, where he died Nov. 22, 1890.

LITTLE, Jesse Carter, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Sept. 26, 1815, in Belmont, Waldo Co., Maine, a son of Thomas and Relief Little. He joined the Church in the Eastern States and was ordained a High Priest April 17, 1845, by Parley P. Pratt. In 1846 Elder Little acted as president of the Eastern States Mission. Hearing that President Polk was contemplating sending a company of militia to the seat of the war in California, he suggested that, since the Latter-day Saints were expecting to locate in the near future in Upper California, this company should be drawn from the ranks of the "Mormons" encamped on the banks of the Missouri River. This led to the call of the famous "Mormon Battalion" in 1846. After completing his mission in the East, Elder Little was called to be one of the original pioneer company in 1847. After his return to Winter Quarters with Pres. Brigham Young in the fall of 1847, Elder Little was again called to resume his presidency of the saints in the Eastern States and did not return to Great Salt Lake Valley again until 1852. For many years Bro. Little was prominent in ecclesiastical, civil and military affairs in the Territory and acted as a counselor to Presiding Bishop Edward Hunter from 1856 to 1874. He died in Salt Lake City Dec. 26, 1893, being survived by several children. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 242, and Vol. 3, p. 151.)

LOSEE, Franklin G., one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born in 1815, at Belmont, Waldo Co., Maine. He is said to have died at Lehi, Utah, but this is not authenticated.

LOVELAND, Chauncey, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Oct. 1, 1797, at Glasgow, Connecticut, a son of Levi and Estes Loveland. At the time of the martyrdom of the Prophet Joseph Smith and his brother Hyrum, Chauncey Loveland lived in Carthage, Illinois. He was not then connected with the Church, but well disposed to it, extending cordial hospitality to the brethren in times of need. He was baptized at Mt. Pisgah, Iowa, in 1846, and came to Great Salt Lake Valley in 1847 as one of the pioneer company. Later the same year he returned to Winter Quarters with Pres. Brigham Young, but came back to the "Valley" soon afterwards. He located at Bountiful, Salt Lake Co., and was successful in establishing a good home and was the father of a family which later became prominent in official circles in the state. He was a man of unwavering faith and integrity to the work of the Lord. He died at Bountiful Aug. 16, 1876.

LYMAN, Amasa M., one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born March 30, 1815, in Lyman township, Grafton Co., New Hampshire. He was baptized April 27, 1832, by Lyman E. Johnson and ordained an Apostle Aug. 20, 1842. In the exodus from Nauvoo in 1846, he rendered efficient service and as one of the pioneer company arrived in Great Salt Lake Valley in July, 1847. In 1850 he assisted in the establishment of San Bernardino, California, but while on a mission to Great Britain in 1861, he advocated false doctrines and was excommunicated from the Church May 12, 1870. He died in Millard County, Utah, Feb. 4, 1877. (Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 96.)

MARBLE, Samuel Harvey, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Oct. 6, 1822, at Phelps, Ontario Co., New York, a son of Nathaniel Marble. He joined the Church at Nauvoo, Ill., being baptized by Chester Loveland. After coming to Great Salt Lake Valley as one of the pioneers in July, 1847, he returned to Winter Quarters later the same year with Pres. Brigham Young. Having come back to the "Valley" he was called in 1849

as one of a company of nine men, in charge of Capt. A. L. Lamoreaux, to locate for a few months on Green river to ferry California and Oregon emigrants over the river, repair wagons and put up a blacksmith shop. Having located at Manti, Sanpete Co., he was elected a city councilman there in 1851 and was a member of the 23rd Quorum of Seventy in 1853. Later he moved to Round Valley, Apache Co., Arizona, where he died March 16, 1914, aged 92 years.

MARKHAM, Stephen, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Feb. 9, 1800, in the town of Avon, Ontario (now Livingston) Co., New York, a son of David Markham and Dinah Merry. He was baptized by Elder Abel Lamb in July, 1837, and remained steadfast in his loyalty to the Prophet Joseph Smith, whom he visited in the Carthage jail early on the day of the martyrdom. He only left the jail, on an errand at the request of the Prophet, a short time before the tragedy. Bro. Markham endured much persecution and was finally driven out of Nauvoo and, with the other exiled saints, camped at Winter Quarters where, in the spring of 1847, he was called to be one of the band of pioneers. Later in the same year he left Great Salt Lake City with Pres. Brigham Young and returned to Winter Quarters, but came back to the "Valley" in 1850 in charge of a company of saints. Soon after his arrival he was ordained a Bishop by Geo. A. Smith and set apart to preside over the infant settlement of Palmyra (the first location of the settlers on the Spanish Fork river.) During the Walker Indian war Bro. Markham was valiant in his efforts to protect the settlers and was appointed a colonel in the Nauvoo Legion (or local militia). In 1856 he was called on a colonizing mission to Fort Supply, near Green River, Wyoming, and assisted in or-

MATTHEWS, Joseph, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Jan. 29, 1809, in Johnson County, North Carolina. He embraced the gospel in the fall of 1843, and moved to Nauvoo, Ill., where he worked on the Temple and filled several missions to the Eastern States. He became an exile from Nauvoo in 1846, and while encamped at Winter Quarters, was chosen as one of Pres. Brigham Young's company of pioneers. He was also one of Orson Pratt's advance company which entered Great Salt Lake Valley ahead of the main company of pioneers. He was a member of Parley P. Pratt's exploration party in southern Utah in 1849. In 1851 he was called to California with Charles C. Rich and Amasa M. Lyman and remained in San Bernardino until that settlement was abandoned in 1857. In 1869 and 1870 he filled a mission to the Southern States and in 1880 moved to Arizona. He died at Pima, Graham Co., Arizona, May 14, 1886.

MILLS, George, one of the original pioneers of Utah, remained in Great Salt Lake City after he had made his entrance into the "Valley" with the pioneers under the direction of Pres. Brigham Young. There is nothing on record in regard to Bro. Mills except that he had been suffering severely from cancer when on Aug. 29, 1854, he insisted that Dr. Samuel L. Sprague should operate upon him, in the hope of obtaining relief. The doctor, in consultation with three other physicians, concluded that such an operation would prove fatal. Pres. Brigham Young was consulted and consented that the operation should be performed, but Bro. Mills died while

MURRAY, Carlos, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born in 1828 in Ontario County, N. Y. After the arrival of the pioneer company in Great Salt Lake Valley he assisted in establishing the little colony in their Rocky Mountain home and later the same year returned to Winter Quarters with Pres. Brigham Young. In 1848 he came back with Pres. Young, and when some little distance from the city went ahead to secure needed supplies. Some time later he went to California, and on his return reported that one of his company had been killed by Indians. The man had gone back to the encampment of the previous night to fetch his serape (Indian blanket) and was killed by an arrow from one of the Indians. In 1856, Carlos Murray, his wife and a man named Redden, met a similar fate, near the Humboldt River (now in Nevada). The report of the tragedy was sent in by some U. S. surveyors, and investigation disclosed a gold pencil and an ear ring which A. P. Hawes identified as the property of his sister, wife of Carlos Murray, and Bro. Murray's pistols were found in the possession of some travelers who said they bought them from Indians on the desert.

NEWMAN, Elijah, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Sept. 17, 1793, in Hampshire County, Virginia, a son of Solomon and Jane Newman. After his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley with the pioneer company, he assisted in the construction of a fort, known later as the "Old Fort" and was called to provide gates for the enclosure. In 1850 he was selected as one of a company appointed to colonize Little Salt Lake Valley, and thus became a pioneer settler of Parowan. In 1851 he was called to make further explorations in Iron County. He was a speaker at a conference held in Salt Lake City in 1852, at which time he was a resident of Parowan and was later appointed Justice of the Peace there. He died at Parowan Dec. 12, 1872.

NORTON, John Wesley, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Nov. 6, 1820, near New Lisbon, Henry Co., Indiana, a son of David and Elizabeth Norton. He was one of the famous hunters of the camp and active in securing game. After his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley in July, 1847, he assisted to establish the colony and to prepare accommodations for the nine companies of saints already en route to join the first or pioneer company. From 1854 to 1857 Elder Norton filled a mission to Australia. Upon his return he was called on various exploration trips and was appointed to assist in the settlement of southern Utah and became for a time a resident of Panaca (now in Nevada). He died at Panguitch, Garfield Co., Utah, Oct. 20, 1901, survived by several children.

OWEN, Seeley, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born March 20, 1805, at Multon, Rutland County, Vermont, a son of Ethan and Hannah Owen. After arriving in Great Salt Lake Valley in July, 1847, he remained there only a few weeks as he returned to Winter Quarters with Pres. Brigham Young later the same year. On July 24, 1854, he gave a pioneer speech at a celebration at Union, Salt Lake Co. He lived for some time at Wallsburg, in Provo Valley, and was accidentally killed while working on the Atlantic-Pacific Railroad near Flagstaff, Arizona, in 1881.

1809, at St. Johns, New Brunswick, Canada, a son of George Pack and Philotte Green. He removed with his parents at the age of eight years into the State of New York, where he married Julia Ivies Oct. 10, 1832, and together with his wife was baptized March 8, 1836, by Elder James Blakesley. He was ordained an Elder in the same year under the hands of Orson Pratt and Luke S. Johnson, and was an active member of the local Priesthood. While residing in Nauvoo, Ill., he performed several short missions to the Eastern States, and at the time of the martyrdom of the Prophet and his brother, was laboring with Ezra T. Benson on a mission in New Jersey. After the exodus of the saints from Nauvoo he was chosen as one of the pioneer company and arrived in Great Salt Lake Valley in July, 1847. Later the same year he went back to Winter Quarters and returned in 1848 with his family. He built a home in the 17th Ward, Salt Lake City, helped to build Chase's mill in Liberty Park, built the first dancing hall in Utah, in which Livingston and Kincaid opened the first store. In 1856 he helped to settle Carson Valley (Nevada) and was a member of the Deseret Agricultural and Manufacturing Society. He died in Salt Lake City, April 4, 1885, being survived by a large family.

PEIRCE, Eli Harvey, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born July 29, 1827, at Uwchland, Chester Co., Pa., a son of Robert Peirce and Hannah Harvey. He was baptized March 27, 1842, by the Prophet Joseph Smith and after his arrival in Utah he became the second Bishop of Brigham City. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 2, p. 686.)

POMEROY, Francis M., one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Feb. 22, 1822, at Somers, Tolland Co., Conn., a son of Martin Pomeroy and Sybil Hunt. After arriving in Great Salt Lake Valley, he engaged in many pioneer enterprises, operated a saw mill, shingle and lath business, served as a missionary to the Indians and died at Mesa, Arizona, Feb. 28, 1883, survived by a large family. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 3, p. 488.)

POWELL, David, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born May 26, 1822, in the Edgefield District, South Carolina, a son of John and Rebecca Powell. He was ordained a Seventy and became a member of the 24th Quorum of Seventy, organized in Nauvoo. After arriving in Great Salt Lake Valley with the pioneers in July, 1847, he returned to Winter Quarters with Pres. Brigham Young later the same year and came back to Utah in 1853 with his wife (Ann) and son (David, jun.) Later he went to California and died near Santa Rosa, between 1881 and 1885.

PRATT, Orson, one of the original pioneers of Utah and one of the Twelve Apostles at that time, was born Sept. 19, 1811, at Hartford, Washington Co., New York, a son of Jared Pratt and Charity Dickenson. Bro. Pratt was sent by Pres. Brigham Young in charge of a group of men to act as an advance company to look out and prepare a road for the main body to enter Salt Lake Valley. On July 21, 1847, he and Erastus Snow, with only one horse between them, came down Emigration canyon ahead of their companies and beheld in the distance the blue waters of the Great Salt Lake. Elder Snow wrote later: "We simultaneously swung our hats and shouted, 'Hosannah.'" (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 87.)

RAPPLEYE, Tunis, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born in 1807 in the State of New York, a son of John Rappleye and Margaret Tellie. He was associated with the Church in Kirtland, Ohio, where he married Louisa Cutler, who became the mother of eight children. After his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley, for many years he was in the employ of Pres. Brigham Young as a head gardener. He also served as a missionary to the Eastern States, as a member of the Utah Militia while protecting the settlers against Indian depredations, and as a teamster in going to the Missouri River to bring emigrants to Utah. Bro. Tunis Rappleye died at Kanosh, Utah, Dec. 25, 1883. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 2, p. 798.)

REDDEN, Return Jackson, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Sept. 1816, at Hiram, Portage Co., Ohio, a son of George Grant Redden and Adelia Higley. He was baptized in 1841 at Nauvoo and endured the trials consequent upon the exodus of the saints from that city. In passing through what is now Uinta County, Wyoming, Bro. Redden discovered a curious cave now known as Cache Cave, but which for some time was known as Redden's Cave. After his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley, he assisted in planting crops, and, later the same year, returned with Pres. Brigham Young to Winter Quarters. He came back in 1848 with his family, and in 1849 accompanied Apostle Amasa M. Lyman to California, and, returning by way of Carson Valley, he lived there two years. He was ordained a Seventy and became a member of the 3rd Quorum of Seventy. He lived successively in Tooele and Summit counties, serving as a justice of the peace in both. He died at Hoytsville, Summit Co., Utah, Aug. 30, 1891, survived by a large family.

RICHARDS, Willard, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born June 24, 1804, in Hopkinton, Middlesex Co., Mass., a son of Joseph Richards and Rhoda Howe. He was baptized by Brigham Young (his cousin) at Kirtland, Ohio, Dec. 31, 1836. He was a physician by profession, and in 1841 was appointed to act as secretary to the Prophet Joseph Smith, and was with him in Carthage Jail at the time of the martyrdom of the Prophet and his brother Hyrum, June 27, 1844. Dr. Richards was selected as second counselor to Pres. Brigham Young at the reorganization of the First Presidency Dec. 27, 1847, and after the establishment of a local government in the Great Basin, he served as secretary of the Provisional Government of the State of Deseret, and of the Territory of Utah. He was also postmaster of Great Salt Lake City and historian and recorder for the Church. He died in Salt Lake City March 11, 1854, survived by several children. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 53.)

ROCKWELL, Orrin Porter, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born June 25, 1815, in the State of New York, a son of Orrin Rockwell and Sarah Ivory. He was baptized in Fayette, Seneca Co., N. Y., soon after the organization of the Church and was with the Prophet Joseph Smith just previous to the arrest of the Prophet and his martyrdom, and would have followed him to Carthage but for a special message from the Prophet that he should remain in Nauvoo. On the pioneer journey, Orrin Porter Rockwell rendered signal service as a hunter. He was one of Orson Pratt's advance company which entered the "Valley" ahead of the main body of the pioneers. He had considerable influence with the Indians and many times was instrumental in making peace with them and saving the settlers from disaster. He was also closely associated with the overland mail company and the pony express riders. One of the mail stations was located at his home 25 miles southwest of Salt Lake City. He served as deputy marshal of Salt Lake City for a number of years and died there June 9, 1878.

ROCKWOOD, Albert Perry, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born June 5, 1805, in Holliston, Middlesex Co., Mass., a son of Luther Rockwood and Ruth Perry. He was baptized in Kirtland, Ohio, July 25, 1837, by Brigham Young. He was ordained a Seventy Jan. 5, 1836, and set apart as one of the First Seven Presidents of Seventies at Nauvoo Dec. 2, 1845. In Utah he served as warden of the Territorial Penitentiary for fifteen years, served in the Territorial Legislature and director of the Deseret Agricultural and Manufacturing Society. He died in Salt Lake City Nov. 25, 1879, survived by a large family. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 194.)

ROLFE, Benjamin Williams, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Oct. 7, 1822, at Romford, Oxford Co., Maine. His father having embraced the fullness of the Gospel in Maine, moved to Kirtland, Ohio, in the fall of 1834, and later to Nauvoo, Illinois. When the pioneer company was organized at Winter Quarters the father of Benjamin W. Rolfe was one of the men selected to go, but Benjamin W., having just arrived at Winter Quarters from the East, was permitted to take his father's place. At that time he was not a member of the Church. He arrived in Great Salt Lake Valley with the Pioneer company in July, 1847, and later in the year returned to Winter Quarters with Pres. Brigham Young. When the company arrived at Chimney Rock, Bro. Rolfe was selected as one of two men to go on to Salt Lake City with Bro. John Y. Greene to carry mail. Later Bro. Rolfe took part in the Salmon River Mission to the Indians, and helped to establish Fort Supply. After his return, he located in Salt Lake City where he worked as a carpenter and was a member of the 16th Quorum of Seventy. He was of a retiring disposition and took no particular part in public affairs, but was esteemed for his honesty and general straightforwardness. He died in Salt Lake City May 31, 1892.

ROOKER, Joseph, one of the original pioneers of Utah, remained in Salt Lake Valley for some time and was a member of a committee to take teams to meet the on-coming companies, relieve them of their loads and assist them to reach their destination. Later he resided at Black Rock, Salt Lake Co., and was a member of the 9th Quorum of Seventy. About 1857 he went to California.

ROUNDY, Shadrach, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Jan. 1, 1789, at Rockingham, Windham Co., Vermont. He presided as Bishop over the 16th Ward, Salt Lake City, Utah, from 1849 to 1856, and died in Salt Lake City July 4, 1872. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 642.)

SCHOFIELD, Joseph Smith, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Aug. 2, 1809, in Winchester Co., New York. He was a carpenter by trade and in many ways assisted the pioneer company by repairing wagons, etc., as well as by being the driver of one of the wagons. After coming to Utah he plied his trade in different parts of Salt Lake County, and when the settlements of southern Utah were being established went to Utah's Dixie and later located at Bellevue, Washington Co., where he died March 8, 1875, respected and loved by all who knew him.

SCHOLES, George, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Feb. 2, 1812, at Chadderton, Lancashire, England, a son of George and Sarah Scholes. He was baptized Nov. 3, 1839, by Thomas Miller and confirmed by William Clayton. Emigrating to America, he arrived at Nauvoo April 18, 1841, with his wife and one child, and was ordained an Elder at the April Conference of 1842, by George A. Smith. He was ordained a Seventy and became a member of the 23rd Quorum of Seventy in Nauvoo, in 1845. At Nauvoo he bought a city lot and erected a brick house; he also planted and cultivated many fine fruit trees on his lot. His wife and three children died at Nauvoo. Being selected as one of the pioneer company after the expulsion of the saints from Nauvoo, upon his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley he prepared land for planting potatoes, peas, beans and other vegetables, and helped in the construction of the old fort for protection against Indians. He went back to Winter Quarters in the fall of 1847 with Pres. Young, and being appointed to some particular business at St. Louis, Mo., did not return to Salt Lake City until 1850, when he brought with him his newly wedded wife, Mary Spencer, to whom he had been united in marriage at Council Bluffs by Elder Orson Hyde. The family located in Cottonwood, Salt Lake Co., where Bro. Scholes died Aug. 14, 1857, leaving a wife and four little children.

SHERWOOD, Henry G., one of the original pioneers of Utah, was associated with the Latter-day Saints in the early days of Nauvoo and was one of those who contracted malaria fever when the saints were first established at Commerce (as it was then called) Henry G. Sherwood was instantly healed at that time under the hands of the Prophet Joseph Smith. Later, he was appointed city marshal at Nauvoo. He endured trials with the saints during their expulsion from Nauvoo, and was selected as one of the pioneer company. On the journey he was appointed commissary general for the camp and after his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley made the drawing of the first survey of Salt Lake City. Having no paper of suitable size, this important document was drawn on a prepared sheep's skin. Elder Sherwood also became a member of the first High Council in Salt Lake Valley. He was a speaker at the Independence Day celebration in Salt Lake City July 4, 1852. In September, 1852, he left Salt Lake City for San Bernardino, California, to survey a ranch recently purchased by the Church as a place of settlement for the saints, and in July, 1853, was appointed surveyor for San Bernardino County. In 1856, owing to the Johnston army troubles, the saints in San Bernardino returned to Utah, and Bro. Sherwood became agent in Salt Lake City for the Pony Express Company. Later he returned to San Bernardino, where he died about 1862.

SHUMWAY, Andrew Purley, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Feb. 20, 1833, at Millbury, Worcester Co., Mass., a son of Charles Shumway and Julia Ann Hooker. Thus it will be seen that he was a lad of only 14 years of age, when he arrived in Great Salt Lake Valley. He was baptized by the Prophet Joseph Smith in Nauvoo, but his mother having died at Winter Quarters, he was allowed to accompany his father to the mountains and is reported to have been a willing and active member of the pioneer band. He and his father were pioneers of Sanpete County, Utah. He filled a short mission to Great Britain in 1856-1857 but was recalled on account of the Johnston Army troubles. In 1858 he married Amanda Graham and located at Mendon, in Cache County, his being one of eight families who were pioneers of that settlement, over which he was called to preside as Bishop in 1859. This position he held until 1872, when he was called on another mission to Great Britain. In 1863 he married Mary Ann Christian and in 1874 moved to Franklin, Oneida Co., Idaho, where he died June 12, 1909, survived by a large family.

SHUMWAY, Charles, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Aug. 1, 1806, at Oxford, Worcester Co., Mass., a son of Samuel and Polly Shumway. He embraced the gospel in Illinois about the year 1840, and soon afterwards moved to Nauvoo, where he took an active part in defending the saints against mob violence, being one of the city police. He was the first to cross the Mississippi River with exiles from Nauvoo in February, 1846, and assisted to establish them at Winter Quarters. When he was selected as a member of the pioneer company, he asked that his son, Andrew P. Shumway, then a boy 14 years of age, might accompany him, which he did, the boy's mother having died at Winter Quarters a few months before. After a short sojourn in Great Salt Lake Valley he and his young son returned later the same year (1847) with Pres. Brigham Young, to Winter Quarters. Having again come to the "Valley" Bro. Shumway became a pioneer of Manti, Sanpete Co., Utah, in 1849, and served as a member of the legislature, representing Sanpete County. Bro. Shumway filled two missions, one to Canada and one to the Eastern States and was one of the first settlers of Mendon, Cache County, Utah, in 1859. He also assisted in founding settlements in southern Utah and in 1880 erected a grist mill on the present site of Shumway, near Taylor, Arizona, which settlement was named in his honor. Elder Shumway died at Johnson, Kane County, Utah, May 21, 1898, survived by a large family.

SMITH, George Albert, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born June 26, 1817, at Potsdam, St. Lawrence Co., New York, a son of Patriarch John Smith and Clarissa Lyman. He was a member of the Council of Twelve Apostles at the time he made the pioneer journey, and died in Salt Lake City, Sept. 1, 1875. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 37.)

SMOOT, William C. A., one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Jan. 30, 1828, in the State of Tennessee. He was baptized Feb. 8, 1836, by Henry G. Sherwood. After his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley, Bro. Smoot spent the winter of 1847-1848 in the North Fort and later settled permanently in the Sugar House Ward. In 1856 he was set apart as a counselor to Abraham O. Smoot, Bishop of the Sugar House Ward. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 2, p. 711.)

SNOW, Erastus, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Nov. 9, 1818, at St. Johnsbury, Caledonia Co., Vermont, a son of Levi and Lucina Snow. As a member of the advance company of the pioneers he and Orson Pratt, one riding a horse and the other walking, came down Emigration canyon and entered Salt Lake Valley, being the first two men of the company to see and explore the tract, which appeared to them a beautiful country. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 103.)

STEVENS, Roswell, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Oct. 17, 1809, at Grand River, Upper Canada, a son of Roswell Stevens and Sibbell Spencer. He was converted by the preaching of the Prophet Joseph Smith and Sidney Rigdon and was baptized in the spring of 1834 by John P. Greene. Later, he and his family, consisting of his wife and five children, located at Nauvoo, where he served as a member of the police force. After the exodus of the saints from Nauvoo, Bro. Stevens was one of the men who enlisted in the Mormon Battalion. He traveled with his company as far as Santa Fe when he, John D. Lee and Howard Egan were appointed to return to Winter Quarters and take money contributed by members of the Battalion to assist the saints. In the spring of 1847, Bro. Stevens was sel-lected as one of the pioneer company and arrived in Great Salt Lake Valley in July, 1847. He returned to Winter Quarters later the same year with President Brigham Young and was specially appointed to care for the families of the Mormon Battalion men until they could be sent on to Salt Lake Valley. In due time he too came back to Utah and died at Bluff City, San Juan Co., Utah, May 4, 1880, as a faithful member of the Church.

STEWART, Benjamin Franklin, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Oct. 22, 1817, on the bank of the Ohio River, in Jackson township, Missouri. He was baptized Feb. 2, 1844, after which he and his family united with the saints and after being exiled from Nauvoo, he was chosen as one of the pioneer company. En route, he was one of ten men left at the Upper Platte Ferry for the purpose of ferrying the saints who followed, across the river. In due time his wife and children, traveling in Abraham O. Smoot's company, came to the ferry and he went on to Salt Lake Valley with them. He became one of the founders of Payson, Utah Co., Utah, where he served as mayor two terms, and later was one of the founders of Benjamin, Utah Co., which was named in his honor, and of which settlement he was the first presiding Elder. He died at Benjamin June 22, 1885, being struck by lightning. He was survived by his wife and several children. (Bio. Ency., Vol. 2, p. 717.)

STEWART, James W., one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born May 19, 1825, in Fayette County, Alabama, a son of George Stewart and Ruth Baker. He and his parents and other members of the family were baptized May 25, 1842, by Benjamin Clapp in Alabama. When the pioneer company arrived at the Platte River, he, with nine other men was left to operate a ferry which he had helped to construct and on which the on-coming companies were to cross the river. After his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley he assisted to construct irrigation ditches. Later, he filled a mission to the Southern States, where he met Jane Grover, a daughter of Thomas Grover, whom he married and located in Farmington. Later he lived in Morgan County and died March 22, 1913, in Cokeville, Wyoming, at the home of one of his daughters.

STRINGHAM, Briant, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born March 28, 1825, at Windsor, Broome Co., N. Y., a son of George Stringham and Polly Hendrickson. After his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley he located there and helped to plant trees, build houses and otherwise develop the place. He was a lover of animals, could recognize fine points in stock, and engaged in horse trading. He was appointed Probate Judge of Cache County in 1856, but still engaged in raising fine stock and at the Fair, fostered by the Deseret Agricultural and Manufacturing Company, he won prizes for his exhibits in 1857. For fifteen years he had charge of the tithing stock of the Church and during the Indian wars had charge of the commissary department. He died in Salt Lake City Aug. 4, 1871, survived by a large family.

SUMME, Gilbard, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Aug. 22, 1802, a son of John and Caroline Summe. After arriving in Great Salt Lake Valley, he resided for some time in Great Salt Lake City where he on April 6, 1850, was sustained as a counselor in the general presidency of the Deacons. This position he held for some time. In 1865 he was called on the Muddy Mission and with his family resided at St. Joseph, a now defunct settlement in Moapa Valley.

Bro. Summe died June 13, 1867, at Harrisburg, Washington Co., Utah.

TAFT, Seth, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Aug. 11, 1790, a son of Seth and Lydia Taft. After his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley he became Bishop of the 9th Ward in Salt Lake City and died in Salt Lake City Nov. 23, 1863, as a Patriarch. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 2, p. 798.)

TANNER, Thomas, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born March 31, 1804, in Bristol, Gloucestershire, England, a son of William and Judea Tanner. He emigrated to America in 1831, was married in 1834, and was baptized at New Rochell, Winchester Co., New York, in 1841. He went to Nauvoo and, with the saints, located in that beautiful city, was forced to leave his home and journeyed toward the West as far as the Missouri River in 1846. He spent the winter of 1846-1847 there, and in 1847 was called to be one of the pioneer company. With Pres. Young he returned to Winter Quarters in 1847 and came back to Salt Lake Valley with his family in 1848. He then set to work making adobes, and after building a house and shop commenced work as a blacksmith. Later he became foreman of the Church blacksmith shop in Salt Lake City, which position he held until his death, which occurred Aug. 2, 1855, in Salt Lake City.

TAYLOR, Norman, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Sept. 18, 1828, at Grafton, Lorraine Co., Ohio. He arrived in Salt Lake Valley in July, 1847, and later in the year returned to Winter Quarters with Pres. Brigham Young. He came back to Salt Lake Valley with his wife, Lurana Forbush, and located for a time in Salt Lake City. In 1850, in Salt Lake City, he married Lydia Forbush, a sister of Lurana. In the early fifties he went to San Bernardino, California, with Apostle Amasa M. Lyman and returned to Utah with him in 1857, the saints in San Bernardino being called back to Utah on account of the Johnston Army troubles. Bro. Taylor died at Moab, Grand Co., Utah, Nov. 25, 1899, survived by a large family.

THOMAS, Robert T., one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Jan. 8, 1822, at Richmond, North Carolina, a son of Henry Thomas and Esther Taylor. He was baptized Feb. 12, 1844, and after arriving in Great Salt Lake Valley, filled many positions of honor in the community. For eleven years he was justice of the peace at Provo and died there Feb. 28, 1892. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 2, p. 723.)

THORNTON, Horace, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born May 7, 1822, at Hinsdale, Catteraugus Co., N. Y., a son of Ezra Thornton and Harriet Goodrich. He was one of the first of the pioneer company to enter Great Salt Lake Valley, being one of Orson Pratt's vanguard of 42 men, which preceded the main body. He was a member of the 20th Quorum of Seventy in Nauvoo and later became a member of the 69th Quorum of Seventy in Utah. He died at Manti, Sanpete Co., Utah, March 21, 1914, survived by a large family.

THORPE, Marcus Ball, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born June 12, 1822, at New Haven, Conn. Having become a member of the Church, he left his native town in 1846 and joined the exiled saints at Winter Quarters. He arrived in Great Salt Lake Valley in July, 1847, and returned to Winter Quarters later the same year with Pres. Brigham Young. He came back in 1848 and the following year went to California, where he secured what he thought would be money enough to bring his parents and family to Utah. This money he placed in a belt which he wore when he left California in 1851, but on the voyage he fell overboard and was drowned. His body and money were not recovered.

TIPPETS, John Harvey, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Sept. 5, 1810, in Wittingham, Rockingham Co., New Hampshire, a son of John Tippetts and Abigail Pierce. He was baptized in March, 1832. After being exiled from Nauvoo he arrived at Winter Quarters, where he joined the Mormon Battalion and traveled with his company to Pueblo. On the 23rd of December, 1846, he and Thos. Woolsey started from Pueblo for Winter Quarters to carry money, mail and dispatches to the saints. The following spring he was selected to be one of the pioneer company. He died at Farmington, Utah, Feb. 14, 1890, as a Patriarch in the Church. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 3, p. 269.)

VANCE, William Perkins, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Oct. 20, 1822, in Jackson County, Tennessee, a son of John Vance and Sarah Perkins. He was baptized in 1842, went to Nauvoo, and lived for a time in the home of the Prophet Joseph Smith. After his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley with the pioneers, he was one of a company which, under the direction of Parley P. Pratt, explored the regions lying south of Salt Lake Valley; later he became one of the first settlers in Iron County. He served as the first judge in Summit County, and in 1884 moved to St. George. In 1902 he located at Lund, Nevada, where he died Dec. 5, 1914, survived by his wife, three sons and three daughters.

WALKER, Henson, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born March 13, 1820, in Manchester, Ontario Co., New York, a son of Henson Walker and Matilda Arnell. After his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley, he became a pioneer of Pleasant Grove, Utah Co., Utah, where he presided as Bishop for a number of years and also served several terms as mayor of that city. He was the father of twenty children. Bishop Walker died at Pleasant Grove Jan. 24, 1904. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 508.)

WARDLE, George, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Feb. 3, 1820, in Chedelton parish, Staffordshire, England, a son of Ralph Wardle and Ann Allen. He was baptized by Wm. Knight in 1839, emigrated to America in 1842, went to Nauvoo and with the exiled saints from that city located at Winter Quarters, where he was selected as one of the pioneer company. He was a talented musician and became a member of the brass band which played at the laying of the cornerstones of the Salt Lake Temple, April 6, 1853. He located at Vernal, Uintah Co., where he taught music and assisted in protecting the settlers against Indian depredations. He was chorister of the Vernal Ward and later chorister of the Uintah Stake. He died at Vernal Nov. 25, 1901, survived by a large family.

WARDSWORTH, William Shin, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born March 5, 1810, in Salem County, New Jersey. He was baptized by Elder George Adams at Philadelphia, Pa., in the fall of 1841 and was ordained a Seventy by Joseph Young in February, 1846. He was a hard-working and intelligent man, and on the pioneer journey rendered signal service in clearing the roads and in building bridges. He also assisted in exploration of the surrounding country after his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley. As long as he was able, he was always foremost in opening canyons, making roads, digging water ditches, etc., and many of the present residents of Utah now enjoy the fruits of his labors. Bro.

WEILER, Jacob, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born March 14, 1809, near Churchtown, Lancaster Co., Pa. After his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley he served as Bishop of the 3rd Ward of Salt Lake City for about forty years. He died in Salt Lake City March 24, 1896, as a Patriarch in the Church and survived by several children. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 601.)

WHEELER, John, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Feb. 3, 1802, in Kean County, South Carolina, a son of William and Lucy Wheeler. He came to Great Salt Lake Valley in July, 1847, as one of the pioneer company, and later the same year returned to Winter Quarters with Pres. Brigham Young. He came back to the Rocky Mountain home of the saints and was in Great Salt Lake City in March, 1851. In 1861 he was complimented for the fine stock exhibited by him at the Fair in Salt Lake City, under the auspices of the Deseret Agricultural and Manufacturing Society. Later he went to California and became lost to the knowledge of his former friends.

WHIPPLE, Edson, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Feb. 5, 1805, at Dummerston, Vermont, a son of Timothy Whipple and Elizabeth Safford. He was baptized by Benjamin Winchester in Philadelphia, Pa., June 15, 1840. He became one of the pioneers of Parowan and drew the plan for that city, and with another brother, erected the first thresher there. He died at Colonia Juarez, Mexico, May 11, 1894. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 3, p. 560.)

born July 25, 1823, at Kirtland, Ohio, a son of Newel K. and Elizabeth Ann Whitney. His father, later presiding Bishop of the Church, gave him the best opportunity that the times and educational facilities could command, and being very intelligent, and possessed of a retentive memory, the boy acquired a taste for learning and a love of literature which remained with him all his life. He was also an expert mathematician and an accomplished musician—in a word, he possessed gifts which in a less diffident man, would have brought him into great prominence. He learned the printer's trade in Nauvoo and set type for the first issue of the "Deseret News," June 15, 1850. He performed military service with the territorial militia, was a member of the Deseret Dramatic Association, treading with recognized ability the boards of the Social Hall and Salt Lake Theater in the early sixties, and was for years a member of the theatre orchestra. Bro. Whitney died Nov. 22, 1884, in Salt Lake City, Utah, survived by his wives, Helen Mar Kimball, and Mary Cravath Whitney, and several children, among whom was the late Apostle Orson F. Whitney.

WHITNEY, Orson K., one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Jan. 30, 1830, at Kirtland, Ohio, a son of Newel K. and Elizabeth Ann Whitney. After his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley, Bro. Whitney took part in numerous expeditions in connection with Indian depredations and was a daring and adventurous frontiersman. He died in Salt Lake City July 31, 1884.

WILLIAMS, Almon M., one of the original pioneers of Utah, arrived in Great Salt Lake Valley with Pres. Brigham Young in July, 1847. Later the same year he returned to Winter Quarters in William Clayton's company, and in 1848 is mentioned as one of the signers of a petition to the U. S. government to establish a post-office on the Pottawattamie lands. He probably did not come back to Utah, as no further mention is made in reference to him.

WOODRUFF, Wilford, one of the original pioneers of Utah, at which time he was a member of the Council of the Twelve Apostles, was born March 1, 1807, in Farmington, Hartford Co., Conn., a son of Aphek Woodruff. After his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley he fostered agriculture and manufactures and established the Deseret Agricultural and Manufacturing Association, which held fairs, awarding prizes for superior merit. Bro. Woodruff died as President of the Church, while visiting friends in San Francisco, California. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 20.)

WOOLSEY, Thomas, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Nov. 3, 1805, in Pulaski Co., Kentucky, a son of Joseph Woolsey and Abigail Shiffer. He was baptized in 1838, in Kentucky, and emigrated to Nauvoo, Illinois. When the saints, encamped on the banks of the Missouri River, were called upon to furnish 500 men to volunteer to go into military service and march to California, he was one who responded to the call, leaving his wife and family at Mount Pisgah. He went with the company as far as Fort Leavenworth and being appointed with John H. Tippetts to carry money collected from the Mormon Battalion for the benefit of the exiled saints on the Missouri River, he went back to Winter Quarters and in the spring of the following year was selected as one of the pioneer company. After remaining a short time in Salt Lake Valley, he returned to Winter Quarters with Pres. Brigham Young. He was appointed to assist in caring for the saints at Winter Quarters and did not come back to Utah until 1852. He took part cheerfully in the labors of the pioneers to establish settlements and died at Wales, Sanpete Co., Utah, Jan. 5, 1897. He was the father of 27 children.

WOODWARD, George, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Sept. 9, 1817, in Monmouth County, New Jersey. He was with the wagons that made the first start from Winter Quarters for the Rocky Mountains on April 5, 1847. Returning to Winter Quarters for conference he joined the camp at the Elkhorn River again on April 7, 1847. He describes the artillery of the camp as consisting of one cannon, rigged up like a wagon, with a span of horses and a grain box. He was one of the pioneers of southern Utah and became a prominent citizen of St. George, Washington Co., where he died Dec. 17, 1903.

YOUNG, Brigham, the great pioneer and leader of the original company of Utah pioneers, was born June 1, 1801, at Whitingham, Windham Co., Vermont, a son of John Young and A. Nabie Howe. He was baptized and confirmed a member of the Church April 14, 1832, and from that time became an earnest worker and one of the veritable pillars of the Church. As president of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles he became the nominal president of the Church immediately after the martyrdom of the Prophet Joseph Smith and his brother Hyrum. With characteristic leadership he led the first company of pioneers across the plains and mountains to their selected refuge in the Rocky Mountains, was sustained as president of the Church in the fall of 1847, served as governor of the Provisional State of Deseret and of the Territory of Utah, and under his guidance nearly 300 towns and settlements were founded during the thirty years which intervened between his arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley and his death in

YOUNG, Clarissa Decker, one of the three original pioneer women of Utah, and a wife of Pres. Brigham Young, was born July 22, 1828, in Freedom, Catteraugus Co., N. Y., a daughter of Isaac Decker and Harriet Page Wheeler. After her arrival in Great Salt Lake Valley, she remained with the saints while her husband returned to Winter Quarters, and was an example of patience and industry to the pioneer women who followed closely after the original company of pioneers. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 3, p. 804.)

YOUNG, Harriet Page Wheeler, one of the three original pioneer women of Utah, and a wife of Lorenzo D. Young, was born Sept. 7, 1803, at Hillsboro, New Hampshire, a daughter of Oliver Wheeler and Hannah Ashley. While on the pioneer journey, she was accompanied by two children, her own little boy, Isaac Perry Decker (son of her first husband, Isaac Decker) and Lorenzo Sobieski Young (Bro. Lorenzo D. Young's son by a former wife, Clara Decker Young). She was also the mother of Clara, Pres. Brigham Young's wife. Sister Young died in Salt Lake City Dec. 22, 1871.

YOUNG, Lorenzo Dow, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Oct. 19, 1807, at Smyrna, Chenango Co., New York, a son of John Young and Nabie Howe. He was a brother of Pres. Brigham Young. As a child he was very weakly, but was put to work with a gardener and nursery man. This labor, although somewhat strenuous, improved his health and was also of great advantage to the Utah pioneers as he was the first to cultivate garden flowers in Salt Lake Valley, and was successful in raising fine vegetables. On the pioneer journey he brought with him a cow, one of the very few cows brought to Salt Lake Valley in 1847. For a time he and his family lived in the Old Fort, but finally, receiving permission from Pres. Brigham Young, he erected a house close to the present site of the Eagle Gate. He was Bishop of the 18th Ward, Salt Lake City, from 1851 to 1878, and died in Salt Lake City Nov. 21, 1895.

YOUNG, Lorenzo Zobieski, (also spelled Sobieski), one of the two children in the original pioneer company (a child of six years of age at the time), was born March 9, 1841, in Winchester, Morgan Co., Illinois, a son of Lorenzo D. Young and Persis Goodall. With his father and his wife Clara Decker Young, the boy came to Great Salt Lake Valley in July, 1847. His second name, Zobieski, was traced back to John III, king of Poland, after whom he was named. Like his father, Lorenzo D. Young, Zobieski, as he was generally called, loved horticulture, and at 85 years of age, expressed his joy that winter would soon be gone and he could again work in his garden. He died March 28, 1904, at Shelley, Idaho, survived by several children.

YOUNG, Phinehas Howe, one of the original pioneers of Utah, was born Feb. 16, 1799, in Hopkinton, Middlesex Co., Mass., a son of John Young and Nabie Howe, and a brother of Pres. Brigham Young. After coming to Great Salt Lake Valley with the pioneers he took an active part in developing the resources of the country and worked as a printer. Later he worked as a saddler and still later as a contractor. He filled missions to Canada and to England and died in Salt Lake City Oct. 10, 1879, survived by a large family.

CENTRAL COMMITTEE

tee from 1927 to 1930+, was born Sept. 18, 1865, in Darlington, Wisconsin, a son of William H. Armstrong and Georgia Wright. He died Oct. 23, 1932, in Salt Lake City, Utah. Mr. Armstrong was a successful banker and in full sympathy with the policy of honoring the Old Folks.

AUERBACH, Herbert F., a member of the Old Folks Central Committee since 1927, was born Oct. 4, 1882, in Salt Lake City, Utah, a son of Samuel H. Auerbach and Eveline Brooks. He is one of the most prominent men in Utah in civic and business affairs, and in favor of any movement inaugurated toward making life happy for the Old Folks.

BARTON, William B., a member of the Old Folks Central Committee from 1903 to 1923, was born July 21, 1836, at Sutton Mill, on the Douglas river, near Wigan, Lancashire, England, a son of John Barton and Elizabeth Bell. He died Oct. 1, 1923, in Salt Lake City, Utah. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 667.)

BEAN, Joshua B., a member of the Old Folks Central Committee, from 1908 to 1935, and secretary from 1915 to 1935, was born Oct. 9, 1858, in Cincinnati, Ohio, a son of Joseph Bean and Sarah Beanland. He died Feb. 4, 1935, in Los Angeles, California.

BINDER, William Lawrence Spicer, a member of the Old Folks Central Committee from 1879 to 1902, was born July 10, 1832, in London, England, a son of John Binder and Mary Spicer. He died July 21, 1910, in Salt Lake City, Utah. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 1, p. 640.)

MISCELLANEOUS BIOGRAPHIES

ADAMS, Orson B., a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company C, was born March 9, 1815, in New York State, and came to Utah the year following the march of the Battalion to California. In 1850 he went to Parowan as a pioneer, and later extended his pioneer work to Washington County, Utah, settling at Harrisburg. He died Feb. 4, 1901. His companion in the Battalion, John Steele, spoke at the services, and told of the fine character of Brother Adams; said he was a most diligent and straightforward man. Brother Adams acted as Bishop of the Harrisburg Ward in 1878.

ALLEN, Ezra H., a member of the Mormon Battalion, marched as a private in Company C to California, and after his discharge went up the Pacific coast as far as the Sacramento River. There he was employed until June, 1848, when he started for Great Salt Lake Valley, together with others who, like himself, had been members of the Mormon Battalion. On the journey eastward he was killed by Indians in the Sierra Nevada Mountains, and a few days later his body was found by friends. His son, Andrew A. Allen, acted for a number of years as Bishop of Weston, Idaho.

ALLRED, James Tilman Sanford, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company A, was born March 28, 1825, in Bedford County, Tennessee, a son of James and Elizabeth Allred. He was baptized in February, 1835, in Clay County, Missouri, ordained a Seventy in Nauvoo in 1842, and ordained a High Priest and set apart as second counselor to Bishop Reuben W. Allred in Nauvoo. He marched with the Battalion to California and came to Utah in an early day. He was sent to Las Vegas, New Mexico, on an Indian Mission, and baptized many Indians. In February, 1856, he was set apart as first counselor to Bishop John D. Chase at Ephraim, Utah, and on April 17, 1859, was set apart as second counselor to Bishop Caleb Edwards of Ephraim. He died May 29, 1905, in Spring City, Utah.

ANDERSON, Hakon Walter, an Elder who died while filling a mission, was born May 31, 1898, in Pima, Graham Co., Arizona, a son of Hakon J. Anderson and Sarah E. Anderson. He was baptized June 1, 1906, by Ray M. Hanchett, and later ordained an Elder. While still a resident of Pima, Graham Co., Arizona, he was called on a mission to the Northern States. He accepted the call and was set apart July 9, 1918. A short time after arriving in his field of labor he was stricken with pneumonia following an attack of influenza, from which he died Oct. 31, 1918, in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. From the time he arrived in the field, he magnified his calling to the entire satisfaction of those placed over him, rendering able and valiant service in the cause of the Master. He was an inspiration to all who knew him, and was loved and respected for his agree-

AVERETT, Jeduthan, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company D, was born June 12, 1816, in Chesterfield County, North Carolina. He was baptized about the year 1833 in Alabama by James Brown and emigrated to Nauvoo, Ill., after the death of the Prophet Joseph Smith, having presided over a branch of the Church in Alabama for several years. Traveling westward in 1846, he enlisted in the Battalion on the Missouri River, suffered considerably with sickness on the journey, but was healed from being in an insensible condition when about four hundred miles on the way. He wintered in Pueblo, and arrived in the Salt Lake Valley in July, 1847. He afterwards went back to the States, resided five years in Kanessville, Iowa, and returned to the Valley in 1852. He worked for Pres. Brigham Young for six years and then moved to Springville in December, 1857. Bro. Averett was always known as a quiet but busy man. He died in St. George, Utah, Jan. 12, 1885.

BARNEY, Walter, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company C, was born Jan. 7, 1819, in Ohio, a son of Charles Barney and Mercy Yoeman. He arrived in Utah in 1847. Later he was a pioneer of Sanpete and Sevier counties, Utah, and an Indian war veteran. He died April 15, 1917, at Monroe, Sevier Co., Utah.

BARRON, Alexander Franklin, (1813-1885), of Scotch-Irish descent, and a descendant of a long line of early American pioneers, was born Oct. 4, 1813, at Elkridge, Giles Co., Tenn., a son of Alexander Barron and

Elizabeth Liddell. Until he was nineteen years of age he lived in Tennessee and Georgia with his parents. He was educated in home schools, and in Nashville, Tenn., where he studied medicine for a time. In 1832 he joined a party of U. S. surveyors, and with them and a company of U. S. colonists, went to Texas. Here he associated with such men as David Crockett and Samuel Houston in the development and pioneering of the country, he having extensive land grants in and near Houston, where he made his home. In 1844 he married Dovey Ann Shinn. She died in 1847, leaving two small daughters. In 1848 he married Mary Miller, and with her he was baptized into the L. D. S. Church Aug. 6, 1851, by William Moody. By this marriage eleven children were born; six sons and five daughters. In September, 1853, he started for Utah with the Preston Thomas Company, which was said to be one of the largest companies to leave for Utah at one time. There were 102 wagons, one thousand head of cattle, and a large number of fine horses, mules, and sheep. They arrived at the Cherokee Strip, or Nation, Nov. 4, 1853, and stayed there for the winter. In the spring of 1854 they started for Utah again, with Washington Jolly as captain, the company now being divided. Arriving in Utah in September, they stayed in Salt Lake City just one day when Pres. Brigham Young sent them to Fort Herriman to make their home. Bro. Barron took the cattle to Cache Valley later, because there was more feed there. Due to extreme cold and heavy snows about half of the herds was lost. He returned to Herriman to find the family needing help, as his wife was ill and the hired man had gone insane. He lived at Fort Herriman for about ten years and was Bishop there from 1858 to 1865, being the first Bishop of the Fort Herriman Ward. In 1857 he married Phoebe Ann Peck as a plural wife. She bore him three children, namely, two boys and one daughter. His children (sixteen in all) except three grew to maturity and became good citizens in the community where they have lived. In 1858 Bro. Barron went south in the "General Move", and spent a year at Fillmore and Meadow Creek. He did quite an extensive dairy business, selling to passing travelers, notably the company of Mountain Meadow Massacre fame. They bought freely and paid liberally for butter, cheese and milk. While there he was called by Anson Call to go with Jacob Croft and William Powell to survey a townsite in Millard County. They located the site for Deseret and dedicated the land. Bro. Barron offered the dedicatory prayer, in which he prophesied, that the desert in Pahvant Valley would truly blossom as a rose, and that a highway would be "thrown up" through the valley, which would connect the Atlantic and the Pacific oceans. Streams of living water would flow out of the ground, and the valley would be settled from the mountains East toward the West, North and South and in time become a great agricultural center. In 1922 President Alonzo A. Hinckley, while acting as

Commissioner of Agriculture in Utah, stated that Millard County had produced more hay and grain and alfalfa seed in 1922 than any other locality in Utah, thus verifying the prophecy of Brother Barron. After spending a year in Millard County, Bro. Barron returned to Fort Herriman, but in 1865 President Young called him to go to the "Muddy" in southern Nevada. He arrived in St. George late in November, where Erastus Snow advised him to go to Panaca, Nevada, instead of the Muddy, as the ranges were dead from lack of rain. At Panaca he served as acting Bishop and while living here he filled a short mission to his old home in the South in 1869. He visited all of his relatives in Tennessee, Georgia and Alabama, and preached the Gospel to them. He became a prominent farmer, stock-raiser, and leader in Church and civic affairs at Panaca, where he lived until 1877, when he was again called by Pres. Young to go to St. George. He settled at Washington, Washington County, making this his headquarters for operations on the Church ranch in northern Arizona. In connection with his two sons-in-law, Virgil Kelly and John Lufkin, he developed the springs now known as Sevet, Oak Grove and Parashont, which he bought from the Indians. This ranch was located on the north rim of the Colorado River, about fifty miles west from what is now the Grand Canyon of Colorado National Park. At the time Bro. Barron was managing this ranch, he had also contracted the handling of the Church sheep numbering several thousand head. Under the terms of this contract he was to deliver the sheep at a certain time, back to the Church authorities, who had the matter in charge. He served notice that he was ready to make the delivery of the sheep at a definite locality at a certain time. The representative of the Church failed to meet the appointment as agreed, and consequently the sheep had to be held.

In the meantime an unusual snow storm came upon them, and the entire herd perished. The representative of the Church demanded that he make payment in full for the loss. The case was tried and a decision, which was influenced by misrepresentations and prejudice, was reached, sustaining the claim of the Church representative. Bro. Barron was required to make payment in full for the loss, or he would be excommunicated from the Church. When advised of the decision, he made the following statement: "I will not allow myself to be cut off the Church for money, if it takes all the property I have". In his effort to pay this enormous debt, he turned over his entire possessions. In the course of events, the matter was referred to Apostle Erastus Snow, who, after a thorough investigation, made the following statement: "Knowing Elder Barron as I do to be an honest and upright man, I cannot believe him wilfully guilty, and those men who have sought to demand from him that which is not right will not prosper." This statement has been verified, for those who instigated the proceedings have gone down in disgrace, thus fully vindicating the honor of Elder Barron, who was a man of great faith and always loyal to the Church.

Through all the trials and hardships of pioneer life, Bro. Barron remained true to the faith he had espoused, dying as a firm believer in the Latter-day Saint doctrines as taught by Joseph Smith. It was said of him and his families that their charities knew no bounds. The poor and needy never left his door unaided, and this fine humane characteristic was extended to the Indians as well as the whites.

BARRUS, Orlando Clark, an Elder who died while filling a mission, was born Aug. 18, 1901, in Fairview, Lincoln Co., Wyoming, a son of Orlando B. Barrus and Mary E. Clark. He was baptized Aug. 18, 1909, by his father, and later ordained an Elder. While still living at Fairview he was called on a mission to the Southern States, being set apart Nov. 16, 1920. He had labored in South Carolina twenty-one months when he was accidentally drowned in the Chauga River, near Westminister, South Carolina, Aug. 8, 1922. Had he lived ten days longer, he would have been twenty-one years of age. While bathing with missionary companions and others, Elder Barrus, as well as two other bathers, walked unexpectedly into deep water. Elder Barrus rescued one of the bathers, but in doing so he became exhausted to the extent that he could not regain the shore. Due to the excitement of the moment, and because of his being regarded as a good swimmer, Elder Barrus was not considered in danger until it was too late. Memorial services were held in the Atlanta chapel Aug. 10, 1922. Pres. Noel H. Dastrup of the Georgia conference and Elder M. L. Olsen of the South Carolina conference accompanied the body home. His missionary labors were blessed of the Lord and his death was lamented and mourned by all the missionaries and the people whose hearts and souls he gladdened and blessed with his presence and teachings. Twelve years before Elder Barrus went into this field his father and mother had performed missions in South Carolina.

BENNION, Harden (continued from page 13). Mrs. Vilate Nebeker Bennion died in Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 21, 1934. For several years she had presided over the Relief Society of the Salt Lake Stake and had held other positions of trust and responsibility. Elder Harden Bennion did not long survive his wife, but died in Salt Lake City Oct. 12, 1936, as the result of fractures received in a fall a few days previously. He was survived by three daughters, Aurelia, Florence and Bernice Bennion.

BENNION, Samuel Otis, one of the First Seven Presidents of Seventies, was born June 9, 1874, at Taylorsville, Salt Lake Co., Utah, a son of John R. Bennion and Emma Jane Terry. He was baptized when about eight years old and was later ordained a Deacon and presided over the quorum of Deacons of which he was a member. In due course of time he was ordained an Elder and later a Seventy. In 1898 (Aug. 25th) he married Charlotte Towler of Mill Creek Ward, Salt Lake Co., Utah. He received a good education in his younger days, and during part of his life, before he went into the mission field, he was occupied in agriculture, but principally in ranching and sheep raising. He was set apart for a mission to the Central States Nov. 12, 1904, and was chosen as president of the South Texas District after he had been in the mission six months. Later the same year, he was called to the mission headquarters at Independence, Missouri, and after spending ten months as secretary of the mission, he was appointed mission president Oct. 1, 1906. The growth of the mission was sure and steady, and the sound practice established in laying a firm foundation, made the mission, under the direction of the Lord, an important part of the Church. In January, 1931, the Texas Mission was formed out of the states of Texas and Louisiana, which had constituted a part of the Central States Mission. Pres. Bennion remained in the mission field until Jan. 20, 1934. At the April Conference in 1933 he was sustained as one of the First Council of Seventies, and was ordained to that office April 13, 1933, by Pres. Heber J. Grant. On April 1, 1934, Elder Bennion was appointed general manager and vice-president of the "Deseret News", which position he still holds. While Pres. Bennion had charge of the Central States Mission he made it a rule to visit the missionaries from one end of the mission to the other every ninety days, and saw them in their fields of labor, heard their reports, gave them instructions, and as a result saw many thousands of people baptized into the Church. The mission was always self-sustaining financially, and large sums of money were sent to the headquarters of the Church from the tithes of the mission, after the expenses and building programs that were carried on in the mission field itself had been cared for.

BINGHAM, Erastus, jun., a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company B, was born Sept. 30, 1822, at St. Johnsbury, Vermont, a son of Erastus Bingham, sen., and Lucinda Gates. After his arrival in Utah he lived in Ogden and Huntsville. During the polygamy troubles he went with his second family to Arizona, while his first family remained in Weber County. He died in Mesa, Arizona.

BINGHAM, Wallace D., an Elder who died while filling a foreign mission, was born July 9, 1902, in Wilson, Weber Co., Utah, a son of Brigham Heber Bingham, jun., and Cathrin Rozella Wilson. He was baptized Aug. 7, 1910, by William M. Holmes, and later ordained an Elder. When called on his mission to New Zealand he was residing in the Wilson Ward, near Ogden, Weber Co., Utah. Elder Wilson, responding to the call, was set apart Nov. 20, 1923. He was in the ministry only a few months when he died April 16, 1924, from injuries he had sustained when he dived into the Ta Hara river. His body was taken to Auckland and sent home for burial. He was a fine young man, willing and cheerful in his duties. He graduated from the Weber College in May, 1923, and left for his mission Dec. 1, 1923. Services were held June 8, 1924, in the Ogden tabernacle.

BINGHAM, Thomas, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company B, was born July 19, 1824, in Grafton, New Hampshire, a son of Erastus Bingham, sen., and Lucinda Gates. He received his endowments in the Nauvoo Temple, enlisted in the Mormon Battalion July 16, 1846, and traveled with that body some distance beyond Santa Fe, N. M. From there he was sent back with the second sick detachment of the Battalion to winter at Pueblo. He arrived in Salt Lake Valley July 29, 1847, married Caron H. Holladay Sept. 6, 1849, moved to Ogden in 1850 and was called to go to California with Apostle C. C. Rich and Amasa M. Lyman in 1851, but returned to Utah in 1855. In 1856 he was called on a mission to the Salmon River country where he labored among the Lamanites. During the "general move" in 1858 he went to Payson, Utah, but returned north and settled in Huntsville in 1862. There he acted as counselor to Bishops Jefferson Hunt and Francis A. Hammond. In 1877 he moved to Ashley, Uintah Co., Utah, and established a branch of the Church at that place, he being the first presiding Elder and later Bishop there. He was the first probate judge in Uintah County, serving in that capacity two terms. He died Dec. 31, 1889, in Ashley Valley, Utah.

BINLEY, John Wesley, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company E, was born April 18, 1814, at Bellefontaine, Logan Co., Ohio, was baptized in 1838, moved to Nauvoo in 1840, and there served as one of the Prophet Joseph Smith's body guards until the Prophet's death. He was a member of the Nauvoo police force and was ordained a Seventy in 1844 (30th Quorum); left Nauvoo in 1846; was at Mt. Pisgah when Col. Allen arrived there and volunteered his services as a member of the Mormon Battalion. He marched to California, and from there accompanied Gen. Kearney on his way back to the States. While shoeing a horse on the Truckee River he was kicked severely, whereby his back was hurt and ribs were broken. He rode 1000 miles in intense pain, and also suffered with mountain fever. Continuing the journey from the "Valley" he met the Pioneers on the North Platte; afterwards he was sent back to hurry up the companies and then returned to the "Valley" with John Neff in Jos. B. Noble's Fifty. He spent the winter in the "Fort" and in the spring of 1849 he went to California where he worked in the mines, but returned to Utah in 1858. He lived at Grantsville, also at Deep Creek, and later at Mill Creek, Utah.

BOLEY, Samuel, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company B, was one of the first men who enlisted and was also the first man to die on the march; he died July 23, 1846, on the Missouri River.

was born March 7, 1824, in Tazewell County, Virginia, a son of John Boyle and Jane Taylor. He was baptized Nov. 20, 1843, came to Nauvoo in 1845, and to the Missouri River in 1846. He marched with the Battalion to California. By re-enlisting he served another eight months in the Battalion, came to Salt Lake Valley, and went back to California in 1851, remaining there until 1857. In 1867-1869 he filled a mission to the Southern States, where he baptized three hundred persons, and brought a second company of 160 Saints from the South to Utah by rail. He filled a second mission to the South and returning he brought seventy saints with him to Utah. In all he filled seven missions for the Church. He died in November, 1908, in Arizona.

BRIMHALL, John, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company C, was born April 16, 1824, in Steuben County, New York. Becoming a convert to "Mormonism" he was baptized Oct. 20, 1845, enlisted in July, 1846, in the Battalion, marched to Santa Fe, N. M., where he was placed with the sick detachment and marched to Pueblo, where he spent the winter of 1846-1847. The following spring (1847) the sick detachment of the Battalion and the company of Mississippi saints who had also wintered at Pueblo, continued the journey to the "Valley," where they arrived a few days after the Pioneers. Bro. Brimhall helped to make the first adobes in the "Valley," passed through many of the Indian troubles as a military man and experienced the hardships which fell to the lot of the early pioneers. After changing residences several times, he died at Glendale, Kane Co., Utah, Dec. 18, 1906, at the age of 82 years. By his wife, Anna Retta Harris, he had ten children, eight of whom were living at the time of his death.

pany A, was born Dec. 17, 1824, in Mentor, Lake Co., Ohio, a son of Lem-on Bronson and Lucy Brass. He was baptized in July, 1846, and after his arrival in Utah with other members of the Battalion, he participated in the Indian Mission to Malad Valley, was one of the first settlers of Ogden, and acted as a counselor to Pres. Jefferson Hunt, of Huntsville, Utah, for ten years. He also served in the Echo Canyon war as captain of ten. He was known as a man who had a most remarkable memory.

BROWN, Frank Lester, an Elder who died in the missionary field, was born Sept. 22, 1875, in Salt Lake City, Utah, a son of James S. Brown and Eliza Lester. He was baptized in 1883, by John Tingey. In his early manhood he attended the Latter-day Saints University and was a studious and active member of the missionary classes in 1901-1902. He married Winnifred Tibbs in the Salt Lake Temple Sept. 24, 1902, and the following month left with his wife for a mission to Great Britain, where they were commended for their zealous work. On Nov. 10, 1904, they returned with their little son, Kenneth, to Salt Lake City, Utah, where Elder Brown resumed his Church activities. In 1911 (March 21) he was called by the Church authorities to take charge of the Joseph Smith Memorial Cottage and Farm near South Royalton, Vermont. In the summer of 1918 he suffered from an attack of influenza, and failing to regain his strength he finally decided to go with his family to the south, but upon reaching Charlotte, North Carolina, was too sick to continue his journey. He was taken to the hospital at Charlotte, where he received every care and attention, but on Jan. 1, 1919, he succumbed to pneumonia, passing away peacefully in the same country where his father was born, namely, Davidson County, North Carolina. His body was brought home to Salt Lake City, where it was buried Jan. 10, 1919. Frank L. Brown was a typical, stalwart son of Utah, and was loved by all who knew him. His zeal as a missionary for the "Mormon" Church was a heritage from his father, the Pacific Islands missionary, James S. Brown.

BURNS, James Edward, second Bishop of the Bountiful 2nd Ward, Davis Co., Utah, was born July 17, 1880, in Bountiful, Utah, a son of Charles Burns and Susannah Lord. He was educated in the common schools at Bountiful and later attended the Latter-day Saints College in Salt Lake City. He was baptized Sept. 30, 1888, by Samuel Smedley and, taking an active part in Church activities suited to his age, was ordained successively to the offices of Deacon, Teacher and Priest, and was ordained an Elder Dec. 16, 1899, by Joseph C. Hepworth. On Nov. 14, 1907, he was ordained a Seventy by Daniel H. Wood and filled a mission to Great Britain in 1908-1909, laboring in the Manchester Conference. His wife, who up to that time had no children, met him in England and accompanied him home. Soon after his return, or on Dec. 19, 1909, Bro. Burns was ordained a High Priest by Apostle Orson F. Whitney, on which occasion he was set apart as second counselor to Bishop Jed Stringham of the Bountiful 2nd Ward. On July 20, 1915, he was promoted to the position of first counselor to Bishop Stringham, which position he held until March 23, 1924, when he was ordained a Bishop by Apostle Melvin J. Ballard and set apart to preside over the Bountiful 2nd Ward.

In a civil capacity Bishop Burns served three two-year terms as treasurer for the city of Bountiful, two years as city recorder, four years as city councilman, two years as mayor, and two years as a county commissioner in Davis County. He is a farmer and gardener by occupation. On Dec. 28, 1904, Elder Burns married Emma May Cooper, daughter of Heber K. Cooper and Emma Jane Hatch Cooper. This union was blessed with seven children, namely, Florence, James Cooper, May, Alan Cooper, Grace, June and Carol.

BURT, Keith Wynder, an Elder who died while on his way to fill a foreign mission, was born Sept. 19, 1908, in Cardston, Alberta, Canada, a son of William Wilden Burt and Edith Wynder. He was baptized Sept. 24, 1916, by Ben J. Wood, was ordained an Elder, and resided at the place of his birth when he was called to the South American Mission. Responding to the call, he was set apart for his missionary labors Oct. 30, 1928. He left Salt Lake City Nov. 3, 1928, and sailed from New York with his fellow companion, Elder David H. Huish, Nov. 10, 1928, on the ill-fated S. S. "Vestris," which sank Nov. 12, 1928, off the coast of Virginia. Elder Huish was one of those rescued, but Elder Burt was drowned, and his body was not found. In an account of the "Vestris" disaster, given by Elder Huish, he said that the last he saw of his companion was when the life boat in which they, with twenty-five other people, were huddled, turned over and all were forced to jump into the maddened sea. The suction caused by the ship pulled Elder Huish far down into the water, and when he finally came up to the surface again, his companion was gone. Elder Huish speaking of himself said that he floated around until he sighted a plank. Grabbing it he held on until a life boat came to his rescue.

CALDWELL, Matthew, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company E, was born June 11, 1822, in Jefferson County, Illinois, a son of Curtis Caldwell and Nancy Hood. He was baptized June 27, 1846, and three weeks later left the camps of the saints on the Missouri River as a member of the Battalion. He marched to California and returned East with an escort for Gen. Kearney in 1847. After residing at Council Bluffs till 1850, he came to the "Valley" as captain of the second Fifty of Aaron Johnson's Hundred; was one of the first settlers of American Fork, where he built the first house in the fall of 1850. He moved to Springville in 1852, and later resided successively in Spanish Fork, Fountain Green, Huntington (Emery County), and Mountain Dell in Parley's Canyon, Salt Lake County. He was a grandson of the renowned Indian fighter, Matthew Caldwell, the man after whom Caldwell County, Missouri, and Caldwell County, Kentucky, were named. He died March 15, 1912, in Vernal, Utah.

CAMPBELL, Jonathan, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company E, was born in Massachusetts in 1805 or 1806. He was married in the 22nd year of his life and became the father of five children. In 1839 or 1840 he was baptized by his brother, Benegar Campbell, gathered with the saints to Nauvoo early in 1844, was driven from Illinois across the Mississippi River and underwent many hardships during the general exodus. Having arrived on the Missouri River, he enlisted in the Mormon Battalion July 16, 1846, and in taking his departure for California, he left a loving wife and three small children and everything that was dear to him. He never saw his wife again, as she died at Council Bluffs, a victim to the many hardships to which she was exposed. Her three small children were brought to the "Valley" in the emigration of 1847, and after Bro. Campbell's discharge from the Battalion, he joined them in Utah in 1848. He located and helped to settle North Ogden, where he resided until the time of his death, which occurred there Nov. 24, 1886. Bro. Campbell died, as he had lived, a faithful Latter-day Saint.

CANNON, Sylvester Quayle, Presiding Bishop of the Church since 1925, was born June 10, 1877, in Salt Lake City, Utah, a son of George Quayle Cannon and Elizabeth Hoagland. He was the youngest of eleven children born to this couple. When an infant he was taken by his parents to Washington, D. C., where his father was in Congress as a delegate from Utah. His childhood was spent on the Cannon Farm southwest of Salt Lake City, where he attended a private school maintained by his father. From 1889 to 1892 he attended the Latter-day Saints College, and, having qualified in stenography, he accompanied his father as secretary on a trip to the Eastern States and England. In 1894-1895 he pursued special studies at the University of Utah, and thereafter attended the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Boston, Mass., for a period of four years, graduating therefrom as a Bachelor of Science in June, 1899, having majored in Mining Enginearing and Metallurgy. In September, 1899, Elder Cannon left home for a mission to Holland and Belgium and was assigned to labor in the Liege district in Belgium. Having studied French and German quite extensively, he was, in three months, placed in charge of the Seraing-Ougree Branch, Belgium. In 1900 he was appointed to preside over the Netherlands-Belgium Mission, where he had to learn the Dutch language. In February, 1902, he was called by Pres. Francis M. Lyman to visit with him the Turkish Mission as "guide and interpreter". On that three-months journey he visited Egypt, Palestine, Syria, Turkey, Greece, Italy and France and prepared a series of articles in reference to the trip for the "Millennial Star". After an absence of three years, Elder Cannon returned home and was engaged professionally by the State of Utah in a survey of irrigated lands and water from the Weber River.

In March, 1904, at the organization of the Pioneer Stake, he was appointed first counselor in the stake presidency. On June 15, 1904, he married Winnifred Saville in the Salt Lake Temple. Four sons and three daughters have been born of this union. In 1907 Elder Cannon was again appointed to preside over the Netherlands-Belgium Mission and to supervise the publication of the Doctrine and Covenants in the Dutch language. He also published a new and improved edition of the Book of Mormon in the Netherlands, and new editions of the French and Dutch hymn books, with many additions and improvements. On this mission he was accompanied by his wife and two little children.

From 1917 to 1925 Elder Cannon presided over the Pioneer Stake of Zion, and has been a member of the Board of Control of the Deseret Gymnasium since 1910 and, since 1923, president of the Board of Trustees of the L. D. S. Business College. For one year he acted as president of the Utah Society of Engineers and in 1915 was accepted as a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

On June 4, 1925, he was ordained and set apart by Pres. Heber J. Grant as Presiding Bishop of the Church, in which capacity he has general supervision of the following activities: Presidency of the Aaronic Priesthood, the temporal affairs of the various wards with the ward bishoprics; receiving and accounting for the tithes, offerings, and other donations; preparation of all financial and statistical reports; the Church relief work and the design and construction of all Church buildings. In 1930-1931 he was appointed chairman of the Governor's State Flood Commission and in 1931-32 he acted as chairman of the State Advisory Council for Unemployment.

CARTER, Isaac Philo, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company B, was born March 11, 1828, in Rutland County, Vermont, a son of Gideon Carter and Hilah Burwell. He enlisted in the Battalion at Council Bluffs without being a member of the Church, and marched to California. He arrived in the "Valley" in 1849, but went back to San Bernardino in 1853, where he joined the Church, and married Amasa M. Lyman's daughter. He returned to Utah in 1858 when the San Bernardino settlement was broken up, and settled in Beaver, Utah, in 1859. He died July 27, 1913, near Heyburn, Idaho.

CASPER, William Wallace, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company A, was born March 12, 1821, in Belleville, Richland Co., Ohio, a son of William Casper and Ovarilla Durben. He was baptized June 7, 1834, by Solomon Hancock and moved with his family in 1837 to Caldwell County, Missouri, where he remained two years; later he lived in other places, and finally arrived in Nauvoo, Ill., in the spring of 1841. Having reached the Missouri River with the "Camps of Israel," he enlisted with the Mormon Battalion July 16, 1846, and leaving his wife and one child he marched with the Battalion to California, where he was discharged in July, 1847. He arrived in Great Salt Lake Valley Oct. 18, 1847, and settled in Mill Creek in 1848, participated in the Walker war in 1853, and later filled a mission to the Muddy (in Nevada). He was ordained a High Priest June 20, 1892, by Geo. B. Wallace and later ordained a Patriarch. He was married three times and was the father of eighteen children. During the last two years of his life he did a great deal of Temple work. He died July 17, 1908, at his home in Mill Creek, Utah.

CASTO, William W., a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company D, was born Feb. 10, 1816, at Orleans, Orange Co., Indiana. He was baptized at Commerce, June 22, 1839, by Joseph Rose, being the first one of his family to join the Church, and it is supposed that he was the first person baptized in Nauvoo. When Joseph and Hyrum were incarcerated in the Carthage jail, Elder Casto was one of twenty-five men who volunteered to risk their lives in rescuing the Prophet from prison. In the winter of 1844 he was ordained a Seventy and became a member of the 26th Quorum of Seventy. At the time of the exodus in 1846 he sold a house and lot worth $500 for $25, and for a valuable ten-acre lot, beautifully located a short distance east of Nauvoo, he never received a cent. He even had to flee from Nauvoo in the night to avoid an unjust writ, and barely escaped with his life. Arriving at the camps of the saints on the Missouri River, just as the call for the Mormon Battalion came from the government, he enlisted, but on account of illness was sent with the sick detachment to Pueblo, where he with many others wintered. In the spring of 1847

he started for the "Valley" and was one of twelve men who overtook the Pioneers on Green River. He entered the "Valley" as one of Orson Pratt's advance company. Returning to the States in the fall of 1847, he found his family all well at Council Bluffs. He returned to the "Valley" the following year, arriving there Nov. 16, 1848, after having traveled four hundred miles on foot through ice and snow. He returned to the States in 1849 and remained there until 1851, when he brought his family west, settling in Herriman, Salt Lake Co. Later he spent several years on a mission to the Muddy. He died Nov. 9, 1894, at Big Cottonwood, Utah.

CHASE, John Darwin, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company B, was born Aug. 10, 1815, in Bristol, Addison Co., Vermont, a son of Abner Chase and Amy Scott. He removed as a young man to New York State, where he married Priscilla McHenry. He was baptized by Palatiah Brown about 1841, came to Nauvoo in 1842, where he worked in the Temple, and performed a mission to Vermont in 1844. In 1845 he was ordained a High Priest and set apart as first counselor to Bishop Israel Calkins, who presided over a branch of the Church near Nauvoo. He afterwards succeeded Calkins as Bishop, coming west with Geo. A. Smith in 1846 to the Missouri River, he enlisted in the Mormon Battalion and marched as a corporal in Company B to Santa Fe, thence to Pueblo, where he wintered. He arrived in the Valley in Captain Brown's company in July, 1847. He took part in building the Old Fort in Great Salt Lake City, and helped to build the first sawmill in Utah, south of the city (Chase's Mill). In 1849, with Isaac Morley and others he was one of the first settlers in Sanpete Valley. Afterwards he was appointed by Erastus Snow to preside as Bishop in Ephraim, and later called to the Carson Valley Mission, where he acted as a High Councilor, remaining there till the colony broke up. He settled in Nephi, took an active part in all ward affairs, and became a member of the Juab Stake High Council. He moved to Huntington in June, 1890, where he died in 1902. Bro. Chase filled a mission to England in 1861-1864.

CHENEY, Zaccheus, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company B, was born April 22, 1818, at Sempronious, Cayuga Co., New York, a son of Elijah Cheney. His father served one year in the war of 1812. Jared Carter preached, baptized and organized a branch of the Church in Onondaga County, N. Y., Elder Cheney's father being one of the number. In 1835 the family moved to Kirtland, Ohio, where Zaccheus first saw the Prophet Joseph Smith. Elder Cheney worked on the Temple, attended the Hebrew School, and was a member of the Nauvoo Legion. He was in Nauvoo when some of the saints crossed the Mississippi River on the ice, and soon after Nauvoo was nearly evacuated. He crossed the river at Fort Madison May 3, 1846, and overtook the saints at Mount Pisgah, where he joined the Mormon Battalion and marched with them to California. After his discharge he remained in San Francisco and helped to burn the first brick made in that city. He married Mary Ann Fisher July 11, 1848, and on Dec. 25, 1850, his wife gave birth to a daughter. The wife died Jan. 1, 1851, and was buried near the San Jose Mission. Brother Cheney came to Utah in 1857 (Nov. 3rd) and died at Centerville, Davis Co., March 7, 1898.

CHRISTIANSEN, Peter S., an Elder who died while filling a foreign mission, was born Feb. 26, 1861, in Aarslev, Aarhus amt, Denmark, a son of Soren C. Christiansen and Anne

K. Andreasen. He was baptized Jan. 4, 1891, by F. C. Mikkelsen, and emigrated to Utah in 1913. He was residing in Salt Lake City, Utah, when he was called to fill a mission to Denmark. He accepted the call, being set apart May 3, 1926. Elder Christiansen had been in his field of labor only a few months when he died of heart failure Jan. 25, 1927, in Copenhagen, Denmark. At the time of his death he held the positions of president of the Copenhagen District, and assistant editor of the mission organ, "Skandinaviens Stjerne." Funeral services were held for him in the Latter-day Saints chapel on Korsgade No. 11, Copenhagen. Sister Christiansen, who had labored with her husband on his mission, and Elder L. Gregerson, who had been released, accompanied the remains to Salt Lake City. Services were held Feb. 19, 1928, in the Waterloo Ward chapel. The remains were interred in the Wasatch Lawn cemetery. (See History of the Scandinavian Mission, p. 493.)

CLARK, Riley Garner, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company A, was born July 29, 1829, in Cincinnati, Ohio, a son of Samuel Clark and Rebecca Garner. His parents were Quakers, who became converted to "Mormonism" at Martinsville, Ohio, and went to Nauvoo, Illinois. When the general exodus took place from Illinois in 1846, Riley went with his family as far as Council Bluffs, Iowa, where he enlisted in the Mormon Battalion and marched with them to California. He made his way to Great Salt Lake Valley from California in 1848. In the spring of 1850 he married Amanda Williams, who bore him sixteen children. In 1852 he was called to Manti, Utah, by Pres. Brigham Young to build a tannery and shoe shop. After he had spent seven years building up that industry, he moved to Kanarra, and from there to Panquitch, which he assisted in settling, and where he built a tannery and also helped to build a grist mill. As a Seventy in the Church he was a faithful worker, always finding time to attend to his Church duties in the midst of all his industrial tasks. Bro. Clark died at Panguitch July 11, 1876, leaving a wife and nine children, all of whom she reared to manhood and womanhood. She died Feb. 6, 1920, at Panguitch, and at the time of her demise her descendants numbered 251 souls, including 16 children, 74 grandchildren, 154 great-grandchildren and five great-great-grandchildren.

COMPTON, Allen, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company D, was born Jan. 10, 1809, in Wilson County, Tennessee, a son of William Compton. On Jan. 13, 1832, he married Mary Bettice. In June, 1845, he moved to Hancock County, Illinois, and on May 2, 1846, a mob numbering eighteen persons rode up to the door, called the father out and told him to get his family out of the house immediately. As soon as they were out the mob fired the house; the Compton family were not allowed to take anything with them. They took passage on the steamer "St. Croix" and started to follow the saints who had preceded them in the great exodus. They arrived at Council Bluffs on the 3rd of July. Colonel Allen had come into the camp the day before to enlist five hundred men to go to Mexico, and Bro. Compton became one of the number. He left his family camped in the corner of a worn fence with nothing to protect them from the scorching sun during the day, or the heavy dews at night, but a piece of wagon cover stretched on the fence. Two of his children were sick with the ague. The Battalion marched from Fort Leavenworth, leaving the sick detachment—among whom was Bro. Compton—to winter at Pueblo. In the spring of 1847 Captain Higgins' Company was sent to Fort Laramie, Bro. Compton being one of them. They met Amasa M. Lyman just before arriving at Fort Laramie. The company overtook the Pioneers on Green River, arriving in Salt Lake Valley on July 22, 1847. Bro. Compton started back on Aug. 24, arriving home on Nov. 18th, 1847, and started back again for the Valley Oct. 14, 1848, with the mail (that being the first mail that came to Utah), arriving in Salt Lake City Nov. 30. The Indians were troublesome during the winter, and Bro. Compton was sent with Capt. Scott to battle them near Provo. After the April conference Bro. Compton was asked to return to Council Bluffs, build some flat boats when he arrived there, and ferry the saints across the Missouri River, which he did, operating the Lone Tree Ferry in 1851-1852, the one known as Busha's Ferry in 1853. Then he moved up and ran the ferry at Winter Quarters. He died Aug. 17, 1854, in Council Bluffs, Iowa.

CURTIS, Dorr Purdy, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company B, was born Jan. 21, 1819, in Simpronius (now Moravia) County, New York, a son of Beriah Curtis and Phoebe Purdy. He was baptized March 15, 1841, in Moravia, N. Y., by Palatiah Brown; came to Nauvoo in 1843, was ordained a Seventy in Nauvoo, came west in the 1846 exodus, enlisted in the Mormon Battalion, marched to California, and came to the "Valley" in 1847. He was married in 1848, his wife being already one of the settlers of Kaysville, Davis Co., Utah. He filled a mission to England in 1851-1854; acted as a Bishop's counselor in the Kaysville and Springville wards, in Utah, and moved to Springville during the "Move" of 1858. He was a very active man in military affairs, having been commissioned as a colonel by the Governor. He moved from Springville to Oakley, Idaho, and died Nov. 8, 1904.

CUTLER, Ralph, first counselor in the Cottonwood Stake presidency from 1927 to 1930, was born Dec. 13, 1873, in Salt Lake City, Utah, the son of John Cutler and Sarah Atkinson. After attending the public schools, he studied two years at the Salt Lake Stake Academy (later the L. D. S. College) in Salt Lake City. He was baptized Feb. 28, 1881, by John Cottam and taking an active part in Church matters from his early youth, he was ordained a Deacon March 24, 1889. In January, 1889, he took a position as stenographer and bookkeeper at the Deseret News, Salt Lake City, and remained in the employ of that institution until 1896. In October, 1894, he was appointed secretary and treasurer of the 20th Ward Y. M. M. I. A., and also became a teacher in the ward Sunday school. He was ordained an Elder Feb. 3, 1895, by David R. Lyon, and in the winter of 1896 he went to Arizona for the benefit of his health, and resided in Mesa City until 1899. While there he acted as ward clerk, as stake secretary of Y. M. M. I. A., and as first assistant to the stake superintendent of religion classes. In 1889-1890, he filled a mission to the Southern States, laboring principally in the State of Ohio. After returning from that mission he engaged in truck gardening and settled in the Farmers Ward, where he acted as ward superintendent of the religion class and later as ward clerk. In 1902 he married Virginia L. Burton, daughter of Gen. Robert T. Burton, which union has been blessed with eight children, namely, Ralph Garr, Douglas B., Geneve, Lenore, Roberta, Louise, Alice May and Ivan Burton. In 1910 he moved to the Winder Ward, where he took an active part in the Ward Sunday school, and when the Cottonwood Stake was organized in 1914, he was chosen as first assistant in the stake superintendency of Sunday schools. He was ordained a High Priest and set apart as an alternate member of the High Council by Uriah G. Miller March 12, 1922, and labored in that capacity until Nov. 20, 1927, when he was chosen as first counselor to Henry D. Moyle in the stake presidency of the Cottonwood Stake.

DANIELSON, Herman Kerr, an Elder who died in the missionary field, was born Aug. 30, 1890, in Lewiston, Cache Co., Utah, a son of Herman H. Danielsen and Clara J. Kerr. He was baptized Sept. 24, 1898, by Andrew L. Hyer, and later ordained a Seventy. On Dec. 7, 1916, while still residing in Lewiston, he was set apart for a mission to Great Britain. He labored with zeal and success in the Liverpool and Newcastle conferences and was president of the Irish Conference at the time of his death, which occurred March 9, 1919, in Belfast, Ireland, due to pneumonia. He was a fine missionary, and one of the best liked Elders in the field. His body was prepared for shipment to Salt Lake City, and left Liverpool March 12, 1919, in charge of Elder Charles Welchman, who had been honorably released to return home. Bro. Danielsen was energetic in his work, absolutely fearless, always ready to bear his testimony to the truth.

DAVIS, Daniel C., Captain of Company E, of the Mormon Battalion, was born Feb. 23, 1804, in New York. He became a member of the Mormon Church and was numbered among the saints upon their arrival at Council Bluffs. He enlisted in the Mormon Battalion in 1846, and made the march across the continent. After his discharge he became the commanding officer of a company of about one hundred that re-enlisted for another six months' service in California. Upon being mustered out of service he came to Utah with other members of the Battalion, settling a short distance south of Farmington, or fourteen miles north of Salt Lake City. Davis

County was named after him. He remained at his home near Farmington until 1850. That year he started east on personal business, and died en route at Fort Kearney on the 1st of June, 1850.

DODGE, Augustus Erastus, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company C, was born Dec. 6, 1822, in Jefferson County, New York, a son of Erastus Dodge and Melissa Morgan. He was baptized March 15, 1835, in Missouri, by Jacob Gates, worked on the Kirtland Temple, was a prisoner with his father and others at the surrender of Far West for eight or ten days, and was one of those that were driven from their homes in winter and suffered much. His father died in 1843 and his mother in 1845. He assisted in building the Nauvoo House and Temple; helped William Clayton and others to convey Church property to Mt. Pisgah and arrived in Council Bluffs July 15, 1846, started the next day on his march to California with the Battalion, and when crossing the Arkansas River he had his ankle mashed, but continued down the Rio Grande and on to California, striking the Pacific Ocean near San Diego. After staying there for six weeks he marched to Los Angeles where the members of the Battalion were discharged in 1847. He crossed the Coast Range to Sacramento, then across the Sierra Nevada and the desert to Fort Hall, and from there to Salt Lake City, arriving Dec. 23, 1847. He helped establish the ferry at Green River in 1849, settled Sanpete Valley that year, and was called to settle Dixie in 1861.

field, was born Dec. 4, 1863, in Droskau near Sorau (Nieder Lausitz), Germany, a son of Carl Gottlieb Ernst and Auguste Karoline Lehman. He was baptized May 24, 1893, by John Vetterli, and later emigrated to America. He was residing in the Center Ward, Salt Lake City, Utah, when he was called to fill a mission in the Swiss and German Mission. Responding to the call he was set apart Dec. 1, 1921, having previously been ordained a Seventy. He arrived in the missionary field Dec. 22, 1921, and was appointed to labor in Bremen, where he performed a successful and faithful missionary work. Soon his health began to fail and he was sent to Tielits near Sorau, Germany, for treatment, but as his condition became worse the mission president released him to return to Salt Lake City. He received an honorable release and would have started home when his call came to the other side. He was buried at Tielits. In March, 1923, the body was exhumed and shipped to Utah. Elder Ludwig Gleich was honorably released to accompany the remains home. Services were held in the 14th Ward chapel March 11, 1923. Interment took place in the city cemetery. Elder Ernst had filled a mission to the Northern States in 1904-1906.

ESPLIN, Edgar Cox, an Elder who died in the missionary field, was born March 8, 1887, in Orderville, Kane Co., Utah, a son of Henry W. Esplin and Philena Cox. He was baptized April 5, 1895, by Fred J. Carroll, and later ordained a Seventy. When called to fill his mission in the Eastern States, he was residing in Orderville, Utah. Responding to the call, he was set apart Nov. 24, 1925. Elder Esplin was a short-term missionary, and had been in his field of labor less than a month when he died of pneumonia Dec. 7, 1925, in Charleston, West Virginia. The body of Elder Esplin was brought home by Elder Sidney R. Godfrey.

EVANS, Israel, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company B, was born Oct. 2, 1828, at Hanover, Columbiana Co., Ohio, a son of David Evans and Mary Beck. He was baptized when eight years old in Missouri, was at the Haun's Mill Massacre in Missouri Oct. 30, 1838, his mother and himself hiding in the underbrush. He enlisted as a private in Company B of the Mormon Battalion July 16, 1846, and marched overland to California. After disbanding he went to work at Sutter's Mill, where gold was discovered, worked long enough to enable him to return to Utah, and arrived in Great Salt Lake City Oct. 1, 1848. He married Matilda A. Thomas Jan. 1, 1849, settled in Lehi, Utah, filled a mission to England in 1853-1857, and on his return had charge of the Israel Evans handcart company, consisting of 31 handcarts and 134 souls. He was mayor of Lehi one term, and a member of the city council. He died May 31, 1896, in Lehi, respected by all who knew him.

FERGUSON, James, a member of the Mormon Battalion, sergeant-major in Company A, was born Feb. 23, 1828, at Belfast, Ireland, a son of Francis and Mary Ferguson. He was one of the most brilliant and capable of the younger men of Utah of pioneer days, and came first into historical prominence when he enlisted in the Mormon Battalion. He made his way to Utah immediately after he was discharged from the Battalion and later served as adjutant-general of the Utah state militia. He was leading man for the Deseret Dramatic Association. When Johnston's army was approaching Utah during the winter of 1857-1858, he wrote a ringing epistle, as adjutant-general, to his old Battalion commander, Col. Philip St. George Cooke, who was with Johnston's troops. Still later, in 1859, he was one of the founders and the principal writer of a local publication called "The Mountaineer." He died Aug. 30, 1863, in Salt Lake City, while still a comparatively young man. He was handsome, dashing, eloquent, and incisive, and was equally brilliant as soldier, lawyer, actor and orator.

FORSQREN, John Erik, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company D, was born Nov. 7, 1816, in Gefle, Sweden, a son of Johan O. Forsgren and Anna Christina Olson. His early life was that of a sailor, and at the age of twenty years he became acquainted with the Latter-day Saints in Boston, Mass., where he was baptized July 16, 1843. In 1844 he went to Nauvoo and there made the acquaintance of the Prophet Joseph Smith and the saints. He afterwards marched with the Mormon Battalion to California, being one of the two Scandinavian members of that body. He arrived in Salt Lake Valley in 1847. In 1849-1853, he filled his famous mission to Scandinavia and baptized the first person in his native land, his own brother, Peter Adolph Forsgren, July 26, 1850. He died in Salt Lake City Jan. 22, 1890, in great poverty, a non-member of the Church.

GIBBONS, Edward Richard, an Elder who died in the missionary field, was born May 14, 1894, in St. Johns, Apache Co., Arizona, a son of Richard Gibbons and Clara Isabell Wilhelm. He was baptized Aug. 7, 1904, and later ordained to the office of an Elder. When he was called on his mission, he was living in Tempe, Maricopa Co., Arizona. After accepting his call he was set apart Nov. 21, 1916, to labor in the Western States Mission, but when a part of this mission was added to the Mexican Mission he came under Pres. Rey L. Pratt's jurisdiction, and while serving in this field of labor he contracted a case of influenza from which he died Nov. 3, 1918, in Rameo, Colorado. The father of Elder Gibbons went to Colorado and brought the body of his son home to Tempe, Arizona, where it was buried.

GODDARD, Benjamin, president of the Temple Square Mission and manager of the Bureau of Information in Salt Lake City, Utah, from 1902 to

1929, was born July 27, 1851, in Huddersfield, Yorkshire, England, and died in Salt Lake City Dec. 5, 1930. (See page 239.)

GRUNDER, Albert, an Elder who died in the missionary field, was born Oct. 28, 1894, in Logan, Cache Co., Utah, a son of Fred Grunder and Verena Pauli Grunder. He was baptized Dec. 16, 1902, by W. A. Simmons, and later ordained an Elder. While still residing at Logan he was called on a mission to the Southern States, being set apart Jan. 11, 1921. He had been in the mission field only six weeks when he died very suddenly of an illness which lasted only four days. The doctors pronounced his disease as inflammation of the brain from which he died March 3, 1921, in a hospital in Columbus, Ohio. He was twenty-six years old, and left a wife to mourn his loss. He was an excellent missionary, manifesting a spirit of devotion and loyalty to the work of the Lord, and he enjoyed the spirit of his calling abundantly. His conduct was exemplary and he had won the respect of the people among whom he labored. All felt strongly impressed that this good brother was wanted on the other side, there to continue his mission.

HANCOCK, Charles B., a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company C, was born Dec. 23, 1823, in Columbia County, Ohio, a son of Solomon Hancock and Alta Adams. He was baptized April 6, 1833, by his father, in Jackson County, Mo., ordained a Seventy in Illinois in 1842, marched with the Battalion to California, and after being discharged from that service he came to the "Valley," arriving Oct. 30, 1847. He camped on the Jordan River during the first winter he spent in the Valley, to watch the Indians, worked on the Church Farm for three winters, and was called to settle at Payson in 1850. Once he went back to the Sweetwater to help bring in immigrating saints, was the second Bishop of Payson Ward from 1854 to 1861, and helped to build up the settlement. He moved to Ogden, and later to Harrisville, Utah, where he died Jan. 24, 1904.

HARRIS, Robert, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company E, was born Dec. 26, 1808, in Gloucestershire, England, a son of Robert Harris and Sarah Okey. He was baptized about 1840 by Wilford Woodruff, came to America in 1841 and was with the saints during their early persecutions of 1846. After serving in the Mormon Battalion, he went back east for his family by way of Fort Hall, in 1847, and brought them to Utah in 1850. He settled in Kaysville in 1851, went to Payson during the "Move," took part in the Morrisite war, and also in the Echo Canyon war, was called to go to the "Muddy" in 1867, spent three years in Malad Valley, from 1871 to 1875, and died in Kaysville, Utah, Feb. 29, 1876.

HASKELL, George N., a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company B, was born Oct. 24, 1795, in Danbury, Grafton Co., New Hampshire, removed to Nauvoo in 1840, and there joined the Latter-day Saints. He underwent persecutions in Illinois in common with the saints, who were driven out of that state in 1846; traveled to the Missouri River and enlisted in the Mormon Battalion, leaving his family on the banks of the Missouri River, among the Pottawattamie Indians. He marched with the Battalion to the Pacific Ocean, a distance of over 2,000 miles, and was honorably discharged. He returned to Winter Quarters in 1848, crossed the plains with his family in 1851 to Utah, and moved to San Bernardino, Cal., in 1854. He returned to Utah when Johnston's Army was on its way to Utah. Although not a very religious man, his property and his services were ever ready for the defense of the Church. He was the father of three children, and when he died he left as his descendants 22 grandchildren and 49 great-grandchildren. His wife died in her 86th year. Bro. Haskell died Nov. 6, 1883, in Benjamin, Utah.

HATCH, Lafayette Thatcher, who died while filling a mission in a foreign land, was born April 4, 1899, in Logan, Cache Co., Utah, a son of Hezekiah Eastman Hatch and Georgia Thatcher. He was baptized April 16, 1907, by Jacob Miller, and later ordained an Elder. When he was called to go on a mission he resided in the Logan 1st Ward, Utah. He responded to the call and was set apart June 15, 1923, to labor in the Netherlands. After serving in the ministry only a few months he died of diabetes at a hospital in Apeldoorn, Holland.

He was an earnest missionary, well liked by his associates. His remains were sent to his home in Logan, in charge of Elder Leon C. Walton, who was released for this purpose. He arrived July 1, 1923, at his field of labor, and was assigned to the city of Rotterdam, but later was transferred to Apeldoorn. At the time of his death he was twenty-four years old.

HATCH, Orrin, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company C, was born May 9, 1830, in Farmersville, Cattaraugus Co., New York, a son of Ira Stearns Hatch and Weltha Bradford. In 1843 the family moved to Illinois, where Orrin, then in his 14th year, was baptized. He enlisted with the Battalion in July, 1846, marched to California, remained there until gold was discovered in 1848, and after passing through a severe illness he came to Great Salt Lake City in 1848. Later in the same year he went to Council Bluffs for his father's family, and returned to Utah in 1849. He settled in Bountiful, and although he pioneered Fort Supply, Fort Hall, Carson Valley and Arizona, his permanent home was in Bountiful. He married Elizabeth Perry in 1855, and Maria Thompson in 1856, and was the father of 21 children. He was ordained a Patriarch in 1901, and died Sept. 8, 1906, at Woods Cross, Utah.

HENRIE, Daniel, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company D, was born Nov. 15, 1825, in Hamilton County, Ohio, a son of William Henrie and Myra Mayall, both natives of Virginia. His parents joined the Church in 1842, and moved to Nauvoo, where Daniel was baptized. He marched to California with the Mormon Battalion, and made his way to Utah in 1849. On Oct. 29, 1849, he married Amanda Bradley, and settled in Davis County. While on a visit to Manti he was detained by Indian troubles and later served in the Walker and Black Hawk Indian wars, and was also captain of Company A of the Nauvoo Legion. He served as sheriff one year and as city treasurer for three years, besides holding many prominent positions in the Church, acting as senior president of the 45th quorum of Seventy for nearly forty years. By his first wife he had fourteen children, and by his second wife twelve children. He died June 28, 1914, in Manti, Utah.

born Sept. 1, 1806, at Milford, Otsego Co., N. Y. (See Bio. Ency., Vol. 3, p. 647.)

HINCKLEY, Arza Erastus, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company B, was born Aug. 15, 1827, in Leeds County, Canada, a son of Nathaniel Hinckley and Lois Judd. He was baptized in 1838, by Lyman Stoddard, in Illinois, en route to Missouri. Bro. Hinckley migrated with the saints to Nauvoo, Illinois, and while there worked on the erection of the Temple. After the exodus from Nauvoo in the spring of 1846, and after his arrival on the Missouri River, he enlisted in the Mormon Battalion and, having wintered at Pueblo with the sick detachment of the Battalion, he arrived in Great Salt Lake Valley July 29, 1847, five days after Pres. Brigham Young. Elder Hinckley resided in Salt Lake Valley seventeen years, after which he became one of the pioneers of Summit County, where he was elected probate judge in 1868. He was active in the construction of the Union Pacific Railroad through Utah, having charge of some of the contracts. From 1882 to 1884 he filled a mission to Arizona, and, upon his return, located at Rexburg, Idaho, where he was ordained a Patriarch in August, 1887. He died at Rexburg Feb. 18, 1901.

HOLMES, Jonathan H., a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company D, was born March 11, 1806, in Georgetown, Essex Co., Mass., was baptized by John F. Boynton in 1832, and came to Kirtland, Ohio, in 1834. There he made his home with the Prophet Joseph Smith. On April 13, 1837, he married Miss Rosetta Carter, at the home of the Prophet Joseph. Wilford Woodruff married Miss Phoebe W. Carter at the same time. Bro. Holmes remained with the saints until their expulsion from Nauvoo, and while on his way to the Rocky Mountains he enlisted with the Mormon Battalion and served through the campaign. He joined his family in the mountains (Utah) after his discharge, and became a resident of Farmington. He served as a member of the Davis Stake High Council at the time of his death Aug. 18, 1880.

HORNSBY, Ellen, a lady missionary who died while on a mission, was born April 1, 1903, in Perth Amboy, Middlesex Co., New Jersey, a daughter of Joseph Y. Hornsby and Kathryn Agnes Free. She was baptized May 11, 1911, by G. Albin Schelin. She was residing in Ogden, Weber Co., Utah, when called to perform a mission in the Hawaiian Islands. She accepted the call, being set apart Aug. 30, 1927. After serving in her appointed field a short time she was transferred to the California Mission, arriving there Dec. 13, 1927, where she labored in the San Jose district. After performing a short ministry there it was found necessary for her to undergo an operation for appendicitis, and she was recovering when stricken with pneumonia from the effects of which she died May 11, 1928, in California. Her death was deeply regretted, for she was a very capable missionary, a friend, a companion, and a faithful worker in the cause.

HUDMAN, Orson W., Bishop of the Coltman Ward, Idaho Falls Stake, Idaho, from 1916 to 1921, was born June 16, 1868, at Slaterville, Utah, the son of John Hudman and Emma Manning. He was baptized about 1879, was ordained a High Priest May 4, 1913, by Hyrum M. Smith, and ordained a Bishop Feb. 15, 1916, by Orson F. Whitney.

HUDSON, Wilford, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company A, was born Sept. 19, 1818, in Harrison County, Indiana, and joined the Church in December, 1842, being baptized by David Evans. In 1844 he located with the saints in Hancock County, and went west in the exodus of the saints in 1846, assisting in locating Mount Pisgah in Iowa. He enlisted in the Mormon Battalion in July, 1846, at Council Bluffs, where he left a sick family, and marched all the way to California. After the Battalion was discharged in July, 1847, Bro. Hudson and others marched via the Sacramento Valley and Sutter's Fort to Truckee River, where they were met by an express from Pres. Brigham Young, advising all who could not bring one year's provisions with them to Great Salt Lake Valley to remain in California and work until the following spring. Most of the company went back and hired out to Captain John A. Sutter, Elder Hudson and Sidney S. Willis taking a contract for the company to dig a mill-race some distance up the American River, a tributary of the Sacramento. Gold was discovered and Bro. Hudson and others immediately started up the canyon and found considerable of it; one piece, worth about $5, was dug out with a pen knife by Bro. Hudson. Elder Hudson worked three weeks in the mine and got out $1,700 worth of gold. The following June he left for the "Valley," and arrived Sept. 23, 1848. After a few days rest, he started for Council Bluffs, and brought his family to Utah in the spring of 1849. He became one of the early settlers of Grantsville.

HUNT, Jefferson, a member of the Mormon Battalion and captain of Company A, was born Jan. 20, 1803, in Bracken County, Kentucky, a son of John Hunt and Martha Jenkins. He moved with his parents to Illinois, where he met and married Celia Mounts in 1823. They embraced the "Mormon" faith in 1834, and later joined the "Mormons" in Clay County, Mo., and were driven from there to Caldwell County where they shared in the persecutions of the saints at that place. During the Illinois troubles Jefferson Hunt served as a major in the Nauvoo Legion. When the call was made for the Mormons to enlist for service against Mexico, he joined the Battalion and was chosen captain of the first company. His eldest two sons also enlisted in the Battalion, his son Marshall being the youngest member (seventeen years old). The Hunt family accompanied the Battalion as far as Santa Fe. After making the march to California, Captain Hunt and son Marshall reached Salt Lake Valley in October, 1847. That fall Captain Hunt went to California with his sons and fifteen others to obtain provisions, cattle, seeds and grain. They took the southern route, reaching what is now San Bernardino, on Christmas day, 1847. With two hundred head of cattle, seeds, etc., they returned to Salt Lake, reaching the "Valley" in May, 1848. In the spring of 1849 he helped to settle Provo, remaining there until 1851, when he was called to go to California with Elder Amasa M. Lyman and Chas. C. Rich, to establish the settlement of San Bernardino. He lived there until 1857, when he was called back to Utah on account of the Johnston Army troubles. Captain Hunt served as a member of the first legislature of California and erected the first sawmill in San Bernardino County. After his return to Utah he lived in Ogden Valley, Huntsville being named in his honor. He also lived in Oxford, Idaho, where he died May 11, 1879.

HUNTER, Jesse D., captain of Company B of the Mormon Battalion, was born in 1804 in Kentucky. Little is known of his life previous to his becoming a member of the Church. He is mentioned among the prisoners arraigned before Judge Austin A. King at Richmond, Missouri, in connection with Joseph Smith, and was, therefore, active during the stirring mob scenes enacted against the Mormons in that state. He removed to Nauvoo, Illinois, and served as a major of the Nauvoo Legion. He joined the "Mormon" exodus from Nauvoo to Council Bluffs, where he accepted service with the Battalion. He was accompanied in the march to the coast by his wife, who is spoken of as a most "estimable lady," and who died at San Diego April 27, 1847, leaving a babe a few weeks old. Captain Hunter never came to Utah, but remained in California and was appointed Indian agent at San Luis Rey. During the gold excitement of 1848 he went to the mines, but shortly returned south to accept again an appointment as Indian Agent in the district where he had previously operated. He died in Los Angeles in 1882, at the age of seventy-three, leaving seven grown children with families.

HUNTER, Lydia, wife of Captain Jesse D. Hunter of Company B, went with her husband to California, and died there at San Diego April 27, 1847, leaving one son, James. She was spoken of as a most estimable lady. Her son James died in Los Angeles in 1910.

HUNTINGTON, Dimick B., a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company D, was born May 26, 1808, at Watertown, Jefferson Co., New York, and was best known among the earlier settlers of Utah as an Indian interpreter, and for his influence among the Indians. He was also connected with earlier musical organizations, notably the martial band, in which he acted as the drum major; was one of the first settlers of Provo. After the massacre of Capt. Gunnison and party by Indians on the Sevier River in 1853, Mr. Huntington was sent to recover their papers and property and to bury their remains, which he accomplished successfully. In 1868 he was promiment at the famous conference between Indians and white officials and settlers, at which a treaty of peace was entered into, terminating the Black Hawk war. He died in Salt Lake City Feb. 1, 1879.

IVINS, Antoine Ridgway, one of the First Seven Presidents of Seventies, was born May 11, 1881, at St. George, Washington Co., Utah, a son of Anthony Woodward Ivins and Elizabeth Ashby Snow. Being instructed from early childhood in the principles of faith and repentance, the boy was baptized in the St. George Temple Sept. 24, 1889, by Walter Granger, and confirmed by David H. Cannon. In due time he was ordained a Deacon and, having moved to Mexico with his parents, he was ordained a Teacher in Colonia Juarez, Mexico. He was ordained an Elder by his father in Salt Lake City Oct. 10, 1901, and a Seventy Dec. 28, 1914, by Fred E. Barker. Bro. Ivins received his endowments in the Salt Lake Temple Oct. 10, 1901, and on June 26, 1912, in that holy house, was united in marriage to Vilate Ellen Romney, daughter of Orson D. Romney and Emma Phillips.

On Aug. 5, 1931, Bro. Ivins was set apart by Pres. Heber J. Grant to preside over the Mexican Mission, succeeding Elder Rey L. Pratt, deceased, in that position. Having spent several years in Mexico he is highly trained in the Castilian tongue and is endeared to the Mexican people, in whose behalf his father, Pres. Anthony W. Ivins, labored with so much fidelity. On Oct. 8, 1931, in the Salt Lake Temple, Bro. Ivins was set apart as a member of the First Council of Seventies by Pres. Heber J. Grant, assisted by Pres. Anthony W. Ivins.

JACKSON, Warren Oswell, Bishop of the Ogden 9th Ward, Mt. Ogden Stake, Utah, from 1923 to 1930+, was born Sept. 13, 1887, in Ogden, Utah, a son of William Jackson and Harriet J. Hall. He was baptized Sept.

13, 1895; was ordained to different offices in the Priesthood; married Lillie M. Moyes June 14, 1911, and they have five children. He was ordained an Elder and filled a mission to the Northern States in 1919-1921, laboring as mission secretary most of the time. He was ordained a High Priest in 1921 by Stephen L. Richards, and set apart as second counselor in the Ogden 9th Ward. On April 15, 1923, he was ordained a Bishop by Stephen L. Richards. He acted as president of Y. M. M. I. A. for one year, and as Sunday School superintendent for nine years.

JAMESON, Charles, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company E, was born April 9, 1803, at Little York, Pennsylvania, a son of David Jameson and Magdaline Miller. He was baptized April 6, 1834, by David Evans, in Ohio, was in the Haun's Mill Massacre and was badly wounded, marched to California with the Battalion, and came to the Valley in 1847. He came from Iowa and settled in Provo in 1850; moved to Minersville in 1871, where he resided until his death Sept. 20, 1886, leaving one wife and seven children.

JOHNSON, Henry Mitchell, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company A, was born July 12, 1821, in Dearborn, Dearborn Co., Indiana, a son of Cornelius Johnson and Nancy Johnson. He emigrated with his mother to Jackson County, Missouri, in 1832, was baptized in the summer of 1833, and in November of the same year was driven with his mother from Jackson County, being forced to travel bare-footed over the frozen prairie. In 1848 he was again exiled, and while on this journey westward, he enlisted in the Mormon Battalion and marched to California. He arrived in Utah Oct. 24, 1848. In the spring of 1849 he was ordained an Elder, and in September, 1850, he married Louisa Frances Clark. Bro. Johnson was a minute man in all the Indian wars, was a lieutenant in the "Life Guards," and in April, 1856, he was called on a mission to Carson Valley, and got as far as Ogden, when he was taken sick. He returned to Salt Lake City and died March 20, 1857.

born May 1, 1810, on the Isle of Man, a son of Thomas Karren and Catherine Clark. He moved to Liverpool in 1830, and joined the Church in May, 1842. He was ordained an Elder in Liverpool, emigrated to Nauvoo, Illinois, in 1844, was ordained a Seventy by Jacob Gates in 1844, and became a member of 20th Quorum of Seventy at Nauvoo. He joined the Mormon Battalion in 1846, spent the winter of 1846-1847 at Pueblo, and arrived in Great Salt Lake Valley July 29, 1847, soon after the original Pioneers came. He went back to Council Bluffs and returned with his family in 1850 to the "Valley." In 1852 he was called on a mission to the Sandwich Islands, where he was associated with Geo. Q. Cannon and others. He returned to Lehi in 1855, and later was chosen as first counselor to Bishop David Evans, which position he held until his death which occurred April 12, 1876. Bro. Karren was a faithful Latter-day Saint and was esteemed by all who knew him.

LANGSTON, Charles J., an Elder who died in the missionary field, was born March 24, 1895, in Rockville, Washington Co., Utah, a son of Jacob H. Langston and Alice M. Hall. He was baptized March 24, 1903, by his father, and afterwards ordained a Seventy. He resided in Lynndyl, Millard Co., Utah, when he was called to the Tongan Mission, being set apart Dec. 13, 1916. He spent almost two years in this field of labor, bearing his testimony to the truth of the gospel, when he was stricken with the Spanish influenza from the effects of which he died Nov. 26, 1918, in Tonga.

LARSON, Thurston, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company C, was born Oct. 11, 1830, in Norway, and resided in Nauvoo when the Prophet Joseph Smith was killed. He joined the Battalion and marched to Santa Fe with the sick detachment of the Battalion, and arrived in the Valley July 27, 1847. He took part in the Echo Canyon war and suffered all the trials incident to early days in Utah. He married Elizabeth Fox Dec. 10, 1859, bore a strong testimony in a Priesthood meeting held at Preston, Idaho, Aug. 7, 1897, and died March 11, 1907, in Parker, Idaho.

LAUHLIN, David S., a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company D, was born April 28, 1816, in New Hampshire. He joined the Church at an early day in Kirtland, Ohio, and afterwards moved to Far West, Missouri, where he suffered persecution, together with the rest of the saints. He afterwards located in Nauvoo, and was with the saints when they were driven from that place in 1846. On the journey westward he enlisted in the Mormon Battalion, and after his return to Winter Quarters in the fall of 1847 he filled a mission to Ohio and settled in Great Salt Lake Valley with his family in 1852. Later he located in Cedar Valley, Utah, where he died Dec. 5, 1856, after a long illness, being only forty years old. He left a widow and four children and was a highly respected man.

LAYTON, Vernon Cecil, an Elder who died in the missionary field, was born Feb. 12, 1896, in Kaysville, Davis Co., Utah, a son of Christopher Layton, jun., and Jane Elizabeth Bodily. He was baptized when eight years old by William Blood, and later ordained an Elder. Elder Layton was set apart for a mission to California by Elder J. Golden Kimball May 27, 1919. After laboring in Arizona for twenty-one months he was taken sick with kidney trouble, from which he died Feb. 8, 1921, at San Diego, while en route from Arizona to San Francisco. His brother, who was at his bedside when he died, brought the body home to Kaysville, where services were held in the tabernacle on his twenty-fifth birthday. He was a young man of high qualities of character and of sterling integrity, and gave faithful service in the mission field.

LEATHAM, Louis Salisbury, a member of the Salt Lake Stake Genealogical Temple Committee, was born Nov. 16, 1903, in the 16th Ward, Salt

Lake City, Utah, a son of Patriarch Wm. Leatham and Martha Ann Salisbury. His grandparents were early residents of Utah and his maternal grandfather, Joshua Salisbury was, it is claimed, the pioneer of dry land farming in Utah and the West. Bro. Louis Leatham was baptized in the Salt Lake Tabernacle font by Elder George A. Davis Feb. 4, 1911, and received his education in the public schools of Salt Lake City and in the extension division of the University of Utah. He was ordained to offices in the Aaronic Priesthood and ordained an Elder May 25, 1925, by Bishop LeGrand P. Backman. He was ordained a Seventy Aug. 31, 1927, by Rulon S. Wells, just prior to leaving on a mission to Great Britain. During this mission he traveled from the extreme north of Scotland to the English border on his bicycle, preaching the gospel, and also acted for some time as president of the Aberdeen Branch and as clerk of the Sheffield District. Before returning home in October, 1929, he traveled quite extensively in Europe. He is a member of the 2nd Quorum of Seventy and is also deeply interested in genealogical and temple work, is second counselor in the presidency of the Salt Lake Stake Genealogical and Temple Committee, and vice president and secretary of the Robert Leatham Family Association. He has also served in various capacities in the auxiliary organizations of the Church. In secular affairs he has served as auditor for the Bennett Gas and Oil Company, cashier of the National Building and Loan Assn. of America and its affiliated companies, auditor for the State Banking Department (liquidating division), and field representative for the Home Owners Loan Corporation. He was one of the division supervisors of the first Covered Wagon Days Parade held in Salt Lake City in July, 1931, and in subsequent annual parades, and is a member of the State Central Committee of one of the major political parties of Utah. On Sept. 24, 1930, he married Anna Grace Carn (daughter of Thomas Richard Carn and Almeda Ford) in the Salt Lake Temple. They have two children, namely, William Wallace and Janet Leatham.

LEMON, James William, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company A, was born May 16, 1827, in Corydon, Indiana, a son of Washington Lemon and Tamar Stephens, one of twelve children, eight sons and four daughters. He joined the Church when a boy and identified himself with the saints who were fleeing from Nauvoo in 1846, enlisted with the Battalion and marched to California. He came to Utah, pioneered several places and finally settled in Weston, Idaho, where

LEWIS, Samuel, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company C, was born Oct. 27, 1829, in Simpson County, Kentucky, a son of Tarlton Lewis and Melinda Gimlen. He was baptized by David Evans in Caldwell County, Missouri, in 1837, came with the Pioneers from Nauvoo to Mount Pisgah in 1846, and enlisted in the Battalion at Council Bluffs July 16, 1846. After serving a year he was discharged at Los Angeles July 16, 1847, and arrived in the "Valley" in December, 1847. He became a resident of Great Salt Lake City, and in the spring of 1848 went with the first mail to Pres. Young after this leader left the "Valley" in 1847. He worked on the Nauvoo Temple until the walls were completed, on the St. George Temple about 18 months, on the Salt Lake Temple 14 months, and on the Manti Temple four months, being a stone cutter by trade. He went to Parowan in 1851 and acted as first counselor to his father (Bishop Tarlton Lewis) in Parowan, went to Arizona in 1880, and was one of the first settlers in Pima. He helped to build John W. Young's factory at Moan Copy, located at Thatcher, Arizona, about 1888 or 1889, and died in Phoenix, Arizona, August 31, 1911.

MANTLE, John Willard, an Elder in the Church who died while filling a mission, was born July 24, 1854, in Salt Lake City, Utah, a son of Llewellyn Mantle and Catherine Watkins. He was baptized when eight years old and later ordained to the different grades of the Priesthood. As a resident of Taylorsville, Salt Lake Co., Utah, he was called on a mission to the Eastern States Mission, being set apart Sept. 29, 1903. While in the ministry he labored faithfully, taking hold of missionary labor with a zeal that made him an efficient messenger of the gospel. He became ill and underwent an operation. He died Nov. 25, 1904, in Baltimore, Maryland. His remains were brought home by Elder Wilford M. Allred, and were buried in Taylorsville, Utah, Dec. 4, 1904.

MAXWELL, William Baley, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company D, was born March 14, 1821, in Illinois. He was baptized about 1845 in Nauvoo, and was among the most valiant in the midst of fatigues, sacrifices and hardships of the Battalion experience. In the Utah troubles of 1857-1858, he was in the front rank for defense of the rights of the Latter-day Saints. From 1856 to 1859 he was associated with the colonization and presidency of Santaquin in Utah County, and from that time on he spent his life in the south with pioneering and colonization labors. In 1887 he was in La Ascension, Chihuahua, Mexico, where the saints were making a settlement named Colonia Diaz. Bro. Maxwell was an efficient Indian missionary and always sustained a good influence with the natives. He went to Mesa, Arizona, from Graham County, for his health, and died at Mesa Aug. 18, 1895.

MEAD, Orlando Fish, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company C, was born Jan. 10, 1823, in Wilton, Fairfield County, Conn., a son of Geo. Mead and Hannah Whitlock. He was baptized by Charles W. Wandell in New Canaan, Conn., in January, 1839, came to Nauvoo in 1841, was ordained an Elder and afterwards a Seventy, came west in 1846, and enlisted in the Battalion at Council Bluffs; arrived in the "Valley" in 1849, after working for some time on the Mormon Island, near Sacramento, and worked as a shoemaker for John A. Sutter. After his arrival in the "Valley" he located in Cottonwood, and later in Salt Lake City, and went south at the time of the "Move." After his marriage in 1853, he lived in Spanish Fork for 21 years.

He located at Price, Utah, in 1885 where he died Feb. 26, 1897.

MERRILL, Philemon C., a member of the Mormon Battalion, and 3rd lieutenant in Company B, was born Nov. 12, 1820, in Byron, Genesee Co., N. Y., a son of Samuel Merrill and Phoebe Odell. He was baptized in March, 1839, near Carthage, Ill., by Joel H. Johnson, was ordained an Elder by Patriarch Hyrum Smith Jan. 2, 1840; filled a mission to Wisconsin with Stephen Markham in 1840-1841, joined the Nauvoo Legion in the spring of 1841, was ordained a Seventy in 1843, worked on the Temple, and in 1845 was one of Capt. Alpheus Haws' company of fifty to prepare to emigrate, and on Feb. 6, 1846, was one of the guard under Hosea Stout to cross the Mississippi River; they camped 7 miles from the river on Sugar Creek. He returned to Nauvoo for his family, and on his return halted at Council Bluffs, where he enlisted in the Battalion, with his brothers-in-law, Philander Colton, Thomas A. Williams and Clark Stillman. These brethren left their wives and children and took up the march to Fort Leavenworth. Philemon was elected second lieutenant in Company B, and when the Battalion arrived at Santa Fe he was chosen adjutant of the Battalion, and marched to California. After his discharge, July 16, 1847, he made his way to the "Valley" with Capt. Jefferson Hunt and seven others, arriving in the Valley Oct. 11, 1847, where he found his father and mother and two sisters. He went on to Winter Quarters for his family, and returned to the mountains Oct. 16, 1849. Later he kept a ferry on Green River and in 1851 went back to the States and brought forty-four wagons with goods back for Thomas S. Williams. He filled a mission to Europe in 1853-1856, lived in Salt Lake City, served as a colonel in the Echo Canyon campaign, moved south to Provo, and later settled in Farmington; was one of the first settlers of Morgan County; was called to Soda Springs, Idaho, to take charge of the branch there, organized the saints at Georgetown, Idaho, as a branch; thence he moved to Bennington, and in 1876 was called to the southern country, settling in Arizona. He was afterwards ordained a Patriarch in the St. Joseph Stake, Arizona. He died Sept. 15, 1904, at Thatcher, Ariz.

MERRILL (Thompson), Phoebe Lodema, who accompanied the Mormon Battalion as a nurse, was born Aug. 5, 1832, in Elba, New York, a daughter of Samuel and Phoebe Merrill. As a child, she was with her parents during the exodus from Nauvoo, and went with the Battalion as a nurse in the company in which her brother, Philemon C. Merrill, served as adjutant. From Santa Fe she was sent with the sick detachment and the women and children to Pueblo, where they spent the winter of 1846-1847. She married Parmenio A. Jackman in 1851, who was killed by the Indians in 1860; she later married a man by the name of Thompson. She died Jan. 18, 1909, in Parker, Idaho.

MILES, Gertrude Griffiths, a lady missionary who died in the field, was born Aug. 31, 1895, in Smithfield, Cache Co., Utah, a daughter of William George Griffiths and Gertrude Martha Williams. She was baptized Sept. 5, 1903, by John Swenson. Her mother died when Gertrude was only a girl of thirteen, and the bringing up of the other children of the family was left to her. In 1912, she married Glen Miles in the Logan Temple and their married life was very happy. He was killed in one of the battles of the World war in October, 1918. After his death Sister Miles devoted most of her time to Church work. While still residing in Smithfield she was called on a mission to the Northern States, being set apart Oct. 19, 1920. She reached her field of labor Oct. 23, 1920, and died in Chicago March 25, 1921, the cause of her death being embolism following an attack of quinsy. She was a woman of pleasing personality, and by the service she rendered to others, won a place in the hearts of all who were associated with her. She was chosen to assist Sister Emily Whitney Smith, president of the mission Relief Societies, in special work, which called them to visit many branches of the mission, giving encouragement and suggestions to the local sisters. On Friday evening, March 18, 1921, a social was given in the Logan Square chapel, commemorating the seventy-ninth anniversary of the organization of the Relief Society. At this social Sister Miles gave a historical sketch of the work accomplished by the women since their organization was effected. Funeral services were held in the Logan Square chapel, Chicago, Saturday afternoon, where a large number of friends and investigators assembled to show their appreciation of their association with her. Many were the words of praise of the untiring efforts and the sterling qualities of Sister Miles. Elder R. Truman Hillyard, president of the Northern Indiana Conference, a resident of Smithfield, Utah, a life long friend of Sister Miles, accompanied her body home. Her mission was complete in this life, and pleasant thoughts can be entertained of the joyous meeting on the "other shore" of the hero, who gave his life for humanity, and the heroine, who died "on the firing line," battling for the cause of truth and righteousness.

MILES, Samuel, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company B, was born April 8, 1826, in Attica, Genesee Co., N. Y., a son of Samuel Miles and Prudence Marks. He was baptized in April, 1836, by Salmon Warner, while traveling with the saints to Missouri. Bro. Miles was present at the laying of the corner-stone of the Temple at Far West, July 4, 1838, and remembered the acts of mob violence in devastating the saints' fields, destroying their stock, abusing aged men and women, and the subsequent expulsion of the saints from the state. He joined the Battalion, and the hardships of the long march of two thousand miles, the manifest interposition of Providence in delivering them from armed foes, and the numerous vicissitudes incident to a march through a wild and often desert country, formed a notable year in the life of Elder Miller. He arrived in the "Valley" in 1848; was married in 1849, ordained a Seventy Jan. 18, 1851, filled a mission to California in 1857, and another mission to settle Dixie in 1862. He was ordained a High Priest and set apart as a High Councilor at St. George Aug. 18, 1857, moved to Heberville (later called Price), and died May 22, 1910, at St. George, Utah.

MILLER, Daniel Morgan, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company E, was born Nov. 19, 1821, in Orleans County, New York, a son of Josiah Miller and Amanda Morgan. His parents were baptized into the Church in 1831, and moved to Kirtland, Ohio, where they resided until the saints migrated west. Bro. Miller was baptized July 16, 1846, at Council Bluffs by Elder A. Love, and ordained an Elder by Pres. Brigham Young and Geo. A. Smith. The same day he joined Company E, of the Mormon Battalion and traveled with it to Santa Fe. He was taken sick and could not proceed, but his brother Miles left him and went with the Battalion to California. Bro. Daniel, after spending the winter of 1846-1847 at Pueblo was able to travel with Capt. Brown's company to Salt Lake Valley, arriving there soon after the Pioneers. He resided in Salt Lake City until 1852, when he moved to Nephi, Juab Co., where he remained until his death.

He was killed by the Indians while returning from a canyon with a load of wood Sept. 26, 1872, near Spring City, Sanpete Co., Utah.

MILLER, Miles, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company E, was born July 26, 1818, at Clarendon, Orleans Co., N. Y., a son of Josiah Miller and Amanda Morgan. He marched to California with the Battalion, and when he came back settled in Ferron, Emery Co. He married Rachel Ewing, and nine children were born to them. He died March 2, 1900, at Nephi, Juab Co., Utah.

MOSS, David, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company A, was born Sept. 17, 1818, in Newton, Yorkshire, England, a son of Robert Moss and Margaret Kelsall. He was baptized Jan. 6, 1838, by Joseph Fielding, near Preston, England, labored for two years as a local Elder and emigrated to America on the ship "Yorkshire" in 1843. After his arrival at Nauvoo, he worked on the Temple, was ordained a Seventy in 1845, and filled a mission to Indiana with Peter Melling (the first Patriarch in England, who died with fever and ague near Logansport, Indiana). Elder Moss crossed the Mississippi River Feb. 9, 1846, with Hosea Stout's company, traveled through Iowa to Council Bluffs, marched with the Battalion to California, and was discharged one year later (July 16, 1847). After remaining one year in California, he arrived in the Valley in 1848. He settled in Bountiful, and later in Salt Lake City; was married Jan. 17, 1852, and was called to the Southern Mission in 1861, being one of the founders of St. George, Utah.

MOWREY, Harley, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company C, was born Aug. 9, 1822, in Rhode Island, a son of Barton Mowrey and Ruth Walkup. He became a convert to "Mormonism" at an early day and came west during the general exodus from Nauvoo, Illinois, in 1846. He enlisted in the Mormon Battalion in July, 1846, was sent with the sick detachment from Santa Fe, to Pueblo and came to the "Valley" July 29, 1847. On the journey (on July 4, 1847) he married Martha Jane Sharp, the widow of Norman Sharp, a member of the Battalion, who died in September, 1846. She bore her second husband (Mowrey) nine children, having a daughter (Sarah Ellen) by her first husband. Bro. Mowrey was a stone-mason by avocation, and lived in different places. The last few years of his life he spent at Vernal, where he died Oct. 21, 1920, aged 98 years.

MOYES, Ralph E., an Elder who died while filling a mission, was born Feb. 1, 1906, in Escalante, Garfield Co., Utah, a son of J. E. Moyes and Minnie Wilcox. He was baptized in 1915, by W. N. Roundy, and later ordained an Elder. Elder Moyes accepted a call to fill a mission in the Northern States, being set apart Oct. 18, 1927. When he arrived in his field of labor he was assigned to work in the Wisconsin Conference, and had served in the ministry eight months when he was stricken with tonsillitis from the effects of which he died June 25, 1928, in the Marquette hospital, in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. His body was shipped home to Escalante, the remains being accompanied by Pres. Noah S. Pond. A short and impressive service was held at the Latter-day Saints chapel before leaving Milwaukee, Wednesday evening, June 27, 1928. Funeral services were also held at Escalante July 1, 1928. Elder Moyes left a widow, Mrs. Golda Moyes.

MOYLE, Henry Dinwoodey, president of the Cottonwood Stake, Utah, since 1927, was born April 22, 1889, in Salt Lake City, Utah, the son of James H. Moyle and Alice Dinwoodey.

He was baptized July 3, 1897, by Joseph S. Wells, received a good education and was an earnest student from his early youth. Taking an active part in Church affairs, he was ordained to the Aaronic Priesthood when quite young and was active among the boys doing the work pertaining to offices in said Priesthood. He was ordained an Elder June 21, 1909, by James H. Moyle and filled a mission to Switzerland and Germany in 1909-1912. In 1915 he completed the study of law at Harvard University and was appointed U. S. Attorney for Utah in 1920. Since 1915 he has delivered lectures on law to the students at the University of Utah. When the World war broke out he enlisted as a private but soon was advanced to the position of captain of infantry and served in the 21st Infantry in the U. S. Army. After the war, he again became active in Church matters and on Feb. 21, 1927, he was ordained a High Priest by Apostle Melvin J. Ballard, after which he acted as a high councilor in the Cottonwood Stake until Nov. 21, 1927, when he was set apart as president of the Cottonwood Stake, succeeding Uriah G. Miller. In 1920 (July 26th) Bro. Moyle married Clara Alberta Wright (daughter of Charles H. Wright and Clara Scoville, born July 24, 1893, in Ogden, Utah) in the Salt Lake Temple, which union has been blessed with six children, namely, Alice (born July 26, 1920), Maria (born Jan. 22, 1922), James H. (born Jan. 25, 1923), Virginia (born Jan. 10, 1926), Janet (born June 17, 1928), and Henry D. Moyle, jun., (born Dec. 24, 1929). Pres. Moyle's present occupation is practicing attorney at law.

MUIR, William Smith, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company A, was born July 19, 1822, at Bannockburn, Sterling, Scotland, a son of Stephen Muir and Elizabeth Blackwood. He was baptized in Scotland Jan. 17, 1842, by Robert Menzes, and emigrated to America in 1844, locating at Nauvoo. He enlisted in the Mormon Battalion, marched to California serving as a private, corporal and sergeant, went to San Francisco after being discharged, worked at the mines, passed through Great Salt Lake Valley in 1848 on his way to Winter Quarters, where he found his family, whom he had left in Nauvoo. He brought them to the Valley in 1849, and located in Bountiful. He filled a mission to England in 1855-1858, having been ordained a Seventy in Nauvoo in 1844. Bro. Muir died Nov. 27, 1897, at West Bountiful, Utah.

NAEGLE, John Conrad, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company A, was born Sept. 14, 1825, in Alberschweiler, Bavaria, a son of Henry Naegle and Otilla Wissing. After his arrival in America he changed his name to Nail, and is so named on the roster of the Battalion. In later life he was known as Naegle. He joined the Church in Bavaria, and as the only one of his family emigrated to America, arriving in Nauvoo in 1844, just after the death of the Prophet. He was exiled with the other saints and was one of the youngest men to join the Mormon Battalion. He re-enlisted in the Battalion for six months and remained in California until 1856, when he came to Utah and settled in Lehi. From May, 1873, to July, 1874, he filled a mission to Germany. Later he moved to Sonora, Mexico, where he died Sept. 10, 1899.

NELSON, Irvin Theodore, second counselor in the presidency of the Cottonwood Stake, Utah, since 1929, was born April 17, 1892, in Milton, Morgan Co., Utah, the son of Waldemar Theodore Nelson and Mary Jensen. He was raised in Morgan County, attended public schools in Milton, and later the Weber Academy at Ogden, from which institution he graduated in 1912, after taking the normal course. While there, he edited the school paper, the

"Acorn," took part in student body activities, and was class valedictorian. After that, he taught in the Morgan High School two years, served as a member of the Ogden Stake Sunday School Board in 1910-1912, as a member of the Morgan Stake Sunday School Board in 1912-1914 and 1916-1919, and as a member of the Cache Stake M. I. A. Board in 1914-1916. He also studied at the Agricultural College in Logan, where he participated in Inter-College debates, edited the "Buzzer" (school year book), and was elected to the National Honorary Scholastic Fraternity, graduating from the institution with a B. S. degree in 1916. In 1917 (Sept. 21), he married Kathleen Bagley in the Salt Lake Temple. The issue of this marriage is five children viz: Irvin Theodore, jun., Kathleen Joy, Lila Gay, Waldemar Rene and Andrew Thomas. Bro. Nelson was baptized Sept. 4, 1900, by Wm. Giles, ordained a Deacon Aug. 23, 1903, a Priest Dec. 27, 1908, and a Seventy Dec. 1, 1912, by Brigham H. Roberts. He filled a mission to the Eastern States in 1919-1920, laboring principally in Boston and New York, presiding over the Massachusetts Conference, later over the Brooklyn Conference, and still later served as mission secretary, working under Pres. George W. McCune. After returning home he taught in the seminary at Brigham City; later he acted as superintendent of the Agricultural Farm at Cedar City (a branch of the A. C. of Logan). In the Parowan Stake he acted as head of scout work; later was scout commissioner for Zion's National Park Council B. S. A. In 1925 he became a resident of Brinton Ward (now Cottonwood), Cottonwood Stake, where he acted as ward scout master, and was engaged as office manager of the Utah Radio Products Company. He was ordained an High Priest and set apart as Bishop of the Cottonwood Ward by Orson F. Whitney Feb. 20, 1928, having been called to that position on Christmas day, 1927. At a Cottonwood Stake quarterly Conference in November, 1929, he was called to the office of second counselor to Henry D. Moyle in the stake presidency and was set apart to that office the same day by James E. Talmage. In 1936 Elder Nelson was selected by the First Presidency to go to Omaha and act as supervisory landscape architect for the improvements being made on the Mormon Pioneer cemetery in connection with the erection of the monument at Winter Quarters. The work done was a distinct credit to the Church and a fitting memorial to the 6,000 pioneers who lost their lives en route to the valleys of the mountains.

NICHOLLS, Samuel Frederick, Bishop of the McKinley Ward, Grant Stake, Utah, from 1924 to 1931, was born Sept. 9, 1894, in Salt Lake City, a son of Frederick Wm. Nicholls and

Anna Johnson. Having been born of goodly parents he was baptized Sept. 27, 1902, by Oscar F. Hunter and ordained successively to offices in the Priesthood as follows: ordained a Deacon Nov. 28, 1905, by John M. Whitaker; a Teacher Jan. 25, 1909, by Chas. F. Longson; a Priest Nov. 5, 1911, by Stephen H. Harrow; an Elder March 29, 1914, by Thos. C. Nuttal; a Seventy July 14, 1920, by Seymour B. Young and a High Priest June 20, 1922, by Frank Y. Taylor. He served as president of a Deacons' quorum, president of a Teachers' quorum, president of an Elders' quorum and as a counselor in the Emerson Ward bishopric two years. In 1914-1916 he filled a mission to Great Britain, laboring principally in the Manchester conference. During the World war he served in the A. E. F. from 1917 to 1919, and after returning home in 1920, he married Ethelyn Walker, daughter of Samuel D. Walker and Henrietta Arnold. This marriage has been blessed with three children, namely, Thelma La Rue, Samuel F., jun., and Richard W. In 1923 Bro. Nicholls moved to Farmers Ward, Salt Lake City, and on Aug. 1, 1924, was ordained a Bishop and set apart to preside in that capacity over the McKinley Ward (formerly a part of the Farmers Ward) by Apostle George Albert Smith. This position he held until 1931 when he was set apart as a member of the Grant Stake High Council, serving in that capacity for two and one-half years, when he moved from the stake. While serving as Bishop of the McKinley Ward he was also chairman of the Boy Scout Court of Honor, Grant district, for seven years. In a civil capacity Bishop Nichols acted as special auditor for Salt Lake County for 18 months and in November, 1929, was elected to serve a four-year term as auditor for Salt Lake City. He was re-elected in November, 1933, for another four-year term.

OAKLEY, James, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company D, was born Sept. 5, 1826, near Brooklyn, Long Island, N. Y., a son of Ezra Oakley and Elizabeth DeGroot. He moved with his parents to Nauvoo, Illinois, in 1842, joined the Church when sixteen years old, being baptized in the spring of 1843. He remained in Nauvoo until the exodus in 1846, joined the Mormon Battalion at Council Bluffs, but fell ill and went to Pueblo, under Capt. James Brown. He arrived in Great Salt Lake Valley in 1847, went to California in 1849 with the gold rush, but returned to Utah in 1851, locating in Springville. He took an active part in the Indian wars of early Utah history and in all things he lived the life of the hardy, courageous pioneer and empire builder. He died in Springville, Utah, April 30, 1915. It was said of him that he had such a horror of debt that he never owed a dollar in his life to anybody.

OBORN, Clement A., one of the Elders who died in the missionary field, was born May 15, 1900, in Ogden, Weber Co., Utah, a son of Heber C. Oborn and Emily Millgate. He was baptized June 28, 1908, by his father and later ordained an Elder. He was residing in Ogden when he was called on a mission to the Tongan Islands, being set apart Nov. 16, 1920. After serving some months in the ministry he was stricken with typhoid fever from the effects of which he died May 11, 1922. His funeral and burial were held at Haapai of the Tongan group, after every effort had been made to carry out the wishes of the missionary's parents, to have his body brought home. It seemed, however, that neither regulations nor facilities on the islands would permit this.

OTT, Joseph Alma, an Elder who died while filling a foreign mission, was born Dec. 12, 1871, in Duncan, Washington Co., Utah, a son of David B. Ott and Hannah Normington. He was baptized when about eight years old, and resided in Tropic, Garfield Co., Utah, when he was called on his mission. He responded to the call and was set apart Nov. 8, 1895, to labor in the Swiss and German Mission, but after being engaged in the ministry a few months he was stricken with the black diphtheria from which he died Jan. 18, 1896, in Dresden, where he was buried.

PACE, James, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company E, was born June 15, 1811, at Murfreesboro, Rutherford Co., Tenn., a son of James Pace and Mary Ann Loving. Becoming a convert to "Mormonism", he was baptized April 14, 1839, by Dominic Carter. He was ordained a Seventy Oct. 6, 1840, passed through much persecution with the saints, and while a resident of Nauvoo acted as a member of the Prophet Joseph Smith's life guard. In 1846 he participated in the exodus from Nauvoo, and on his arrival at Council Bluffs he enlisted in the Mormon Battalion and marched with that body as first lieutenant in Company E to California. After his discharge he made his way to Salt Lake Valley, where he married Ann Webb Dec. 4, 1854, by whom he was the father of several children. For some time he resided in Springville, Utah Co., moved to Washington County in 1861, and later to Arizona, where he became a resident of Thatcher and died there April 6, 1888.

PECK, Edwin Martin, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company D, was born July 24, 1828, in Caledonia County, Vermont, a son of Martin H. Peck and Susan Cluff. His father's family moved to Nauvoo, and after the saints were exiled from their homes there in 1846, he traveled with the body of the Church to Council Bluffs, Iowa, where he joined the Battalion in July, 1846. After his arrival in California he was honorably discharged July 16, 1847, but four days later with forty-six other members of the Battalion re-enlisted for service six months longer. After his discharge he came to the "Valley" and made his home in Provo. He died in Goshen, Utah Co., Aug. 22, 1903.

PECK, Thorit, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company C, was born May 30, 1826, in Lock, Cayuga Co., New York, a son of Warren and Hannah Peck. He emigrated with his mother to Jackson County, Mo., in the fall of 1833, and a few weeks later the saints were driven out by mobs. Thorit was baptized as a boy and moved with the saints from Missouri to Illinois, and while on the journey from Nauvoo westward in 1846 he enlisted in the famous Battalion, and marched to California, enduring all the fatigue and hardships of that long, wearisome journey. He arrived in Great Salt Lake Valley in 1848 and was ordained a Seventy May 10, 1857, becoming a member of the 34th quorum of Seventy. He was one of the early settlers of Pleasant Grove, Utah Co., where he resided until his death, which occurred there Feb. 6, 1858, he being only 32 years of age. He left a wife and three children, and died as a faithful member of the Church.

PEERY, Joseph Stras, president of the Temple Square Mission and manager of the Bureau of Information in Salt Lake City, was born Oct. 5, 1868, in Ogden, Utah, a son of David H. Peery, and Elizabeth L. Higginbotham. His father died in Ogden in 1901 but his mother who was born in Nauvoo, Ill., Jan. 13, 1846, is still (1936) living in Ogden, aged 91 years.

Joseph S. Peery was born under very favorable circumstances, and his youth was spent in attending school and studying music and singing and activity in Church organizations. When a young boy his father would call him into their home, known as "The Virginia" and have him play the piano and repeat stories from the Bible for the entertainment of visitors. From the age of 16 to 20 he worked in his father's store and made a splendid clerk; often working from 7:00 o'clock a. m. to 10:00 p. m. At the age of 20 Joseph Peery desired to continue his education and having spent two winters at the University of Utah, his parents arranged for him to attend the Roanoke College in Virginia. At that time there was great persecution against the saints and a local newspaper was very abusive. Bro. Peery discovered that one of his college professors was editor of the paper so he said to him: "You are telling lies against my people, and if you don't stop, I will leave Roanoke College and everyone will know why I leave." The professor answered: "Why, Mr. Peery, I had no idea that you were a 'Mormon.' I promise you that I will never say anything against your people any more." The winters of 1888-1889 and 1889-1890 Bro. Peery spent at the University of Nebraska, at Lincoln, where he became president of his class, editor of the college paper, represented his university in a debate with the Methodist University, and represented the University infantry company in a rifle shooting contest. After his return from college in 1890, Elder Peery was appointed superintendent of the Weber County Schools, during which time he inaugurated a system of grading, the first of the kind adopted for county schools in Utah. In the summer of 1892 he resigned this position to attend the Yale University Law Department, at New Haven, Conn., where he graduated with honors in the class of 1895 with the degree of L. L. B. The evening he arrived in New Haven there was a large gathering of students who were debating the gold and silver standards. All the students were strongly on the side of gold. The statement was made, "Is there anyone in the audience who would like to talk?" Bro. Peery rose and for fifteen minutes held the students spellbound in his defense of free silver. The next day he was invited to join an honorary society called Corbey Court. He accepted and made many friends among the Yale students.

After his return home Bro. Peery saw the importance of having a public library in Ogden. He got up an entertainment, which was attended by 1,500 people and netted $500 which amount was the nucleus of the Ogden public library. In 1898 he was elected the first president of the Carnegie Public Library of Ogden and during his administration the library building was erected. On May 4, 1896, he was appointed a trustee of the State Industrial School and was later made president of the Board of Trustees. In the fall of 1898 he was nominated by the Democratic party and elected to be county attorney, in which office he served for two years and then went into the sheep business, from which he retired in 1929.

On July 20, 1898, he married Luacine Hoge of Salt Lake City, daughter of Enos D. Hoge and Luacine Williams. For the first three years their marriage was ideal, but his wife's health failing, he watched her for seven years gradually losing strength. After her demise on April 27, 1908, he felt that "Heaven would not be heaven to him without his wife," so in August, 1908, he went into the Salt Lake Temple and had his wife sealed to him for time and all eternity. He says, "The main testimony of my life was the heavenly happiness I received in the holy Temple of the Lord when my adorable wife was sealed to me." Bro. Peery then made temple work his main business for some years. He accumulated a genealogy of thousands of names and as far as possible had the work done in their behalf.

On Dec. 22, 1909, Bro. Peery married Julina Clarissa Smith in the Salt Lake Temple. She was a daughter of Pres. Joseph F. Smith and Julina Lambson. Two sons and four daughters were born of this marriage, namely, Joseph Smith, David Harold, Luacine, Julina, Elizabeth Louise and Margaret Peery. On Aug. 1, 1923, he again went through the sorrow of losing his beloved wife by death. She left six children between the ages of 2 and 12 years. On March 19, 1924, he married Liliu Davis, second cousin of Julina Smith Peery, deceased, and a daughter of Albert J. Davis and Margaret D. Forsythe. This union has been blessed with three children, namely, Nancy, Paul Davis and Jeanne Peery.

Elder Peery has held many responsible positions in the Church, such as president of Y. M. M. I. A., officer on Sunday school and Y. M. M. I. A. boards, High Councilor, etc., and in August, 1909, he became a missionary guide on the Temple Block, Salt Lake City, in which work he has been active ever since. On July 1, 1929, he was appointed first assistant to Pres. Levi Edgar Young of the Bureau of Information, and on July 9, 1932, he was appointed president of the Temple Square Mission and manager of the Bureau of Information. During the year 1936, under the direction of Pres. Peery, 300,000 tourists were entertained and 67 missionary guides alternated in taking companies through the Tabernacle and Assembly Hall and in explaining to the visitors the sacred uses of the Temple.

PETERSON, Albert, an Elder who died while filling a foreign mission, was born March 7, 1872, in Wittinge, Upland, Sweden, a son of Olof Peterson and Ulrika Grimfelt. He was baptized March 9, 1882, and emigrated to Utah in 1891. He resided in South Cottonwood, Salt Lake Co., Utah, when he was called on his mission. Responding to the call he was set apart April 14, 1897, to labor in the Scandinavian Mission, but after being engaged in the ministry for a few months he was stricken with a sickness from which he died Dec. 30, 1898, in Upsala, Sweden. His remains were shipped to Utah and buried in the South Cottonwood cemetery June 11, 1899.

RASMUSSEN, Althen J., an Elder who died in the missionary field, was born Sept. 16, 1901, in Mount Pleasant, Sanpete Co., Utah, a son of Lars C. Rasmussen and Cecelia Jonassen. He was baptized Sept. 16, 1909, by Anthnel Carter, and later ordained an Elder. While still residing in Mount Pleasant he was called to go on a mission to the Tongan Islands, being set apart May 25, 1921. He served some months in this ministry when he was stricken with an illness that caused his death July 4, 1923, in Haapai, where he was buried.

RICHTER, Fredrick Emil, an Elder who died while filling a foreign mission, was born Dec. 20, 1858, in Boderetz, Saxony, Germany, a son of Karl August Richter and Wilhelmine Simmger. He was baptized June 10, 1903, and later ordained a High Priest. He emigrated to America and made his home in Salt Lake City, Utah. When called on his mission he was residing in the Wandamere Ward, Grant Stake, in Salt Lake City, Utah, where he was a very active worker. He accepted the call to labor in the Swiss and German Mission, being set apart July 27, 1923. He had been in the ministry almost twelve months when he died Sept. 8, 1924, of blood poisoning and a weak heart, in Zwickau, Germany. He was sick only a few days. His remains were brought home to Salt Lake City, accompanied by Brother and Sister Albert Frederick, who were honorably released for this purpose.

ROCKWOOD, Claude H., an Elder who died while filling a mission, was born March 9, 1907, in Salt Lake City, Utah, a son of Bishop J. A. Rockwood and Mary Ellen Hill. He was baptized March 27, 1915, by Leo Amundsen, and later ordained an Elder, and resided in the Yale Ward, Liberty Stake, Salt Lake City, Utah, when he was called on a mission to California. Responding to the call, he was set apart for his missionary labors Jan. 31, 1928, but after being engaged in the ministry for a few months he was stricken with influenza and died Sept. 20, 1928, in San Jose, California. The body of Elder Rockwood was brought home, accompanied by his mother and the presiding Elder of the San Jose conference. He was twenty-one years old, and was making fine progress in his missionary work, acting as secretary to Patriarch Geddes while the latter was making a tour of the San Jose conference. He was a graduate of the Latter-day Saints High School. All mourned his passing, but rejoiced in the cause for which he laid down his life.

ROND, Albertus, an Elder who died in the missionary field, was born Nov. 24, 1862, in Zwolle, Overysel, Netherlands, a son of Coenraad Rond and Egbertdina Jansen. He was baptized May 21, 1899, in Amsterdam, by Frank E. Hansen, and served as a counselor in the superintendency of the Amsterdam Sunday School, and also as a counselor in the presidency of the Amsterdam Branch No. 1. He emigrated to Utah in May, 1909. While residing in Ogden, Utah, he was ordained a High Priest and called on a mission to the Netherlands, being set apart Nov. 4, 1921. He had served almost a year in the ministry when he suffered a heart attack, from which he died in Amsterdam Sept. 15, 1922. His wife, Hendrika J. Rond, accompanied him to their native land and was with him during his last hours. His body was brought back to Utah by two companions, Elders Joseph Van Leeuwen and Hendrik Bell, sen. Services were held for him in the Ogden Tabernacle Oct. 22, 1922.

SALISBURY, Elizabeth Hoskin, wife of Joshua Salisbury and a pioneer of Wellsville, Utah, was born

Sept. 28, 1829, in Cornwall, England, a daughter of James Hoskin and Elizabeth Hancock. Her grandfather, John Hancock, was engineer of one of the earliest locomotives and in 1812 drove an engine over the London Bridge. While Sister Salisbury was still a young girl, he father died, and she went to work for a wealthy English family as a nurse girl, where she learned many valuable lessons in house keeping and the care of children. She was married when quite young to Benjamin Hoskins, who, being ambitious to secure financial opportunities, sailed from England with his young wife for America Aug. 25, 1848. They settled first in the State of Connecticut and later moved to Pennsylvania, locating in Minersville, where the young husband went to work in the coal mines. In 1856 he was injured while at his work and about a month later died from injuries sustained. The young wife with her three children were well cared for by the Odd Fellows Lodge, and when, shortly afterwards, twin girls were born to her, a nurse was sent to attend her, and this lodge and other kind friends were solicitous in her behalf. Among these was Joshua Salisbury, whose wife had recently died, leaving him with two little children. Sympathy for each other's sorrow became affection and on Oct. 13, 1858, they were married. Being also a convert to the Church Sister Salisbury thriftily helped to save money to make it possible for the family to go to the Rocky Mountains. The family included one little daughter, Caroline, born eight months before they left their home in the east. They arrived in Salt Lake City Sept. 1, 1860. The family settled at Wellsville, a recently settled locality in Cache County. Here Bro. Salisbury erected a log house and Sister Salisbury became associated with the Relief Society, over which she presided for eighteen years. She was beloved by all her co-workers. She became the mother of eight more children and also reared a motherless babe for some time. She mothered four different families of children, 19 in all. Sister Salisbury died in Salt Lake City July 19, 1918, at the age of 89 years. Interment took place in Wellsville.

SALISBURY, Joshua, one of the early pioneer settlers of Wellsville, Cache County, Utah, was born June 3, 1827, in Llanasa, Flintshire, Wales, a son of Thomas Salisbury and Sarah Jones. He was baptized Dec. 25, 1852, by his uncle, Joseph Jones, and while yet in his native land was ordained an Elder in 1854. In appearance Bro. Salisbury was tall and well proportioned, and at the age of 18 years weighed 185 pounds. In June, 1850, at Llanasa, Wales, he married Martha Davies who bore him two children. Being deeply impressed with the further light and knowledge received from the teachings of the restored gospel he earnestly endeavored to convert his fellow workers in the coal mines, but met with great persecution as a result. In 1855, with his wife and two children, Bro. Salisbury left his native land for America. The family spent five years on the frontiers before crossing the plains and mountains from the Missouri River to Utah. While passing through Illinois Bro. Salisbury's wife died at St. Johns, Perry Co., Ill., in 1857, and on Oct. 13, 1858, he married Elizabeth Hoskin (daughter of James Hoskin and Elizabeth Hancock). Bro. Salisbury worked in the coal mines in Pennsylvania, and through thrift and determination was finally enabled to accomulate the necessary outfit and supplies to unite with the body of the Church in Utah. With his own hands he built a sturdy covered wagon and traveled a thousand miles overland, alone, arriving safely at Florence, Nebraska, where Bro. Salisbury, his wife and their children united with a company of emigrating saints in charge of Captain John Smith, which after traveling another thousand miles arrived in Great Salt Lake City Saturday, Sept. 1, 1860. The family settled at Wellsville in Cache Valley, Utah, where, upon the advice of Brigham Young, Bro. Salisbury became a pioneer in dry farming, being the first man in Cache Valley to raise wheat on "dry" land there. He began his dry farm experiments in the year 1868 and in 1872 was successful in harvesting the first crop of "dry land" wheat in the Valley. He also raised choice garden seeds on his irrigated farm, some of which were exhibited at the World's Fair in Chicago, Ill., and carried off a number of valuable prizes. Brother Salisbury was known to be a charitable man, always helping the immigrating saints and those less fortunate than himself. He proved himself to be a man without guile. He was an expert stone mason and helped with both his services and his means in the erection of the Logan Temple. He also helped in the construction of the Wellsville Tabernacle and many other public buildings and homes in Cache Valley. He was ordained a High Priest Dec. 25, 1884. Bro. Salisbury died May 6, 1913, at Wellsville, Utah, survived by his widow and ten children.

SALISBURY, Matilda Jane Gibbs, wife of Bishop Joseph Hoskin Salisbury, was born at Willard, Box Elder Co., Utah, Dec. 16, 1863, daughter of Patriarch John Duggan Gibbs and Julia Ann Thompson, both early Utah pioneers. Sister Salisbury was of a most refined nature and spent her life in the service of the Church and in doing good among her fellowmen. With the exception of seven years, when she resided at Imbler, Oregon, where her husband presided as Bishop of the

Imbler Ward, her whole life was spent in Utah. Sister Salisbury began her Church activities in the Portage Ward prior to her marriage in the Logan Temple, Jan. 1, 1885. She subsequently became an officer in the Wellsville M. I. A.; president of the Imbler Ward Relief Society; an officer in the Logan 2nd Ward Y. W. M. I. A., and president of the Logan 5th Ward Y. W. M. I. A. While residing in Salt Lake City she was active in the Mill Creek, Forest Dale and 20th Wards Relief Societies, giving of her sound judgment and mature wisdom. With her husband and family she celebrated her golden wedding anniversary on Jan. 1, 1935. She was also an active officer of the Daughters of the Utah Pioneers organization. Exemplifying the words, "God could not be everywhere, so He sent mothers," she became the honored mother of six children, namely, Joseph Gibbs, LeRoy Gibbs, Wilford Gibbs, John Duggan and Julia Elizabeth. Two of her sons have filled missions for the Church and one son rendered service to his country overseas in the U. S. army during the World war. Sister Salisbury was truly a fit candidate for the Celestial Kingdom, having a life long record of service and devotion to the Church and to the principles of the gospel of Jesus Christ. She breathed a spirit of love and affection which inspired all with whom she associated. Sister Salisbury, survived by her husband, three sons and 14 grandchildren passed from this world in her 72nd year, after a life well lived and full of good deeds, on June 3, 1935, at Salt Lake City, Utah. After a most impressive funeral in the 20th Ward, Salt Lake City, interment took place in Logan, Utah, where graveside services were also held.

"Loving and kind in all her ways, Upright and just to the end of her days,
Sincere and true in heart and mind,

SILVER, Walter McAllister, one of the Elders who died in the missionary field, was born Nov. 9, 1900, in Salt Lake City, Utah, a son of Hyrum A. Silver and Mary McAllister. He was baptized June 5, 1909, and later ordained an Elder. He was residing in Salt Lake City, Utah, when he was called to fill a mission to the Southern States. Accepting the call he was set apart to labor there Nov. 15, 1921. He had spent almost a year in the ministry when he died in Hickory, North Carolina, of septicaemia.

STELTER, Carl Ludwig Ferdinand, one of the Elders who died in the missionary field, was born in March, 1870, in Pirbstow-Rugenwalde, Germany, a son of Ferdinand Stelter and Luise Helke. He was baptized and emigrated to Utah in 1901, making his home in Salt Lake City, Utah. While residing there he received a call to fill a mission in the Swiss and German Mission. being set apart June 16, 1922. After being in his field of labor almost a year he was taken sick, and because of his ill-health he had been honorably released from his missionary work and was preparing to return home when he died April 12, 1923, of heart failure, in Berlin, Germany. Elder Conrad Dietz was released to accompany the remains home.

THOMAS, Kenneth Albert, an Elder who died in the missionary field, was born Aug. 19, 1902, in Salt Lake City, Utah, a son of Joseph Albert Thomas and Mary A. Evans. He was baptized Oct. 1, 1910, by Joseph A. Halvorsen, and was later ordained an Elder. He was residing in Garfield, Salt Lake Co., Utah, when he was called to fill a mission in Mexico. Responding to the call of the Church he was set apart Jan. 9, 1923. He had been in the ministry but a short time when he was stricken with pneumonia from the effects of which he died Feb. 15, 1923, in El Paso, Texas. His body was accompanied home by Pres. Rey L. Pratt of the Mexican Mission. During his illness he manifested a strong belief in prayer. The passing of Elder Thomas was keenly felt, not only by his immediate associates, but by the missionaries and saints throughout the mission. Services were held for him in the 34th Ward chapel Feb. 22, 1923.

TRIMBLE, Robinson Chase, an Elder who died in the missionary field, was born July 30, 1889, in Fillmore, Millard Co., Utah, a son of Jefferson Chase Trimble and Margret Fortie. He was baptized Aug. 4, 1900, by Thomas C. Callister, and later ordained an Elder. At the time he was called on his mission to the Eastern States, he was residing in Leamington, Millard Co., Utah. After responding to his call he was set apart for his mission Jan. 24, 1922. He labored in the West Pennsylvania Conference, acting as president of the same. After serving over eighteen months in his field of labor, he developed tuberculosis which was the ultimate cause of his death, which took place in Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, Aug. 27, 1923.

TYLER, Daniel, author of the History of the Mormon Battalion, was born Nov. 23, 1816, in Semproneus, Cayuga Co., New York, the son of Andrew Tyler and Elizabeth Comins. He was baptized Jan. 16, 1833, by Lincoln Hoskins, ordained a High Priest Sept. 24, 1844, by Brigham Young, acted as 3rd sergeant in Company C. of the Mormon Battalion, marched with the Battalion to California, and arrived in Salt Lake City, Utah, Oct. 16, 1847. He was ordained a Patriarch Dec. 10, 1873, by Brigham Young, and died Nov. 7, 1906. He was one of the first L. D. S. missionaries to labor in Germany and Switzerland.

WANNER, Serge N., an Elder who died while filling a foreign mission, was born March 8, 1908, in Preston, Franklin Co., Idaho, a son of John George Wanner and Regina Nuffer. He was baptized April 29, 1916, by J. W. Corbridge, was ordained an Elder, and resided at Preston, Idaho, when he was called on a mission to New Zealand. He responded to his call and was set apart April 24, 1928, and arrived in his field of labor May 20, 1928. He labored in the Bay of Islands, Whangerei, and Wellington districts, and on the South Island. While still in the ministry he was seriously stricken with septicaemia from the effects of which he died Oct. 4, 1929. His body was returned home for burial. Elder Wanner was twenty-one years old at the time of his death.

WATT, J. Ralph, an Elder who died in the missionary field, was born Aug. 24, 1899, in Layton, Davis Co., Utah, a son of J. H. Watt and Jenett Green. He was baptized Aug. 25, 1907, by his father, and later ordained an Elder. As a resident of Tremonton, Box Elder Co., Utah, he was called on a mission to the Southern States, being set apart Jan. 13, 1920. He had been in his field of labor only a few months when he was stricken with pneumonia, from the effects of which he died Oct. 10, 1921, in Lamison, Alabama. His body was sent home in care of a companion.

WEBB, Elvin, an Elder who died while filling a foreign mission, was born Oct. 11, 1903, in Fillmore, Millard Co., Utah, a son of William James Webb and Eliza Jane Melville. He was baptized Sept. 3, 1912, by Daniel A. Morris, and later ordained an Elder. He was residing at Hinckley, Utah, when he was called to fill a mission to the Netherlands. Responding to the call he was set apart Feb. 2, 1926. He arrived in Rotterdam Feb. 21, 1926, and a short time later (on March 29, 1926) he died of peritonitis. He was taken suddenly ill one morning and passed away while being taken to a hospital. A special memorial service was held for Elder Webb in the saints' hall, "Excelsior", in Rotterdam. His last words were "Tell mother that all is well", and all was well, for Elder Webb had been attending to his missionary duties up to his last day on earth. His remains were shipped home accompanied by Elders Edward P. Young and William R. Wilcken.

WILLES, Ira Jones, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company B, was born Jan. 21, 1812, in the State of New York, a son of Eleazer Willis and Achsah Jones. Ira joined the Church in early days and was with the saints in many of their persecutions. Having arrived on the Missouri River as an exile, together with the rest of the saints from Illinois, he enlisted in the Mormon Battalion in July, 1846, and marched as a private in Company B to California. In 1849 (May 13), after his discharge as a soldier and his arrival in Utah he married Malissa Lott

Smith, a young widow of the Prophet Joseph Smith and moved to Lehi, where he purchased a farm and became actively engaged in farming. He was accidentally killed Dec. 5, 1863, while crossing Dry Creek, near Lehi, by a load of wood overturning and burying him in the ice, together with his nine year old son, Cornelius.

WINN, Dennis Wilson, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company A, was born Dec. 11, 1826, in Madison County, Alabama, a son of Miner Winn and Nancy Wilson. He was baptized by James B. Hamilton in Adams County, Ill., in 1839, went with his parents to Illinois, where they embraced the gospel; started for Missouri, but troubles which came upon them changed their course to Adams County. They came west in 1845, before the exodus; Dennis enlisted with the Battalion at Council Bluffs in 1846 and marched to California. After being discharged, he stayed in California until 1848, when he came to the "Valley." He married and lived first in Salt Lake City, and later in different parts of the Territory. He was one of the pioneers of Iron County in 1850-1851 with Geo. A. Smith. Twice he went back to the States on business and located in Ashley, Utah, in the fall of 1882. He lived in Richmond, Cache Co., Utah, and was one of the first settlers in Preston (Worm Creek), Idaho. He died Jan. 23, 1907, in Vernal, Utah.

WOOD, William, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company C, was born Feb. 3, 1823, in Hereford, Herefordshire, England, a son of John Wood and Ann Lawrence. He was baptized Sept. 23, 1840, by William Green in England, emigrated to America in 1842, and arrived in Nauvoo May 6, 1843. After being exiled from Nauvoo with the other saints in 1846, he enlisted in the Battalion at Council Bluffs and marched all the long, long way to California. He finally arrived in the "Valley" in 1848. In 1852 he went to San Bernardino, California, but came back when that settlement was broken up in 1857. He located in Minersville March 6, 1860.

WOOLSEY, Thomas, a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company E, was born Nov. 3, 1805, in Pulaski County, Kentucky, a son of Joseph Woolsey and Abigail Shiffer. He was baptized in Illinois in 1834, by Cornelius P. Gott, came to Nauvoo about 1841, worked on the Temple there for seven years, came west with the other saints in February, 1846, enlisted in the Battalion at Mount Pisgah, and marched to Santa Fe in Company E. He was sent from there towards Pueblo, but went only part of the way when he turned back alone and overtook the main command just as they were entering the one hundred mile desert; he continued to the Gila River, and was sent back with a detachment with mail from the brethren to Pueblo, from where he and John H. Tippetts went in the dead of winter back to Winter Quarters, suffering untold hardships. They were finally taken prisoners by the Pawnee Indians and condemned to death, but were saved by the timely arrival of the chief. (Elder Woolsey was afterwards baptized in the Manti Temple for that chief). The Indians furnished the brethren with seven days' provisions, and they finally got to Winter Quarters; the next spring they came to the Valley, with the original Pioneers, and Bro. Woolsey built the first house in Salt Lake City (Old Fort), and plowed the first furrow in the Valley, bringing the plow from the Pawnee Indian Agency. He continued to California, and returned back to Winter Quarters, and came back in four years; pioneered several places in Utah, and died Jan. 5, 1897, in Wales, Utah.

WOOLLEY, Marion W., an Elder who died in the missionary field, was born April 2, 1895, in Kanab, Kane Co., Utah, a son of Edwin D. Woolley and Florence Snow. He was baptized when nine years old by Leo McAllister, and later ordained an Elder. While still residing at Kanab he was called on a mission to Australia, being set apart Jan. 4, 1917. Elder Woolley had been laboring as a missionary in Brisbane, Australia, where he died June 10, 1918, following an operation for appendicitis. His body was brought home for interment. He was twenty-three years old and was a graduate of the Branch Agricultural College in Cedar City. He had been in Australia about eighteen months, laboring in the Tasmania Conference, where he performed a good mission and was well liked by all who knew him. He died with a strong testimony of the gospel. As one of God's servants he was zealous in the performance of his duties as a messenger carrying the message of peace on earth and good-will to men.

WRISTON (Clifford), John Price (Philip), a member of the Mormon Battalion, Company A, was born April 13, 1823, in Hopkinsville, Kentucky, a son of John Clifford and Elizabeth Price. He was baptized Feb. 16, 1845, in Illinois, by James Olive, came to Nauvoo in 1845, was in the exodus of 1846, joined the Battalion and wintered at Pueblo, and arrived in the "Valley" in Capt. Brown's detachment July 29, 1847. He spoke the Shoshone, Blackfoot and Bannock dialects and acted as interpreter and president of the Indian Mission in the north in 1859; came to Cache Valley in 1859, and located in Gentile Valley about 1880. On his Indian missions he averted dangers threatening the settlers in Cache Valley. Being raised in the East in a family by the name of Wriston, he took that name, but his real name was John Philip Clifford.
